REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending the 28th March, 1888.

On the whole the weather of the past week has been fairly fine and settled, but pressure has been very unsteady; and about the middle of the week a depression appeared in the North-West, which occasioned very unsettled weather for a time in that neighbourhood.

On the 22nd a band of relatively low pressure extended from Bengal north-westwards along the foot of the hills as far as the Punjab, while a large area of high pressure overlay the Bay and the Carnatic.

Barometric readings were generally moderately uniform throughout India, and the winds in several parts of the country were unsteady and variable. Down the Gangetic plain, however, there was a well marked north-westerly current, such as usually precedes the appearance of the hot winds of Upper India, and over the head of the Bay there was a strong indraught of moist air from the Bay into Bengal. A moderate shower of rain had fallen at Quetta. Temperature had on the whole risen. The region of greatest heat was the north of the Peninsula and the Central parts of the country, but maxima exceeding 100° were reported from as far North as Benares, Gya, and Jhansi. On the 23rd, in addition to the low pressure band along the foot of the hills, a large shallow depression had been developed over the Western desert, and apparently under the influence of this depression rain was falling over the north-west of the Punjab. In other respects the general weather and pressure distribution was similar to that reported on the previous day. Westerly winds had, however, extended into Bengal, displacing the southerly winds previously existing. The region of greatest heat was similar in position and extent to that of the previous day. The highest maximum was 109° at Surat. The Chart of the 24th showed that the shallow depression over the Western desert had disappeared, but that the barometer had fallen quickly over the greater part of Northern India, while it had risen in the South. In consequence of these changes, a large and irregular area of low pressure, with minima over Bengal and in the neighbourhood of Roorkee, had been formed over Northern and Central India, around which gradients were moderately steep. The wind showed a fairly general and regular indraught towards this low pressure area. Rain was falling in Assam.

Temperature had changed irregularly, but the region within which the maximum thermometer exceeded 100° was daily increasing. The highest maximum was 106° at Sholapur. A sudden change was shown on the morning of the 25th, when a small but rather deep depression appeared over the Western desert. The barometer had fallen very rapidly over North-Western India, while it had risen elsewhere, and as a consequence gradients had largely increased. A cyclonic circulation of the winds was shown around the storm over Sind, while westerly and north-westerly winds were reported from the Gangetic plain and Western and Central India, and south-westerly and southerly winds from the Bay and Bengal. In many places the strength of the wind was considerable. Rain had again fallen in Assam, but around the depression, except for a slight shower at Quetta, the weather was fair, though cloudy. Temperature had changed irregularly, but the northward extension of the region of excessive heat had apparently been checked, and the maxima over North-Western India were much lower than on the 24th. The highest maximum reported was 106° at Amraoti, Raipur, and Secunderabad. The reports of the next day showed that the depression had travelled north-eastward, and that its centre lay between Mooltan and Lahore. With this northward movement rain had commenced in the north of the Punjab, and showers were reported from all stations from Simla to Peshawar. The wind directions were generally similar to those reported on the previous day, but the force was high and squally over the Punjab. Rain was still reported from Assam. A brisk fall of temperature had occurred over a large part of the country. The maxima reported from Upper and Central India were nowhere excessive, but in the Peninsula temperature remained high, Kurnool registering 108° .

On the 27th the Chart showed that the barometer had risen with great rapidity in the North-West, and that the depression had been replaced by a large high pressure area. Around this area a well marked anti-cyclonic circulation of the air prevailed with generally very fine weather. In Bengal the barometer remained rather low, and there was a steady flow of air from the Bay into Bengal. A further brisk and fairly general fall of temperature was recorded, and outside the Peninsula the heat was everywhere moderate. At the inland stations of the Peninsula, however, maxima of 105° to 107° were registered. On the 28th the barometer was falling over the greater part of the country,—rapidly in the Punjab,—but the high pressure area still held over the North-West, and the general conditions were the same as on the 27th. Rain continued to fall in Assam. Temperature had again decreased over a large part of the country, and, except in the Peninsula, the maxima remained relatively low.

Pressure was below the monthly average almost everywhere. The deficit was greater in Northern than in Southern India and greater on the plains than on the hills,—in fact at Wellington, Mount Abu and Pachmarhi there was a slight excess.

Temperature exceeded the monthly average, except in Rajputana, where there was a trifling deficit, and at Peshawar and Mangalore, where there was no departure from the mean. The excess was greatest in Bengal and the North-Western Provinces, where it exceeded 4° , and least (less than 2°) in Burma and Malabar.

Humidity.—The air, except in a few places, was drier than usual.

Rainfall.—No rain fell in Burma, the Berars, the Central Provinces, Guzerat, Central India, Sind, Rajputana or Madras; and in the North-Western Provinces, Ceylon, Malabar, and Bombay the total fall during the week was less than $\frac{1}{2}$ inch. Elsewhere the amounts were moderately heavy, the largest average per station being reported from Bengal and Assam.

The concluding table gives the total rainfall of the past week according to Provinces:

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 31st March, 1888.—No rain, except in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Tinnevely, and Malabar. Rainfall to date generally sufficient, except in parts of Vizagapatam, North Madura, Tinnevely, Coimbatore, and Salem. Crops generally good, but very slightly damaged here and there by disease or want of rain. Water-supply for cultivation deficient in Madura and Salem and in parts of Tinnevely and Coimbatore. Pasture generally sufficient, but scanty in Malabar, Nilgiris, and parts of Anantapur and Madura, and decreasing in Vizagapatam and parts of Cuddapah, North Arcot, Trichinopoly, Coimbatore, and Salem. No great variations in prices. General prospects favourable.

Bombay.—For week ending 4th April, 1888.—Slight rain in Dharwar. Wheat in one taluka of Upper Sind Frontier injured by stormy weather, and cotton in Broach damaged. Standing crops otherwise good. Cotton-picking in progress in parts of Guzerat and Southern Mahratta Country. Harvesting of late crops completed in Thana and in progress in other districts. Ploughing operations for next season's crops in progress in Nasik, Poona, Ratnagiri, Ahmednagar, Satara, Bijapur, Belgaum, Dharwar, and Kanara. Probable outturn of wheat in Broach 8 annas, of wheat and cotton in Baroda 8 and 10 annas respectively, and of late crops in Kolaba in general 12 annas. Outturn of opium in Baroda 8 annas.

Bengal.—For week ending 3rd April, 1888.—Light showers fell in some districts of East and North Bengal during the week. Rain is wanted in Bhagalpur Division. Rabi harvest is generally giving a good outturn, except in parts of the Bhagalpur and Chota Nagpur Divisions. Opium collection is over, and the yield is everywhere satisfactory. Spring rice is doing well. Cultivation for early rice and jute progresses favourably, and in some districts sowing has begun. Indigo sowings are germinating rapidly. Sugarcane is being planted, and irrigated mahu promises to be a good crop, except in Bhagalpur, where the yield will be poor. Some pressure reported in parts of Manbhoom, owing to failure of crops. No further information received regarding scarcity in Pooree.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 4th April, 1888.—Weather seasonable. Crops have nearly all been cut, and the outturn is good. Sugarcane sowings are in progress. Opium collection is finished. Markets are full, and prices are falling. The condition of cattle is satisfactory.

Punjab.—For week ending 4th April, 1888.—Slight rain has fallen in some districts. Prices are somewhat unsettled; in two districts a rise is reported, and in others prices are falling or stationary. There has, however, been a marked fall since the early part of March. Kharif ploughings, and sugarcane and cotton sowings, are in progress. Harvesting of rabi crops commenced. Rabi prospects are reported good, except in Shahpur, where they are below average; in Peshawar, Rawalpindi, and Dera Ismail Khan, they are average. No damage done to crops. Stock cattle are reported healthy. Fodder still scarce in some districts. Poppy crops average.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 4th April, 1888.—Weather hot and occasionally cloudy. In some places the harvest of winter crops has been completed. In most districts the outturn is good. Sugarcane plants thriving. Cattle in fair condition.

Burma.—For week ending 24th March, 1888.—The prospects of dry weather crops continue to be satisfactory. Price of paddy has risen in the Thonegwa, Moulmein, Amherst, and Shwegyin districts of Lower Burma and in Pyinmana, Lower Chindwin, and Mandalay districts of Upper Burma. Price of paddy has fallen in the Henzada district. Prices elsewhere are stationary. Rain fell during the week.

Burma.—For week ending 31st March, 1888.—The prospects of the dry weather crops continue to be satisfactory. The condition of agricultural stock is good. Price of paddy has risen in the Akyab, Rangoon, Pegu, Prome, and Shwegyin districts of Lower Burma and in the Kyaukse and Minbu districts of Upper Burma. The price of paddy has fallen in the Myingyan and Lower Chindwin districts. Prices elsewhere are stationary.

Assam.—For week ending 4th April, 1888.—Weather hot and windy. Tea plucking general, and prospects good. Land being ploughed and sown for early rice. No reports from Kamrup and Naga Hills.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 4th April, 1888.—No rain. Standing crops in good condition, except in parts of the Tumkur district, where the paddy crop is withering for want of water. Outturn of harvest favourable. Condition of stock cattle good.

Slight rain in Coorg. No cultivation going on at present.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 4th April, 1888.—Weather clear and warm. Harvesting of rabi crops almost completed everywhere in the Province, and land is being prepared for the ensuing kharif crops. Condition of agricultural stock generally good. No marked change in the prices of food-grains.

Hyderabad has had no rain during the week. Agricultural prospects continue good. Prices are stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 4th April, 1888.—No change since the last report, except in Bhopawar, where the prospects of probable outturn are brighter, and Bhopal, where the opium crop is reported indifferent.

Rajputana.—For week ending 4th April, 1888.—Agricultural operations satisfactory. Standing crops good, and are cut, or being cut, at places. Crop prospects and agricultural stock good generally. Pasturage or fodder fairly sufficient. Prices are falling at most places. Opium is being collected or has been collected at places.

Nepal.—For week ending 22nd March, 1888.—A little rain. Weather cloudy at times. Cold season appears to have ceased. Prospects of wheat, garlic, and onion crops good.

Nepal.—For week ending 29th March, 1888.—No rain. Nights and mornings cool. The land is being prepared for Indian corn.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending the 4th April, 1888.

The general weather of the past week has been similar in character to that of the preceding week, but towards the close of the period became somewhat cooler over the Central and Northern parts of the country. The alternations of pressure have continued large, and the weather, without being actually disturbed, has been more or less unsettled.

On March 29th pressure was relatively high over Assam and over the Carnatic, and low along the foot of the hills, the minimum pressure being reported from Roorkee. The winds were variable over the Central parts of India and of the Peninsula, and numerous calms were reported from the Punjab; elsewhere the wind currents were fairly steady. North-westerly to westerly winds prevailed down the Gangetic plain, southerly winds over the Bay and Bengal, and westerly winds on the West Coast. The only rainfall was in Ceylon. Temperature changes were large. The maxima were high,—Amraoti registering 109° ; Sholapur, Surat, and Kurnool 106° ; and Cuddapah 105° . The Chart of the 30th showed considerable changes of pressure. A slight depression had appeared near Lahore, and the area of lowest pressure had been transferred from Roorkee to the centre of the Punjab. At the same time the high pressure over Assam had broken up. The winds over Northern India had in consequence become much more variable, but the westerly winds on the West Coast and the southerly winds over the Bay and Bengal held steadily. Slight rain was reported from Silchar, Colombo, and Madura. The maxima were about the same as those reported on the preceding day,—Sholapur, Jacobabad, Kurnool, and Cuddapah reporting readings of 106° and Deesa, Hyderabad, and Secunderabad of 105° . On the 31st the high pressure over Assam had reappeared.

The barometer had fallen everywhere, but the decrease having been much greater in the North than in the South, the barometric difference between the South and North had increased. Calms and variable airs continued to be reported from Northern and Central India, and elsewhere the air currents continued unchanged. The day temperatures were increasing, and the highest maxima were 108° at Sholapur; 107° at Nagpur, Bellary, and Cuddapah; and 106° at Jhansi, Amraoti, and Salem. On the 1st pressure became more uniform, but the strong southerly winds over the head of the Bay were carrying much moisture into Bengal and Assam, and rain continued to fall in Assam and Cachar.

Local showers were also reported from Murree and Colombo. Temperature showed signs of falling, but the maxima of the preceding day remained high,—Kurnool reporting 108° ; Sholapur 107° ; and Jhansi, Amraoti, Nagpur, and Secunderabad 106° .

On the 2nd the distribution of pressure was complicated, and the small local deficiencies of pressure had been accompanied by showers of rain, and the weather over Northern India was unsettled. The winds were generally variable, but strong southerly winds prevailed at the head of the Bay. Temperature had decreased generally, but the high maximum of 113° was reported from Khandwa. On the 3rd pressure was very uniform over Western India, but moderate gradients existed over the eastern half of the country, around a low pressure area lying over Bengal. Rain was falling in Assam, and local showers were reported from several other parts of the country. The maxima were generally lower,—the highest being 106° at Kurnool and 105° at Cuddapah and Bellary. On the 4th a well-marked low pressure area lay over Northern Bengal, and a brisk fall had appeared in the west of the Punjab.

The depression over Bengal had induced very strong winds from the head of the Bay into Bengal, and these had occasioned rain at Cuttack, Burdwan, and in Assam. The maxima reported were about the same as on the preceding day,—the highest being 108° at Jeypore; 107° at Salem; and 105° at Burdwan, Amraoti, Nagpur, and Kurnool.

The concluding table gives the total rainfall of the past week according to Provinces:

SUPPLEMENT TO
The Gazette of India.

No. 14.} CALCUTTA, SATURDAY, APRIL 7, 1888.

OFFICIAL PAPERS.

A SUPPLEMENT to the GAZETTE OF INDIA will be published from time to time, containing such Official Papers and information as the Government of India may deem to be of interest to the Public, and such as may usefully be made known. The Debates of the Legislative Council of His Excellency the Governor General will in future be published in PART VI of the GAZETTE.

Non-Subscribers to the GAZETTE may receive the SUPPLEMENT separately on a payment of five Rupees per annum if delivered in Calcutta, or eight Rupees if sent by Post. The SUPPLEMENT and PART VI of the GAZETTE can also be subscribed for separately in a payment of Rupees six per annum if delivered in Calcutta or Rupees nine if sent by Post.

No Official Orders or Notifications, the Publication of which in the GAZETTE OF INDIA is required by Law, or which it has been customary to publish in the CALCUTTA GAZETTE, will be included in the SUPPLEMENT. For such Orders and Notifications the body of the GAZETTE must be looked to.

YEARLY EXAMINATION FOR FOURTH GRADE ACCOUNTANTS.

The Yearly Examination of candidates for the fourth grade of Accountant, Public Works Department, will be held at the Civil Engineering College, Secbopore, on Monday and Tuesday, June 4th and 5th, 1888, at 10-30 A.M.

SUBJECTS.

	Full marks.	Minimum pass marks.
Writing (neatness, clearness and rapidity)	100	50
Dictation (spelling, punctuation, &c.)	100	50
Arithmetic (whole course)	240	160
Mensuration (a) (whole book)	60	30
Book-keeping (b) (Mercantile)	100	50
TOTAL	600	490

Minimum required in all papers collectively.

(a) Todhunter's Mensuration for beginners.

(b) "Book-keeping" by Ball and Hamilton.

(c) "Book-keeping" by double and single entry, by W. Inglis (Chambers's Educational Course.)

The marks gained by candidates who fail will not be published.

1. The examination will be conducted either at the college or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph), in Bengal, Assam, and Burmah only.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

2. Candidates not in Government employ who wish to be examined at the college must forward their applications direct to the Principal, those employed in Government offices through the head of their office who will forward the application to the Principal.

All applications must reach the Principal before the 5th May, 1888.

3. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts not later than 5th May, 1888, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the college is not convenient. The application must be forwarded by the candidate, not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

4. All applications must be accompanied by a fee of ₹10, and the following certificates:—

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies, attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned.

(1.) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior, or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application.)

(2.) Certificate that candidate is under 25 years of age (not required if candidate is in permanent Government employ).

(3.) Certificate that the application is in candidate's handwriting.

It will rest with the Principal of the College, on a consideration of these certificates, to decide whether the candidate should be registered for the examination or whether his application should be rejected.

5. Copies of examination papers are not procurable except those that are issued for examination. These need not be returned.

6. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion, must undergo the full examination, and furnish a fresh fee and certificates.

7. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts in the Province or Railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

8. It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department.

Section 57 (c).

Add the following Rule:

"But when an Assistant Surgeon who holds medical charge substantively of a civil station proceeds on tour, and another Assistant Surgeon is placed temporarily in charge, the latter is entitled to an allowance of Rs. 50 a month."

*The 13th April, 1888.No. 1911.*CIVIL LEAVE CODE.APPENDIX A.Page 231.

Substitute the following for clause (13) of the Form of Last-Pay Certificate on this page :

- (13) The Secretary of State recovers subscriptions on account of the different Civil Funds from subscribers absent from India on leave who draw their leave allowances in England, who either are required by the Rules of their Fund to pay their subscriptions in that country during leave, or elect to do so. Particulars of the Fund deductions to be made from the absentee allowances of officers on leave drawing their leave allowances in England should be noted on the Last-Pay Certificates; and where a subscriber elects to make payments of his subscriptions in India while on leave, or to postpone such payments until his return to India, the fact should also be noted on the Last-Pay Certificate. The rules under which the deductions are made, and the method by which they are calculated in the cases of the different Funds, will be found in Appendix B (a) of the Civil Leave Code.

Insert the following as Appendix B (a) of the Civil Leave Code :

The recovery of subscriptions due on the absentee allowances of subscribers to the Bengal, Madras, and Bombay Civil Funds, and to the Indian Civil Service Family Pension Fund, is made under the following Rules :

1. If the officer is on leave out of India and draws his allowances in England, recovery will be made at the Home Treasury by deductions from his absentee allowances, unless he is a member of the Bengal or Madras Civil Fund, and has exercised the option allowed to members of those Funds of postponing the payment of his subscriptions until after return to duty.

[NOTE.—The option allowed to subscribers to the Bengal Fund of postponing payment of subscriptions on absentee allowances is limited to a period of one year.]

2. For payment of leave allowances in any of Her Majesty's Colonies, warrants will be issued only on condition that the subscriptions shall be either paid in advance or taken by deduction; in the latter case, the warrant to the Colony should show only the net allowance payable after such deduction.

3. The rates of subscription are as follow :

A.—Bengal Civil Fund.

		R a.
Civil Fund ordinary		2	8	per centum of the total leave allowance.
Additional.	{ Wife	2	0	„	ditto ditto.

Widowers' subscriptions are the subscription to the ordinary branch and double rates for children. The subscriptions should be calculated on the rupee entry of the absentee allowance in the officer's Last-Pay Certificate; but in no case is subscription calculated on a smaller leave allowance than Rs416-10-8, or on a higher allowance than Rs333-5-4 a month. Payments made in England are converted into sterling at the rate of 2 shillings the rupee. If the officer is entitled to no absentee allowance, his contributions should be calculated as if he were in receipt of the subsistence allowance noted below :

Rs250 a month—for an officer of not more than eight years' actual residence in India.

Rs320 a month—for an officer of more than eight but less than twelve years' actual residence in India.

Rs400 a month—for an officer of twelve or more years' actual residence in India.

B.—Madras Civil Fund.

R

During the first sixteen years' service in all cases 2½ per cent.

At the same rate during the whole further service in the case of married men or widowers with families. In the case of unmarried subscribers and widowers without families, the rate is reduced to 1 per cent. after sixteen years' service, to be raised to the higher rate of 2½ per cent. on the remarriage of the subscriber.

The subscriptions to be paid on absentee allowance are reckoned on the rupee entry in the Last-Pay Certificate; but in no case is subscription calculated on a smaller leave allowance than Rs 4-10-8, or on a higher leave allowance than Rs 833½.

In the cases of subscribers in England who are not in receipt of any absentee allowances, and who are allowed by the Rules of the Fund to make payments in order to retain their interest in the Fund, the allowance on which the rates are calculated is the allowance from Government last drawn when on furlough or sick leave.

Payments made in England are converted into sterling at the rate of two shillings or one shilling and nine pence the rupee, according as the subscription is paid to the 8 per cent. or 4 per cent. Capital of the Fund.

C.—Bombay Civil Fund.

	R
Married members	3 per cent.
Widowers or unmarried members	2 "
For daughters (if upon the Fund)—2 annas or 4 annas per cent.
For sons (if upon the Fund)—2 annas per cent.

A member on furlough and in receipt of an absentee allowance exceeding £500 a year contributes at the rates shown above on the amount in excess of £500 a year. Any member drawing no allowance, or drawing furlough or subsistence allowance of £500 a year or less, is not required to contribute.

Payments of subscriptions in England are converted into sterling money at the rate of exchange annually fixed for the adjustment of financial transactions between the Imperial and Indian Governments.

D.—Indian Civil Service Family Pension Regulations.

(These rates show the monthly contribution and are subject to alteration, from time to time, by the Secretary of State.)

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

WEATHER SUMMARY FOR MARCH 1883.

During March pressure falls everywhere throughout the Indian region, but to a much less extent over the Bay than over the land surface; hence over the Bay there is in normal years a region where pressure is higher not only than it is in any part of India, but also over the Equatorial Sea to the South. Pressure is ordinarily lowest over the east of the Central Provinces and Chutia Nagpur. During the past month there has been some considerable departure from these normal conditions. Relatively high pressures have, indeed, been shown over the Carnatic and the Bay, but on the West Coast pressure has been almost equally high. The greatest departure from the normal distribution has, however, been shown in respect to the position of the area of minimum pressure, which during nearly the whole month has been found either over North-Western or North-Eastern India. The wind directions have been fairly normal, though the southerly wind from the Bay into Bengal has been stronger and steadier than usual, while cyclonic circulations have at times disturbed the wind movements of Upper India.

The rainfall of March is usually light, and is generally attributable in the North-West to the appearance of a late cyclonic storm, and in Bengal and Assam to the early commencement of what is called the spring rainfall. In the past month the rainfall has been even lighter than usual, except in Assam and Cachur, where probably owing to the low pressures over North Bengal, noticed above, there has been a strong indraught of moist southerly winds from the Bay.

From the 1st to the 5th of March pressure was generally uniform throughout India, the winds light and variable, and the weather, except for a few light showers in the Berars and Central Provinces on the 2nd, was fine with a generally rising thermometer. On the 6th, however, the Chart showed a small cyclonic storm lying between Neemach and Indore, and on that day or during the following night rain fell in Sind and all over the Central parts of the country. This rainfall gradually spread eastward, being reported from Hazaribagh and Raipur on the 8th and from Bengal, Assam, and Arrakan on the 9th and 10th. In the meantime the Chart of the 9th showed a brisk barometric fall all over North-Western India, and on the 10th a small but well marked depression lay near Dera Ismail Khan, where the barometer had fallen to 29.65". This depression travelled eastward from Dera Ismail Khan towards Lahore, and appeared on the 11th to be filling up, but on the 12th it underwent redevelopment, and the south-easterly winds on its northern and eastern side brought up slight rain to the north and east of the Punjab. At the same time moderate rain was falling over Assam and East Bengal. On the 13th the distribution was very complicated; a band of low pressure, with its minimum between Hyderabad and Jacobabad, stretched right across India from Sind to the Circars. To the south of this band the wind was westerly, to the east southerly, and to the north south-easterly and easterly. The two last currents apparently brought up much moisture, and rain was reported from nearly every station in Northern India from Assam to the Punjab. On the 14th the distribution of pressure had completely changed, the band of low pressure having disappeared, and readings being lowest over Western Bengal. The winds had at the same time become more variable, and rain was confined to Bengal and Assam. On the 15th, 16th and 17th local showers were reported from several parts of North-Western and North-Eastern India, but beyond this the weather called for no remark.

Between the 19th and 21st the distribution was complicated, but the weather was generally fine. On the 22nd the barometer began to fall fast over North-Western India, with southerly winds in the Indus Valley and rain at Quetta; and on the 23rd a large shallow depression was shown over the Western desert, and rain had extended to the north-west of the Punjab. On the 24th pressure had fallen quickly over the whole of Northern India, over which region a large low pressure area had been formed, while, owing to the barometer remaining steady in the South, rather steep gradients prevailed over India. In consequence the winds were strong—especially at the head of the Bay—and rain was falling in Assam. The Chart of the 25th showed that in addition to the low pressure area which still held over Northern Bengal, a small but rather deep depression lay over Upper Sind. The winds were strong in the neighbourhood of both disturbances. Rain continued in Assam, and was also falling at Quetta and Belgaum. By the morning of the 26th the depression from Upper Sind had advanced north-eastward to Multan. Round the disturbance there was a very complete cyclonic circulation of the winds, and rain was falling all over the north of the Punjab. Showers continued in Assam. By the following day, the 27th, the depression had disappeared, and a large high pressure area had been formed over North-Western India, while the lowest barometric readings were again shown over Bengal. This disturbance continued during the 28th; but on the 29th a brisk barometric fall occurred in the North-West, and on the 30th another depression was shown over the Punjab. This disturbance was however slight, and no rain accompanied it. On the 31st the weather was fine, except in Assam, where showers still continued.

Pressure.—The mean pressure of the month has been generally above the normal average over the Peninsula and the Central parts of the country, and below it over Northern India. The defect was generally small, except in the Punjab.

Temperature.—The mean temperature of the month has been in defect of the average over East Bengal, and at one or two places in the Peninsula, but has been in excess in all other parts of the country. The greatest excess, 5°, was at Rawalpindi, but at Agra, Ludhiana, Lahore, Chakrata, and Quetta it amounted to 4°. The area of maximum heat has, on the whole, advanced steadily northward. In the earlier days of the month Salem reported the absolute maximum for the Indian region. After the first week the Bombay Deccan became on the average the hottest district in India. About the 10th and 11th a sudden accession of heat was reported from Sind, but on the 12th the absolute maximum was again reported from Sholapur. On the 14th the hottest district was the Central Provinces and from that date till the close of the month the area of greatest heat oscillated northward and southward over the inland parts of the Peninsula, the Central Provinces, and the Berars. Quite at the close of the month a sudden rise of temperature occurred over Upper India, and maxima exceeding 100° were reported as far north as Sirsa and Delhi on the 30th and 31st; but previous to that date there had been a spell of unusually cool weather all over North-Western India.

Humidity variations were irregular.

Rain.—Notwithstanding the disturbed condition of the atmosphere, as evinced by the numerous depressions reported during the month, the rainfall generally was short of the average. In Assam and Cachar there was an excess of $1\frac{1}{4}$ inch, and in Bengal, the Berars, Khandesh, and the Konkan a trifling excess over the small amount usually received; but in all other parts of India the rainfall has been short.

The following table shows the amount of rain and the difference from the average, during the month of March 1888, according to Districts, as far as is indicated by the telegraphic reports:

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 7th April, 1888.—No rain, except a small quantity in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Bellary, Tinnevely, and Malabar. Rainfall to date generally sufficient, except in parts of Vizagapatam, North Arcot, Trichinopoly, Madura, Tinnevely, Coimbatore, Nilgiris, and Salem. Crops generally good, but very slightly damaged by insects in Trichinopoly, and withering in parts of Madura, Tinnevely, and Coimbatore. Pasture generally sufficient, but scanty in Malabar, Nilgiris, and parts of Madura and Anantapur, and decreasing in Vizagapatam, North Arcot, Trichinopoly, Coimbatore, and Salem. Prices rising where not stationary. General prospects favourable.

Bombay.—For week ending 11th April, 1888.—Slight rain in parts of Dharwar and Sholapur. Standing crops in good condition. Cotton-picking continues in parts of Guzerat and Southern Mahratta Country. Harvesting of late crops completed in Kolaba and Baroda, and in progress in other districts. Ploughing operations for next season's crops in progress in Kurrachee, Hyderabad, Broach, Nasik, Thana, Ratnagiri, Poona, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Satara, Bijapur, Belgaum, Kanara, and Wadhwan. Probable outturn of late crops from 10 to 14 annas in Poona and from 6 to 10 annas in Baroda.

Bengal.—For week ending 10th April, 1888.—A few light showers are reported in South-West and East Bengal and in the Balasore and Singbhoom districts. Rain is wanted throughout the Bhagalpur division, and in parts of the Orissa, Burdwan, Presidency, and Rajshahye divisions. Ploughing and sowing of autumn crops are proceeding on. Prospects of spring rice continue favourable. Indigo seedlings are doing well. Sugarcane is being planted. Mahua is expected to be a good crop, except in Bhagalpur. Rabi harvest is nearly over. The outturn is generally good, but is below the average in parts of the Bhagalpur and Chota Nagpur divisions. No marked fluctuation in the price of common rice during the past fortnight.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 11th April, 1888.—Weather seasonable. Crops nearly all harvested, outturn good. Sugarcane is being sown and irrigated. Indigo sowing has commenced. Opium collection is nearly finished. Markets are well stocked, and prices are steady. The condition of stock cattle is generally good.

Punjab.—For week ending 11th April, 1888.—Slight rain in Ferozepore. Prices are somewhat unsettled; in two districts a rise is reported, and in others prices are falling or stationary. Kharif ploughings and sugarcane and cotton sowings in progress. Harvesting of rabi crops and collection of gram and barley commenced. Rabi prospects are reported good, except in Shahpur, where they are below average, and in Rawalpindi and Peshawar, where they are average. Slight damage done to rabi crops in Sirsa tahsil on account of hail, and also in Jullundur for want of rain. Stock cattle are generally healthy. Poppy crop average.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 11th April, 1888.—Weather hot. Threshing of winter crops continues, outturn good. Fields are being manured in Bilaspur for rain weather sowings. Sugarcane thriving. Cattle in fair condition.

Burma.—For week ending 7th April, 1888.—Prospects of dry weather crops continue to be satisfactory. Condition of agricultural stock generally good. Price of paddy has risen in the Bassein and Thonegwa districts of Lower Burma and in the Yamethin district of Upper Burma, and has fallen in the Prome and Shwegyin districts of Lower Burma and in the Sagaing, Kyaukse, Myingyan, Minbu, Pyinmana, and Lower Chindwin districts of Upper Burma. A large supply of rice has lately passed up the Irrawaddy from Lower Burma into Upper Burma.

Assam.—For week ending 11th April, 1888.—Weather hot, with high winds; dry in Lower Assam and Hill Districts. Good rain in Upper Assam. Hailstorms have done some damage in the Surma Valley. Sowing of early rice and tea plucking commenced.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 11th April, 1888.—No rain. The paddy crop in parts of the Tumkur district is suffering from want of water. Elsewhere the crops are reported to be in good condition. Outturn of harvests fair. Condition of cattle generally good. Prices have fallen in the Bangalore district slightly.

Coorg has also had no rainfall. The continued want of rain is injurious to the coffee blossom.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 11th April, 1888.—Weather clear and warm. Harvesting of rabi crops almost completed. Land is being prepared for the ensuing kharif crop. Agricultural stock in good condition. Fodder insufficient in the Amraoti district. No marked change in the prices of foodgrains.

Hyderabad has had no rain. Agricultural prospects continue good. Prices are stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 11th April, 1888.—The only changes, since the last report, are in Bhopal and Western Malwa, where the standing crops are reported fair and indifferent; and probable outturn in Bhopal below the average, the crop having been damaged by hail. In Bhopal agricultural stock indifferent, and prices of food grains falling. Agricultural stock and opium reported indifferent in Western Malwa. Prices are falling in Bhopawar.

Rajputana.—For week ending 11th April, 1888.—Agricultural operations satisfactory. Standing crops good, and are cut, or being cut, at places. Crop prospects and agricultural stock good generally. Pasturage or fodder fairly sufficient. Prices steady, and falling at places. Opium collected, or being collected, at places.

Nepal.—For week ending 5th April, 1888.—No rain. Atmosphere dusty. Prospects of wheat crop good. Harvesting of peas commenced in the valley.

Weather Review of India for the week ending the 11th April, 1888.

During the past week pressure over the Peninsula has been comparatively steady, and the weather, though rather cloudy, has been fairly settled; but over Northern India the barometer has been subject to considerable oscillations from day to day, and the distribution of pressure has undergone sudden and large changes. Notwithstanding these large atmospheric changes, the weather has been generally dry, except in Assam and Cachar, where rain has fallen steadily. In Ceylon the rainfall has been heavy, but has apparently been attributable to influences outside the area of the Chart.

On the 5th a band of low pressure lay along the foot of the hills extending from Ludhiana to Dhubri, but the distinct depression which was reported from Northern Bengal on the concluding day of the previous week had disappeared; the minimum pressure within the band was reported from Roorkee. High pressures were shown over the north-west of the Punjab and the south of the Peninsula. There was a strong indraught of southerly winds from the Bay into Bengal, and there was the normal westerly current down the Gangetic plain; but elsewhere the wind currents were rather irregular. Rain had fallen at Silchar and Colombo. Temperature changes, though in many cases large, were rather irregular, though, except in Bengal, Assam, and the south of the Peninsula, the tendency was to fall. The Central Provinces and the Berars reported the highest maxima. The Chart of the 6th showed a small but well marked depression between Lahore and Sialkote, and the barometer has fallen fast over North-Western India. Elsewhere pressure had generally risen, and, with the exception of the above noticed depression, the general distribution of pressure and the general circulation of the winds were the same as on the 5th. In North-Western India the winds were cyclonic. Rain was reported from Sibsagar, Silchar, and Colombo, and a few drops at Murree. Temperature changes comprised a fall over North-Eastern and Central India and the Bombay Presidency, and a rise everywhere. Over the Central parts of India and of the Peninsula the maxima ranged between 100° and 105° , but the absolute maximum was 106° at Thyeimio. By the morning of the 7th the depression over the Punjab had filled up, and a high pressure area had appeared over that Province. The lowest pressures were reported from North Bengal, and relatively high pressures from the Western Punjab and the south of the Peninsula. A general northerly to north-westerly current prevailed over North-Western and Central India, an easterly current on the West Coast, and a southerly to south-westerly current, blowing strongly at the head of the Bay, over the east of the Peninsula, Bengal, &c. During the day a tornado passed over Dacca, but, beyond the bare record of the fact, the observer at that station gives no information regarding it. Temperature had generally risen, except in the North-West and the Carnatic. The highest maximum was 107.2° at Sholapur, and maxima exceeding 100° were reported from the great majority of the inland stations, except those in the Punjab, Rajputana, Assam, and Lower Bengal. Rain had fallen in Cachar and Ceylon. On the 8th the general distribution of pressure was similar to that reported on the 7th, but the depression over Bengal was more marked. Rain was reported from Dacca, Silchar, and Sibsagar. The wind currents were practically unchanged. Temperature had generally decreased—more particularly over North-Western India, where also the humidity was low. The Chart of the following day showed, in addition to the depression over North Bengal, that a large but shallow disturbance was appearing over Sind and Beluchistan. In consequence the northerly current of wind over North-Western India was less marked than on the 8th, though elsewhere there was very little change in the general circulation. Rain was again reported from Assam. Temperature changes were somewhat irregular, but on the whole the maxima were moderate for the season in the North-West. The highest temperature reported was 108° at Cuttack. On the 10th the depression over Bengal had become much less distinct, while that over Beluchistan had, on the contrary, developed. The wind had backed to south-west in Sind, and there was a general but irregular indraught towards the depression from a large part of North-Western India. Elsewhere there was little change. Temperature had risen in Upper India, but the maxima in that part of the country were nowhere excessive. Rain had fallen at Chittagong, Silchar, and Colombo,—heavily at the last station. The Chart of the 11th showed a still further development of the Sind depression, which was apparently travelling north-eastward across the Punjab. The cyclonic movement in the North-West was now very distinct, and the winds were strong at the mouth of the Indus. Temperature had again risen over Upper and Central India, and maxima of 100° and over were reported from a large part of the North-Western Provinces and from the south-east of the Punjab. The highest maximum throughout India was 108° at Nagpur. Rain had fallen at Silchar, Colombo, and Quetta.

The concluding table gives the total rainfall of the past week according to Provinces :

REVISED RULES FOR THE GUIDANCE OF DEPOSITORS IN POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS.

No. 1729, dated Calcutta, the 9th April 1888.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

Read—

Resolution by the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce, No. 1199, dated 12th March 1886, prescribing revised rules for the guidance of depositors in Post Office Savings Banks.

RESOLUTION.—In supersession of all existing orders on the subject, the Governor General in Council is pleased to prescribe the following revised rules for the guidance of depositors in the Post Office Savings Banks:—

RULES FOR THE GUIDANCE OF DEPOSITORS IN POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS IN INDIA.

DEFINITIONS.

1. For the purposes of these rules—

Deposit means money paid into a Post Office Savings Bank by, or on behalf of, a depositor.

Depositor means the person by whom, or on whose behalf, money is deposited.

Account means the account of a depositor in a Post Office Savings Bank.

Balance means the balance at credit of an account.

Minor means a person who has not completed the age of 18 years.

Guardian includes a father, or, if the father be dead, a mother, or if both parents be dead, and no guardian of the minor has been appointed by will or deed or under any enactment for the time being in force in British India, any adult relation of the minor with or by whom the minor is residing or being maintained.

Postmaster-General means the chief postal authority in any province or place to which the system of Post Office Savings Banks is extended.

OBJECT OF GOVERNMENT IN ESTABLISHING POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS.

2. The object of Government in establishing Post Office Savings Banks is to provide a ready means for the deposit of savings, and so to encourage thrift. Savings Banks are not to be used for the purpose of keeping a current account, and the Comptroller, Post Office, is empowered to close an account should he have reason to believe that the depositor has used the Savings Bank for a purpose for which it was not intended.

BUSINESS HOURS.

3. Post Office Savings Banks will be open for the transaction of business between the hours of noon and 4 P.M. everyday, with the exception of Sundays, Christmas Day, New Year's Day, Good Friday, and the Queen's Birthday. These hours may, under the authority of the Postmaster-General, be altered to suit local circumstances.

POSTAL OFFICIALS BOUND TO SECRECY.

4. The officers of the Postal Department engaged in the receipt or payment of deposits, are not allowed to disclose the name of any depositor, or the amount deposited or withdrawn by him, except to the Postmaster-General or other officers of the Department engaged in carrying out the provisions of these rules.

PERSONS WHO MAY DEPOSIT MONEY.

5. Any person may deposit money in a Post Office Savings Bank (a) on his own behalf, or (b) on behalf of any minor relative, or (c) on behalf of any minor of whom he is the guardian.

Explanation.—Minors are allowed to deposit money in their own names, and women, whether married or single, are allowed to deposit money in their own names, but subject, in the case of married women, to the limitation laid down in Rule 6.

LIMITATIONS AS TO OPENING ACCOUNTS.

6. (i) Any person may open an account in his own name, but may not have more than one such account open.

(ii) In addition to the account which a person may open in his own name, he may open any number of separate accounts on behalf of any minors related to him or of whom he is the guardian, provided that he shall not open more than one account on behalf of each such minor.

(iii) The fact that an account has been opened on behalf of a minor shall not prevent such minor from opening an account in his own name; nor shall the fact that a married man has an account in his own name prevent his wife from opening a separate account in her own name, provided the money to be deposited by her is her own property or earning.

NOTE A.—This rule is not meant to prevent any one from opening more than one ex-officio or public account (vide rule 10).

NOTE B.—Warrant and Non-Commissioned Officers and men serving in British Regiments can open accounts in Post Office Savings Banks, even though already depositors in Military Savings Banks.

7. Deposits in trust are not allowed, and cannot be recognized.

8. Money cannot be deposited in the name of two or more persons jointly, provided that nothing in this rule shall prevent the deposit of money in the name of a known firm, or to the credit of a public account admissible under rule 10, including security deposit accounts.

9. The smallest sum of money that can be deposited at any time is four annas; and no sum can be deposited that is not a multiple of four annas. A depositor cannot deposit a larger sum than five hundred rupees in all between the 31st March of any year and the 1st April of the following year.

NOTE A.—The limit of ₹500 is to be reckoned irrespective of withdrawals, that is, withdrawals are not to be deducted in applying it.

NOTE B.—The limit of ₹500 may be exceeded —

- (1) in the case of Public Accounts;
- (2) in the case of Regimental and Police Accounts.

NOTE C.—When an account is transferred from one Savings Bank (whether Post Office or Presidency) to another, the amount so transferred shall not be included in calculating the limit of ₹500, save that portion of it deposited in the current year.

NOTE D.—Deposits made for the purpose of immediate investment in Government Securities are not reckoned in calculating the limit of ₹500.

NOTE E.—The limit of 4 annas as the minimum sum that can be deposited and the prohibition against depositing any sum that is not a multiple of 4 annas do not apply to Public Accounts and Regimental and Police Accounts.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS.

10. The following conditions govern the opening of "Public Accounts":—

- (a) Accounts may be opened by officers of Government who have charge of money, as Secretaries or Managers of Dispensary, Church, or other religious Institution, School, Orphanage, Asylum, or Library Funds, or any funds contributed for purposes other than the private advantage or amusement of the contributors. Race, Racquet, Billiard, Mess, and similar funds, whose objects are of a private or personal nature, are not within this definition, and such accounts may not be admitted. Band Funds may be admitted if there is no private bank in the place.
- (b) Secretaries and Managers of Dispensary and similar funds (as above mentioned), if they are not officers of Government and the institution is not subject to Government control, can be allowed Savings Bank accounts only if there is no respectable private bank of deposit in the place.
- (c) Secretaries and Managers of Benevolent Funds (that is, funds formed by mutual subscription as an insurance against domestic misfortune) may be allowed accounts.
- (d) Officers of Government or of public institutions, such as Railway and Steamer Companies, and the like, who collect subscriptions, voluntary or departmental, from their subordinates for departmental purposes, may be allowed accounts.
- (e) Government officials and others who are required by Government to deposit security may be allowed a separate account for the security deposit only. The depositor will be required to sign a letter (in the prescribed form) addressed to the Postmaster undertaking not to make any claim on the Post Office Savings Bank for the principal of the sum deposited except with the express written sanction of the person referred to in the letter to whom the security is pledged; not to object to the payment by the Bank of the principal to such person on his claiming it, and not to make any claim for interest after interest has ceased to accrue owing to the payment of the principal to such person. Interest on security deposits will be paid in the usual manner.

NOTE.—A person may open a security deposit account either on his own behalf or on behalf of another person. Security deposit accounts may be opened in the joint names of the persons undertaking the same work or contract. A person undertaking more than one work or contract at the same time may be allowed a separate account in respect of each. Security may be deposited in a single sum or in instalments.

(f) Public accounts of the kind specified above must be designated by a name indicating the object to which the money is devoted, as A—pore Dispensary Fund, Workmen's Sick Fund, &c. They are exempted from the rules fixing 4 annas as the smallest sum that can be deposited or withdrawn and prohibiting the deposit or withdrawal of any sum that is not a multiple of 4 annas, and also from the rule limiting the amount of deposit within one year to R500 (provided the deposit is the bona fide income of the fund), and interest will be paid upon their full balance, notwithstanding that it exceeds R9-6 a month. But a reduction of balance by more than R3,000 within twelve consecutive months will not be permitted, unless the Secretary or Manager gives six months' notice of his intention to make additional withdrawals, such notice to specify the precise amount to be withdrawn.

11. No account may be allowed for money—

- (1) which is the property of Government, or
- (2) which has been received for credit of Government, or
- (3) which has been drawn from the treasury for expenditure on account of Government, or
- (4) which is collected or received or held in trust by any public officer or court in accordance with any law, or
- (5) which is raised by taxation, either local or municipal.

REGIMENTAL AND POLICE ACCOUNTS.

12. The Commanding Officer of a native regiment may open a single account with the Post Office Savings Bank on account of the men of his regiment, making his own arrangements about the separate accounts of the individuals, and about the distribution to them of the interest credited upon the joint account. This account shall be subject to the usual rules, save that the limits of R500 for deposits and of R9-6 for monthly interest and the rules fixing 4 annas as the smallest sum that can be deposited or withdrawn and prohibiting the deposit or withdrawal of any sum that is not a multiple of 4 annas, shall not apply. But except with the special sanction of the Director General of the Post Office, a reduction of balance by more than R3,000 within twelve consecutive months will not be permitted unless the Commanding Officer gives one month's notice of his intention to make additional withdrawals, such notice to specify the precise amount to be withdrawn. The Commanding Officer must, in presenting any deposits, sign a certificate that, to the best of his belief, the money is the property of the men of the regiment. District Superintendents of Police may have accounts under this rule on account of men in the police force.

N.B.—This rule shall not be held to prevent any Native soldier, or any member of the police force, opening an account of his own in his individual capacity.

POWERS TO WITHDRAW MONEY, AND LIMITATIONS AS TO WITHDRAWAL.

13. A depositor can withdraw money from his account once a week. By the term "week" is meant the period from Monday to Saturday, both days inclusive. A depositor can, therefore, withdraw money from his account on Saturday and again on the following Monday.

14. A minor can withdraw money deposited by him in his own name; but money deposited on behalf of a minor can only be withdrawn during his minority by his guardian.

15. Women, whether married or single, can withdraw money deposited by them in their own names; and married women can also withdraw money deposited by them as single women in their own names, their marriage notwithstanding. The fact that a female minor, on whose behalf money has been deposited, is married or becomes married after the account has been opened on her behalf, shall not prevent her from withdrawing the money so deposited on attaining majority.

16. A depositor cannot withdraw a smaller sum than four annas, and he cannot withdraw any sum which is not a multiple of four annas, unless it be to close his account, in which case he can withdraw the balance at his credit.

Note.—The above restrictions do not apply to Public Accounts or Regimental and Police Accounts.

HOW TO OPEN AN ACCOUNT.

17. Any person wishing to open an account should apply to the nearest Post Office that is a Savings Bank. Application need not necessarily be made in person; but the applicant must state his name, his occupation or profession, and his place of residence. If he be a native, he must also state his father's name and caste.

18. The intending depositor must sign a declaration, in the following form, that he has read and accepted the Post Office Savings Banks Rules. If he be unable to write, he must attend personally, and, in the presence of a witness, affix his mark or seal to the declaration, to be attested by the signature of the witness. If he should apply in person, a copy of these rules will be given to him to read, or they will be read and explained to him, should he be unable to read. If he should not apply in person, a copy of these rules with the form of declaration will be sent to him, and he must present the declaration, duly signed, with the first deposit.

Form of Declaration to be signed by Depositor on making first deposit.

I hereby declare that the Post Office Savings Bank Rules have been read {^{by me}
{_{to me}}, and that I accept them as binding upon me.

I further declare that I have no account in my own name at any Post Office or Presidency Savings Bank.

19. Women may open accounts in their own names through their agents, or if they are married women, through their husbands or agents. The agent or husband will be required to sign the declaration that the depositor understands and accepts the rules.

20. When the declaration is presented, duly signed, with the amount of the first deposit, or when it has been signed by a depositor attending in person to make a deposit, the amount of the deposit will be entered in a Pass-book, which will be supplied to the depositor, and the entry will be initialed by the Postmaster, and stamped with the office stamp. The depositor will be required to sign a receipt for the Pass-book, and to give a specimen of his signature in a book which will be kept in the Post Office. If the depositor does not attend in person he must send a specimen of his signature on a slip of paper to the Post Office.

21. If the account be opened at a Sub-Post Office, the Pass-book for the depositor will have to be obtained from the Head Office. A preliminary receipt for the amount of the first deposit will, therefore, be given to the depositor, who will be informed of the date on which he should call to receive the Pass-book. When the Pass-book is handed over to the depositor, he will be required to return this preliminary receipt, and to sign a receipt for the Pass-book in addition to leaving a specimen of his signature on record in the Post Office. The amount of the original deposit will be entered in the Pass-book at the Head Office, and the depositor will therefore have a guarantee that the sum has been received in that office. He should be careful to see that the entry in the Pass-book corresponds with the amount entered in the preliminary receipt before giving up the latter.

PASS-BOOK AND ITS IMPORTANCE.

22. The Pass-book will show, in the vernacular of the district or in English, as the depositor may wish, the number of his account, with the name of the office from which the book is issued, his own name, occupation or profession, and address. No deposit can be made, and no money can be withdrawn, from an account without its production, and the Post Office will not be responsible for any sum not acknowledged in the Pass-book. Depositors should carefully examine their books before leaving the offices, and ascertain that the entries are correct. They should also be careful to keep their Pass-books in their own possession as the Post Office will not be responsible for any loss caused to a depositor, if any person shall obtain possession of the book, and fraudulently obtain the payment of any sum belonging to the depositor.

NOTE.—In the case of an account opened at a Sub-Post Office the Pass-book will be sent to the Head Office twice in each year, firstly as soon as possible after the 15th June when the Pass-book is presented for entry of interest under Rule 31; and secondly on the first occasion on which the account is operated upon during the quarter ending 31st December. The depositor will obtain a receipt in exchange for his pass-book and he must give up this receipt when his pass-book is returned to him.

LOSS OF PASS-BOOK.

23. No charge will be made for the book at first supplied to a depositor, or for any book issued to him in continuation of the original book which will be retained by the Post Office. But if a book be lost or spoiled (except under circumstances over which the depositor has no control), or if any account be re-opened with the permission of the Comptroller, Post Office, before the expiration of three months from the date of closure (under rule 35), the depositor will have to pay one rupee for a fresh book.

MODE OF DEPOSITING MONEY AFTER AN ACCOUNT HAS BEEN OPENED.

24. A depositor may deposit money at the Post Office at which his account stands as often as he wishes, so long as the prescribed yearly limit is not exceeded. All that he is required to do is to take or send the amount to be deposited with his Pass-book to the Post Office. The amount of his deposit will be entered in the Pass-book, and the balance struck as shown below. The entry will then be initialed by the Postmaster, and stamped with the dated stamp of the office, and the Pass-book returned:—

Date.	Dated stamp of the Post Office.	Amount of each deposit or withdrawal (to be entered in words).	Amount deposited.	Amount withdrawn.	Balance at credit of the Depositor.	Initial of the Postmaster.
1883.			R a. p.	R a. p.	R a. p.
3rd April .		Deposited ten rupees . . .	10 0 0	...	10 0 0	A.B.C.
15th „		Deposited twenty-five rupees .	25 0 0	...	35 0 0	A.B.C.
12th May .		Withdrawn three rupees . . .		3 0 0	32 0 0	A.B.C.

25. If the amount be deposited at a Sub-Post Office, the depositor will receive, in addition to the receipt in his Pass-book, an acknowledgment from the Head Office, which will generally be the office at the head-quarters station of the district. This acknowledgment will be delivered to him in ordinary course through the Post Office. If it should not reach the depositor in proper time, or if, when it reaches him, it should show any signs of erasure, or should not agree with the entry in the Pass-book, the depositor should immediately apply to the Postmaster of the Head Office, the name of which is in the Pass-book, and renew his application again and again until he receives a satisfactory reply.

MODE OF WITHDRAWING MONEY.

26. When a depositor wishes to withdraw money, he must present his Pass-book personally or by agent (whose name must be entered in the application for withdrawal) at the Post Office at which his account stands, with a printed form of application for withdrawal, which can be obtained at the Post Office, signed by himself, and showing the balance at his credit and the amount which he wishes to withdraw. If he is unable to write, he must attend personally and affix his mark or seal to the application, to be attested by the signature of a witness. Should he be absolutely unable to attend personally, he must have his mark or seal affixed to the application, and attested by some respectable witness, and the Postmaster will make payment to the person presenting this application with the Pass-book, after satisfying himself, by such inquiry as he may think proper, of the inability of the depositor to attend, and of the genuine character of the application.

27. Should any person other than the father, or if the father is dead, the mother, wish to withdraw money from an account opened on behalf of a minor and claim to do so as guardian of such minor, he will be required to fill in, on a prescribed form, answers to the following questions and will only be allowed to withdraw money on the order of the Postmaster-General in accordance with rule 40 :—

- (a) What is your relationship to the minor ?
- (b) Is the father or mother of the minor dead, or are both parents dead ? What near relatives of the minor are alive ?
- (c) Have you been appointed guardian of the minor by will or deed or under any enactment in force in British India ? (If the reply to this question is in the affirmative the applicant should produce the documents on which he relies to support his claim.)
- (d) Are you an adult relative of the minor, and does he reside with you or is he maintained by you ?

NOTE.—In the case of withdrawals made from accounts opened on behalf of minors, the father or other guardian of the minor must sign the following certificate on the application for withdrawal :—

"Certified that the amount sought to be withdrawn is required for the use of the minor."

28. The amount to be withdrawn will be entered in the Pass-book and a fresh balance struck, as in the case of a deposit, under the initials of the Postmaster and the dated stamp of the office. The amount will then be paid to the depositor or to the person presenting the Pass-book and application, and his receipt taken, in all cases without a receipt stamp, on the Warrant of Payment.

29. If the amount be withdrawn at a Sub-Post Office, payment cannot be made until a Warrant of Payment is received from the Head Office.* The depositor, therefore, or other person presenting the Pass-book and application, will be informed of the date on which he should come to the Post Office to receive payment, and will have the Pass-book returned to him. On presentation of the Pass-book on that date or any subsequent date after the arrival of the Warrant of Payment, the amount will be paid to the depositor, or other person presenting the Pass-book, and his receipt taken, in all cases without a receipt stamp, upon the Warrant. The necessary entries will then be made in the Pass-book, under the initials of the Sub-Postmaster and attested by the stamp of the office.

INTEREST.

30. Interest will be allowed at the rate of $3\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. per annum, until further orders, on all deposits, subject to the conditions of this rule. This interest will be allowed for each calendar month on the lowest balance at credit of an account between the close of the fourth day and the end of the month : provided that interest shall only be calculated at the rate of three pias a month on every complete sum of five rupees : provided also that no higher monthly interest than Rs-6 shall be allowed on the balance of any account, except as provided for under Rules 9, 10, and 12.

31. The interest calculated as above for each month will be added to the balance of each account after the 15th of June of each year. Depositors will be called upon to present their Pass-books in order that the necessary entries may be made in them. If the Pass-book be not presented for this purpose, in response to the notice sent by the Post Office to the depositor, the entry will be made on the next occasion when a deposit is made or when money is withdrawn.

NOTE.—Pass-books of depositors in Sub-Post Offices will be sent to the Head Office for the purpose of adding interest under this rule.

TRANSFER OF ACCOUNTS.

32. A depositor may have his account transferred free of charge to any Post Office that is a Savings Bank, provided that the account shall have been in existence for three months previous to the transfer. If he should wish to transfer his account, he must present his Pass-book at the Post Office personally, or send it with a written application for transfer. The Pass-book will be returned to the depositor who should present it as soon as possible at the Post Office to which his account has been transferred. A depositor in a Presidency Savings Bank may, by application to the Presidency Savings Bank, have his account transferred, free of charge, to any Post Office Savings Bank.

* NOTE.—Except in the case of certain selected Sub-Offices which are authorized to grant Warrants of Payment.

CLOSING AN ACCOUNT.

33. When a depositor wishes to close his account, he must present his Pass-book with a form of application for withdrawal of the net amount at his credit. The amount of interest due on his account up to the end of the calendar month preceding the date of presentation, will be entered in the Pass-book, and a final balance struck. The amount will then be paid to the depositor, and his receipt taken on the Warrant of Payment. The Pass-book will be retained in the Post Office. If the application for closing an account be presented at a Sub-Office, the same procedure will be followed as in the case of an ordinary withdrawal, except that the Pass-book will be retained.

34. If an account be closed under the orders of the Comptroller, Post Office, notice in writing will be sent to the depositor, requiring him to present his Pass book and receive payment of his balance at his credit as soon as convenient. After the date of such notice, no deposit will be accepted on the account so closed, and no interest will be allowed upon the balance after the end of the calendar month preceding such date.

RE-OPENING AN ACCOUNT.

35. A depositor who has once closed an account cannot open another account until after the expiration of three months from the date of closure, without the permission of the Comptroller, Post Office; and a depositor whose account has been closed by order cannot open a fresh account in any case without the permission of the Comptroller, Post Office.

DEAD ACCOUNTS.

36. Accounts in respect of which no transactions have taken place for the periods specified below will be treated as "dead" and no subsequent deposit or withdrawal will be allowed in the case of such accounts without the previous orders of the Comptroller, Post Office.

When the balance of the account is	And when no sum has been deposited or withdrawn and no interest added for
Under ₹ 10	3 complete years.
Over " 100	12 " "

NOTE.—By "transaction" in this rule is meant not only a deposit or withdrawal but also the entry of interest which has accrued on an account, which entry is made annually on presentation of the Pass-book for the purpose.

Procedure to be followed in cases of succession and guardianship.

37. If a depositor should die, leaving in a Post Office Savings Bank a sum of money not exceeding one thousand rupees, and if probate of his will or letter of administration of his estate, or a certificate granted under Act No. XXVII of 1860 be not produced to the Postmaster-General within three months of the death of the said depositor, the Postmaster-General may pay the said sum of money to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive it, or to administer the estate of the deceased.

38. Balances in excess of ₹1,000 may be paid on production of probate, letters of administration or a certificate under Act XXVII of 1860, unless otherwise ordered by the Director General of the Post Office, who has discretionary power to dispense with such evidence in cases where he is of opinion that to require it would cause hardship, and that to dispense with it would involve no appreciable risk.

39. If any depositor become insane or otherwise incapable of managing his affairs, and if such insanity or incapacity be proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General, then the Postmaster-General may, from time to time, make payment out of the deposits to any proper person.

40. When any person other than the father, or if the father is dead, the mother, claims to withdraw money from an account opened on behalf of a minor as being the guardian of such minor, the Postmaster-General may authorize the applicant to withdraw money from the account for the minor's use in accordance with the following rules:—

- (a) Where the applicant claims as guardian duly appointed by will or deed on production of the documents supporting the claim.
- (b) Where the amount of the account does not exceed R250 and the applicant does not claim to have been appointed by will or deed, upon his giving evidence to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General that he (the applicant) is the guardian of the minor.
- (c) Where the amount of the account exceeds R250 and the applicant does not claim to have been appointed guardian by will or deed, upon the applicant producing a certificate of administration granted under Act XL of 1858 or Act XX of 1864.
- (d) In any case of doubt the applicant (not being the father or mother of the minor) may be required to produce a certificate of administration under Act XL of 1858 or Act XX of 1864 before payment is made to him.

NOTE.—An authority given by the Postmaster-General under (b) will not hold good for a subsequent withdrawal if the balance of the account then exceeds R250.

PURCHASE, SALE, AND CUSTODY OF GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.

Purchase of Government Securities.

41. Any bonâ fide depositor, whose account has been in existence for not less than three months, may invest the amount of his balance or a portion of it in Government Securities through the Post Office. Any such depositor may also purchase, through the Post Office, Government Securities not exceeding in nominal value R1,000 in one year and R3,000 in all, by tendering in cash the amount necessary to complete the purchase. A written application should be presented, together with his Pass-book, by a depositor desiring to make an investment under this rule. The application will then be forwarded to the Comptroller, Post Office, who will take the necessary steps for making the purchase through the Comptroller-General.

- (a) The paper purchased will be of the 4 per cent loans, unless 4½ per cent. paper is specially applied for.
- (b) The investor may also specially apply that the paper remain in the custody of the Comptroller-General. In this case the Comptroller-General will, if necessary, transfer the paper to the 4 per cent. loan of 1865. The investor may at any time apply through the local Post Office for the delivery to him of paper thus held by the Comptroller-General. If application is not made under this clause, the paper purchased by the Comptroller-General will be encashed for payment of interest at the local treasury, and forwarded to the Post Office for delivery to the investor.

SALE OF GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.

42. Any depositor may apply for the sale through the Post Office of Government Securities which have been purchased for him through the Post Office, whether held by himself or held for him by the Comptroller-General. If the securities are presented with the application, they must be endorsed in favour of the Comptroller-General.

SAFE CUSTODY OF GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.

43. A depositor may tender at a Post Office Savings Bank, for safe custody by the Comptroller-General, Government Securities which have been purchased for him through the Post Office. The amount so tendered must not exceed in nominal value ₹1,000 in any year, or ₹3,000 in all. The Securities so tendered must be endorsed to the Comptroller-General.

INTEREST ON GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.

44. So long as the Government Securities remain in the custody of the Comptroller-General, interest, when due, will be drawn and advised to the local Post Office Savings Bank through the Comptroller, Post Office, for credit to the depositor's account.

FEES.

45. The following fees will be charged :—

On purchase : 4 annas per cent.

On realization and remittance of interest : 4 annas per cent. on the amount of the interest.

On delivery out of custody : 4 annas per cent. unless the application for delivery is made within a year of the purchase.

On sales : 4 annas per cent., and any actual outlay upon brokerage.

POWER OF GOVERNMENT TO ALTER RULES.

46. The Governor General in Council reserves the right to alter or add to these rules at any time.

ORDERED, that this Resolution be communicated to the Director General of the Post Office, with reference to his communication No. 280, dated 19th March 1888.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF AJMERE- MERWARA.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Abu, the 4th April, 1888.

No. 288-83.—In exercise of the powers conferred by the Punjab Laws Amendment Act, 1875, as extended to the Chief Commissionership of Ajmere and Merwara, under the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874, the Chief Commissioner has, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, made the following rules :—

PART I.—Containing general rules relating to Government and jagir villages.

1. In these rules, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "village" means any khalsa or jagir village, or town not being a municipality or a place for which chaukidars have been appointed under Act XX of 1856; it applies to the six villages mentioned in the margin; and it includes any circle of villages to which a watchman may be appointed under these rules, and any group of houses and the lands appertaining thereto which may, for the purposes of these rules, be formed into a village by special order of the District Magistrate;

Karel, Kharekri, Rajosi, Nausar, Ajesar, Kotri.

(b) "headman" means a lambardar of a khalsa village, or a headman of any of the six villages specified above; it includes a jagirdar; it also includes a deputy, not being a village-watchman or jamadar, who may be appointed by a jagirdar, with the approval of the District Magistrate, to exercise the powers and perform the duties of headman in all or any of the villages in the jagirdar's estate; and

(c) "village-watchman" or "watchman" includes a jamadar.

2. The number of village-watchmen for each village shall be fixed by the District Magistrate, at his discretion, and generally according to the following scale, namely :—

(a) for 100 to 150 houses—one watchman;

(b) when there are more than 150 houses—one watchman to every 150 houses.

3. Ordinarily no village with less than 100 houses will have a watchman, but the District Magistrate may, having regard to the position of any such village and the character of its population, at his discretion appoint a watchman in it, or he may constitute a circle of villages, and to the circle so constituted appoint a watchman.

4. Where the number of village-watchmen in any village is five or more, one of them may be appointed head village-watchman and designated jamadar.

5. (a) The nomination of every village-watchman shall be made by the headman, subject to the sanction of the District Magistrate, who may, for reasons to be recorded, reject the nomination.

(b) There shall be no appeal from the District Magistrate's order.

(c) If the District Magistrate rejects a first nomination by the headman, the headman shall be allowed to make a second, but, in the event of that also being rejected by the District Magistrate, he shall be allowed to make no further nomination.

6. The nomination by the headman shall be made within fifteen days after the occurrence of a vacancy in an existing post of village-watchman, and, in the case of a new appointment, or second nomination, within fifteen days from the receipt by the headman of a written order from the District Magistrate requiring the nomination to be made.

7. If the headman makes default in the nomination, or if after the rejection of his first nomination a second nomination made by him has also been rejected, the District Magistrate shall himself appoint the village-watchman.

8. Every officer in charge of a police-station shall keep a register, in such form as the District Magistrate may prescribe, of the persons for the time being holding the office of village-watchman in the several villages within the local limits of his station.

9. (a) A headman may grant urgent leave to a village-watchman for a period not exceeding ten days.

(b) Applications for all other leave for village-watchmen shall be submitted through the District Superintendent of Police for the orders of the District Magistrate.

(c) When a headman grants leave to a watchman under this rule, he shall give information thereof to the officer in charge of the police-station as soon as possible.

10. A village-watchman shall not withdraw from the duties of his office without the permission of the District Magistrate, or without having given at least one month's notice of his intention to withdraw from such duties.

11. (a) Every village-watchman, other than a jamadar, shall be armed with a spear, and shall wear as uniform a blue chapkan and a belt.

(b) Every jamadar shall be armed with a sword, and shall wear as uniform a red and blue turban, a belt, and a blue chapkan trimmed with red and having red and blue stripes on the left sleeve.

12. Every village-watchman shall keep watch and ward in his village.

13. (a) Every village-watchman shall be deemed the servant of the village for the purposes of duties imposed upon him by these rules, and, as such, shall be bound, subject to the orders of the District Magistrate, to act in all matters connected with these rules in general subordination to the headman.

(b) A village-watchman may, by special order of the District Magistrate or the District Superintendent of Police, be employed temporarily beyond the limits of his village, and, while so employed, may discharge the same functions as when employed within the limits of his village.

14. Every village-watchman is bound to assist the police to the best of his ability in all matters connected with the prevention and detection of crime and the apprehension of offenders.

15. (a) Subject to the other provisions of these rules, every village-watchman shall report in person on the state of his village once a week to the officer in charge of the police-station within the limits of which the village is situate.

(b) Where there are several village-watchmen in a village the report shall be made by one watchman at a time, the duty being taken in rotation.

(c) The District Magistrate may order more or less frequent reports, at such intervals and for so long as he considers proper, from any village in his district.

16. Every headman and village-watchman is bound to comply with the provisions of section

45 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882; and in particular every village-watchman shall—

(a) give immediate information to the officer in charge of the police-station appointed for his village—

(1) of every unnatural, suspicious, or sudden death occurring in the village of which he is watchman;

(2) of any of the following offences occurring in such village (that is to say)—murder, culpable homicide, rape, dacoity, theft, robbery, mischief by fire, house-breaking, counterfeiting coin, causing grievous hurt, riot, harbouring a proclaimed offender, exposure of a child, concealment of birth, administering stupefying drugs, kidnapping, and lurking house-trespass; and

(3) of all attempts and preparation to commit, and abetments of, any of the said offences;

(b) keep the police informed of all disputes which are likely to lead to any riot or serious affray;

(c) arrest all proclaimed offenders, and all persons whom he may find in the act of committing any offence specified in clause (a), sub-clause (2), of this rule and all persons against whom a formal complaint has been made of their having been concerned in any such offence, whether such offence is being or has been committed within his village or beyond it;

(d) to the best of his ability prevent the commission of any offence specified in clause (a), sub-clause (2), of this rule;

(e) observe, and from time to time report to the officer in charge of the police-station appointed for his village, the movement of all bad characters in such village;

(f) report to the officer in charge of such police-station the arrival of suspicious characters in the neighbourhood; and

(g) supply to the best of his ability any local information which a Magistrate or any officer of police may require, and promptly execute all orders issued to him by competent authority.

17. All occurrences reported at a police-station by village watchmen shall be recorded in the station-diaries; but it shall not be considered necessary to enter in such diaries the reports of watchmen who have no communication to make further than that the peace of their villages has been undisturbed since the last report.

18. A headman or village-watchman may of his own authority interpose to prevent any injury attempted to be committed in his view to any public property, moveable or immoveable, or to prevent the removal or injury of any public landmark.

19. For the purpose of arresting any such person as is referred to in clause (c) of rule 16, a village-watchman may pursue the person into the limits of the local jurisdiction of another village-watchman whether subordinate to the same Magistrate as himself, or to the Magistrate of another District.

20. If a person forcibly resists an endeavour to arrest him, a village-watchman or any person whom he may call to his aid may use all means necessary to effect the arrest.

21. A person arrested by a village-watchman shall not be subjected to more restraint than is necessary to prevent his escape, and the watchman shall take him as soon as possible to the police-station appointed for the village.

22. In a village to which no watchman has been appointed under these rules or from which a watchman is absent under rule 9, the functions of village-watchman shall be discharged by the headman of the village, who shall receive such remuneration for his services and collect the same in such manner as the District Magistrate may, with the approval of the Commissioner, determine after consideration of any representation which the headman may desire to record.

23. A headman discharging the functions of a village-watchman under the last foregoing rule shall have the powers and be subject to the liabilities of a village-watchman under these rules.

24. The monthly pay of a village-watchman shall not be less than four rupees, and the monthly pay of a jamadar shall not be less than seven rupees. The exact rate of pay shall in each case be determined by the District Magistrate; and the payments shall be invariably in cash.

25. The pay of all village-watchmen shall, subject to the control of the District Magistrate, be disbursed by, or under the direct supervision of, the District Superintendent of Police and on regularly prepared monthly pay bills.

26. (a) The pay of every village-watchman, and the cost of his arms and equipment, shall be provided from a cess, to be called the chaukidari cess, and to be levied annually from the village in which the watchman serves.

(b) The District Magistrate shall determine the amount of the chaukidari cess annually recoverable from each village.

(c) The amount shall in the first instance be assessed by the headman, under the general direction of the District Magistrate, on the houses of the village, or on classes of persons inhabiting the village, or on the land-revenue due from the village community, or otherwise as may seem to him expedient, with due regard, as far as may be, to local custom.

(d) The amount assessed shall be payable on dates not later than the dates fixed for the payment of instalments of land-revenue.

(e) The amount assessed shall be collected and paid into the Government treasury by the headman.

27. (a) Before making any order as to the amount of the chaukidari cess to be levied in any village, or as to the mode in which, the persons from whom, or the dates on which that cess is to be levied, the District Magistrate shall give to the headman an opportunity of recording his opinion with respect to all or any of those matters, as the case may be, and shall take into consideration any opinion so recorded.

(b) If the District Magistrate dissents from the opinion of the headman, he shall in his order record his reasons for such dissent.

28. (a) A person dissatisfied with the amount at which he has been assessed may appeal, within thirty days from the date on which he receives notice of the assessment, to the District Magistrate, whose order shall be final.

(b) The appellate order of the District Magistrate shall be communicated to the headman concerned, so that the assessment may, if necessary, be revised.

29. (a) When the assessment has been finally settled, the Magistrate shall sign the list and shall cause one copy of it in Urdu or Hindi to be stuck up in some conspicuous place in the village for which the assessment has been made.

(b) With the list there shall also be stuck up a notification in Urdu or Hindi calling on each person whose name is included in the list to pay the tax, and warning him that, in the event of his failing to do so on or before a specified date, the amount will be recoverable as an arrear of land-revenue.

30. All receipts on account of the chaukidari cess shall be credited to a fund to be called the "chaukidari fund;" and all payments from the fund shall be made on bills passed by the District Superintendent of Police and countersigned by the District Magistrate.

31. All fines inflicted and savings accruing under these rules shall be credited to the chaukidari fund.

32. The assessment of the chaukidari cess shall be revised every third year, but the District Magistrate may, for special reasons, of his own motion or on the application of the villagers, direct its revision after any shorter interval.

33. (a) Whenever an assessment is revised under the last foregoing rule, a revised list, together with such a notification as is mentioned in rule 29, shall be prepared and published in the manner directed in that rule.

(b) All objections to a revised assessment shall be made and dealt with in the manner prescribed in rule 28.

34. The headman shall, on the 1st November, and 1st May in every year, or as soon after as possible, furnish a list of the defaulters in his village to the District Magistrate.

35. All orders of the District Magistrate in regard to the determination of the number of village-watchmen, the rate of their remuneration and the assessment of the chaukidari cess, shall be subject to revision and alteration by the Commissioner.

36. (a) Any person failing to perform any duty appertaining to him as a watchman under any of the foregoing rules shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be punishable with fine not exceeding three months' pay or with imprisonment, either simple or rigorous, for a term not exceeding six months, or with both.

(b) A prosecution for an offence under this rule shall not be instituted without the previous sanction of the District Magistrate.

(c) A person convicted under this rule shall also be liable to suspension from office for a period not exceeding six months, or to dismissal, by order of the District Magistrate.

37. Officers in charge of police-stations and headmen are prohibited, under penalty of dismissal from office, from employing village-watchmen on their private concerns, or on any duties unconnected with the police.

38. The District Magistrate may, instead of instituting criminal proceedings, suspend a headman or village-watchman from office during enquiry into alleged misconduct or neglect in the performance of his duties, and may punish him for such misconduct or neglect by dismissal or by suspension from office for a period not exceeding six months.

39. A headman or village-watchman shall not be punished under these rules except either after a criminal prosecution or by order of the District Magistrate.

40. Nothing in these rules shall be construed to prevent any person from being prosecuted under any other law for the time being in force for any offence against these rules, or from being liable under such law to any other or higher penalty or punishment than is provided by these rules for the offence :

Provided that no person shall be punished twice for the same offence.

PART II.—Containing special rules relating to the estates of Istimrardars.

41. The foregoing rules shall be enforced, so far as they may be applicable, and consistent with the following rules, in the estates of istimrardars.

42. (a) An istimrardar may, with the approval of the District Magistrate, appoint a deputy, not being a village-watchman or jamadar, to discharge the functions of headman in all or any of the villages in the istimrardar's estate.

(b) Unless and until the appointment of a deputy is made and approved, the istimrardar shall be directly and personally responsible for the efficient discharge of the functions of headman in all or any of the villages in his estate.

43. The District Magistrate shall, with the previous sanction of the Commissioner, determine the number of village-watchmen to be appointed in each istimrardar's estate, and the number shall not be reduced except under the authority of the Commissioner.

44. An istimrardar, or his deputy, shall not employ village-watchmen on his private concerns, or on any duties unconnected with the police.

45. The nomination of village-watchmen, and the power of granting leave to them and of filling casual vacancies among them, shall rest entirely with the istimrardar, but the District Magistrate may, with the sanction of the Commissioner, require an istimrardar to dismiss any watchman.

46. The monthly pay of a village-watchman shall not be less than four rupees and the monthly pay of a jamadar shall not be less than seven rupees. The exact rate of pay shall in each case be fixed by the istimrardar.

47. (a) The District Magistrate shall determine the total amount leviable as chaukidari cess in each istimrardar's estate, and the istimrardar shall regulate and arrange the details of the assessment and collection of the cess within the limits of that amount.

(b) A person dissatisfied with the assessment made upon him by the istimrardar may appeal, within thirty days from the day on which he is informed of the assessment, to the District Magistrate, whose order shall be final.

(c) If the District Magistrate alters the assessment the istimrardar shall be bound to revise it according to the order.

48. (a) When the assessment has been finally settled, the Magistrate shall sign the list and shall cause one copy of it in Urdu or Hindi to be stuck up in some conspicuous place in the village for which the assessment has been made.

(b) With the list there shall also be stuck up a notification in Urdu or Hindi calling on each person whose name is included in the list to pay the tax, and warning him that, in the event of his failing to do so on or before a specified date, the amount will be recoverable as an arrear of land-revenue.

49. All watchmen in the estates of istimrardars shall be paid in cash : provided that in special cases where payment in kind has been customary the Commissioner may sanction its continuance.

50. When an istimrardar or his deputy satisfies the Collector that any sum due as chaukidari cess has fallen due and has not been paid to him, the Collector may, in his discretion, recover it as if it were an arrear of land-revenue.

51. Every istimrardar shall submit to the District Magistrate quarterly an acquittance roll showing that the salaries of his watchmen have been duly disbursed, and, at the end of each year, shall submit an abstract statement showing the following details relating to the past year :—

- (a) the amount of the chaukidari cess leviable in his estate,
- (b) the amount collected,
- (c) the amount spent on the salaries of watchmen,
- (d) the amount spent on uniform and equipments supplied to watchmen, and
- (e) the surplus, if any.

PART III.—General Provisions.

52. Except in respect of the estates of istimrardars, the District Magistrate may delegate to a Sub-Divisional Magistrate all or any of the powers conferred upon the District Magistrate by the foregoing rules ; and the Sub-Divisional Magistrate may then exercise the powers within the limits of his sub-division.

53. Nothing in any of the foregoing rules shall be deemed to impair or modify the responsibilities devolving upon istimrardars, jagirdars, or bhumias, under their respective sanads or the orders of the Chief Commissioner or the Governor-General in Council, as the case may be.

The 6th April, 1888.

No. 301—328-269.—Under the authority vested in him by Section 40 of the Ajmere Courts Regulation, 1877, the Chief Commissioner of Ajmere-Merwara is pleased to invest Captain C. Herbert, Assistant Commissioner and District Magistrate of Merwara, with the powers which may be conferred on a Deputy Commissioner under Section 30 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (Act X of 1882), to be exercised within the Merwara District.

By Order,

E. A. FRASER, Major.

First Asst. to the Agent to the Govr.-Genl.,
Rajputana, & Chief Commr., Ajmere-Merwara.

YEARLY EXAMINATION FOR FOURTH GRADE ACCOUNTANTS.

The Yearly Examination of candidates for the fourth grade of Accountant, Public Works Department, will be held at the Civil Engineering College, Seebpore, on Monday and Tuesday, June 4th and 5th, 1888, at 10-30 A.M.

SUBJECTS.

	Full marks.	Minimum pass marks.
Writing (neatness, clearness and rapidity)	100	50
Dictation (spelling, punctuation, &c.)	100	50
Arithmetic (whole course)	240	160
Mensuration (a) (whole book)	60	30
Book-keeping (b) (Mercantile)	100	50
TOTAL.	600	400

Minimum required in all papers collectively.

- (a) Todhunter's Mensuration for beginners.
(b) "Book-keeping" by Ball and Hamilton.
(c) "Book-keeping" by double and single entry, by W. Inglis (Chambers's Educational Course.)

The marks gained by candidates who fail will not be published.

1. The examination will be conducted either at the college or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph), in Bengal, Assam, and Burmah only.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

2. Candidates not in Government employ who wish to be examined at the college must forward their applications direct to the Principal, those employed in Government offices through the head of their office who will forward the application to the Principal.

All applications must reach the Principal before the 5th May, 1888.

3. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts not later than 5th May, 1888, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the college is not convenient. The application must be forwarded by the candidate, not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

4. All applications must be accompanied by a fee of ₹10, and the following certificates:—

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies, attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned.

(1.) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior, or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application.)

(2.) Certificate that candidate is under 25 years of age (not required if candidate is in permanent Government employ).

(3.) Certificate that the application is in candidate's handwriting.

It will rest with the Principal of the College, on a consideration of these certificates, to decide whether the candidate should be registered for the examination or whether his application should be rejected.

5. Copies of examination papers are not procurable except those that are issued for examination. These need not be returned.

6. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion, must undergo the full examination, and furnish a fresh fee and certificates.

7. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts in the Province or Railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

8. It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department.

MILITARY SECRETARY'S OFFICE.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 19th April, 1888.

His Excellency THE VICEROY AND GOVERNOR-GENERAL will hold a Levée at the "Viceregal Lodge," at 9.45 P.M., on Tuesday, the 22nd May, 1888.

All Civil and Military Officers and the Native Officers of the Detachment of the 5th Goorkhas are invited to attend.

Gentlemen who have not already been presented at the Court of St. James or at the Viceregal Court are requested to send their names and addresses to the Aide-de-Camp in waiting not later than Thursday, the 17th May, 1888; and in doing so, to add the names of the Gentlemen who will present them, and who must themselves attend the Levée. Presentation cards will then be forwarded to them.

All Officers and Gentlemen attending the Levée are requested to bring with them two cards, with their names legibly written thereon—one card to be delivered on entering the "Viceregal Lodge," and the other to the Aide-de-Camp in waiting at the time of presentation.

Gentlemen wearing uniform will appear in full dress.

Gentlemen not entitled to wear uniform will appear in evening dress.

By Command,

WILLIAM BERESFORD, Lieut.-Colonel,

Military Secretary to the Viceroy.

EMIGRATION.

The 17th April, 1888.

No. 48—27-3E.—The following Draft of a proposed amendment of the Rules framed under the Indian Emigration Act, XXI. of 1883, is published under section 81 of the Act for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby; and notice is hereby given under that section that the Draft will be taken into consideration by the Governor-General in Council on the 20th May 1888.

2. Any objection or suggestion which may be made by any person with respect to the Draft before that date will be received and considered by the Governor-General in Council.

Draft of Proposed Amendment.

1. To Rule 7, Schedule (page 88), after the existing Rule under the heading "Blocks" add the following:

"In front of each block and at a distance of about 2 feet from it a substantial wooden frame of stanchions and connecting pieces shall be erected, extending along the entire length of the block and to about 2 feet beyond it on each side. This frame shall be sufficiently high to support an extension of the closet roof, which shall be projected in future to a distance of about 2 feet, and shall rest on and be securely fastened to the top of the frame.

"A canvas screen, oiled or tarred, and capable of being securely fastened in its place when let down and rolled up when not required, shall be fitted to the front of the above frame, and shall hang from under the projected roof above to about 18 inches of the deck, so as to form, when let down, a sheltered passage to the closets that are behind and entirely covered by it. The exposed forward and after ends or side entrances of this passage shall be excluded from view by wooden side-screens—one at each end—firmly fixed at right angles to the frame in front, so as to leave, at each end, a covered entrance to the passage. With a view to better control, the forward end entrances to the women's closets may be closed, or be capable of being closed, when desired."

NOTE.—The relative positions of a block of water-closets, and of the front and side screens common to the block, may be roughly indicated thus:

2. Under the heading "Compartments" and in the Rule below the Table (page 88) omit the paragraph beginning with the words "Every compartment" and ending with the words "for a handle."

The 20th April, 1888.

No. 64—21-3 E.—With reference to Notification No. 42—21-2 E., dated the 1st March, 1888, the following amendments in the Rules under the Indian Emigration Act, XXI. of 1883, are published under section 81 (4) of that Act for general information:

(1) Insert at foot of the Table in Schedule A (page 82) the following Nota Bene:

"The length over all \times the extreme breadth \times the inside depth amid ship to be considered as the cubic contents."

(2) For the Rule in Schedule A (page 84), beginning with the words "The Master and the three Officers" and ending with the words "shall not be Natives," substitute the following Rule:

"The Master shall hold a Master's certificate of competency. The First Officer shall also hold a Master's certificate. The Second Officer shall hold a Second Officer's certificate of competency. The Third Officer shall not be required to hold a certificate. The Master and Officers shall not be Natives."

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 14th April, 1888.—Slight rain in most districts. Rain wanted in Vizagapatam, Cuddapah, North Arcot, Trichinopoly, Madura, Tinnevely, Coimbatore, Nilgiris, Salem, and South Canara. Crops generally good, but withering in parts of Anantapur and Madura. Pasture generally sufficient, but scanty in parts of Anantapur, North Arcot, Trichinopoly, Mudura, Coimbatore, and Nilgiris, and decreasing in Vizagapatam and Salem. No material fluctuations in prices. General prospects favourable.

Bombay.—For week ending 18th April, 1888.—Slight rain in parts of Kurrachee and Dharwar. Standing crops in good condition. Cotton picking completed in Ahmedabad,—in progress in other parts in Guzerat and Southern Mahratta Country. Harvesting of late crops completed in Ahmedabad, Broach, and Belgaum,—still progressing in other districts. Ploughing operations for next season's crops in progress in Hyderabad, Upper Sind Frontier, Nasik, Thana, Kolaba, Ratnagiri, Poona, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Satara, Bijapur, Belgaum, and Kathiawar. Probable outturn of cotton 7 annas, of wheat 9 annas in Surat. Cotton crops in Broach generally very poor.

Bengal.—For week ending 17th April, 1888.—No rain. Weather very hot and dry. Rain generally wanted. Cultivation of autumn crops and sowing of early rice and jute in progress. Spring rice is promising, and is being harvested in Orissa. Sugarcane is still being planted and irrigated, and is doing well. Indigo prospects favourable. Mahua crop yielding well throughout Chota Nagpur, except in parts; but the outturn is not good in the Sonthal Parganas. Rabi harvest is over, and threshing is going on. Opium weighments proceeding. A severe tornado passed through Dacca city on the 7th instant, causing considerable loss of life and property. Pressure in some parts of Manbhoom and Pooree, owing to partial failure of crops.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 18th April, 1888.—Weather seasonable. Crops nearly all garnered. Markets well stocked. Prices generally steady. Condition of cattle generally good.

Punjab.—For week ending 18th April, 1888.—Slight rain has fallen at Rawalpindi and Peshawar. Prices are reported to be stationary in nine, and falling in three districts. Kharif ploughings, sugarcane weedings, and cotton sowings in progress. Harvesting of rabi crops commenced. Rabi prospects are reported good, except in Ferozepur and Peshawar, where they are average; no damage done to crops. Stock cattle are healthy. Fodder still scarce in some districts. Poppy crop reaped in Amritsar, and extraction of opium nearly completed in Sialkote.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 18th April, 1888.—Weather hot. Harvesting of winter crops continues in northern districts,—completed elsewhere. Threshing in progress, outturn good. Sugarcane flourishing.

Burma.—For week ending 14th April, 1888.—The prospects of the dry weather crops continue to be generally satisfactory, except in Myadaung, in some townships of which district the crop is said to be indifferent. The condition of agricultural stock is generally good. The price of paddy has risen in the Hanthawaddy, Bassein and Henzada districts of Lower Burma and in the Saigain and Meiktila of Upper Burma, and has fallen in Tharawaddy and Prome districts of Lower Burma. The supply of grain is said to be somewhat short in Myadaung district.

Assam.—For week ending 18th April, 1888.—Weather hot and windy, and almost rainless in Lower Assam and the western hill districts. Seasonable rain in Upper Assam; much rain in Surma Valley. Tea operations progressing favourably. General prospects of crops good.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 18th April, 1888.—Slight fall of rain in parts of Mysore, and smart showers at Bangalore on 17th. Standing crops reported to be in good condition. Outturn of harvests fair, and condition of cattle generally good.

Some rain in parts of North and West Coorg. More rain wanted to prove beneficial to coffee blossom.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 18th April, 1888.—In Berar weather warm and cloudy. Harvesting of rabi crops almost completed. Land is being prepared for the ensuing kharif crop. Agricultural stock generally in good condition. Fodder insufficient in Amraoti district. Prices stationary.

No rain in Hyderabad during week. Agricultural prospects continue fair. Prices are stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 18th April, 1888.—No changes since last week, except in Western Malwa, where agricultural operations are completed, and the condition of standing crops improved in Bhopawar.

Rajputana.—For week ending 18th April, 1888.—Agricultural operations satisfactory. Standing crops good and almost cut. Crop prospects and agricultural stock generally good. Pasturage or fodder fairly sufficient. Prices steady, and falling at many places. Opium almost collected.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending the 18th April, 1888.

The unsteady pressures and the slightly unsettled weather which have characterised the two past weeks have continued during that under review. The distribution of pressure and to a large extent the circulation of the wind have been more like that normally existing in the middle of May than that of the middle of April, gradients have been unusually steep, and the main low pressure area has been shown on most days over North-Western India instead of over Chutia Nagpur and the Central Provinces.

On the 12th the barometric depression over Sind, noticed at the close of the preceding Summary, was very strongly marked, and gradients on its southern side were steep. The depression was apparently spreading north-eastward over the Punjab, and the barometer was falling at the stations of Rawalpindi, Peshawar, and Murree, while it was rising elsewhere. A clearly defined cyclonic circulation of the winds existed over North-Western India—the force being considerable at the mouth of the Indus. Over the Central parts of the country and the northern parts of the Peninsula the wind was north-westerly to westerly, over the south of the Peninsula very variable, and over the Bay and Bengal southerly to south-westerly. The rainfall was slight, and was confined to Peshawar, Dhubri, Silchar, and the south of the Peninsula. Dusthaze and dust-storms were reported from a large part of North-Western India, and cloudy weather, with strong winds, from the head of the Bay, Eastern Bengal, and Arakan. Temperature had changed rather irregularly, but had risen generally over Upper and Central India and the south of the Peninsula. In the North-West Provinces and the east of the Punjab the rise had been large. Maxima exceeding 100° were reported from the great majority of inland stations, the highest being 110° at Nagpur and 108° at Raipur and Amraoti. On the 13th the depression over Sind was slowly filling up, and the cyclonic circulation of the winds in the North-West had almost disappeared. At the mouth of the Indus however the force of the wind continued high. The general directions of the wind in other parts of India were similar to those reported on the previous day. Rain was again reported from the extreme north of the Punjab and from Assam, but except at Kurnool the fall had ceased in the Peninsula. The thermometer, except in Bombay and Bengal, had generally decreased, and the maxima were rather lower than on the preceding day. By the morning of the 14th the depression over Sind had entirely disappeared, and the lowest pressures were shown over North Bengal and Behar, but a slight depression had appeared over the south-west of the Bay and was affecting the winds and weather over Ceylon and the south of the Peninsula. At Trichinopoly and Colombo rain had fallen heavily, and at Madras, Negapatam and Cochin lightly. The sky was cloudy to overcast over Madras, and there had been a brisk fall of temperature. The highest maximum reported was 108° at Cuttack, Amraoti, Hoshangabad, Nagpur, and Raipur. The Chart of the 14th showed that the depression over the south-west of the Bay was dispersing, but was giving showery weather to the whole of Southern India. Rain was also falling in Assam. The general distribution of pressure on this day was fairly normal and the wind circulation fairly regular. Temperature, except in the North-West, had generally decreased, and the maxima over the Peninsula were low compared with those of a few days previously. On the 16th the most important change in pressure was the appearance of a low pressure area over Sind and Baluchistan. Elsewhere the relative distribution was similar to that of the 15th. Rain still fell both in Assam and in the south of the Peninsula. Temperature had risen—more especially the maxima over North-Western India. The Chart of the 17th showed that the depression over Sind had developed, and the wind at the mouth of the Indus increased in force. A large high pressure area overlay the Peninsula with a band of low pressures along the foot of the hills. Rain had fallen along the Arakan Coast, as well at Sibsagar and several Peninsula stations. Temperature had continued to rise—more particularly in the North-West, where the mean temperature was a good deal above the average. The highest maximum reported was 113° at Jacobabad. On the 18th the depression over Sind had concentrated, and steep gradients accompanied with strong westerly winds prevailed between Kurrachee and Jacobabad. Slightly unsettled conditions still prevailed in the Peninsula, and rain was reported from the South Konkan Coast and from Wellington, Bangalore, and Cuddapah. In Arakan and Assam also rain continued. In Assam, Eastern Bengal, and at the head of the Bay the force of the wind was unusually high, but over the greater part of the country the general circulation was fairly normal. Over North-Western India there had been a further brisk rise of temperature, and the maxima were high generally for the season. Jacobabad reported a maximum of 113.7° and Nagpur of 111.2° .

The concluding table gives the total rainfall of the past week according to Provinces :

Divisions	No. of Stations.	Total Rainfall.

YEARLY EXAMINATION FOR FOURTH GRADE ACCOUNTANTS.

The Yearly Examination of candidates for the fourth grade of Accountant, Public Works Department, will be held at the Civil Engineering College, Secbpoore, on Monday and Tuesday, June 4th and 5th, 1888, at 10-30 A.M.

SUBJECTS.

	Full marks.	Minimum pass marks.
Writing (neatness, clearness and rapidity)	100	50
Dictation (spelling, punctuation, &c.)	100	50
Arithmetic (whole course)	240	160
Mensuration (a) (whole book)	60	30
Book-keeping (b) (Mercantile)	100	50
TOTAL	600	400
		Minimum required in all papers collectively.

(a) Todhunter's Mensuration for beginners.

(b) "Book-keeping" by Ball and Hamilton.

(c) "Book-keeping" by double and single entry, by W. Inglis (Chambers's Educational Course.)

The marks gained by candidates who fail will not be published.

1. The examination will be conducted either at the college or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph), in Bengal, Assam, and Burmah only.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

2. Candidates not in Government employ who wish to be examined at the college must forward their applications direct to the Principal, those employed in Government offices through the head of their office who will forward the application to the Principal.

All applications must reach the Principal before the 5th May, 1888.

3. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts not later than 5th May, 1888, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the college is not convenient. The application must be forwarded by the candidate, not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

4. All applications must be accompanied by a fee of Rs 10, and the following certificates:—

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies, attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned.

(1.) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior, or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application.)

(2.) Certificate that candidate is under 25 years of age (not required if candidate is in permanent Government employ).

(3.) Certificate that the application is in candidate's handwriting.

It will rest with the Principal of the College, on a consideration of these certificates, to decide whether the candidate should be registered for the examination or whether his application should be rejected.

5. Copies of examination papers are not procurable except those that are issued for examination. These need not be returned.

6. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion, must undergo the full examination, and furnish a fresh fee and certificates.

7. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts in the Province or Railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

8. It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department.

S. F. DOWNING,

Principal, Civil Engineering College.

SEEBPUR,

The 5th April, 1888.

CIVIL ENGINEERING COLLEGE, SEEBPUR.

Candidates for admission to the Engineer Department should apply to the Principal before the 25th May, 1888. The session begins on Monday, the 4th June, 1888. Candidates must furnish proof that they have passed the Calcutta University Entrance Examination and that they are under 19 years of age. This limit will be raised to 21 years of age in the case of candidates who have passed the F. A. Examination of the University.

Ten scholarships will be awarded to students entering the Engineer Department not being already holders of junior scholarships. These scholarships will be awarded after admission with general reference to the place taken by candidates at the Entrance Examination.

Mechanical Apprentice Department.

Students who have passed the University Entrance Examination in April are eligible for admission to the Mechanical Apprentice Department up to the 4th June, 1888. They must send in their applications before 25th May, 1888.

Every applicant, before admission to the College, will be examined by the College Surgeon as to his physical strength, fitness for manual labour, and eye-sight.

Further particulars will be supplied on application to the Principal.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

• PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

- The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.
- The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat; the copies for subscribers registered by Messrs. Thacker, Spink & Co. are distributed by that firm; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.
- In supersession of previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1885, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows:—

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending the 25th April, 1888.

During the past week the distribution of pressure, the winds, and weather have been fairly constant throughout. Pressure has been high over the west and south of the Peninsula, relatively low over Western Bengal, and lowest along the foot of the North-West Himalaya. This distribution has been accompanied by the usual circulation of the air, but the south-westerly winds from the Bay into Bengal has been somewhat unusually strong, and the spring rainfall in East Bengal and Assam has been more than normally copious. In Ceylon the rainfall during the week has been so heavy and continuous as to lead to the supposition that it may be the chota barsat. If so, it is somewhat in advance of its usual date.

On the 19th the barometer was falling, except over North-Western and Central India. It was highest on the North Konkan Coast and relatively high in the north-west of the Punjab, lowest in the neighbourhood of Ludhiana and relatively low over Western Bengal. The weather was in a slightly unsettled state. Four stations in the Peninsula reported light showers, and general, though on the whole light, rain had fallen in Assam and Eastern Bengal. In the Punjab duststorms without rain occurred at several stations; and Murree had a light thundershower. On the 20th the only important change was over the Peninsula, where the weather had become much more unsettled, and showers were reported from the majority of stations. Probably largely due to this rainfall was the brisk fall of temperature which was shown over the Central Provinces, the Deccan, and Central India. In the Berars the fall exceeded 12° and at several stations amounted to more than 5° . Maxima exceeding 100° were numerous, the highest reported being $108^{\circ}-8''$ at Raipur. The reports of the 21st showed that rain had almost ceased in the Peninsula, but in Assam and East and Central Bengal moderate showers had fallen generally. Temperature changes were somewhat irregular, except in Bengal and Behar, where there was a fall. The highest maxima recorded were $108^{\circ}-4''$ at Jacobabad and $107^{\circ}-6''$ at Allahabad.

On the 22nd thunderstorms were again reported from several places in the Peninsula, and thundershowers and nor'-westers from Assam and Bengal. The amounts were nowhere very large, but the occurrence of the storms indicated a slightly disturbed condition of the atmosphere over a largish area. The Chart of the 23rd showed a small depression overlying the central districts of the Punjab, to the north of which slight rain was falling, while showers continued to fall both in Assam and in the Peninsula. On the 24th the lowest pressures were transferred from Upper India to the east of the North-Western Provinces. Rain still fell at the majority of stations in the Punjab, as well as over Assam and East and North Bengal. On the 25th rain had almost ceased in Upper India, but in North-Eastern India both the amount and area of the rainfall had increased. During the whole week strong southerly winds were experienced at the head of the Bay. On the last few days of the week temperature generally decreased in Northern India and increased in the Peninsula, the changes on some occasions being large, the final results being that at the close of the week the maxima over the greater part of the country were generally lower than they had been at the beginning.

The concluding table gives the total rainfall of the past week according to Provinces :

Divisions.	No. of Stations.	Total Rainfall.
Burma	2	0'21
Bengal and Assam	11	23'45
North-Western Provinces and Oudh	3	0'56
Punjab	4	0'23
Hill Stations	5	1'49
Ceylon	2	14'63
Malabar Coast	5	2'91
Bombay	5	1'33
Berars and Central Provinces	3	0'12
Guzerat and Central India	1	1'24
Sind—Rajputana	1	0'44
Madras	9	4'01

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 21st April, 1888.—Moderate rain in all districts, except Madras and Chingleput. More rain wanted in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Cuddapah, North Arcot, Madura, Tinnevely, Coimbatore, and Salem. Crops generally good, but withering in parts of Anantapur and Madura. Paddy damaged by hailstones in Anantapur. Pasture generally sufficient, but scanty in Malabar and in parts of Cuddapah, Anantapur, North Arcot, Trichinopoly, Madura, Coimbatore, and Nilgiris, and decreasing in Vizagapatam and Salem. No material fluctuations in prices. General prospects favourable.

Bombay.—For week ending 25th April, 1888.—Rain in parts of Ratnagiri, Poona, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Belgaum, Dharwar, and Kanara,—beneficial to agricultural operations in Belgaum, but injurious to cotton in Dharwar. Standing crops in good condition. Cotton picking in progress in parts of Kaira, Bijapur, Belgaum, and Dharwar. Harvesting of late crops completed in Surat and Bijapur,—still progressing in some districts. Ploughing operations for next season's crop in progress in Hyderabad, Upper Sind Frontier, Broach, Nasik, Thana, Kolaba, Ratnagiri, Poona, Sholapur, Satara, Bijapur, and Kathiawar, and sowing commenced in Kurrachee. Probable outturn of late crops 13 annas in Shikarpur.

Bengal.—For week ending 24th April, 1888.—Considerable rain throughout Eastern and Central Bengal and in parts of Northern Bengal; light showers in Western Bengal; a heavy shower in Purneah on the 23rd; no rain throughout the remainder of the Province. Rain very beneficial to cultivation of early rice and jute. Rain wanted in Burdwan, Rajshahye, Bhagalpur, and Orissa Divisions. Spring rice harvest begun, good outturn expected. Sugarcane and indigo doing well. Rabi threshing and opium weighments still proceeding. Mahua is a good crop in Chota Nagpur, except in parts; but a bad crop in Sonthal Parganas. No material change in price of rice during last fortnight. Common rice cheaper than last year in Eastern Bengal and Orissa, but dearer almost elsewhere. Distress in Pooree no longer apprehended.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 24th April, 1888.—The weather is hot and in some districts cloudy, with easterly winds. The harvest is almost over, and the outturn is good. Tobacco, indigo, and sugarcane are being irrigated. The supply of foodgrains is sufficient. Prices are steady, with slight fluctuations. The condition of cattle is generally good.

Punjab.—For week ending 25th April, 1888.—Slight rain at Peshawar. In most districts prices are stationary and in a few falling. Kharif ploughings and sugarcane and cotton weedings in progress. Harvesting and threshing of rabi crops also in progress. Rabi prospects are reported good, except in Jullundur, Rawalpindi, and Peshawar, where they are average. No damage done to crops. Stock cattle are reported healthy. Fodder still scarce in some districts. Poppy crops reaped in Jullundur and Amritsar. Extraction of opium progressing in Sialkote. Produce is reported small from Rawalpindi.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 25th April, 1888.—Weather hot, with little rain in Seoni, Hoshangabad, and Nagpur. Threshing and winnowing of wheat in progress and other winter crops continue good. Ploughing for autumn crops commenced in places. Sugarcane thriving. Cattle in fair condition, but grass is becoming scarce.

Burma.—For week ending 21st April, 1888.—The prospects of the dry weather crops continue to be generally satisfactory, except that the rice in the south-west of the Shwebo district of Upper Burma has been damaged by the gale and hail. There was a considerable fall of rain in the Mandalay, Shwebo, Yeu, Sagaing, Pagan, Minbu, and Myadaung districts, and a slight fall in four other districts in Upper Burma and in five districts of Lower Burma. Except in Shwebo crops are not affected by this rain, so far as is yet known. The price of paddy has risen in Pegu, Tharrawaddy, Henzada, Amherst, Kyaukse, Meiktila, and Taungdwingyi districts, and has fallen in the Myingyan district.

Assam.—For week ending 25th April, 1888.—Favourable rain all over Province, except in the Garo Hills, where fall has been insufficient, and in Sylhet, where it was excessive. Drought has done harm in former district, and floods are feared in latter. Sugarcane planting continues. Prospects of crops good. Tea doing well.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 25th April, 1888.—Rainfall good throughout the State. Standing crops reported to be in good condition. Out-turn of harvests fair. Condition of cattle generally good.

There has been a little rain in Coorg, but in South Coorg it has been insufficient for the coffee blossoms.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 25th April, 1888.—Weather warm and sometimes cloudy. Cultivators busily engaged in preparation of the land for ensuing season. Agricultural stock in good condition. Fodder is sufficient in Amraoti and Basim districts. No marked change in prices.

Some rain has fallen at Hyderabad during the week. Agricultural prospects continue fair. Prices stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 25th April, 1888.—Few showers during the week in Gwalior. No other changes since the last report, except in Bhopal and Bhopawar, where prices of foodgrains are reported to be rising.

Rajputana.—For week ending 25th April, 1888.—Some rain at Jeypore. Agricultural operations satisfactory. Standing crops almost harvested. Crop prospects and agricultural stock generally good. Pasturage or fodder fairly sufficient. Prices steady, and falling at places. Opium collected.

Nepal.—For week ending 19th April, 1888.—No rain; but it is needed. Harvesting of potatoes commenced in the Valley.

YEARLY EXAMINATION FOR FOURTH GRADE ACCOUNTANTS.

The Yearly Examination of candidates for the fourth grade of Accountant, Public Works Department, will be held at the Civil Engineering College, Seebpore, on Monday and Tuesday, June 4th and 5th, 1888, at 10-30 A.M.

SUBJECTS.

	Full marks.	Minimum pass marks.
Writing (neatness, clearness and rapidity)	100	50
Dictation (spelling, punctuation, &c.)	100	50
Arithmetic (whole course)	240	160
Mensuration (a) (whole book)	60	30
Book-keeping (b) (Mercantile)	100	50
TOTAL	600	400

Minimum required in all papers collectively.

- (a) Todhunter's Mensuration for beginners.
(b) "Book-keeping" by Ball and Hamilton.
(c) "Book-keeping" by double and single entry, by W. Inglis (Chambers's Educational Course.)

The marks gained by candidates who fail will not be published.

1. The examination will be conducted either at the college or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph), in Bengal, Assam, and Burmah only.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

2. Candidates not in Government employ who wish to be examined at the college must forward their applications direct to the Principal, those employed in Government offices through the head of their office who will forward the application to the Principal.

All applications must reach the Principal before the 5th May, 1888.

3. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts not later than 5th May, 1888, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the college is not convenient. The application must be forwarded by the candidate, not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

4. All applications must be accompanied by a fee of ₹10, and the following certificates:—

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies, attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned.

(1.) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior, or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application.)

(2.) Certificate that candidate is under 25 years of age (not required if candidate is in permanent Government employ).

(3.) Certificate that the application is in candidate's handwriting.

It will rest with the Principal of the College, on a consideration of these certificates, to decide whether the candidate should be registered for the examination or whether his application should be rejected.

5. Copies of examination papers are not procurable except those that are issued for examination. These need not be returned.

6. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion, must undergo the full examination, and furnish a fresh fee and certificates.

7. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts in the Province or Railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

8. It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department.

CIVIL ENGINEERING COLLEGE, SEEBPUR.

Candidates for admission to the Engineer Department should apply to the Principal before the 25th May, 1888. The session begins on Monday, the 4th June, 1888. Candidates must furnish proof that they have passed the Calcutta University Entrance Examination and that they are under 19 years of age. This limit will be raised to 21 years of age in the case of candidates who have passed the F. A. Examination of the University.

Ten scholarships will be awarded to students entering the Engineer Department not being already holders of junior scholarships. These scholarships will be awarded after admission with general reference to the place taken by candidates at the Entrance Examination.

Mechanical Apprentice Department.

Students who have passed the University Entrance Examination in April are eligible for admission to the Mechanical Apprentice Department up to the 4th June, 1888. They must send in their applications before 25th May, 1888.

Every applicant, before admission to the College, will be examined by the College Surgeon as to his physical strength, fitness for manual labour, and eye-sight.

Further particulars will be supplied on application to the Principal.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.—PUBLIC.

Simla, the 4th May, 1888.

No. 927.—In exercise of the power conferred by Section 17 of the Indian Arms Act, XI. of 1878, and in supersession of all previous Notifications or orders on the subject, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rule, namely:—

Licenses to possess arms or ammunition, and to go armed, shall in Burma be granted in the following forms only, and shall be subject respectively to the following terms and conditions:—

FORM I.

License to possess arms or ammunition, and to go armed, to be granted to persons other than Thuggis in Lower Burma and Headmen or Thuggis in Upper Burma.

(Fee—Four annas, payable in stamps.)

Name, father's name, age, race, and residence of license-holder.	Distinguishing marks of license-holder.	Number of retainers, if any, who may be covered by the license.	Description and number of weapons and quantity of ammunition covered by license.	District or place within which license is valid.	Purpose for which granted.	Date on which license expires.

Terms and conditions subject to which a license in the foregoing Form (Form I.) is to be granted.

[To be printed on the reverse of the License Form.]

THIS license is granted subject to the provisions of the Indian Arms Act, 1878, and the Rules framed thereunder.

It covers only the persons and arms named therein, unless it is certified to cover retainers of the holder.

It is void after the 31st March next following the date on which it is granted.

It extends only to the district or place named therein.

- (a) that the village in which the license-holder resides contains at least 50 houses;
- (b) that there are at least nine other license-holders in the village;

[N.B.—Conditions (a) and (b) may be relaxed in the case of Karens of proved loyalty recommended by their Missionaries, and in other special cases, with the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division, provided that in no case shall the number of guns in any village be less than five.]

- (c) that the village is well fenced or stockaded, so as to prevent its being rushed, and that the ground round it is kept clear of jungle or cover for the space of 50 yards;

- (d) that the license-holder engages to act as a special constable, and to resist dacoits whenever the village is attacked, and to pursue them when called upon by a competent authority. A competent authority means the headman of the village in which the license-holder resides, or a Civil Officer not below the rank of Circle Thugyi in Lower Burma or Myoök in Upper Burma, or a Police Officer not below the rank of Jamadar of Military Police or Head Constable of Civil Police, or any Military Officer in command of a party of troops :

- (e) that the license-holder shall not carry his firearm beyond the boundaries of his own village unless he has been called out by a competent authority to pursue dacoits; provided that in Lower Burma the license-holder, when wearing his uniform or badge, may carry his gun within the limits of the circle in which his village is situated.
- (f) that if the license-holder is obliged to leave his village for the night, he shall deposit his gun with the headman of his village until his return;
- (g) that the license-holder shall provide himself with a uniform jacket or badge which will be given to him at cost price by the District Superintendent of Police, and that he shall wear this uniform or badge whenever he is called upon to act beyond the boundaries of his own village;
- (h) that he shall produce his gun for inspection whenever called upon by a Civil Officer not below the rank of a Myoök in Upper Burma or of a Circle Thugyi in Lower Burma, or by a Military Police Officer not below the rank of Jamadar, or by a Civil Police Officer not below the rank of Head Constable;
- (i) that he shall keep and produce for inspection, when required, half a pound of powder, 50 caps, and a proportionate quantity of bullets or buck shot;
- (j) that he shall not purchase ammunition from any one but the District Superintendent of Police;
- (k) that if the license-holder lends, loses, or in any way parts with his gun, this license and all other licenses to possess and carry firearms granted in the village in which the said license-holder resides shall be cancelled, and the firearms confiscated;
- (l) this license is liable to be withdrawn at any time at the discretion of Government.

FORM II.

License to possess arms or ammunition, and to go armed, to be granted to Thugyis in Lower Burma, and Headmen or Thugyis in Upper Burma.

(Fee—Four annas, payable in stamps.)

Name, father's name, age, race, and residence of license-holder.	Distinguishing marks of license-holder.	Number of retailers, if any, who may be covered by the license.	Description and number of weapons, and quantity of ammunition covered by license.	District or place within which license is valid.	Purpose for which granted.	Date on which license expires.

Terms and conditions subject to which a License in the foregoing Form (Form II.) is to be granted.

[To be printed on the reverse of the License Form.]

THIS license is granted subject to the provisions of the Indian Arms Act, 1878, and the Rules framed thereunder.

It covers only the persons and arms named therein, unless it is certified to cover retainers of the holder.

The number of arms and retainers covered by the license shall in Lower Burma be fixed by the Commissioner in each case, and shall not ordinarily exceed ten.

The license is void after the 31st March next following the date on which it is granted.

It extends only to the district or place named therein.

- (a) that the village in which the license-holder resides contains at least 50 houses;
- (b) that the total number of license-holders in the village is not less than ten;
- (c) that the village is well fenced or stockaded so as to prevent its being rushed, and that the ground round it is kept clear of jungle or cover for the space of 50 yards; provided that in Lower Burma this condition may be dispensed with if the Commissioner of the Division is satisfied that the firearm is kept in a proper or defensible place, or that for other reasons the enforcement of this condition is unnecessary;
- (d) that the license-holder engages to act as a special constable and to resist dacoits whenever the village is attacked, and to pursue them when called upon by a competent authority. A competent authority means a Civil Officer not below the rank of Myook, or a Police Officer not below the rank of Jenadar of Military Police or Head Constable of Civil Police, or any Military Officer in command of a party of troops;
- (e) that the license holder shall not carry his firearm beyond the boundaries of his own village unless he has been called out by a competent authority to pursue dacoits, or unless he is engaged in the collection or transport of revenue or in any other public duty; provided that in Lower Burma the license-holder, when wearing his uniform or badge, may carry his gun within the limits of the circle in which his village is situated;
- (f) that the license-holder shall provide himself with a uniform jacket or badge which will be given to him at cost price by the District Superintendent of Police, and that he shall wear this uniform or badge whenever he is called upon to act beyond the boundaries of his own village;
- (g) that if the license-holder is obliged to leave his village for the night, he shall deposit his gun with the headman of his village until his return;
- (h) that he shall produce his gun for inspection whenever called upon by a Civil Officer not below the rank of a Myook, or by a Military Police Officer not below the rank of Jenadar, or by a Civil Police Officer not below the rank of Head Constable;
- (i) that he shall keep and produce for inspection, when required, half a pound of powder, 50 caps, and a proportionate quantity of bullets or buck shot;
- (j) that he shall not purchase ammunition from any one but the District Superintendent of Police;
- (k) that if the license-holder lends, loses, or in any way parts with his gun, this license and all other licenses to possess and carry firearms granted in the village in which the said license-holder resides shall be cancelled, and the firearms confiscated;
- (l) this license is liable to be withdrawn at any time at the discretion of Government.

information. The attention of Shipowners and Masters is specially invited to Sections 21 to 23 of the Ordinance.—

NO. 12 OF 1888.

An Ordinance enacted by the Governor of Hongkong, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, entitled the Vagrancy Ordinance, 1888.

(L.S.)

G. WILLIAM DES VŒUX.

[3rd March, 1888.]

Be it enacted by the Governor of Hongkong, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

1. In this Ordinance the term vagrant means any person other than a Chinese found asking for alms, or without any employment or visible means of subsistence.

Interpretation.

Agent of a vessel includes any person who undertakes the agency of such vessel, though he may not be the consignee thereof.

2. The Governor may provide a House of Detention for vagrants at such place as Governor may provide House of Detention; in the meantime Victoria Gaol declared as such.

he may think proper, and may appoint a Superintendent and such Officers as he may think proper, and may remove any such Superintendent or Officers at pleasure.

The Governor may, by notification in the Gazette, certify any building or part of a building to be a House of Detention for the purposes of this Ordinance; and until any such house be provided, the Gaol at Victoria may be used as such house for the purpose of this Ordinance.

3. Every House of Detention shall be under the immediate charge of a Superintendent, who shall be appointed, and may be suspended or removed, by the Governor; and until any other appointment is made, the Superintendent of Victoria Gaol shall be the Superintendent of the House of Detention.

4. Any Police Officer may require any person who is apparently a vagrant to accompany him or any other Police Officer to, and to appear before, a Magistrate.

5. Such Magistrate shall in such case, or in any other case where a person apparently Magistrate may declare a person to be a vagrant.

a vagrant comes before him, make a summary enquiry into the circumstances of such apparent vagrant, and, if satisfied that he is a vagrant, shall declare him to be such.

6. If such Magistrate shall be further of opinion that such vagrant is not likely to obtain employment at once, or if he has reason to believe that a declaration of vagrancy has on any former occasion been recorded in respect of such vagrant, he shall require such vagrant to go to a House of Detention, and shall draw up an order to that effect.

Committal to House of Detention.

7. The vagrant shall then be placed in charge of the Police for the purpose of Power to detain.

being forwarded to the House of Detention, and the said order shall be a sufficient authority to the Police for retaining him in their charge while he is on his way to the House of Detention, and to the Superintendent of the House of Detention for receiving and detaining such vagrant.

8. Where the Magistrate dealing with such vagrant is of opinion that the vagrant

Magistrate may forward to place of employment.

is likely to obtain employment in the Colony, such Magistrate may, in his discretion, forward the vagrant in charge of the Police to the place where such employment is likely to be obtained, and may draw up an order to that effect. Such order shall be a sufficient authority to the Police for retaining the vagrant in their charge whilst on his way to such place of employment, and afterwards, should he not succeed in obtaining such employment.

9. The Magistrate dealing with any vagrant shall, to the best of his ability, assist him in seeking employment, and may in the meantime, if he think fit, keep such vagrant in charge of the Police. Should the vagrant fail to obtain suitable employment, within a reasonable time, not exceeding at the most seven days, such Magistrate shall forward him to a House of Detention as provided in Section 6.

Magistrate to assist in seeking employment.

10. Every person while in charge of the Police under this Ordinance, or whilst seeking employment, shall be entitled to the same maintenance and subject to the same regulations as prisoners detained on remand.
To be treated as prisoners on remand.
11. Every vagrant detained in any House of Detention shall be allowed the same scale of diet for his support as is allowed to adult long-sentence prisoners, whose conduct is good.
Scale of diet.
12. Every vagrant admitted to any House of Detention shall be subject to the same regulations as are prisoners in gaol with respect to—Vagrants subject to certain regulations.
- (a) Search of his person, clothing, and effects.
 - (b) Custody of his clothing and effects.
 - (c) The wearing of a distinctive dress.
 - (d) Personal cleanliness.
 - (e) Hours, meals, labour (other than penal labour), and general conduct. Always provided that such regulations may be specially modified in relation to vagrants by any Code of Rules approved by the Governor in Council, and that any money or effects of any vagrant may be applied towards the expense of carrying this Ordinance into execution for his benefit.
13. Any vagrant who knowingly disobeys any rule applicable to him, or made under the previous section of this Ordinance, shall be liable to the same punishment, and such punishment shall be awarded as if he were a misdemeanant in gaol.
Punishment for misconduct.
14. The Superintendent of such House of Detention shall forward weekly to the Harbour Master a list of such vagrants under his charge as are seamen, and shall otherwise use his best endeavours to obtain suitable employment outside such house for the vagrants admitted thereto.
Superintendent to forward weekly list to Harbour Master.
15. When such employment is obtained, any vagrant refusing or neglecting to avail himself thereof shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to imprisonment with hard labour for a term not exceeding one month.
Penalty for refusing employment.
16. If after the lapse of a reasonable time no suitable employment is obtainable for any such vagrant, the Superintendent of the House of Detention in which he is detained may either (when such vagrant has entered into an agreement as hereinafter mentioned) cause him to be removed from the Colony, or he may cause Sections 25 and 28 of this Ordinance to be read to such vagrant, and may then release him.
Removal from Colony.
17. The cost of the removal from the Colony of any vagrant under this Ordinance shall be defrayed by the Government, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained for its refund.
Cost of removal.
18. Any vagrant or other person other than a Chinese may enter into an agreement in writing with the Superintendent of any House of Detention or with the Colonial Secretary, binding himself to embark on board such ship, and at such time as may be named in such agreement, for the purpose of being removed from Hongkong at the expense, if any, of the Government of this Colony, to remain on board until such ship shall have arrived at the port of destination, and not to return to Hongkong within five years.
Agreement to leave the Colony.
19. Every such agreement may be on unstamped paper, and shall be in the form set forth in the Schedule to this Ordinance, or as near thereto as may be.
Form of agreement.
20. Whenever any person not a Chinese lands in this Colony, or, being a non-commissioned officer or soldier in Her Majesty's Army, leaves that army in this Colony under an engagement to serve any person, company, or association, or body of persons in any capacity, and whenever any sailor other than a Chinese sailor is discharged from his ship in this Colony, and such person, non-commissioned officer, soldier, or sailor becomes chargeable to the Colony as a vagrant within a period of six months after his arrival here or after his leaving the Army or discharge from his ship, as the case may be, then the person, company, association, or body to serve whom he has so landed in Hongkong, left the army, or, in the case of a sailor, the person who was at the date of his discharge the owner or agent of the ship from which such sailor has been so discharged, shall be liable to pay to the Government the cost of his removal under this Ordinance, and all other charges incurred by the Colony in consequence of his becoming a vagrant.
Persons landing vagrants in the Colony to pay cost of removal, &c.
21. Every Master of a ship landing or allowing to land in this Colony any person other than a Chinese, who at the time of his landing is obviously destitute of means of subsistence, or does actually become so within a period of six months from the date of landing, shall be liable to repay to the Government of this Colony all costs and charges incurred by the Colony in consequence of such person becoming a vagrant unless such Master satisfy the Court that he made due enquiry as to the person so landed or allowed to land, and that he had reason to believe such person was possessed of means of subsistence.
Shipmasters landing destitutes liable to defray expenses.

22. In the absence of such Master of a vessel, the owner, agent, or consignee of such vessel at the time the person who subsequently became a vagrant was allowed to land shall be liable to pay the said costs and charges on his behalf.

23. Such costs and charges shall be recoverable by suit as if an express agreement to repay them had been entered into with the Colonial Secretary by the person, company, association, body, owner, agent, or consignee chargeable.

24. In any proceeding under this Ordinance, a certified copy of the declaration recorded under Section 3 shall be prima facie evidence that the person named therein has been, and that he was, a vagrant at the date of such declaration.

25. Any person apparently a vagrant, refusing or failing to accompany a Police Officer to or to appear before a Magistrate when required to do so for the purposes of this Ordinance, may be arrested without warrant; and shall be liable on conviction to imprisonment with hard labour for a period not exceeding one month.

26. Any vagrant who escapes from the Police whilst committed to their charge under this Ordinance, or who leaves a House of Detention without permission from the Superintendent, or who, having with such permission left a House of Detention for a limited time or a specified purpose, fails to return on the expiration of such time or when such purpose has been accomplished or proves to be impracticable, shall for every such offence be punishable on conviction before a Magistrate with hard labour for a period not exceeding three months.

27. Any person entering into an agreement under Section 16 of this Ordinance, and wilfully violating that agreement in any respect, shall for every such offence be punishable on conviction before a Magistrate with hard labour for a period not exceeding three months.

28. Any person asking for alms in a threatening or insolent manner, or continuing to ask for alms of any person after he has been required to desist, shall be punishable on conviction before a Magistrate with hard labour for a period not exceeding three months.

29. The Governor in Council may, from time to time, make Rules consistent with this Ordinance for the guidance of officers in matters connected with it. All such Rules shall be published in the Government Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

Passed the Legislative Council of Hongkong, this 16th day of February, 1888.

ARATHOON SETH,
Clerk of Councils.

Assented to by His Excellency the Governor, the 3rd day of March, 1888.

FREDERICK STEWART,
Colonial Secretary.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending the 2nd May, 1888.

All over Northern India during the past week the weather has been in an unsettled state. The principal foci of disturbance have been Assam and Bengal on the one hand, and the Punjab and Rajputana on the other, but the intermediate region comprising the North-Western Provinces, Oudh, Rohilkhand and part of Central India, though less constantly disturbed than the districts to the East and West, has been by no means settled; and on the evening of the 30th April a storm, apparently a severe example of the nor-wester type, crossed the upper part of the North-Western Provinces. It gave rain to Bareilly, Meerut, Roorkee, and the whole of that part of the North-Western Provinces; but as the direct course of the storm did not cross any of the meteorological stations, there is no indication in the Report of winds of the force of those experienced at Moradabad.

On the 26th pressure was lowest over Sind, the Central Punjab, and the upper part of the North-Western Provinces; relatively low over the east of the Central Provinces, Chutia-Nagpur, the Circars, and Orissa. It was high both on the West Coast and in Upper Assam; and gradients were unusually steep over Guzerat and Sind. Strongish winds prevailed over the head of the Bay and poured much moisture into North-Eastern India, so that overcast skies and rain were reported from Arakan, Assam, and Bengal. Strong westerly to north-westerly winds prevailed over the whole of Western India. Temperature had decreased, except in the Punjab and Rajputana and at some stations in the South. In Bengal and the Central Provinces the fall was large. The maxima were nowhere excessive, the highest being 110° at Jacobabad and 107° at Nagpur. The Chart of the 27th showed little or no alteration in the general features of the weather, but a considerable increase of heat had occurred over a large part of India. Cloud and rain continued over Arakan, Assam, and Bengal, but elsewhere the weather was fine. The maximum temperatures were higher than those of the previous day, Jacobabad registering 113° , Cuddapah 110° , and Kurnool 109° . On the 28th the barometer was falling briskly in the Punjab, and a low pressure area had been formed along the foot of the hills, extending from Roorkee to Sialkot. There was a good deal of irregular wind movement about this centre of depression. Elsewhere the wind directions were unchanged. Much cloud prevailed over North-Eastern India and the Eastern Peninsula, and moderate showers and thunderstorms were reported from that region. Temperature changes were generally moderate or small, but the maxima had fallen again. On the 29th pressure was giving way everywhere, and the Punjab depression had intensified and extended southward. A strong westerly to north-westerly wind prevailed over Western and Central India, and temperature had very generally increased. Slight rain had fallen at Delhi, and the sky was clouding over in Upper India. In Eastern India the area of rainfall had contracted. On the following day, the 30th, pressure had again fallen—most in the Punjab and Sind—and the range between the Peninsula and the Punjab was unusually large for the time of year. Strong westerly to north-westerly winds continued over Western and Central India, while the southerly winds from the Bay remaining strong gave general rain and cloud to Bengal, Assam, and Arakan. Temperature showed a general inclination to fall. The Chart of the 1st showed that, while the barometer had risen over the greater part of the country, it had fallen over the Punjab, and that consequently the depression over the Punjab had considerably intensified. Gradients were exceptionally steep for the season over India, and the winds very strong in nearly all parts of the country. Over North-Western India there was a general indraught towards the Punjab depression. Temperature had fallen, and the sky was overcast over a large part of Northern India. Rain was reported from Murree, Sialkot, and Simla, and a line of rainfall extending from Mussoorie to Delhi and Bareilly probably marked out the region affected by the storm noticed above. A few showers were reported from Bengal. On the 2nd the barometer was rising, except in Assam and Burmah. In the Punjab the rise had been very rapid, and the depression over that Province had almost filled up. There was, however, a strong indraught of wind towards the depression, and rain had fallen on its eastern and northern sides. Strong north-westerly and westerly winds had set in at the Indus Valley stations, indicating a strong flow of air from Afghanistan into the Punjab, Sind, &c. Accompanying this inflow of air from Afghanistan was a brisk fall of temperature and a great decrease of humidity. Numerous duststorms and thunderstorms had occurred over Northern India, and some local showers in the extreme south of the Peninsula.

The concluding table gives the total rainfall of the past week according to Provinces :

Divisions	No. of Stations.	Total Rainfall.
Burmah	4	5'37
Bengal and Assam	14	27'00
North-Western Provinces and Outh	4	2'38
Punjab	3	2'54
Hill Stations	5	4'79
Ceylon	1	0'03
Malabar Coast	3	1'30

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 28th April, 1888.—Moderate rain in all districts, except Madras, Chingleput, South Arcot, and Travancore. Crops generally good. Pasture generally sufficient, but scanty in Malabar and in parts of Anantapur, North Arcot, Trichinopoly, Madura, and Coimbatore, and decreasing in Vizagapatam and Salem. Prices of paddy and cholum slightly rising where not stationary. General prospects favourable.

Bombay.—For week ending 2nd May, 1888.—Rain in parts of Kurrachee, Sholapur, Belgaum, and Dharwar. Standing crops in good condition. Cotton picking in progress in parts of Kaira, Bijapur, Belgaum, and Dharwar. Harvesting of late crops completed in Ratnagiri,—still progressing in Shikarpur, Hyderabad, Upper Sind Frontier, Poona, Nasik, and Khandesh. Ploughing operations for next season's crops in progress generally throughout the Presidency.

Bengal.—For week ending 1st May, 1888.—Good general rain fell in Bengal and North Behar, while showers are reported in Sonthal Parganas, Balasore, and Manbhum districts. Weather still unsettled, and more rain expected. Ploughing and early sowings are proceeding; but in Orissa, Chota Nagpur, and South Behar rain is wanted. Prospects of indigo, cheena, and sugarcane are favourable. Sugarcane planting still in progress in some districts. Spring rice harvesting has begun, and promises to yield a good outturn. Rabi threshing is almost over, with a fair outturn generally. A severe tornado visited Bhudressur and adjacent villages in Hooghly district on the 27th April, causing much damage to property and some loss of life.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 2nd May, 1888.—The weather is generally hot and cloudy, with easterly winds. Storms have occurred at Moradabad and Meerut, and in Jhansi and Kumaon the rain which is falling is said to have injured ungathered crops. Summer crops are being irrigated. Markets are well supplied, and prices of foodgrains are steady. The condition of cattle is generally good.

Punjab.—For week ending 2nd May, 1888.—Slight rain has fallen at Delhi, Ferozepore, and Rawalpindi; weather threatening, and heavy duststorm on 1st May at Lahore. Prices are falling in five and stationary in eight districts. Harvesting and threshing of rabi crops going on. Kharif ploughings and sugarcane and cotton weedings in progress. Rabi prospects are reported good to average. No damage done to crops. Stock cattle are reported healthy. Fodder still scarce in some districts. Poppy crops reaped in Jullundur. Produce small in Rawalpindi.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 2nd May, 1888.—Weather hot and windy. Threshing and winnowing of winter crops nearly completed, outturn good. Land is being prepared for autumn sowings. Sugarcane thriving.

Burma.—No report received.

Assam.—For week ending 2nd May, 1888.—Rainfall seasonable in Brahmaputra Valley and Hill districts. Fall somewhat excessive in Surnta Valley, where some harm has been done. Land being ploughed for late rice. Potatoes doing well in Khasia Hills. Prospects of standing crops good.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 2nd May, 1888.—Rainfall good in Shimoga and Kadur districts, and slight in other parts in Kolar district.

Crops are suffering from want of water; elsewhere they are reported to be in good condition. Sugarcane planted in parts of the Bangalore districts. Outturn of harvests favourable.

Rainfall slight in Coorg. Want of more rain for coffee blossoms much felt.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 2nd May, 1888.—In Berar the weather is warm. Cultivators busily engaged in preparation of crops. Agricultural stock in good condition. Fodder insufficient in Amraoti and some districts. No marked change in prices.

In Hyderabad there was slight rain during the week. Agricultural prospects continue fair. Prices stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 2nd May, 1888.—Rain in Bhopawar and in Neemuch. Agricultural operations completed, except in Goona. Condition of agricultural stock in Bhopawar reported fair this week. Prices of food-grains are rising in Baghelkand, and are steady in Goona. No other changes since the last report.

Rajputana.—For week ending 2nd May, 1888.—Agricultural operations satisfactory. Standing crops almost harvested. Crop prospects and agricultural stock good generally. Fodder fairly sufficient. Prices steady generally.

Nepal.—For week ending 26th April, 1888.—Some rain, with hailstorm. Indian corn is being sown.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat; the copies for subscribers registered by Messrs. Thacker, Spink & Co. are distributed by that firm; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.

In supersession of previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1885, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows:—

No. 1827-I.—Whereas the Chiefs of Morvi, Wankaner, Wadhwan, Lakhtar, Sayla, and Muli in Kathiawar have granted to the British Government the civil and criminal jurisdiction exercised by them within the lands which lie within their respective territories and are occupied by the Morvi State Railway (including the lands occupied as stations, out-buildings and for all other railway purposes); and whereas the Governor-General in Council has now full civil and criminal jurisdiction in the aforesaid lands:—In exercise of this jurisdiction, and of the powers conferred by sections 4 and 5 of the Foreign Jurisdiction and Extradition Act, 1879, and of all other powers enabling him in this behalf, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to issue the following orders:—

Criminal Law, Procedure and Jurisdiction.

1. The provisions, so far as they may be applicable, of the Indian Penal Code (Act XLV. of 1860), as amended for the time being by subsequent Acts, the Whipping Act (Act VI. of 1864), sections 1—6, both inclusive, the Code of Criminal Procedure (Act X. of 1882), as amended for the time being by subsequent Acts, and the Bombay District Police Act (Bombay Act VII. of 1867), section 26, are hereby extended to the aforesaid lands, subject in the case of the Code of Criminal Procedure to the following modifications, namely:—

Trials before the Court of Session may, in the discretion of the Sessions Judge, be without a jury or the aid of assessors.

- (b) Sentences of transportation or imprisonment for more than seven years passed by the Court of Session shall be referred for confirmation to the Governor of Bombay in Council. In any case so referred the Governor of Bombay in Council may either confirm the sentence or pass any other sentence warranted by law, or may annul the conviction and order a new trial on the same or an amended charge, or may acquit the accused persons.
- (c) Appeals from Magistrates of the second class shall lie to the Court of Session and not to the District Magistrate.

2. (a) The Assistant Political Agent in Jhalavad for the time being, the Deputy Assistant Political Agent in Jhalavad for the time being, and the District Thanadar at Wadhwan for the time being, shall respectively exercise the powers of a District Magistrate, a Magistrate of the first class, and a Magistrate of the second class (with power to commit for trial to the Court of Session) as described in the Code of Criminal Procedure within the aforesaid lands.

(b) The Judicial Assistant for the time being in Kathiawar and the Governor of Bombay in Council shall respectively exercise the powers of a Court of Session and a High Court, as described in the Code of Criminal Procedure, in respect of all offences over which jurisdiction is exercised by the said Magistrates within the aforesaid lands.

3. Nothing hereinbefore contained shall apply to proceedings against European British subjects or persons jointly charged with European British subjects.

Civil Jurisdiction and Procedure.

4. The Judicial Assistant in Kathiawar for the time being, the Assistant Political Agent in Jhalavad for the time being, the Deputy Assistant Political Agent in Jhalavad for the time being, and the District Thanadar at Wadhwan for the time being, shall respectively exercise within the aforesaid lands the same civil jurisdiction as is exercised by them within the limits of the Kathiawar Political Agency under the rules for defining the jurisdiction, original and appellate, to be exercised by the Civil Courts of the Political Agency in Kathiawar published at page 312 of the Kathiawar Agency Gazette, dated the 27th December, 1883.

5. In the administration of civil justice in the aforesaid lands, the rules referred to in the last foregoing paragraph and the Code of Civil Procedure shall be taken as general guides.

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.
Loans, &c.

Simla, the 11th May, 1888.

No. 2471.—In exercise of the powers conferred by Sections 5 and 7 of the Local Authorities Loan Act of 1879, the Governor-General in Council directs that for clause 5 of Rule V. of the Rules for the raising of loans by Local Authorities in the open market, published with Notification No 2748, dated 17th August, 1883, the following clauses (5) and (5a) be substituted:—

(5) The dates between which the money borrowed is to be received.

[Note.—It is essential that the authority to borrow in the market should be limited to a reasonable time, as loans of any considerable amount cannot be held in suspense indefinitely. The dates, therefore, must be fixed with reference to this condition, and must not be so wide apart and so indefinite as practically to be no limitation.]

(5a) The term of years for which the money is to be borrowed, the instalments, if any, in which it is to be repaid, and the amount of sinking fund, if any, provided for its repayment.

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.

Estimates and Accounts.

The 11th May, 1888.

No. 2512.—The following Memorandum is published by order of the Governor-General in Council.

REVISED ESTIMATES FOR 1887-88.

In paragraph 16 of the Financial Statement of 26th March 1888, the following abstract (or rather the total column of it) was given of the anticipated results of the year 1887-88; and in paragraph 21 it was mentioned that the information received in the month of April, regarding the transactions of March, would enable the Government to estimate much more closely the actual outturn of the year.

(a) Including Provincial Adjustment.

I propose now to examine the "India" figures (that is, those in the first column) in the light of the information referred to. About the English figures and the exchange upon them, we have as yet no further information, except that the estimated rate of exchange is practically unaltered by the transactions of March.

Land Revenue.—The collections of March have again been extremely high, the improvement over estimate being, on the whole, as much as Rx. 252,000, realised almost entirely in Madras and Bombay.

Opium.—The Bengal realisations were of course accurately known when the estimates were published. As regards Bombay, although the number of chests which passed the scales exceeded the estimate, this was due for the most part to a rush during the last days of the year; and as Rx. 70,000 of the hundis given in payment was not realised till April, and came accordingly into the accounts of the new year, the revenue on the whole falls Rx. 27,000 short of estimate.

Salt.—Notwithstanding the higher rate of duty, the realisations of February and March were each Rx. 59,000 less than the previous year, due no doubt to the absorption of old stocks before the higher taxed new ones came into consumption. Allowance was made for this in the estimates, but the revenue of the year is still Rx. 52,000 short.

Stamps and Excise shew an improvement of Rx. 27,000 and Rx. 21,000, respectively, over estimate.

Assessed Taxes are apparently Rx. 12,000 better than estimate; but this figure excludes any divergence from estimate in respect of deductions from salaries in the Public Works and Military Departments.

Under the other principal heads, the Customs returns shew a little less than estimate. Provincial Rates shew an improvement (corresponding to the improvement under Land Revenue) of nearly Rx. 57,000.

On the whole, these Principal Revenue heads shew improvements of about Rx. 285,000 over the Revised Estimates, of which Rx. 124,000 goes to diminish the deficit of the year, and Rx. 161,000 swells Provincial Balances.

Railways.—The gross earnings are believed to be about Rx. 22,000 better and the working expenses about Rx. 38,000 worse than estimate. This may be divided into Rx. 4,000 worse on Imperial Account and Rx. 12,000 worse on Provincial Account.

Under Interest and Civil Expenditure, we have at present no reason to shew different figures from the estimates. The finals will no doubt shew the expenditure to be within the estimate, but the bulk of the improvement under the latter head goes to swell the Provincial resources, and not to diminish the deficit on Imperial Account. Though the preliminary figures shew a total Rx. 286,000 less than the Revised Estimate, the greater part of this will be required to meet charges which remain yet to be debited by other Departments.

Opium Production.—This expenditure is believed to be Rx. 80,000 less than estimate. An especially large provision was made for payments in March, which were expected to be much more than usual; but the excess has not been so great as anticipated.

Post Office, Telegraph, and Mint.—So far as we see, Post Office will be Rx. 5,000 better and Telegraph Rx. 20,000 worse than estimate.

Irrigation.—The expenditure has been less than estimated, and the head will probably shew an improvement over estimate, which we calculate according to present information, at Rx. 37,000 on Imperial Account and Rx. 30,000 on Provincial Account.

Civil and Military Works, Imperial.—The preliminary accounts shew a saving of Rx. 60,000.

Civil Works, Provincial.—The form of the abstract takes into account under this head the "Provincial Adjustment," i.e., the write-off to Provincial of that part of the improvement in the general account which goes to the

Provincial Revenue	161
Railways	-12
Irrigation	30

Provincial Governments. On the several accounts already stated, we have to write off Rx. 179,000 in addition to the amount shewn in the Revised Estimates. A considerable saving on Provincial and Local Public Works is reported, but it does not alter the gross figure under this head, as the amount, whether spent or unspent, is equally written off the Imperial Account.

Army.—The Army expenditure is, according to present returns, about Rx. 25,000 less than the Revised Estimates.

Special Defence Charges.—These are believed to be considerably within the estimate, and the saving may be as much as Rx. 90,000.

The following table accordingly shews the modifications which the preliminary information for March shows to be likely to occur in the Revised Estimates. The figures can still be taken only as estimates; but we are not likely to reach any nearer figures until the process of making up the final accounts has reached a much more advanced stage.—

CIVIL ENGINEERING COLLEGE, SEEBPUR.

Candidates for admission to the Engineer Department should apply to the Principal before the 25th May, 1888. The session begins on Monday, the 4th June, 1888. Candidates must furnish proof that they have passed the Calcutta University Entrance Examination and that they are under 19 years of age. This limit will be raised to 21 years of age in the case of candidates who have passed the F. A. Examination of the University.

Ten scholarships will be awarded to students entering the Engineer Department not being already holders of junior scholarships. These scholarships will be awarded after admission with general reference to the place taken by candidates at the Entrance Examination.

Mechanical Apprentice Department.

Students who have passed the University Entrance Examination in April are eligible for admission to the Mechanical Apprentice Department up to the 4th June, 1888. They must send in their applications before 25th May, 1888.

Every applicant, before admission to the College, will be examined by the College Surgeon as to his physical strength, fitness for manual labour, and eye-sight.

Further particulars will be supplied on application to the Principal.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series. The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat; the copies for subscribers registered by Messrs. Thacker, Spink & Co. are distributed by that firm; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.

In supersession of previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1885, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows :—

Weather Review of India for the week ending the 9th May, 1888.

The unsettled weather, which prevailed over Northern India during the previous week, continued for some days into the week under review, but after the 5th the distribution of pressure changed and conditions became more normal. With this change of conditions the cold wave which had affected a large part of India gradually diminished in intensity, and temperature increased, though the weather was at no time hot for the time of year over Central and Northern India. The mean temperature of the whole of India was 4° higher at the close of the present week than it was at the close of the preceding.

On the 3rd pressure was giving way rapidly over the whole of the Himalayan region—more especially in the Punjab, where a well marked depression was shown. The lowest pressure on the plains was reported from Sialkot, but the disturbance appears to have been most intense in the hills; and strong gales were reported from Murree and Simla and strong winds from the other hill stations. The outflow of air from Afghanistan, &c., noticed in the preceding week, continued, and hence relatively cool and very dry weather prevailed over a large part of Northern and Central India. The region of highest temperature was the Deccan and Central Provinces, where Cuddapah registered a maximum of 110.8° and Nagpur of 110.2° . The rainfall was less extensive and less heavy than for some days past. Duststorms were common throughout the Punjab and thunderstorms and slight rain in Burma and Assam. The Chart of the following day, the 4th, showed a brisk barometric rise on the Punjab plains and that the depression, noticed on the previous day, had almost disappeared, but, as pressure was still giving way in the hills, it appeared as though the weather was still disturbed in the interior. Slight rain had also fallen at Mussoorie, Chakrata, and Simla. The weather generally had improved, the air had become drier and temperature had fallen. The Deccan remained the hottest part of the Indian region. On the 5th pressure was increasing, except in parts of the Peninsula. The distribution was assuming a fairly normal form, the differences becoming much slighter. The depression in Upper India had completely filled up, and pressure was lowest at the foot of the Sikkim Himalayas. Temperature had again fallen over a large part of North-Western and Central India, and the maximum readings over the Punjab were from 20° to 30° lower than they were on the same date last year. The Chart of the 6th showed very uniform pressures over India. It was slightly higher in the Gulf of Martaban than elsewhere and slightly lower over Chutia Nagpur and adjacent districts. With this increase of uniformity came considerably diminished wind movement, and hence a fairly general increase of temperature, though readings were still below the average of the time of year. The Deccan remained the hottest part of the Indian region. On the following day, the 7th, pressure had become even more uniform, and the winds were consequently exceedingly light and variable. In Upper India there was a further increase of temperature. Thundershowers were reported from several stations in Bengal and Assam. There was no change on the 8th in the general distribution of pressure; the winds remained light and unsteady, and there had occurred a further rise of temperature in Upper India, so that the mean temperature of all parts of India had become fairly uniform, though the Deccan and Central Provinces continued to report the highest day temperatures. Moderate or slight showers of rain were reported from Assam, Central Bengal, Lower Pegu, and Southern India, and a sharp gale of wind was reported from Dacca. Notwithstanding a general barometric fall on the 9th, the general character of the pressure distribution remained unchanged. The winds remained very light and unsteady, and temperature continued to increase steadily over Upper and Central India. The weather was cloudy with some rain in parts of Southern India, but was fine and dry, and still relatively cool elsewhere.

No rain occurred during the week in the North-Western Provinces, Bombay, the Central parts of the country, Sind or Rajputana, and in the Punjab the total fall was insignificant. In Bengal and Assam and in Ceylon, on the contrary, the rainfall was rather heavy.

The concluding table gives the total rainfall of the past week according to Provinces :

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 5th May, 1888.—Slight rain in thirteen districts. Rainfall slight, and more wanted in Vizagapatam, Cuddapah, South Arcot, Trichinopoly, Tinnevely, Nilgiris, and Salem. Crops generally good, but black paddy damaged from want of rain in Vizagapatam. Pasture generally sufficient, but scanty in Malabar and in parts of Cuddapah, Anantapur, North Arcot, Trichinopoly, and Madura, and decreasing in Vizagapatam and Salem. No material fluctuations in prices. General prospects favourable.

Bombay.—For week ending 9th May, 1888.—Condition of standing crops good. Cotton picking progressing in parts of Kaira and Dharwar. Harvesting of late crops completed in Poona,—continues in Shikarpur, Hyderabad, Upper Sind Frontier, Khandesh, Nasik, and Dharwar. Ploughing for next season's crops progressing in most districts. Scarcity of fodder in parts of Dharwar, Ratnagiri, Surat, and Kathiawar.

Bengal.—For week ending 8th May, 1888.—Light showers reported throughout Bengal Proper and in parts of Chota Nagpur, while Behar and Orissa had no rain. Ploughing and sowing are well forward; but in Orissa and in places in the Bhagalpur Division rain is much wanted. Indigo and sugarcane are doing well. Spring rice is being harvested, and has suffered from previous week's excessive rain in Dacca and Mymensingh. No marked fluctuation in the price of common rice during the past fortnight.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 9th May, 1888.—There were severe storms in the Sitapur and Saharanpur districts on the 1st. The weather now is exceptionally cool. The rabi harvest is nearly over. Some loss of crops has resulted from the recent storms in Bareilly, Moradabad, and Kumaon. Foodstocks are sufficient. Prices are slightly fluctuating. General condition of agricultural stock is satisfactory.

Punjab.—For week ending 9th May, 1888.—Slight rain has fallen in some districts. Heavy duststorm, followed by hail, on 1st and 2nd May at Delhi and Sialkot. Prices are somewhat unsettled; a rise is reported from two districts only; the general tendency is towards a slow fall. Harvesting and threshing of rabi crops going on. Kharif ploughings and sugarcane and cotton weedings in progress. Rabi prospects are reported good to average. Wheat slightly injured by recent storms at Sialkot and Ferozepore. Stock cattle are reported healthy. Fodder still scarce in some districts, but generally sufficient. Opium produce small in Rawalpindi. Poppy not ripe yet at Peshawar.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 9th May, 1888.—Weather hot. Threshing and winnowing of winter crops nearly completed. Ground being prepared for autumn sowings. Sugarcane thriving. Cattle generally in good condition. There is a scarcity of water in the northern parts of Sambalpur.

Burma.—For week ending 28th April, 1888.—The dry weather crops seem to continue doing well. Slight rain has fallen in most districts of Upper Burma and in several districts of Lower Burma. No damage to crops reported. Price of paddy has risen in Henzada, Thayetmyo, Tounghoo, Bhamo, Kyaukse, and Myingyan districts, and has fallen in Bassein district.

For week ending 5th May, 1888.—The dry weather crops are reported to be suffering from want of rain. In Bhamo a twelve-anna crop is still expected, and also in Kyaukse, where the crop has in parts been damaged, owing to want of water. Elsewhere crops are generally doing well. Ploughing for wet weather crops has already commenced. Rain fell in several districts in Lower Burma, but in Upper Burma only in three districts, and there the fall was very slight. The price of paddy has not risen in any district of Upper Burma, and has fallen in Myadaung and Pyinmana in Lower Burma.

The price of paddy has risen in Pegu, Prome, and Thongwa, and has fallen at Henzada and Thayetmyo.

Assam.—For week ending 9th May, 1888.—In Lower Assam, Hill Districts, and Cachar weather seasonable, and prospects of crops good. In Upper Assam and Sylhet excessive rainfall has done harm. Tea suffering from blight in Lakhimpore.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 9th May, 1888.—Rainfall slight in the civil and military station. Standing crops in good condition, except in parts of the Mysore, Tumkur, and Kolar districts, where they are reported to be suffering from want of water. Sowing operations in progress throughout the State. Outturn of harvests fair. Condition of cattle generally good. Supply of water and fodder diminishing in parts of Mysore and Hassan districts.

No rain in Coorg. Coffee crop seriously affected owing to want of rain.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 17th May, 1888.

No. 8.—Whereas by resolution passed by the Secretary of State for India in Council on the sixteenth day of March, 1871, the provisions of the 33rd of Vict., Chap. 3, Sec. 1, were declared applicable to Ajmere and Merwára;

And whereas the Chief Commissioner of Ajmere-Merwára has proposed to the Governor-General in Council a draft of the following Regulation, together with the reasons for proposing the same;

And whereas the Governor-General in Council has taken the draft and reasons into consideration, and has approved of the draft, and the same has received the Governor-General's assent on the 15th day of May, 1888;

In pursuance of the direction contained in the said section, the said Regulation is now published in the Gazette of India, and local Gazette for Ajmere and Merwára:

REGULATION No. I. OF 1888.

The Ajmere Government Wards Regulation.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make better provision for the superintendence of Government wards in Ajmere and Merwára; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

I. (1) This Regulation may be called the Title, extent and commencement. Ajmere Government Wards Regulation, 1888.

(2) It extends to the territories administered by the Chief Commissioner of Ajmere to which the provisions of the Statute 33 Victoria, Chapter 3, section 1, have been declared applicable; and

(3) It shall come into force on the first day of July, 1888.

2. (1) Part V. of the Ajmere Land and Revenue Regulation, 1877, the Repeal. portion of clause (b) of section 2 of that Regulation beginning with the words "and includes" and ending with the words "under this Regulation," and section 14 of Act XL. of 1858 (for making better provision for the care of the persons and property of Minors in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal) are hereby repealed: II. of 1877

(2) But all orders made and proceedings taken under any of those enactments shall, so far as may be, be deemed to have been made and taken under this Regulation.

3. In this Regulation, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

Definitions.

(1) expressions used in the Ajmere Land and Revenue Regulation, 1877, have the same meanings as they have in that Regulation :

(2) "Government ward" means any person of whose property, or of whose person and property, the Court of Wards may for the time being have the superintendence under this Regulation : and

(3) "landholder" means an istimrârdâr, ihumia, jâgirdâr, muafidâr, mâlguzâr or assignee of revenue, and includes any person having an interest in an estate subject to the payment of the local rate under the Ajmere Rural Boards Regulation, 1886.

4. The Commissioner shall be the Court of Wards.

5. Every landholder shall be under the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards.

6. The Court of Wards may, with the previous sanction of the Chief Commissioner, assume the superintendence of the property of any landholder who is disqualified to manage his own property.

7. (1) The following persons shall, for the purposes of the last foregoing section, be deemed to be disqualified to manage their own property, namely :—

- (a) minors who have not guardians appointed for their property by will
- (b) persons adjudged by a competent Civil Court to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing their affairs; and
- (c) persons declared by the Chief Commissioner to be incapable of managing their own property—
 - (i) owing to any physical defect or infirmity;
 - (ii) owing to their having been convicted of a non-bailable offence, and being unfitted by vice or bad character;
 - (iii) owing to their being females; or
 - (iv) on their own application.

(2) Every declaration made by the Chief Commissioner under clause (c) of sub-section (1) shall be final and shall not be questioned in any Civil Court.

8. When the Court of Wards assumes the superintendence of the property of a minor who has not a guardian appointed for his person by will, or of a person who has been adjudged by a competent Civil Court to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs, it may, with the previous sanction of the Chief Commissioner, assume the superintendence of his person also :

Provided that nothing in this section shall authorise the Court of Wards to assume the superintendence of the person of a female who is married to a man of full age and is living under his protection.

9. When the Court of Wards has, with the previous sanction of the Chief Commissioner, assumed the superintendence of the property of any person, or of his person and property, its authority shall not be contested in any Civil Court on the ground that he was not or is not a landholder, or was not or is not a minor.

10. Subject to the rules made under this Regulation, the Court of Wards may appoint, suspend and remove a manager of the property of any Government ward under its superintendence, and may delegate to the manager all or any of its functions in relation to any property under this Regulation.

11. (1) Every manager appointed by the Court of Wards shall,—

- (a) unless he is the Collector or other revenue-officer, give such security as the Court thinks fit duly to account for what he receives in respect of the rents and profits of the property under his management;
- (b) unless he is the Collector, be entitled to such allowance, if any, as the Court thinks fit for his care and pains in the execution of his duties; and
- (c) be responsible for any loss occasioned to the property under his management by his wilful default or gross negligence.

(2) Every manager or other servant of the Court of Wards shall be deemed a public servant within the meaning of sections 161, 162, 163, 164 and 165 of the Indian Penal Code; and, in the definition of "legal remuneration" contained in the said section 161, the word "Government" shall, for the purposes of this sub-section, be deemed to include the Court of Wards.

12. The Court of Wards may appoint guardians for the care of the persons of Government wards whose persons are for the time being under its superintendence, and may control and remove guardians whom it has appointed.

13. Subject to the provisions of this Regulation and of the rules made under this Regulation, the Court of Wards—

- (a) may, of itself or through the manager (if any) appointed by it under this Regulation, do all such things requisite for the proper care and management of any property of which it assumes the superintendence under this Regulation as the owner of the property, if not disqualified, might do for its care and management; and

(b) may, of itself or through the guardian (if any) appointed by it under this Regulation, do in respect of the person of any Government ward, whose person is for the time being under its superintendence, all such things as may lawfully be done by a guardian.

14. The Court of Wards may pass such orders as to it seem fit in respect of the custody and residence of certain Government wards. Custody, education and residence of certain Government wards. of any Government ward whose person is for the time being under its superintendence and, when he is a minor, in respect of his education.

15. The Court of Wards may, from time to time, determine what sums shall be allowed in respect of the expenses of any Government ward and of his family and dependents. Allowance for Government ward and his family.

16. The Court of Wards or the manager (if any) appointed by it under this Regulation shall manage the property of every Government ward under its superintendence or under his management diligently and faithfully for the benefit of the Government ward, and shall in every respect act to the best of its or his judgment for the Government ward's interest as if the property were its or his own. Duties of Court of Wards or manager.

17. (1) Subject to the control of the Chief Commissioner under this Regulation and to the restrictions specified in this section, the Court of Wards may do all such acts as it may judge to be best for the benefit of the property of any Government ward under its superintendence and for the advantage of the ward. Power of Court of Wards as to property of Government wards.

(2) The restrictions referred to in sub-section (1) are the following, namely:—

(a) without the previous sanction of the Chief Commissioner, the Court of Wards shall not let the property of the ward or any part thereof for a longer term than five years, or sell, mortgage, charge or exchange the property or any part thereof; and

(b) without the previous sanction of the Chief Commissioner and of the Governor-General in Council, the Court of Wards shall not borrow any money whatever where the debts due from the ward, or the sums secured by incumbrances on his property, or such debts and sums combined, exceed ten thousand rupees, or borrow any sum exceeding five thousand rupees in any other case.

18. In every suit brought by or against a Government ward the manager of the ward's property or, if there is no manager, the Court of Wards shall be named as next friend or guardian for the suit, as the case may be. Manager or Court of Wards to be next friend or guardian in suits by or against Government wards.

19. If, in any suit brought by or against a Government ward, any Civil Court decrees any Payment of costs.

costs against the ward's next friend or guardian for the suit, the Court of Wards shall pay the costs so far as the ward's property for the time being in its hands may be sufficient for the payment thereof.

20. Every process which may be issued out of any Civil Court against any Government ward shall be served on the ward's next friend or guardian for the suit. Processes against Government wards to be served on next friend or guardian.

21. No suit shall be brought on behalf of any Government ward unless it is authorized by some order of the Court of Wards: Authority of Court of Wards required in case of suits brought on behalf of Government wards.

Provided as follows:—

(a) a manager may authorise a plaint to be filed in order to prevent a suit from being barred by the law of limitation, but the suit shall not afterwards be proceeded with except under the sanction of the Court of Wards;

(b) a suit for arrears of rent may be brought on behalf of a Government ward if authorized by an order of the manager of the property on which the rent is due

22. (1) A Government ward shall be incompetent to transfer or create any charge on, or interest in, his property or any part thereof, or to enter into any contract which may involve him in pecuniary liability. Disabilities of a Government ward.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect the capacity of a Government ward to enter into a contract of marriage.

Provided that he shall not incur, in connection therewith, any pecuniary liability except such as, having regard to the personal law to which he is subject and to his rank and circumstances, the Court of Wards may, in writing, declare to be reasonable.

23. Whenever, on the death of any Government ward, the succession to his property or any part thereof is disputed, the Court of Wards may either make over the property or part thereof to any person claiming the same, or retain the superintendence thereof until one of the claimants has established his claim in a competent Civil Court. Procedure when succession to Government ward's property is disputed.

24. (1) The Court of Wards may, with the previous sanction of the Chief Commissioner, at any time withdraw its superintendence from the person or property, or both, of a Government ward, and shall withdraw its superintendence as soon as— Withdrawal of superintendence of Court of Wards.

(a) in the case of a person disqualified under clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 7, he attains his majority;

(b) in the case of a person disqualified under clause (b) of that sub-section, he ceases to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs; and

(c) in the case of a person disqualified under sub-clause (i) of clause (c) of that sub-section, his physical defect or infirmity is removed or ceases.

(2) When any question arises whether the superintendence of the Court of Wards should be withdrawn from any person or property, or both, under clause (a), or from any property under clause (c), of this section, the decision of the Chief Commissioner thereon shall be final and shall not be questioned in any Civil Court.

25. An appeal shall lie from every order of the Court of Wards under this Regulation to the Chief Commissioner.

Appeals.

26. All orders or proceedings of the Court of Wards under this Regulation shall be subject to the supervision and control of the Chief Commissioner; and the Chief Commissioner may, if he thinks fit, revise, modify or reverse any such order or proceeding, whether an appeal is presented against the order or proceeding or not.

27. The exercise of any discretion conferred on the Court of Wards or the Chief Commissioner by this Regulation shall not be called in question in any Civil Court.

28. (1) The Chief Commissioner may make rules consistent with this Regulation to—

(a) prescribe the matters to which regard is to be had in appointing or removing guardians and managers and in fixing their remuneration

(b) regulate the amount of security to be given by managers;

(c) limit the functions which the Court of Wards may delegate to any manager;

(d) prescribe the mode in which functions delegated to managers are to be notified for the information of persons concerned;

(e) prescribe the cases in which proposals or arrangements connected with the administration of the properties of Government wards are to be reported for the sanction of the Chief Commissioner;

(f) prescribe the accounts and other returns which are to be rendered by managers to the Court of Wards and by the Court of Wards to the Chief Commissioner, and the time and form at and in which those accounts and returns are to be rendered;

(g) regulate the custody of securities and title-deeds belonging to the estate or relating to the property of a Government ward;

(h) regulate the procedure in inquiries by the Court of Wards and in appeals from orders of the Court of Wards under this Regulation;

(i) confer upon the Court of Wards for the purposes of this Regulation any of the powers which may be exercised by a Civil Court in the trial of suits; and,

(j) generally, prescribe the manner in which the powers and duties of the Court of Wards under this Regulation are to be exercised and performed.

(2) A rule under clause (c) of sub-section (1) shall not take effect until it has been published in the official Gazette with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council.

(3) A rule under any other clause of that sub-section shall take effect on its being so published without such sanction.

No. 151.—Mr. J. W. Alexander, Executive Engineer, 1st Grade, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, is appointed to officiate as a Superintending Engineer, during the absence of Colonel E. Swetenham on furlough, or until further orders. While so officiating Mr. Alexander will hold temporary rank in the 3rd Class.

No. 152.—Major W. H. Coaker, R.E., Officiating Deputy Consulting Engineer to the Government of India for Railways, Calcutta, reverted to his substantive appointment of Deputy Consulting Engineer for Railways, Madras, with effect from the afternoon of 14th April, 1888.

No. 153.—Mr. W. B. Taylor, Executive Engineer, 1st Grade, State Railways, is granted special leave for one year and seven months under the terms of Public Works Department Resolution No. 1940-41G., dated the 3rd October, 1887.

The 18th May, 1888.

No. 156.—Lieutenant W. S. Hunter, R.E., Assistant Engineer, 2nd Grade, temporary rank, Military Works Department, is temporarily attached to the Public Works Department, Burma, Provincial Branch, for special duty on defence works at Rangoon.

No. 157.—With reference to Bombay Government Resolution No. 428E—1792, dated 10th November, 1887, Lieutenant M. Nathan, R.E., Assistant Engineer, 1st Grade, supernumerary, Bombay Establishment, is transferred to British Burma Provincial Branch, as a supernumerary, but will continue at the disposal of the Inspector General, Military Works, with the rank of Executive Engineer, 4th Grade, as already notified in Military Works Department Notification No. 87, dated the 27th January, 1888.

TELEGRAPH.

The 18th May, 1888.

No. 154.—Mr. G. J. Hare, Class V., 1st Grade, and officiating Superintendent, Class IV., 3rd Grade, Telegraph Department, is permanently promoted to the latter class and grade with effect from the 17th April, 1888.

No. 155.—Mr. A. B. Larkins, Class V., 1st Grade, Telegraph Department, is appointed to officiate as a Superintendent in Class IV., 3rd Grade, with effect from the 17th April, 1888, until further orders.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Memorandum on the Snow-fall in the mountain districts bordering Northern India, and the abnormal features of the weather in India during the preceding five months.

The following preliminary note and forecast has been prepared earlier than usual, at the request of the Government of India, with the object of stating the chief indications of the character of the approaching monsoon so far as they can be inferred from the observations recorded up to date. It will be followed in the beginning of June by a final forecast based on the information of snowfall on the Himalayas during the months of April and May and the meteorological observations of the month of May.

It may be premised that the strength and extension of the south-west monsoon current in India appear to depend mainly upon three factors:—

1st—The amount of snowfall and the period of its occurrence in the northern mountain districts of India.

2nd—The local peculiarities of the weather in India itself immediately antecedent to the rains, and mainly impressed upon it during the preceding hot weather. These are chiefly measured by the local variations of pressure from the mean.

3rd—Local peculiarities in the Bay of Bengal and Arabian Sea over which the monsoon current passes before it reaches India.

The first factor appears to be mainly influential in determining the northward limits of the monsoon rains, heavy and prolonged snowfall in the Himalayas either delaying or preventing the extension of the monsoon current over Upper India during the rainy season. Several examples have occurred in recent years as in 1877 and 1878.

The second factor appears to determine those large local, district and provincial variations of rainfall during the monsoon, which are evidently due to local conditions and peculiarities and not to general causes such as heavy snowfall over the whole Himalayan area or variations in the number of sun-spots. The excessive rainfall in the Central Provinces, and at Delhi, Agra, Jhansi and Jeypore last year are examples.

The third and last factor is of equal importance with the preceding, but it is that on which information is least in amount and is longest in being received. For example, last year the conditions in Upper India were favourable to a strong monsoon current from the Bay. It, however, proved to be somewhat weaker than usual in Bengal and Northern India; but from the opinions of captains of steamers navigating the Bay, and the commanders of the Light vessels at the head of the Bay, the monsoon was almost certainly stronger in the Bay itself, with more rainfall at sea and in the south of the Bay, than usual.

In the present note it is only possible to state the snowfall conditions in the mountain districts of Northern India and the abnormal features (chiefly of pressure) in India itself, up to the end of April.

Summary of snowfall information.—The information, although scanty, appears sufficient to give a fairly correct view of the snowfall of the past winter.

Over the greater part of the Afghan Highlands the snowfall appears to have been either normal or less in amount than usual, except in the Spinghar and Safed Koh mountain districts, where very heavy snow seems to have fallen at the end of January and in February; and the snowfall in that area is said to have been much heavier than that of last year. Both March and April were hot dry months and the snow rapidly melted, but there was a large accumulation still on the Safed Koh at the end of April. There was, however, a marked absence of north-west winds in Upper India, which was almost certainly due to the general small snowfall of the past winter.

The snowfall over the Western Himalayas was unusually small in amount previous to the last week of March; much snow fell between that date and the 1st of May in some parts, as, for example, Kailang and Leh. It was probably more or less local, as the latest accounts appear to establish that the amount of snow lying on the higher elevations is smaller than usual. The passes in Kulu and Plach (if the reported depths be assumed to be approximately correct) had much less snow at the end of March 1888 than last year at the same date. It is almost certain that less snow has fallen than usual during the past winter over the North-Western Himalayas; and hence the thickness of snow on the higher elevations has almost certainly diminished during the past two mild winters.

The accounts of the snowfall on the Eastern Himalayas proves that to the north of Assam smaller amounts have fallen than last year, so far as can be judged. The total snowfall was nevertheless either normal or slightly in excess of the average.

To sum up. The snowfall on the Eastern Himalayas was normal, and on the North-Western Himalayas and the Afghan mountains very considerably below the average, except locally in the Safed Koh and Shutargardan. It thus agrees most closely with the snowfall distribution of the winter of 1885-86 and to a less extent with that of last year. It differs considerably from that of 1883-84 (for which the reports were first received) and of 1881-85.

The preceding statement is based on the snowfall reports which have been received up to the present date, and are summarized for reference in the following paragraphs:

I.—AFGHAN HIGHLANDS.

(a) Hills west of Dera Ismail Khan.

The Deputy Commissioner, Dera Ismail Khan, thus describes the snowfall in the ranges to the west of the Indus in that district:

“The season was dry up to the end of January, and there was no snow in the ranges west of the district. The temperature was higher than in January 1887. The season was marked by a total absence of the high and cold winds from the North-West which were so prevalent in the preceding year.

“Towards the end of January a heavy fall of snow took place on the hills of the Mahsud country and on the Suleiman Range. This snow remained on the ranges until about the middle of February, when it rapidly disappeared. Notwithstanding this fall, the cold was less than usual, owing to the absence of wind.”

(b) Hills west of Kohat.

The Assistant Commissioner, Thal outpost, has sent the following important information through the Deputy Commissioner, Kohat District, respecting the snowfall on the Safed Koh and neighbouring mountains:

December 1887.—The first snow of the season fell on the Spinghar and the adjacent country, including Paiwar, Shalozan, Zeran, &c. The depth of the snowfall was about 2 feet.

January.—Good snow fell on the Ziwa or Zaimusht Hills, the Samana Range and other high mountains on the 11th, 21st and 22nd, and the 25th and 26th.

February.—Snow fell on the 3rd and 4th, the 12th and 20th on the Samana and other Terah Mountains. About 2 feet fell on the 3rd on the Samana Range.

March.—No snowfall occurred on the Spinghar, &c., during the month. Information was received during the month that there was plenty of snow on the Safed Koh. It was lying from 15 to 20 feet deep on the highest ranges and extended low down to the Peiwar Kotal and close to Malana and other villages lying along the foot of the range. The snowfall in these mountain districts has been a good deal heavier than that of last year. No snow fell on the Terah hills during the month.

April.—No snow fell on the Spinghar or neighbouring mountains during the month. The snow was melting fast at the end of the month, but shewed no appreciable change of appearance on the higher elevated districts, which were still well covered. No snow fell on the Terah hills.

(c) Hill district west of Peshawar :

The Political Officer, Khyber Pass, contributes the following information respecting the snowfall in the mountain district to the west of Peshawar :

January.—Heavy rain fell in the Khyber and Terah hills at different intervals. Four inches of snow fell at Landi Kotal. The Torsappar, Lakka and surrounding hills were covered with snow, and the fall was stated to be about 2 feet. In Terah it was reported to be about 3 feet.

February.—Rain fell in the Khyber and Tartarra hills, but very little snow. In Terah the fall was about 4 feet and more. The total snowfall on the hills adjacent to the Yusafzai sub-division for the months of January and February varied between 2 and 3 feet.

March.—No snow is reported from these districts in March.

II.—THE HIMALAYAS.

I.—THE PUNJAB AND CASHMERE HIMALAYAS.

(a) Zehl.—The information of the snowfall in this district was furnished by the Reverend Mr. Redslob, Missionary and Superintendent, of the Meteorological Observatory. He states that the weather has been throughout more wet than usual. Snow fell in the latter part of February and in March, but it did not exceed the average, and was not sufficient in amount to prevent Mr. Dalgleish crossing the Nidra range on the 26th March. Beyond the Nubra range the snow is much less compared with what it is in the lower part of the Indus Valley.

(b) Murree.—The following gives the monthly snowfall at Murree and on the hills adjacent to Kaluta during the past winter :

		Murree. Inches.	Kaluta. Inches.	Days on which snow fell.
January	...	55	42	12th, 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 25th, 26th and 27th.
February	...	22	39	8th, 12th, 13th, 19th and 26th.
March	...	Nil	Nil
April	...	Nil	Nil

(c) Lahoul.—The Reverend A. W. Heyde sends the following interesting notes of the weather and snowfall last winter at Kailang and on the adjacent hills :

January.—From the beginning of October to the 23rd of January hardly any snow fell. Six inches were recorded on the 23rd, 25th and 26th. Hence the season has been very mild hitherto.

February.—A total of 2 feet fell in the valley during this month. It fell on the 3rd, 5th and the 9th, 19th, 21st, 26th and 27th, but on no occasion was the fall heavy. There is hence much less snow on the high hills than was the case last February.

There are no snow bridges over the river at Koksar and elsewhere which at this time of the year are scarcely ever wanting. This is proof of the absence of avalanches and therefore of the smallness of the snowfall in the higher regions.

March.—A foot of snow fell on the 12th and 13th, but the weather was fine and mild until the 24th, when it became unsettled.

April has been remarkable for much snow and rain. From the 26th March to the 1st of May about 5 feet of snow have fallen in the valley. On the higher hills surrounding Kailang at least 10 feet and probably 15 feet have fallen. The natives say that when one foot falls in the valley three usually fall on the passes. The weather is still quite unsettled and wet. The hill men had commenced to plough their fields, but have had to give up for the present on account of the rain and snow which is almost incessantly falling.

(d) Kangra and Kulu.—The Assistant Commissioner, Kulu, gives the following as the reported depths of the snow at the end of each month on the chief passes in the Kulu and Plach districts:

Kulu District.

Name of Pass.					Height.	DEPTH OF SNOW AT END OF
						January.	February.	March.
Rotang	13,000 ft.	12	19	12
Hamta	14,500 ft.	12	17	9½
Chandar Khani	10	25	17
Barsai	7	11	6
Fushtari	7	9	4
Bubu	10,000 ft.	6	15	9
Lori Achri	8	20	12
Majang	5	11	0
Baragarh	6	21	10

Plach District.

Name of Pass.					Height.	DEPTH OF SNOW AT END OF
						January.	February.	March.
Jalori	10,500 ft.	16	18	4½
Raghopur	16	16	3
Namu	7	6	1
Chul	19½	23	7
Basleo	11,000 ft.	17	18	5
Maghin	17	18	4½
Dundku	32	35	18
Srikand	15,000 ft.	34	38	25

Supakun	19	20	12
Tirath	20	20	13
Lambi Sigran	9	13	5
Palhach	17	21½	7

The Assistant Commissioner also contributes the following interesting notes on the snowfall and weather.

January.—The first important fall of the season occurred on 30th December, and extended down to an elevation of 4,000 feet. No snow had fallen below 10,000 feet previously. The Rotang and Hamta passes were closed by this fall for the winter. Below 6,500 feet the snow rapidly melted. Fine clear weather followed until the, 22nd of January. An unusually heavy fall commenced which lasted almost without intermission for four days and filled the valley. The Bubu, Jalori and Basleo passes were closed by this fall. At the end of the month the snow had melted up to a height of about 5,000 feet.

February.—The Rotang, Hamta and Bubu passes were closed during the month and the Jalori and Basleo were only passable occasionally to hill men without luggage. There were several falls during the month on the higher ranges, but only three below 6,000 feet. Towards the end of the month heavy rain fell, melting all the snow below 6,000 feet; and the weather became mild and comparatively warm.

March.—The weather was mild and clear throughout the month up to the 26th, when snow fell down to 6,000 feet and rain below. The snow speedily melted. At the beginning of April there was little snow below 10,000 feet.

II.—NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES HIMALAYAS.

The accounts from this area are very brief and scanty.

Gurhwal.—A few inches of snow fell in the Himalayan districts on the 25th and 26th of January.

Naini Tal.—Two feet fell in five days in January, viz., the 22nd, 23rd and 25th, 26th and 29th.

Mussooree.—About 16 inches fell during the winter, of which 15 inches fell on the 26th January.

III.—ASSAM HIMALAYAS.

The Deputy Commissioner of the Kamrup District states that, from enquiries made while at Dewangiri, it was ascertained that the fall of snow was somewhat less than that of the previous year, although it was above the average of former years.

The Deputy Commissioner reports that Mr. Needham, Political Officer, Sadiya, is of opinion that less snow fell in the cold weather of 1887-88 than in the preceding winter. He also points out the difficulty in obtaining exact and reliable information from the hill men, but adds that he is inclined to believe that less snow has fallen, as the snow-clad ranges seen from Dibrugarh and elsewhere in the district appear to be of smaller extent than last year.

The Deputy Commissioner, Darrang District, states, as the result of his enquiries from the different hill tribes and the sub-divisional officers, that the snowfall was less this winter than last. The Chardwar Bhutia Sub Rajahs were hence enabled to come down earlier in consequence.

Abnormal features of pressure in India during the past four months.—During the cold weather months of January and February the pressure variations were small and did not exceed .02" in any part of India. Pressure was above the average in both Northern and Southern India; a belt of low pressure ran across the Peninsula, corresponding with the tracks of the majority of the cold weather storms.

The commencement of the hot weather speedily altered the pressure variations. Temperature increased very rapidly, and at the end of April it was from 2° to 6° above the average. The following are the pressure variations caused by the temperature conditions of March and April:

(a) Pressure fell rapidly in Northern India, and at the end of April was below the average over the whole of Northern India to the north of a line joining Kurrachee to Akyab. The variations for the month of April increased from —.015" in East Bengal to —.045" in the Central Punjab.

This, it may be noted, is the distribution of pressure which ordinarily accompanies unusually dry hot weather in March and April and follows deficient snowfall in the Himalayas.

(b) Pressure was above the normal over the rest of India. The increase is small and probably unimportant in Burmah, North Madras and the Central Provinces. It exceeds $\cdot 025$ " over the western half of the Peninsula and is unusually large over a belt of country to the east of the Western Ghâts stretching from Malegaon to Bellary. The anomalies for the month of April at all stations in this belt exceed $\cdot 05$ ". They are largest for Poona ($\cdot 07$ ") and Belgaum ($\cdot 09$ ").

(c) It is probable that the pressure relations established in March and April are unaltered in character at the present time (16th May). The prolonged heat of March and April was followed by stormy weather in the first week of May in Northern India. Snow fell over some parts of the North-West Himalayas, but it was probably local and not unusually large in amount, for the north-west winds which always set in over the Punjab after snowfall in the adjacent hills only lasted for two days. Temperature, too, was reduced, but this lasted only for a short period, and increased steadily and rapidly until the 16th May, on which day the maximum temperature in the Punjab was from 4° to 7° above that of the same day last year—an unusually dry and hot year.

Hence the larger conditions, viz., deficient pressure in Northern and especially Upper India, and excessive pressure in the West Deccan are similar to those of last year, but are more strongly marked. The chief difference is in the Central Provinces and adjacent districts, where the deficient pressure of last year is replaced by pressure slightly in excess.

Probable character of the approaching monsoon.—The following are the probable indications based on these conditions:

1st.—The low pressure which at present obtains over Northern India from East Bengal to the Punjab and increases in amount westwards favours the early establishment of the Bengal current over Bengal and the Gangetic Valley, to which it will probably give normal or abundant rain.

2nd.—The distribution of pressure in Southern India (more especially in the West Deccan) is such as is usually associated with delay in the establishment of the monsoon on the Bombay Coast, and with diminished rainfall in the Bombay Deccan.

3rd.—The unfavourable conditions in Southern India accompany favourable conditions in North-West India as was the case last year. It is hence not probable that the monsoon rainfall in the Deccan will be largely reduced below its normal amount.

It will thus be seen that, with the exception of the high pressure conditions in the West Deccan, indications are favourable for a strong and early monsoon. It should, however, be remembered that these inferences may be to some extent modified by pressure changes at present in progress, or, by what is even of greater importance, by unknown pressure conditions in the Bay of Bengal or Arabian Sea.

WEATHER SUMMARY FOR APRIL 1888.

Over the greater part of India April was a hot and dry month. The thunderstorms, nor'-westers, and duststorms which in normal years are so frequent over a large part of the country, were during the past month much less numerous than usual, and the rainfall in the great majority of districts was much below the normal average. But the few storms which did occur were unusually violent, as though the energy which is ordinarily distributed through numerous small storms was, in the case of the present month, collected in the one or two storms which did occur. The tornado at Dacca on the 7th, and the violent nor'-wester in the Moradabad neighbourhood at the close of the month, are examples of this concentration of energy. The earlier part of the month was much more settled generally than the latter. Between the 1st and the 16th any rain which occurred was light and fell in the form of scattered showers, but about the 17th unusually strong winds set in around the head of the Bay, and poured an abnormally large amount of moisture into Bengal and Assam, and from that date onward to the close of the month rain fell daily, and at times heavily, over the whole of North-Eastern India.

In the Peninsula thunderstorms generally occasioning only slight rain occurred frequently between the 12th and the end of the month, the most unsettled days being the 15th and 20th, when rain fell over a very large area.

On the 1st the Chart showed a large area of relatively low pressure overlying the Gangetic plain and the Central parts of the country. From this area pressure increased in all directions, and was relatively high in Upper Assam, in Arakan, in Mysore, and in the extreme north-west of the Punjab. The differences were not however large, and the wind movement was generally light. Temperature had fallen since the preceding day, and the maxima reported, though high, were not abnormally so for the season. The highest maxima were 108° at Kurnool, and 107° at Sholapur and Cuddapah. Rain was falling in Assam. On the 2nd there was apparently unsettled weather over the North-West Himalayas, under the influence of which slight rain had fallen at the sub-montane stations of the Punjab. Barometric gradients had increased and the winds were somewhat stronger, but the general weather showed but little alteration. Temperature had continued to fall very generally, but the day temperatures were higher than on the 1st, Khandwa reporting a maximum of 113° , and Amraoti and Allahabad of 107° . On the 3rd the area of lowest pressure was transferred to North and Central Bengal, and the barometer had risen over the greater part of North-Western India. Beyond local showers, there was no rain of importance, and the weather was of the normal hot weather character. The Deccan remained the hottest part of the Indian region. During the 4th and 5th the lowest barometer continued to be reported from North Bengal, and unsettled weather prevailed in Assam, and probably on the Sikkim Himalayas. The distribution of temperature and the maxima were generally unchanged. On the 6th a well defined depression appeared over the Punjab, and was accompanied by strong winds and duststorms in its immediate neighbourhood. It, however, occasioned no permanent change in the general conditions, as on the following day, the 7th, pressure was again lowest over North Bengal. The weather at 8 A.M. was generally fine and bright, and hardly any rain was reported. In the evening of this day a tornado passed over Dacca, the particulars of which, so far as they are known, will be found at the end of the Summary. On the 8th, the barometer was low all along the line of the hills and highest in Mysore. North-westerly and westerly winds prevailed over the greater part of India, and southerly winds over the Bay and Bengal. Cloudy weather was reported from Burma, Assam, and the south of the Peninsula. Between the 9th and the 13th there was practically no change in the weather. Temperature slowly rose, and the indraught of southerly winds from the Bay into Bengal and Assam steadily continued. On the 14th a low barometer or depression appeared off the South Carnatic Coast, and caused the wind to shift to the northward at Madras, Negapatam, Salem, and Trichinopoly. It gave rain to several stations in south Madras, and this rainfall subsequently extended to all parts of the South of the Peninsula. The depression did not, however, develop, and during the 16th and 17th, the distribution of pressure was the same as that prevailing before the appearance of the disturbance, viz., high in the South and South-West and low over Northern India, more particularly along the foot of the hills and in Bengal. On the 18th rain began to fall in the South, Colombo receiving as much as 6 inches, and on the following days, the 19th and 20th, rain was very general throughout the Peninsula. Colombo on the 20th again reported 6 inches. On the 21st rain almost ceased in the Peninsula, but began to fall generally in Assam and Bengal, and this rainfall continued in North-Eastern India until the close of the month. On the 23rd and 24th considerable disturbance occurred over North-Western India, and a large number of duststorms, in some places accompanied with rain, were reported from the Punjab, North-Western Provinces, Rajputana, and Central India. After this burst of unsettled weather there occurred a period of low relative temperature followed by conditions, such as are usually characteristic of the hot weather, and temperature rose steadily. At the close of the month dust and thunderstorms again occurred, and on the evening of the 30th a storm apparently descended from the hills in the neighbourhood of Mussoorie, and travelled across the western part of the North-Western Provinces. The particulars of this storm will appear in the May Summary.

The mean temperature of the month has been below the normal average over Ceylon, the south of the Peninsula, Lower Bengal, and Assam, and above it elsewhere. The greatest excess was in Sind, but all over Upper India, including the North-Western Provinces, Punjab, Rajputana, and Guzerat, the mean temperature was considerably higher than usual. The changes of temperature during the month were large and important; rapid falls over large areas taking place after the occurrence of duststorms, to be succeeded by equally rapid recoveries as the weather settled down to its normal condition. The rise of temperature during the month was by no means excessive as the following table of maxima will show:

and the maximum readings over a large part of the country were about the average.

Rainfall.—The comparatively constant rain which fell over North-Eastern India during the latter part of the month occasioned an excess of rain in the Provinces of Bengal and Assam. A slight excess was also reported from Rajputana and Central India, from the Konkan and from the Deccan, and a large excess from Ceylon. No rain fell in Sind, Cutch, or Guzerat, and generally outside those regions reporting an excess the rainfall of the whole month was very trifling.

The Dacca Tornado.—The following remarks are compiled from the reports furnished by Dr. Crombie and Mr. Hare, who were both in Dacca during the tornado. At about 7 o'clock on the evening of Saturday, the 7th April, the tornado struck the western extremity of the town of Dacca. Even in its first manifestations the storm was of great violence, and the rotatory movement of the wind within the storm area was evidenced by the directions in which plantain and other trees were found lying, after the storm had passed. The appearances before the storm burst were only such as usually accompany the approach of an ordinary nor'-wester.

The vortex travelled at first on a south-east course along the old river bed, destroying every kutchahut within its area, and it was hoped that the storm would continue to travel in this direction and so pass out into the open Maidan to the south of Nawabgunge, and the destruction due to it be thus reduced to a minimum. Suddenly, however, the centre moved to the northward and subsequently reached the Maidan to the south of Lalbagh. Here, freed from such obstacles as buildings, &c., the storm rapidly increased in energy, and after this short incursion into the open country the tornado, having gained such additional force as enabled it to destroy even the strongest houses, returned to the river. From Lalbagh the vortex crossed the river, and it was after this that the largest amount of damage was done, everything, including the strongest masonry houses, being destroyed. The tornado apparently subsequently rose from the ground and passed high into the air.

It travelled altogether about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles at an estimated rate of 16 miles per hour. Its breadth varied between 200 and 180 paces, and the uprush of air within the centre must have been tremendous, as large beams blown from the falling houses were suspended in mid-air for distinct intervals by the violent uprush. The tornado did not pass over the observatory, so that there was no record of the lateral wind force.

The storm was so partial that those outside its path were hardly aware of anything unusual.

Very shortly after the tornado visited Dacca, a path of the Munshigung Sub-Division was visited by a tornado, either the same or another. The damage done by this was very severe, and it is at present reported that 66 deaths occurred, and that 128 persons were wounded. This tornado passed for a great part through open country, and did comparatively little harm to property, though, where it did strike houses, it carried them away more completely than in the crowded city of Dacca.

The following table shows the amount of rain and the difference from the average, during the month of April, 1888, according to districts, as far as is indicated by the telegraphic reports:

Weather Review of India for the week ending the 16th May, 1888.

The most important features of the weather of the past week have been the steady but considerable increase of temperature which has taken place over Northern India, and the large increase in the pressure difference between the North and South. The almost continuous fall which has occurred in the barometer over Northern India, combined with the rise which has taken place over the Peninsula, has produced a distribution of pressure which resembles the conditions prevailing during the rains rather than that which obtains during the hot weather. In the Peninsula the weather has been wet and unsettled, and a feeble cyclonic disturbance passed across, from the Coromandel to the Malabar Coasts.

On the 10th the barometric changes were unimportant, except in Ceylon and the south of the Peninsula, where pressure had fallen. Rain was reported from several of the Peninsula stations, as well as from those in Lower Burmah. The winds were generally light, and were irregular in direction over the south of the Peninsula. Temperature had increased. North Sind and West Rajputana were the hottest parts of the Indian region, the maxima there generally exceeding 110° . The Chart of the following day, the 11th, showed a small and feeble, but distinctly marked, cyclonic storm off the Madras Coast. A cyclonic circulation of the winds was reported from Southern India, and rain was falling at the majority of the southern stations, as well as in Burmah. At Colombo the fall amounted to 7 inches. Temperature had again increased in Northern and Central India, the area of maximum heat holding over Sind. On the 12th the disturbance noticed on the preceding day was advancing inland between Madras and Negapatam, but was quickly filling up. Rain was falling over the whole of Southern India, but the amounts were smaller than on the preceding day. A further increase of temperature was reported, and the maxima at Jhansi and Deesa were $112^{\circ}5$. Between the 12th and 13th the depression passed quickly across the Peninsula, but almost entirely filled up. Temperature had fallen quickly in Southern India, but had continued to rise in the North and centre. The highest maxima reported were 114° at Deesa and $113^{\circ}5$ at Jhansi. Rain had again fallen generally in the Peninsula, and thundershowers had occurred in Assam and Lower Burmah. On the 14th pressure was rising in the Peninsula, and falling briskly over Northern India, and in consequence the barometric difference between the North and South had considerably increased. The winds had risen in force over a large part of the country, but more particularly at the head of the Bay, where they approached the force of a gale. Temperature had again risen, though only very slightly, in Northern India, and had generally fallen elsewhere. The highest maximum was $114^{\circ}7$ at Jacobabad. On the 15th the changes which were in progress on the previous day were intensified. The barometer continued to fall in the North and to rise in the South, hence the barometric difference was still further increased, and the general distribution closely resembled that which usually obtains during the rains. The winds, except along the foot of the hills, blew freshly, and at the head of the Bay were exceptionally strong. Rain fell at several stations in the Peninsula and at nearly all stations in Burmah and Assam. At Moultmein over 6 inches was recorded. Temperature continued to rise in the Punjab and Upper Sind. The maximum at Jacobabad was $116^{\circ}6$ and at Hyderabad $113^{\circ}2$. On the 16th pressure was falling almost everywhere. A small centre of disturbance was shown over the south-east of the Punjab and the adjacent hill districts, but generally the distribution was similar to that reported on the previous day. The general conditions of pressure during the last three days of the week were such as usually precede an advance of the south-west monsoon current into the Indian region. The winds had increased in force all along the West Coast region, but had decreased over the Bay of Bengal. The directions were generally unchanged. A further brisk rise of temperature was reported from North-Western and Central India, and a maximum of $116^{\circ}6$ was reported from Jacobabad, of $115^{\circ}9$ at Sirsa, of 115°·4 at Deesa, and 114°·8 at Ludhiana. The great increase of heat which has occurred during the past week is plainly shown in the following table, which gives the maxima at the beginning and close of the week for several stations in Upper and Central India :

Stations.	Maximum temperature on 10th.	Maximum temperature on 16th.	Increase. °
Jhansi	107°·5	114°·0	6°·5
Lahore	103°·6	113°·1	9°·5
Multan	104°·1	111°·6	7°·5
Simla	74°·1	82°·7	8°·6
Deesa	108°·9	115°·4	6°·5
Jacobabad	111°·3	116°·6	5°·3
Jeypore	104°·6	110°·8	6°·2

The rainfall has been heavy in Burmah, Bengal, Assam, Ceylon, and Madras, and moderately heavy in Bombay, but has been light elsewhere. In the North-Western Provinces, Oudh, Sind, and Rajputana, the weather has been dry throughout.

The concluding table gives the total rainfall of the past week according to Provinces :

Divisions.	No. of Stations.	Total Rainfall.
Burmah	7	25·69
Bengal and Assam	7	17·34
North-Western Provinces and Oudh	0	0
Punjab	1	0°05

Ceylon	2	13·33
Malabar Coast	5	10°16
Bombay	6	6·43
Berars and Central Provinces	3	0°82
Guzerat and Central India	1	0°01

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 12th May, 1888.—Good rain in most districts, but more wanted in Vizagapatam, Trichinopoly, Madūra, Tinnevely, and Salem. Crops generally good, but black paddy considerably damaged from want of rain in parts of Vizagapatam, and cholum by insects in parts of Coimbatore. Pasture generally sufficient, but scanty in Malabar and insufficient in parts of Cuddapah, Anantapur, and Madura, and decreasing in Vizagapatam and Salem. No material fluctuations in prices. General prospects favourable.

Bombay.—For week ending 16th May, 1888.—Rain in parts of Nasik, Poona, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Satara, Bijapur, Belgaum, Dharwar, Kanara, and Baroda. Cotton-picking progressing in parts of Kaira. Harvesting of late crops completed in Shikarpur, Upper Sind Frontier, Nasik, and Dharwar,—continues in Hyderabad and Khandesh. Ploughing for next season progressing in most districts. Fodder scarce in parts of Surat, Thana, Ratnagiri, Dharwar, and Kathiawar.

Bengal.—For week ending 15th May, 1888.—Weather hot and close. Showers reported in almost all the Bengal districts, and also in places in the Bhagalpur and Chota Nagpur Divisions. Rain still holds off in Orissa, where it is much needed. Ploughing and early sowings are in progress, except in Cuttack and Puri. Early rice and jute have come up in some places and are doing well. Sugarcane, indigo, and cheena are generally in good condition. Spring rice harvest proceeding, good outturn generally expected. Cattle suffering for want of pasture in the Khurda subdivision of Puri.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 16th May, 1888.—No rain. Weather hot and dry. Rabi nearly all cut, outturn good. Summer crops being irrigated. Markets are well supplied, but prices still fluctuate. General condition of agricultural stock good.

Punjab.—For week ending 16th May, 1888.—No rain has fallen during the week. Prices are on the whole still falling; a rise is reported from two districts; in others the prices are falling or stationary. Harvesting and threshing of rabi crops going on. Kharif ploughings, sugarcane weedings, and cotton sowings in progress. Rabi prospects and outturn are reported good to average. Extra rabi and fruit slightly damaged by storms at Amritsar. Stock cattle are reported healthy. Fodder generally sufficient.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 16th May, 1888.—Weather hot and cloudy, slight rain in Chanda. Threshing and winnowing of wheat and other winter crops completed. Land being prepared for autumn sowings. Cattle generally in good condition.

Burma.—For week ending 12th May, 1888.—The dry weather crops are, with the exceptions noticed last week, doing well. The dry weather rice crops are being reaped. Rain fell in all districts in Lower Burma. In Upper Burma a little rain fell in Yeu, Sagaing, Myingyan, Minbu, and Yemethen districts. The price of paddy has risen in Bassein, Thayetmyo, Amherst, Shwegyin, and Mergui districts of Lower Burma, and in Yemethen, Kyaukse, Myingyan, and Upper Chindwin districts of Upper Burma, and has fallen in Hanthawaddy in Lower Burma and in Shwebo in Upper Burma.

Assam.—For week ending 16th May, 1888.—Weather seasonable everywhere and prospects of crops generally good. Tea suffering from want of sun in Sibsagar and from green fly in Darrang. Condition of potatoes in Khasi Hills continues good. Decrease of rain in Sylhet has improved circumstances of crops.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 16th May, 1888.—Rainfall general throughout the State, and good in civil and military station and Chittaldroog and Bangalore districts. Standing crops in good condition. Outturn of harvests fair. Condition of agricultural stock good. Supply of water and fodder scanty in parts of the Hassan district.

Some rain fell in Coorg during the week. No crops on the ground.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 16th May, 1888.—Weather hot, with westerly winds. Cultivators busily engaged in preparing the soil for kharif crop. Fodder insufficient in Amraoti district. Agricultural stock generally in good condition. No marked changes in prices.

There has been a little rain at Hyderabad during the week. Prospects fair. Prices stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 16th May, 1888.—The following changes have occurred since the last report, viz., agricultural operations have been started in Western Malwa and Bhopawar. Probable outturn of harvest in Goona is reported below average. Prices of foodgrains are rising in Baghelkhand, Western Malwa, Bhopawar, and Goona.

Rajputana.—For week ending 16th May, 1888.—Some rain at Dholepore. Agricultural operations satisfactory. Standing crops none at present. Harvests and agricultural stock good. Pasturage or fodder sufficient. Prices steady generally,—fluctuating at places.

Nepal.—For week ending 10th May, 1888.—No rain. Weather warm and dry. Prospects good.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat; the copies for subscribers registered by Messrs. Thacker, Spink & Co. are distributed by that firm; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.

In supersession of previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1885, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows:—

Terms of subscription payable annually in advance.

NOTIFICATIONS.—EMIGRATION.

Simla, the 24th May, 1888.

No. 77—27-4 E.—With reference to Notification No. 48, dated the 17th April, 1888, the following amendments in the rules under the Indian Emigration Act, XXI. of 1883, are published under Section 81 (4) of that Act for general information:

1. To Rule 7, Schedule (page 88), after the existing Rule under the heading "Blocks" add the following:

"In front of each block, and at a distance of about 2 feet from it, a substantial wooden frame of stanchions and connecting pieces shall be erected, extending along the entire length of the block, and to about 2 feet beyond it on each side. This frame shall be sufficiently high to support an extension of the closet roof, which shall be projected in future to a distance of about 2 feet, and shall rest on and be securely fastened to the top of the frame.

"A canvas screen, oiled or tarred, and capable of being securely fastened in its place when let down and rolled up when not required, shall be fitted to the front of the above frame, and shall hang from under the projected roof above to about 18 inches of the deck, so as to form, when let down, a sheltered passage to the closets that are behind and entirely covered by it. The exposed forward and after ends or side entrances of this passage shall be excluded from view by wooden side screens—one at each end—firmly fixed at right angles to the frame in front, so as to leave, at each end, a covered entrance to the passage. With a view to better control, the forward end entrances to the women's closets may be closed, or be capable of being closed, when desired."

NOTE.—The relative positions of a block of water-closets, and of the front and side screens common to the block, may be roughly indicated thus:

2. Under the heading "Compartments" and in the Rule below the Table (page 88) omit the paragraph beginning with the words "Every compartment" and ending with the words "for a handle."

REVENUE.

The 25th May, 1888.

No. 377—33-4 R.—Under Section 5, Regulation III of 1822, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to authorize the several Members of the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to exercise generally throughout the territories subject to their control all the duties, powers, and authority which are vested in the Board collectively in respect of the departments detailed below:

The Hon'ble H. J. Reynolds, C.S.I., will exercise the aforesaid powers in the Department of Land Revenue. This includes revenue, survey and settlement, land registration, land improvements, the sale or lease of waste land and Government estates, the management of Wards' and attached estates, the collection of cesses, the realization of arrears of revenue, and the recovery of public demands, rent suits, embankments, pensions, the examination, enrolment, &c., of revenue agents, putni sales, and the supply of provisions for troops.

Mr. F. B. Peacock will exercise the aforesaid powers in the Departments of Miscellaneous Revenue. These include excise, assessed taxes, salt, opium, customs, stamps and stationery, tolls and canals, the partition of estates, and the acquisition of land for public purposes.

During the absence on leave of Mr. Peacock, Mr. F. M. Halliday, Officiating Member of the Board of Revenue, will exercise the powers with which Mr. Peacock is vested.

English duties on Indian silverware.

The Governor-General in Council directs that the subjoined correspondence be published for general information.

E. J. SINKINSON,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

No. 350, dated 26th October, 1886.

From—The Government of India,

To—The Secretary of State for India.

We desire to call Your Lordship's attention to the correspondence on the subject of the import duties on Indian manufactured silver in England ending with our Despatch No. 46, dated the 1st August, 1884.

2. The question discussed in that correspondence has no direct bearing on the problems connected with the present condition of silver, which have been referred to a Royal Commission. Any measure, however, which results in a more extended demand for silver cannot fail at any time to have importance from the point of view of this country. We stated in paragraph 3 of our Despatch No. 19 (Separate Revenue), dated 14th March, 1884, that we were unable to admit the sufficiency of the arguments employed by the Lords of the Treasury; and we think that the present may be a favourable opportunity, in view of the attention which is now directed very generally to questions connected with the more extended use of silver, of again urging upon their attention the expediency of adopting the measures in regard to the English duties on manufactured Indian silver and to compulsory hall-marking which were indicated in our previous despatches. Should Your Lordship concur with us, we trust therefore that steps may be taken with the view of again, at the present time, bringing the matter before Her Majesty's Government.

No. 33 (Statistics and Commerce), dated 3rd March, 1887.

To—The Government of India.

With reference to your letter dated 26th October, 1886, No. 350 (Finance and Commerce), I forward herewith a copy of correspondence with the Treasury which has taken place in consequence of that letter on the subject of the English plate duties and the system of compulsory hall-marking.

2. I may observe that it appears from the United Kingdom Trade Accounts for 1885 that of a total of 97,685 oz. of silver plate imported during that year from all sources, 24,972 oz. came from British India; and, allowing for the re-exportation of a portion of the latter, the amount of customs duty realised on importations of Indian plate is estimated approximately to have been £1,715 out of the total amount of £6,708.

Dated 15th December, 1886.

From—J. A. GODLEY, Esq., C. B., Under-Secretary of State for India,

To—The Secretary to Her Majesty's Treasury, London.

With reference to previous correspondence on the subject of import duties on Indian plate and compulsory hall-marking, and with reference also to the statement made by the Under-Secretary of State for India in the House of Commons on 21st September last in answer to a question by Sir G. Balfour, I am directed by the Secretary of State for India in Council to forward herewith, for the consideration of the Lords of the Treasury, a copy of a letter received from the Government of India, dated 26th October 1886, on the above mentioned subject.

I am to add that His Lordship entirely concurs in the views of the Government of India with regard to the laws affecting the admission to this country of silver articles manufactured in India.

Dated 9th February, 1887.

From—SIR R. E. WELBY, Secretary to Her Majesty's Treasury, London,
To—The Under-Secretary of State for India.

I am directed by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to acquaint you, for the information of the Secretary of State for India in Council, that they have considered your letter of the 15th December last, covering a despatch from the Government of India urging upon Her Majesty's Government the expediency of repealing the English duties on manufactured Indian silver, and the regulations which subject such silver to compulsory hall-marking.

My Lords, without expressing any opinion upon the merits of the duties in themselves, fear that they cannot hold out hopes that the state of finance will enable the Chancellor of the Exchequer to take these duties into consideration.

No. 174, dated 2nd July, 1887.

From—The Government of India,
To—The Secretary of State for India.

We have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of Your Lordship's Despatch No. 33 (Statistics and Commerce), dated 3rd March, 1887, forwarding copy of correspondence with the Treasury on the subject of the English plate duties and the system of compulsory hall-marking, from which it appears that the Treasury could not at that time hold out any expectation that the state of the finances would enable the Chancellor of the Exchequer to take these duties into consideration.

2. The language held, however, by the Chancellor of the Exchequer on the occasion of the introduction of the Budget on the 21st April last, in reply to a question from Sir R. Temple, leads us to think the matter may again with advantage be pressed upon the attention of Her Majesty's Government. We forward to that end a summary of the correspondence which has hitherto taken place on this subject, and we desire to submit, for Your Lordship's consideration, the expediency of again bringing the matter forward.

The English duties on Silver and compulsory hall-marking.

For a long time past, the Government of India has been endeavouring to induce the English Government to relieve Indian silverware from the import duties, which, combined with the practical effect of the system of compulsory hall-marking, prevent any real development of what might otherwise become a trade of some importance. The official discussion of the question extends over a period of more than six years. Before Sir Evelyn Baring joined his office of Financial Member of the Council, he wrote to Mr. Gladstone on the subject, and, in a note written in January 1881, he said that Mr. Gladstone in reply expressed the opinion that the desire for the repeal of the duties well deserved consideration, and that he should be very happy if he could comply with it "in the very next financial arrangements." Mr. Gladstone afterwards requested to be furnished with further facts bearing on the question. These facts were collected and furnished to Sir E. Baring, and the Government awaited the action of the English Government.

The facts are these : On silver plate manufactured in England and imported from abroad a duty of 1s. 6d. an ounce is levied. The duty is collected at the Assay Office, where all articles of silver plate, certain small wares excepted, because of the difficulty of testing and marking them, are tested, and, if found equal to the English standard, are hall-marked. If not equal to the standard, they were down to 1883 immediately destroyed. In that year however, in consequence of a report from a Select Committee of the House of Commons and complaints from India, a modification was made; and now if imported silverware is not equal to the standard, the importer may re-ship it out of England. Hall-marking is compulsory under a penalty of £10 for each piece of plate exposed for sale without the hall-mark, and confiscation of the plate. The ordinary standard in England being fixed at '925 fine, it is impossible for Indian silver-plate made from rupee silver to pass the test, for rupee silver is a little below the standard.

An important point in connection with the working of these regulations, which has hitherto, curiously enough, escaped the attention of those interested in the trade, is that the English manufacturer only nominally pays 1s. 6d. an ounce on his plate, his actual payment being not more than 1s. 3d., for he receives an allowance of one-sixth "in consideration of the unfinished state of the wares when they are produced for the assay, at which time the duty is assessed. This allowance is much in excess of the average difference between the finished and unfinished article." (28th Report of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, page 56.) The English manufacturer, in fact, removes the articles from his workshop before they are burnished and finished off, has them assayed and marked, gets the rebate of 3d. out of the 18d. fixed by law, and then takes the articles away to be finished. The Indian manufacturer cannot do this: he must send his wares to England in a condition fit for sale, and consequently is charged the full 18d., provided that the metal is up to the standard. If it is not, the wares must be removed out of England. Therefore, as the law and regulations operate in practice, an Indian manufacturer is prohibited from selling his goods in England if they are made of rupee silver, the only silver current in India; and if he goes to the trouble and expense of procuring finer silver of the standard required in England, he still finds the English manufacturer protected against him to the extent of one-sixth, or 16·6 per cent., of the duty supposed to be levied alike on English and foreign wares.

In his Budget speech on the 4th April, 1881, Mr. Gladstone held out hopes that the silver duty might be repealed for the following reasons: (1) the general advantage attending the removal of excise duties upon products of British industry; and (2) that "there is every reason to believe that India is well qualified to supply us with silverware in a manner advantageous to herself and the trade and the people of this country were it not for the operation of this tax." Unfortunately, there were weighty reasons against the immediate removal of the duty in the ordinary manner, the chief of which was that it would give rise to a series of claims for drawbacks which Mr. Gladstone estimated at £170,000, or three and a half year's revenue, and might possibly give rise to fraudulent claims. Instead of an immediate removal of the tax, Mr. Gladstone intimated his intention of introducing a resolution proposing that, in order not to disturb sensibly the course of trade, the duty should be reduced annually by threepence an ounce until it expired. No interference was proposed with regard to the gold duties. Subsequently, Mr. Gladstone announced in Parliament that, in addition to the difficulties likely to arise from claims to drawback, further enquiries showed that objections also existed to the gradual abolition of the duty. Accordingly, in Committee, Mr. Gladstone informed the House that the measure had been abandoned.

The Government of India waited until the following year, and in March 1882, after the removal of the Indian cotton duties, telegraphed to the Secretary of State: "We desire very earnestly to press upon Her Majesty's Government the importance of repealing the silver duty this year if possible. We believe that this would be a very gracious act at a time when we have repealed our Customs duties; it would give much satisfaction to the public here, and would 'be highly politic.'

Lord Hartington replied: "I caused the substance of your telegram of the 17th March last, relative to the importance of repealing the silver duty, to be communicated to the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury. The Chancellor of the Exchequer, in his Financial Statement delivered in Parliament on the 24th of April, remarked that he is not prepared to make any proposals for the repeal of the duty at the present time, although he recognised that there were two reasons which recommended its abolition, the first and special one being the strong opinion expressed by your Government in favour of its early removal; and the second, the embarrassment to the market and hinderance to trade caused by its maintenance."

Despatch No. 187, dated 4th May, 1882.

The question now began to be pressed upon the attention of the Government of India by the mercantile and trading bodies of the country. The Madras Trades Association in December 1882, in a memorial addressed to the Local Government, complained of the serious obstacles to the trade in silverware—namely, the heavy duty and the compulsory assay by the Goldsmiths' Company, as virtually amounting to prohibition, and as being, moreover, a protective duty in the interests of the English silver trade. The Association complained of the law which required that all manufactured silver for sale must be equal in fineness to English standard silver, and that articles under that standard must be "smashed and battered" and confiscated, and the owner held liable to a penalty of £10 for each article. The method of the assay was also objected to, the process being so "clumsily and ruthlessly" performed that English manufacturers were compelled to send their wares to the Hall in an unfinished state, unpolished and unburnished—a course not open to the Indian manufacturer, who had to run the risk of his finished goods being damaged, if not injured beyond recovery.

Following this representation, the Calcutta Trades Association in January 1883 addressed the Government of India on the subject, representing the difficulty of introducing the fine silver work of Cashmere, Cutch, the Punjab, and Southern India into England, not only because of the duties, but also because the work was liable to be broken up and rendered fit only for the melting-pot by the Assay Office, if it "fails by one-fourth of a grain to come up to the English standard of fineness, which differs considerably from the Indian standard of the rupee." Such a small deviation from the English standard could not make any real difference in the intrinsic value of the silverware to the purchaser. Moreover, the highly chased and elaborate work of the Indian silversmith could not be made in soft pure silver, and required a little alloy to give it some degree of hardness; nor could Indian manufacturers submit their work in a rough unfinished state, as English manufacturers did, in order to avoid the defacing operations of assaying and marking.

As an instance of the complicated and elaborate method of working the tax, the Association mentioned a case in which a firm in Calcutta, having an elaborate and artistic piece of silver work made in London to order, were compelled to forego a claim of £20 to which they were entitled as drawback on export, because the English Custom-house insisted upon the work being taken to pieces and the different pieces of silver weighed, which could not be effected without much difficulty and delay.

These two memorials were sent to the Secretary of State. The Government of India again strongly urged the repeal of the duty, representing the hardships involved by the rigorous application to all Indian silverware (which it is not practicable in all cases to work in soft pure silver) of the English standard of fineness; the consequence of falling below this in the slightest degree being that Indian work was not merely forbidden sale in England, but was broken up and rendered valueless as a work of art. It was also pointed out that the system under which duty was levied placed the English silversmith at an advantage over his foreign competitor—a system not in harmony with the general policy of Her Majesty's Government; that the repeal of the duties would act beneficially on the general financial position of the Government of India; and that any measure tending to increase Indian exports, and thus draw some portion of the population, however small, away from agriculture to manufactures, would be very desirable. It was also urged that there were political considerations in favour of repeal. After the large sacrifices India had made to give complete freedom to trade by the abolition of her import duties (a sacrifice regarded by a considerable section of the Indian community as having been dictated in the interests of England), it seemed not unreasonable to expect that a small fiscal reform of this nature which would benefit India should be made by Her Majesty's Government in England.

On the subject of drawbacks, it was observed that in all customs reforms carried out in India no drawbacks were allowed.

This despatch having been sent to the Treasury by the India Office, the Secretary to the Treasury replied* to the effect that the primary consideration with the Treasury was the financial equilibrium of the Home budget, and that the question of repeal of the duties was complicated by the large sum which would be claimed as drawbacks. The Indian cotton duties were "purely and avowedly protective," while the silver duties were "only framed to countervail the excise duty imposed upon the Home manufacture."

* 13th March, 1883.

The India Office, in its reply to this letter, called attention to the statement of the Government of India that no drawbacks were allowed in India in cases of customs reforms, and also showed that the statement that the Indian cotton duties were "purely and avowedly protective" was inaccurate. "These duties were originally imposed purely for fiscal purposes, and at a time when no Indian manufactures existed which they could operate to protect; they were subsequently modified at different times in order to remove the protection which it was found that they were alleged to afford to certain classes of Indian-made goods, and they have recently been entirely abolished, in common with import duties, upon many other articles."

This correspondence having been sent to the Government of India, it requested† that the matter might again be pressed upon the consideration of Her Majesty's Government, and expressed the hope that, in view of the smallness of the amount of revenue involved, it would be possible at some early date to preserve fiscal equilibrium without the maintenance of these highly objectionable duties.

The answer of the Treasury was as follows:—

"It would not be seemly for my Lords to controvert the views expressed by the Government of India on the objects of their fiscal arrangements. But, on the other hand, with reference to the last paragraph of the letter from the Government of India, to which Lord Kimberley calls their Lordships' attention, they must remark that it is for them to judge whether, and when, Parliament can be asked to charge on the tax-payers large sums (under the name of drawback) to be paid to the holders of silver goods, in order to relieve the purchasers of silver who generally belong to the wealthier part of the community, from the present tax on plate."

The Secretary of State sent this answer to the Government of India, with the remark‡ that he did not think it advisable to continue the discussion with the Treasury.

The discussion then ceased, but the papers having been published, it was revived in February 1884 by another representation from the Calcutta Trades Association, who expressed their inability to understand why in the case of silver more than in that of any other goods the payment of drawbacks should be allowed to stand in the way of the abolition of a highly objectionable duty.

The Association represented also that although many Indian firms suffered heavy pecuniary losses on the abolition of the cotton import duties, no drawback was allowed them. It added that the English silver duties restricted trade even in India. Travellers in India would doubtless purchase more freely than they did the beautiful chased silver work of this country were it not for the difficulties they have to encounter with such articles on their arrival in England. There they were placed in bond and weighed in order to determine the duty. The owner had next to make a statutory declaration that the articles were not intended for sale or exchange. If at any subsequent time he should sell or exchange the articles in an unmarked condition from any unforeseen cause whatever, he incurred the risk of a penalty of £10 for each article, and furthermore their entire confiscation. Should silverwares imported for sale be found to assay one-fourth of a grain under the English standard, though not now broken up immediately as formerly, they were returned to bond and required to be re-exported within three months, failing which they were broken up.

The Bengal Chamber of Commerce also* urged that the duty was a "practically prohibitive imposition," and described the hall-marking system as "so oppressive that the manufacturers of Indian silver ware are deterred from entering the English market, and offering for sale the beautiful and highly ornamental work which they can produce."

* Letter dated 7th March, 1884.

The Madras Trades Association also again wrote with reference to a complaint made by Messrs. Orr & Co., of Madras, of the treatment of certain Indian plate imported into England. The grievance complained of consisted of the breaking up by the Assay authorities of a quantity of embossed "Swami" jewellery which that firm had sent to England in 1881 as a trial consignment to introduce these wares into the United Kingdom. The articles were made of rupee silver, and this being fractionally below the English standard, the whole consignment was broken up, notwithstanding that every effort was made to avert its destruction, and although Messrs. Orr agreed to re-export the plate.

These three representations were sent to the Secretary of State, and the propriety of repealing the duty was again pressed upon the consideration of Her

No. 19, dated 14th March, 1884.

Majesty's Government. The Government of India added that there were grounds for believing that the amount of drawback likely to be payable on the repeal of the duties would not be by any means so considerable as represented. It was believed that English stocks were in a great measure old in workmanship and out of date, and such as could not claim heavy drawbacks. Moreover, the agitation for the repeal of the duties and the abolition of hall-marking having continued so many years, manufacturers had largely reduced their stocks and were working principally for orders only.

Subsequently, a memorial from the Bombay Chamber of Commerce and a resolution passed by a meeting of the Karachi Chamber of Commerce, in support of the abolition of the silver duties and compulsory hall-marks, were sent to the Secretary of State.

Meanwhile the subject was being discussed in England. In November 1883, the Secretary to the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company addressed the Secretary of State with reference to the Indian parcels post service, which it carried between India and the United Kingdom under an arrangement with the Director-General of Post Offices in India. Many of the homeward-bound parcels carried by the Company contained small articles of silver plate sent by persons in India to friends and relatives in England, and were formerly cleared through the Customs without any difficulty upon payment of the import duty of 1s. 6d. an ounce. By a change in the law effected by the Revenue Act of 1883, plate could not be passed through the Customs, nor duty paid thereon, as previously, until assayed, stamped, and marked, an exception being made in the case of articles imported for private use and not for sale, which were passed through the Customs upon the receipt of a declaration made by the addressee before a Magistrate that it was intended solely for private use. The Directors suggested to the Secretary of State that a representation might be made to the Lords of the Treasury, requesting that articles of silver plate shipped from India by the Indian parcels post by P. & O. steamers should be exempt from the conditions of the Revenue Act of 1883, or that, instead of requiring a declaration to be made by the addressees, the same should be accepted if made by the P. & O. Company to the effect that, to the best of their knowledge and belief, the plate was imported for private use and not for sale.

In November 1883, Messrs. C. B. Pare & Co. wrote to the Secretary of State with a complaint somewhat similar to that of Messrs. Orr. They stated that, with a view of opening out a trade with India in art manufactures, they had ordered as an experiment a variety of silver articles from Cashmere, but that these had been stopped by the Customs as being made of rupee silver, and under the British standard. The goods were ordered to be re-exported at once under penalty of being broken up. Messrs. Pare & Co. submitted that the restrictions imposed—the heavy duty, the necessity of taking out a plate license before offering for sale, and the enforced hall-marking—were prejudicial to the best interests of English silversmiths. Without such obstructions, a large trade might spring up with India, such as had been opened out with Japan, the introduction of whose manufactures had proved most beneficial to English art metal and porcelain manufacturers.

In forwarding these two letters for the consideration of the Lords of the Treasury, the Secretary of State strongly urged the case of the P. & O. Company regarding the exemption of Indian parcel post packages from the provisions of the Revenue Act of 1883 for favourable consideration. With regard to Messrs. Pare's complaint of the stoppage at the Custom-house of a quantity of art silver work from Cashmere as an "illegal importation," and the orders for its re-exportation within 28 days under penalty of being broken up because it was made of rupee silver, that is to say, because it did not contain 222 dwts. of pure silver (English standard), but 220 dwts. (rupee standard) to the pound of 240 dwts., Lord Kimberley said that he could not characterise such a proceeding as other than barbarous in the case of works of art. His Lordship stated that it was unnecessary for him "to point out the extreme hardship, and indeed absurdity, of requiring manufacturers in India to work in silver of a higher standard of fineness than that of the rupee coined and circulated by the British Government, or to dwell upon the injury suffered by the United Kingdom in consequence of the virtual exclusion from it of articles of Indian plate in universal demand for their artistic merit and the perfection of their workmanship." In the Secretary of State's view, the grievance complained of by Messrs. Pare and other importers of Indian silver goods might be removed by providing either "(a) that hall-marking be established in India, in which case it should be enacted that goods bearing the Indian hall-mark be passed at the Custom-house, on payment of duty, without any assay; or (b) that goods from India be assayed as now, and, if found to be up to the Indian standard (that is, of the rupee), be marked with a special and clearly distinctive mark, and then allowed, on payment of duty, to pass into use in this country." The distinction between British and foreign plate might be maintained by requiring the latter to be marked F. In the case of plan (a) meeting with approval, Lord Kimberley pointed out that it would be necessary to consult the Government of India. He himself, however, preferred the second course (b), and earnestly recommended it for favourable consideration, as it appeared to him that "the present state of things is wholly indefensible, and indeed a discredit to this country."

The Treasury admitted that the P. & O. Company's complaint was reasonable, and said that in future a declaration by the Agent of the Company, such as that proposed, would be deemed sufficient, subject to reasonable limits as to size and weight, and with necessary safeguards to prevent the privilege being abused.

As regards Messrs. Pare's case, the Treasury would not admit that any hardship existed. The law which laid down that silver goods below the English standard could not be exposed for sale had been long in force, and was well known to the trade; and by the Revenue Act of 1883, the old law, that if such plate on assay was found below standard it was broken up, had been modified so as to allow the alternative of re-exportation.

The Treasury declined to entertain the proposal that either an Indian assay hall-mark should be established or recognised in England, or that a special assay and mark should be established in England for silver of the rupee standard, because "the adoption of either suggestion would involve a serious disturbance of the present system." It was thought, however, that a solution might be found which would be practically sufficient for the purposes of the Government of India. The class of goods whose exclusion was complained of were of a peculiar character as regards workmanship, and were highly ornamental. If some proper definition of them could be obtained, legislative powers might be sought so as to exclude them from compulsory assay, and they could thus be imported and sold freely upon payment of the customs duty. It was said that the legal advisers of Government would be consulted as to the preparation of a Bill to this effect.

Nothing further has been heard on this part of the subject, and the whole question was dropped until October 1886, when the Government of India wrote to the Secretary of State,* suggesting that the appointment of a Royal Commission to enquire into the present condition of silver afforded a favourable opportunity of again urging the expediency of adopting the measures in regard to the English duties on manufactured Indian silver and to compulsory hall-marking, which were indicated in previous despatches.

* No. 350, dated 30th October, 1886.

The Secretary of State wrote to the Treasury, entirely concurring in the views of the Government of India. The Treasury† answered, simply, that without expressing any opinion upon the merits of the duties in themselves, it was feared that the state of the finances would not enable the Chancellor of the Exchequer to take the duties into consideration.

In view of the large surplus shown by the Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Budget presented to Parliament last April, and of the disposal of that surplus by extensive remission of taxation, it was hoped that these duties might have been taken up and dealt with. Nothing has been done however. It would appear from a reply to a question put in the House of Commons (by Sir Richard Temple on 21st April) that the Chancellor had intended to deal with the matter in his Budget, but that difficulties had arisen. The nature of the difficulties was not stated. The question and answer are quoted below from Hansard :

Sir Richard Temple.—In deference to the interests of the people of India, I have to ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether he will be pleased to consider favourably the remission of the duty on the silver work imported from India to England? I am aware that this matter has been, in former discussions, mixed up with the question of hall-marking. But I do not wish so to mix it up. Personally, I am in favour of the system of hall-marking, as insuring public confidence in the articles so marked. But if this process is found to be too rough for the delicate silver fabrics of India, then some other mechanism can be found for assaying the purity and quality of these fabrics. Sir, the remission of this duty was proposed by a Committee of this House in 1879. It was mentioned in the Budget speech of 1881. A more recent discussion took place in this House in May 1884. On that occasion the Honourable and learned Member for Chatham (Sir John Gerst) spoke as follows :—

"He wished to bring a little friendly pressure to bear upon the Chancellor of the Exchequer with regard to this subject It was admitted on all hands that this tax ought to be abolished. The Government themselves had in three successive years proposed to abolish it. The only reason that it existed appeared to be the difficulty of dealing with the question of drawback. If, as the Honourable gentleman (Mr. Slagg) stated, £100,000 could settle this matter, the Chancellor of the Exchequer would, be thought, be delighted to settle it on those terms."

* Now, Sir, the Honourable and learned gentleman has become Under-Secretary of State for India. I hope he will exercise his benign influence in the direction indicated by him in 1884. I know that £100,000 may not cover, perhaps, the whole amount of drawback that would have to be allowed. This drawback is, in fact, a refund of the duty which would have to be allowed in the event of the duty being remitted. Otherwise, the unsold silver which had paid duty would be placed at a disadvantage in competition with the silver which, by the remission of duty, would be excused from payment. Still, the drawback would not be allowed to every holder, nor to all silver; but only to silver duty-paid and unsold at the time in the stores of the silver merchants. On this point, in May 1884, the Honourable Member for Bodmin (Mr. Courtney), of whom I desire to speak with special respect in your presence, and who was then Secretary to the Treasury, made a useful suggestion, which I will quote, to the effect—

“That some understanding should be arrived at with the big dealers in gold and silver plate as to the terms on which their claims for drawback could reasonably be met.”

Sir, I am sure that in that way the question may be arranged with great satisfaction to the importers, and with justice to the claims of India, for which four main reasons may, in brief, be adduced. First, this silver work is a manufacture of extraordinary beauty, which, if unfettered, may attain great popularity in England. Secondly, the trade between India and England has, on the one hand, stimulated the exportation of raw produce, but has extinguished many of the ancient Indian manufactures. I cannot complain of this process of trade and industry; but I urge it as a reason why we should maintain, so far as we fairly can, those characteristic and interesting manufactures which still remain. Thirdly, India has been generous to British interests in remitting all duties on the importation of British manufactures. And, fourthly, this Indian silver work does not compete with any articles manufactured in England; but if allowed a fair field, without any fiscal burden, it will make its way in England, and hold its own there.

Mr. Goschen.—In reply to my Honourable friend behind me (Sir Richard Temple), I may say that two days ago, if he had raised this question, I should have told him that I was going to deal with the matter in my Budget, and that I was going to make a proposal which I thought was favourable to the introduction of Indian silver into this country. At the last moment, however, a difficulty arose which prevented me from doing so. If I should see my way to deal with the subject, I will certainly do so.

The case therefore now stands, with two modifications, where it stood at the end of 1880. These two modifications are—

- (1) that when small silver articles are sent as presents by private persons in India to their relations and friends in England through the overland parcels post, it is no longer necessary that the addressee should make a formal declaration before a magistrate, a declaration from the Agent of the P. & O. Company being accepted;
- (2) that when silver articles are sent for sale in England, they may be returned to India if found below English standard, whereas before 1883 they were destroyed.

It is obvious that these modifications have not had the least effect in permitting free trade in silverware between India and England: the trade is practically prohibited.

It has only to be added that at the present price of silver the duty on imported silverware represents a tax of about 40 per centum ad valorem on the metal employed in the wares; that the whole revenue from the gold and silver duties was last year only £67,313; and that it appears from the reports of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue that these duties show a declining tendency.

No. 11 (Statistics and Commerce), dated 9th February, 1888.

From—The Secretary of State for India,

To—The Government of India.

With reference to your letter dated 2nd July, 1887, No. 174 (Finance and Commerce), I forward herewith a copy of a letter to the Treasury, dated 19th August, 1887, and of the reply thereto, on the subject of the English duties on Indian plate.

2. I shall be glad to hear what view Your Excellency takes of the several points brought forward in the letter of the Clerk to the Goldsmiths' Company.

Dated 19th August, 1887.

From—J. A. GODLEY, Esq., C.B., Under-Secretary of State for India,

To—The Secretary to Her Majesty's Treasury.

With reference to your letter dated 9th February, 1887, and previous correspondence, I am directed by the Secretary of State for India in Council to forward herewith a copy of a letter from the Government of India, and enclosure, urging again the abolition of the English duties on plate and of the system of compulsory hall-marking.

I am to add that Lord Cross entirely agrees with the views entertained, and now again so forcibly stated, by the Government of India; and that he trusts that this question will now be taken into the serious consideration of the Lords of the Treasury.

Dated 7th January, 1888.

From—G. L. RYDER, Esq., Her Majesty's Treasury,
To—The Under-Secretary of State for India.

The Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury have given their best attention to your letter of the 19th August last, with its enclosures, relative to the English duties on plate and the system of compulsory hall-marking in connection with the importation of Indian silver plate into this country, and they have been furnished with an expression of the views of the Clerk to the Goldsmiths' Company on the third paragraph of the memorandum of the Indian Government.

A copy of Mr. Prideaux's letter is herewith enclosed for the information of the Secretary of State for India in Council. He will observe from that letter that the authorities on hall-marking in this country dispute the accuracy of the contention of the Indian Government as to the disadvantage at which the Indian silversmith is placed as compared with the British silversmith.

On the general question of the plate duties, I am to request you to inform Lord Cross that my Lords have further and carefully considered it; and that, though the views of the Indian Government, in which the Secretary of State concurs, will continue to be borne in mind by this Board, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, as at present advised, is not prepared to commit himself to a proposal for altering the duties.

Dated 23rd September, 1887.

From—WALTER S. PRIDEAUX, Esq.,
To—T. N. CRAFER, Esq.

I have your letter of the 21st instant, with the accompanying papers, and I have, as you requested, directed my attention to paragraph 3 of the letter from the Government of India.

In the first place, I would remark that the statement that the point particularly referred to in this paragraph has hitherto escaped the attention of those interested "in the trade" is inaccurate, for there was a good deal of evidence upon this point given before the Select Committee on Gold and Silver Hall-marking in 1878.

It is not the case that the English manufacturer is protected to the extent of the whole allowance of one-sixth. The amount of profit which the manufacturer makes varies, no doubt, in the case of different articles, but I think that I cannot do better than refer you to the answer given by Mr. Garrard to questions 886 and 887 in the evidence given before the Select Committee above mentioned.

In the first answer, Mr. Garrard shows, as I think, conclusively that in the case of certain articles which he mentions, the profit is less than a penny per ounce; and in the second answer, he gives one good reason why it has always been understood and intended that the British manufacturer should make a small profit.

In point of fact, while the English manufacturer has to pay duty upon the unfinished article, which duty he may very possibly not be recouped for several years, the Indian importer is not asked to pay the duty until his wares are ready for marking, and presumably on the point of being sold.

I may also point out that the Indian importer is protected against the English manufacturer in two particulars: (1) If his work is found to be below the standard, he may have his packet sent back to him without damage, while the work of the English manufacturer would be at once broken up; and (2) in the case of wares falling within the definition laid down in the Revenue Act, 1884, such wares may be exempted from the necessity of being marked.

Although it is telling a thrice told tale, I may perhaps remark that we have had plate from both India and Burma which has easily passed the British standard, and that in the case of Indian work which we have been obliged to condemn, such work has not approached even the rupee standard. This cuts the ground from the statement contained in the last two lines of paragraph 2.

The memoranda and letters which passed between the Chancellor of the Exchequer and myself in 1884 are, of course, within the recollection of, and accessible to, the Government.

I return you the papers, and shall be very glad to give you any further information or help in my power.

No. 103, dated 24th April, 1888.

From—The Government of India,

To—The Secretary of State for India.

We have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of Your Lordship's Despatch of the 9th February, 1888, No. 11 (Statistics and Commerce), from which we learn with regret that the Treasury does not propose to take any action in the matter of the English duties on Indian silver goods.

2. Your Lordship desires to know our views on the remarks made by the Clerk to the Goldsmiths' Company in his letter enclosed in the despatch.

These remarks are in substance as follows:—

(1) It is not accurate to say that the question of rebate has escaped the attention of those interested in the trade.

(2) It is not the case that the English manufacturer is protected to the whole extent of the rebate; on some articles his profit is less than a penny an ounce; and it has always been understood and intended that he should have a profit, because he pays duty on an unfinished article on which the duty may possibly not be recouped for "several years;" the Indian importer, on the other hand, does not pay duty until his goods are ready for marking, and "presumably on the point of being sold."

(3) The Indian importer is protected against the English manufacturer in two ways:—(a) his work, if below standard, is sent back, while that of the English maker is broken up; and (b) some of his wares are exempted from the necessity of being marked.

(4) Some work from India has easily passed the standard, while other work which has been condemned was below even the rupee standard.

3. As regards the first of these remarks, we beg to point out that we have treated this case all through on behalf of Indian traders alone, and it was to them that reference was made, when it was stated that the matter seemed to have escaped attention, for in none of the memorials and letters addressed to us has it been noticed. The evidence before the Select Committee on the subject has no bearing on the effect of the rebate on competition between the Indian and English manufacturer.

4. As regards the second, we are aware that the whole sum of 3*d.* is not claimed as clear profit in all cases. The remarks of Her Majesty's Commissioners of Inland Revenue on this point were quoted from their 28th Report.

But if it is implied that because on some articles the profit is less than a penny an ounce, that profit is what is ordinarily derived from the rebate, we desire to point out that the articles in question belong to what is known as "flat" ware, that is, waiters, trays, and plates; that such articles were admitted in the evidence referred to to be falling out of use in England; and that, as a fact, such articles are not now made to any extent in India, any more than in England, of silver. Indian artware of that description is made of brass, copper, and other metals, not of silver. Our silver plate is of the kind in which the English manufacturer finds a large profit by reason of the rebate.

The remark that there is a good reason why the English manufacturer should get a large rebate which should not be given to the Indian importer rests on an assumption for which there is no ground. There is no reason to suppose that when Indian ware is imported, it is "on the point of being sold." It is in fact, except when made to order, in no better a position than English silver. The English maker sends his silver to be marked, and pays the duty just before he proposes to finish it off and expose it for sale. The Indian manufacturer sends his goods to England for the same purpose of exhibition for sale, and there is no reason of which we are aware why an Indian article should be sold sooner after arrival than an English article after it has paid the duty.

5. As regards the third point, there seems to be in the first clause a misconception of the effect of the treatment of Indian silver. So far as the English manufacturer is concerned, the protection to him is precisely the same, whether Indian wares are broken up or whether they are merely returned to the place whence they came. In either case they cannot be sold at all in England, and the English manufacturer retains his monopoly while he makes his wares of silver of the English standard, for the Indian manufacturer of wares made of silver of the Indian standard is not allowed to compete.

As regards the second clause, we desire to say that we are aware of the concession which allows the exemption from marking of certain imported goods; but, though the goods need not be marked, they are liable to the full duty of 18*d.*, while the English manufacturer gets a rebate on the same class.

6. As regards the fourth remark, we have to say that it is irrelevant. We are aware that some Indian ware imported into England has been stated to be of silver below the rupee standard, and we have made no representation in regard to such silver. We have stated that our case applies to silver of rupee standard and English standard. If of the former, it is not allowed admission into the English market at all; if of the latter, it has to pay the full 18*d.*, while English competing goods get the rebate. No answer is given to these statements except to say that the whole of the rebate is not clear profit. The rebate is not defensible even when only one-third of it is clear profit, but it is certain that in nearly all cases two-thirds of it, and perhaps more, are clear profit, and English silver is protected against Indian to the extent at least of 2*d.* in the ounce.

7. We regret greatly to learn that the Treasury does not propose to take any action on our representations. In the earlier stages of this correspondence, we were informed that there was a difficulty in connection with drawbacks. When we pointed out that such a consideration should not interfere with the proper treatment of the case, we were informed that financial difficulties stood in the way. When the financial difficulties had disappeared, we were told that a legal difficulty (the nature of which has not been mentioned) had arisen. In the enclosure of Your Lordship's present letter, we are informed, without any reason being assigned, that the Chancellor of the Exchequer is not prepared to alter the duties. We venture to represent to Your Lordship that the tone of the letter from the Goldsmiths' Company and the decision thereon of the Treasury cannot but create an impression that the present system is maintained solely in the interests of that Company and those whom it represents; and we would urge that India,* which has given up nearly a million of cotton duties on the ground that they protected native industry against English, has some claim upon England for reciprocity on its part in permitting free competition between foreign and native manufacturers.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending the 21st May, 1888.

The usual Meteorological summary is this week supplemented by a statement of the district rainfall throughout India.

This statement will appear weekly during the monsoon of 1888.

Perhaps the principal feature of the Meteorology of the past week has been the large pressure differences existing over India, and the results which have flowed from this distribution.

On the 15th the barometer was highest over the south of the Bay and lowest over the Upper Indus Valley, but the pressure was rising briskly on the West Coast and in Ceylon; and on the 16th the area of greatest pressure was transferred to that neighbourhood. At the same time the lowest barometer was reported from the Central Punjab, and this distribution, with an average difference of 0.460 inch, lasted until the 20th. On the 21st the barometer rose briskly over Northern India and fell over the Peninsula, so that the barometric differences decreased quickly, though the general distribution did not change much. In addition to the low pressure area over the Punjab, there has been a continuous depression of the barometer over Chutia Nagpur and part of Bengal and the North-Western Provinces. The influence of this secondary depression was chiefly manifested in drawing the winds over the head of the Bay and over Bengal more towards south-east, and in occasioning some increase to their strength. There has been during the whole week a strong indraught of air from the seas adjacent to India into the Indian region. Both on the east and west sides of India the wind has blown strongly. On the West Coast the direction was generally from between west and west-south-west, and at the head of the Bay from south and south-south-east. Over Rajputana, Central India, the Central Provinces, the Deccan, and Guzerat unusually strong and hot westerly winds have prevailed, but in Upper India calms and light variable airs have been very frequently reported.

Temperature rose generally between the 15th and 17th, fell on the 18th, and rose again between the 19th and the close of the week. The maxima have been high on all days of the week, except the 18th, when only two stations reported temperatures exceeding 110°. On the other days the following were the highest maxima according to date:

15th	116° at Jacobabad.
16th	117° at Jacobabad.
17th	116° at Ludhiana and Jacobabad.
19th	112° at Cuttack.
20th	113° at Cuttack.
21st	116° at Jacobabad.

In nearly all parts of North-Western India the maxima as a rule exceeded 110°.

The winds on the morning of the 15th showed no particular features. On the 16th they were increasing both at Colombo and Diamond Island, and south-west winds were probably prevailing over the whole of the south of the Bay. The Chart of the following day showed no further increase of strength, but on the 18th there occurred a rise on the Bombay Coast, which penetrated far inland. These strong winds continued on the 19th and 20th. On the 21st the strength of the wind rose in Ceylon, and reached normal monsoon force. These pulsations in the force of the wind in the Bay and on the West Coast are probably attributable to intermittent advances of the south-west monsoon current. This assumption is borne out by the rainfall of the past week, all the more southern parts of the Indian region having received heavy, in some places exceptionally heavy, rain.

At Moulmein and Amherst the week's fall exceeded 16 inches; and though the amount of rain decreased rapidly inland, yet over the greater part of Burmah there were fair rains. In Assam there was general excess, the only important exception being the Sylhet district, where the fall was deficient. Chittagong and East Bengal, like Assam and Burmah, received abundant rain, but in other parts of Bengal the normal weekly amount was not received. The Orissa rainfall, though on the whole deficient, was not largely so; but in Chutia Nagpur and Behar, except at Monghyr, Bhagulpur, Darbhanga, and Mozufferpore, any rain which fell was very slight.

In the North-Western Provinces the rainfall at this season is always slight, but during the week under review even this small average was not reached, and in very many districts no rain whatever fell. At Sidhauri in the Sitapur district, however, there occurred a heavy shower. In the Punjab about the normal, or indeed rather more than the normal, amount of rain fell in the south-eastern districts and at Amritsar and Gurdaspur; but elsewhere throughout the Province the week was practically rainless. The Bombay Presidency had less than the usual amount of rain, and over the Surat, Broach, and Ahmedabad districts, and from that region northward to Cutch and Kattiawar, there was no rain.

The Central Provinces had only slight and scattered showers of little importance, and the Berars, Rajputana, Central India, and Sind were rainless. Madras received general rain, and on the whole more than the average, though there was slight deficiency at some eastern and southern districts. Heavy falls of rain occurred in parts of the Vizagapatam, Kistna, Anantapur, and several of the southern districts.

STATE

1992

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 19th May, 1888.—Good rain everywhere; but more wanted in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Chingleput, Trichinopoly, Madura, Tinnevely, Coimbatore, and Salem. Crops generally good; affected by want of rain or by blight in a very few places. Pasture generally sufficient, but scanty in Vizagapatam and in parts of Anantapur and Madura, and insufficient in parts of Cuddapah and Salem. No material fluctuations in prices. General prospects favourable.

Bombay.—For week ending 23rd May, 1888.—Rain in parts of Hyderabad, Nasik, Ratnagiri, Sholapur, Bijapur, Belgaum, Dharwar, and Kanara. Cotton-picking progressing in parts of Kaira. Harvesting of late crops continues in Hyderabad. Ploughing for next season progressing generally. Fodder scarce in parts of Thana, Surat, Ratnagiri, Dharwar, and Kathiawar.

Bengal.—For week ending 22nd May, 1888.—Fairly general rain has fallen in Bengal, Orissa, and parts of Behar, while Chota Nagpur has been practically rainless. More rain is wanted throughout Orissa and Chota Nagpur and in some of the West Bengal districts. Ploughing is in progress. Early rice and jute are being sown, and are coming up well. Prospects of sugarcane, indigo, and ~~cheena~~ are favourable. Spring rice harvest is almost complete, with good fortnight.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 23rd May, 1888.—Weather hot and cloudy, with slight falls of rain in a few districts. Sugarcane and extra crops being irrigated. Markets well supplied. The general condition of cattle is satisfactory.

Punjab.—For week ending 23rd May, 1888.—Rain has fallen at Hissar, Delhi, Ferozepore, and Rawalpindi. The fall in prices is beginning to slacken,—a fall is reported from two districts only; in others the prices are stationary. Harvesting and threshing of rabi crops in progress. Kharif ploughings, sugarcane weedings, and cotton sowings are going on. Rabi prospects and out-turn are reported good. No damage done to crops. Stock cattle are reported generally healthy. Fodder generally sufficient. Opium produce small in Rawalpindi. Poppy crops reaped at Peshawar.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 23rd May, 1888.—Weather hot and cloudy. Land being prepared for autumn sowings.

Burma.—For week ending 19th May, 1888.—The dry weather rice crop has generally been reaped in several districts. Ploughing for wet weather rice has commenced. Rain fell in all districts, but in Mandalay, Kyaukse, Yamethin, and Taungdwingyi districts of Upper Burma the rainfall was very slight. Grain is scarce in parts of Sandoway and Thayetmyo districts of Lower Burma. The price of grain had risen considerably in Sandoway district, and slightly in Moulmein, Upper Chindwin, and Shwebo districts, and has fallen in Rangoon, Pegu, Bassein, Taungdwingyi districts. Elsewhere the price of foodgrain is stationary.

Assam.—For week ending 23rd May, 1888.—Weather seasonable and prospects of crops good everywhere in the Province, except in Sibsagar, where somewhat unfavourable for tea. Potatoes being gathered in Khassia Hills.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 23rd May, 1888.—There has been some rain in the civil and military station. Rainfall general and good in the Tumkur district. Standing crops in good condition, except in parts of the Mysore district, where they need more rain. Outturn of harvests favourable. Condition of cattle generally good.

There has been a good rainfall in South Coorg.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 23rd May, 1888.—Weather hot and cloudy. Threshing and winnowing of rabi crops completed. Land being prepared for kharij sowings. Scarcity of fodder in the Amraoti district. Prices stationary.

Some rain during the week in Hyderabad. Prospects fair. Prices stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 23rd May, 1888.—No change has taken place since the last report, except in the prices of foodgrains which are reported stationary in Baghelkand, Western Malwa, Bhopawar, and Neemuch.

Rajputana.—For week ending 23rd May, 1888.—Agricultural operations about to commence. No crops standing at present. Harvests and agricultural stock good generally. Pasturage or fodder sufficient. Prices steady generally, and rising slightly at places.

Nepal.—For week ending 17th May, 1888.—Slight rain. Weather cloudy. Harvesting of wheat commenced in the valley.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.

OBSERVATIONS ON AN ARTICLE IN THE "ECONOMIST" OF THE 21st APRIL ON THE INDIAN FINANCE ACCOUNTS.

No. 140, dated 26th May, 1888.

From—The Government of India,

To—The Secretary of State for India.

Our attention has been directed to an article in the Economist of April 21st, which, we observe, was specially brought to the notice of the House of Commons, and which challenges the correctness of the estimates and accounts which we submit to that House. The main part of this article is as follows:

Is the Indian Government capable of rendering accurate accounts of its income and expenditure? This may seem an absurd question, but no one can watch the series of transformations through which the accounts for the year 1886-87 have been made to pass without feeling that it is a question that ought to be put and answered..... It is too much to expect that a Government should possess the gift of prophecy, but surely not too much to ask that it shall keep and render an accurate account of its financial operations. This, however, is what the Indian Government appears unable to do. Take, for instance, the accounts for the year 1886-87. Towards the end of March 1887, that Government rendered a statement of the revenue and expenditure of the year then closing. In the following July, it issued, through the Home Government, a different statement. A few days later, another set of figures, bringing out quite a different result; and now we are given what is called a definitive account, which differs from all the others that have preceded it. That the character of these successive changes may be the better understood, we set them out in tabular form:

Income and Expenditure in the year 1886-87.
	As stated by Sir A. Colvin on March 20th, 1887.	As stated by Sir John Gore			As shown in Definitive Accounts, March 1888.
		On July 29th, 1887.	On August 10th, 1887.	On September 10th, 1887.
	£	£	£	£	£
Revenue ...	76,071,700	76,081,200	76,761,200	77,337,000
Expenditure	76,071,200	76,021,200	76,119,200	77,159,000
Surplus...	500	60,000	642,000	178,000

How is it that five months after that date they submit to Parliament accounts which understate revenue and expenditure by half-a-million and a million respectively? There is obviously something very far wrong with a system which produces such results as these, and, until it is altered, it is evident that all Indian Budgets must be received with very considerable reserve..... What has still to be explained is, how, six months after the close of the financial year, the Indian Government cannot state within many hundred thousand pounds what its receipts and outgoings have amounted to. This is a point of vital importance, upon which light has still to be thrown, and we trust some inquiry will be made in the House with regard to it.

2. It will be seen that the whole of these conclusions are based upon the four comparative statements of account with which the writer of the article starts, and mainly upon the third one.

3. The Under-Secretary of State correctly explained to the House of Commons on April 27th that the allegations of the writer were founded upon misapprehensions of his own; but at the risk of repeating facts already familiar to Your Lordship, we consider it desirable that the subject should be explained at greater length than is suitable to a reply given to a question in the House, as the attention of the public press both in India and elsewhere has not unnaturally been called to an attack upon our account system emanating from an authority which is distinguished for the ability and justice of its criticism on financial matters other than those relating to India.

4. The first of the writer's four statements of figures is correct—that is, the figures correctly represent the "Revised Estimates" attached to the Financial Statement of March 26th, 1887.

5. The second statement is completely misunderstood by the writer. The figures in question have no immediate connection with July 29th, except that Sir John Gorst on that date printed certain explanations relating to them. They are the figures of the "latest estimate of receipts and disbursements at home and abroad for the last financial year" presented to Parliament every year in accordance with Section 53 of 21 & 22 Vic., Cap. 106. They are accordingly the figures of the House of Commons Return No. 179 of 1887, bearing date June 7th, 1887.

The Secretary of State, when giving to the Government of India the Home figures for our Revised Estimates (which he does annually about March 8th or 9th), has necessarily still to estimate the outgoings of March. Being bound by statute to give to Parliament in May the "latest estimate," he has to correct the figures already sent out to India by examining the actual transactions at the India Office during March. Accordingly the "latest estimate" given to Parliament always differs on this account to some small extent from the Revised Estimates published with the Financial Statement in India.

The difference of £60,000 in the year 1886-87 was due for the most part to the change, from March 25th to April 1st, of the date of certain quarterly payments at the India Office.

6. For the third set of figures, on which chiefly the conclusions of the article are based, the writer unfortunately committed two serious mistakes in making them up. The figures agree with nothing that has been published either by the Government of India or by the Secretary of State.

Sir John Gorst stated that since the date of our figures (since March 26th, 1887), the following changes had been made :

- (1) The revenue was better by Rx. 1,100,000 (of which Rx. 680,000 was Imperial and the rest Provincial).
- (2) The surplus was now estimated at Rx. 642,000, against which, however, he would charge the Special Defence Works Rx. 295,000, reducing the amount therefore to Rx. 347,000.

(The passages were quoted on pages 4 and 6 of the last Financial Statement.)

This would accordingly give as the new estimate—

			Rx.
Revenue, Rx. 76,081,200, plus Rx. 1,100,000	77,181,200
Expenditure	76,834,200
Surplus as above	347,000

The writer of the article, being apparently unaware that our accounts contain both Imperial and Provincial Revenues, added to the Rx. 76,081,200 only the additional Imperial Revenue of Rx. 680,000, and worked up to a surplus of Rx. 642,000 instead of Rx. 347,000.

Moreover, it was shewn in the last Financial Statement that, though the House of Commons did not reach its annual Indian debate till September 10th, the state of the accounts then officially announced to it was practically known to the Government in India in the month of April, and published in the Gazette of India of April 30th.

7. The fourth set of figures published by the writer is correctly taken from the statements attached to the last Financial Statement.

8. The following, therefore, are the four sets of figures as they would be set forth by a person conversant with the facts :

	REVISED ESTIMATES.		FINAL OUTTURN.
	India, 26th March 1887.	House of Commons, 7th June 1887.	According to information mainly published in India in April 1887.	As by the accounts finally made up.
	Rx.	Rx.	Rx.	Rx.
Revenue ...	76,071,700	76,081,200	77,181,200	77,837,000
Expenditure ...	76,071,200	76,021,200	76,834,200	77,159,000
Surplus ...	500	60,000	347,000	178,000

9. It is obvious that the conclusion to be drawn from these figures is not that "six months after the close of the financial year, the Indian Government cannot state within many hundred thousand pounds what its receipts and outgoings have amounted to"; but that, within a few weeks of the close of the year, the Government of India knows its receipts and outgoings within about $\frac{2}{1,000}$ ths on one side, and about $\frac{4}{1,000}$ ths on the other. The reason for our not being able to state them with greater accuracy before the close of the year was fully explained in the last Financial Statement.

10. It no doubt takes a long time to finally make up our accounts for the year, as, before doing so, we have to collect, examine, and settle accounts collected over 53° of longitude and 27° of latitude from about—

200 Treasuries and 800 Sub-treasuries,
 300 Public Works Disbursing Officers,
 40 Railways,
 200 District Boards, and some others:

These accounts contain all sorts of cross transactions and debt and remittance and advance and store accounts, the settlement and adjustment of which is the main part of the operation of closing the year's accounts. But the fact that we are able to state the probable outturn of the year with such accuracy, within a month or six weeks of its close, is a wonderful testimony to the perfectness of the methods which we now employ in collecting early information. That we cannot further improve these methods we are far from saying, and we act on no such theory; but we can at all events claim that our account officers have succeeded in performing a feat of accounting to which no other account department in the world can shew a parallel.

TOTAL MINOR WORKS			6,885	27,50,644
GRAND TOTAL			19,09,628	7,70,59,223

Of the outlay during the year on Productive Public Works, about R 13,00,000 were spent on the construction of the new Nadrai Aqueduct on the Lower Ganges Canal. Capital expenditure on the Betwa Canal, a Protective Public Work, is now confined to the completion of the distributary system.

2. The actual financial results of the year on the works in operation were as follows:—

	Gross Revenue.	Charges against Revenue.	Net Revenue.	Percentage of net Revenue on total Capital Outlay to end of the year.
	R	R	R
Productive Public Works { Direct Indirect }	45,77,942 8,72,376	22,78,350	31,71,968	4.51
Protective Public Works { Direct Indirect }	20,700 Nil	76,348	—55,648	Nil
Minor Works { Direct Indirect }	1,61,311 84,779	2,09,398	36,692	1.48
TOTAL	57,17,108	25,64,096	31,53,012	4.10

The productive and protective works taken together shew up to the end of 1886-87 a surplus profit of R 56,10,242; that is, this sum is the difference between the net revenue of the works and simple interest at 4 per cent. on the capital invested. The corresponding figure for the productive works alone is R 62,38,573. This surplus is mainly due to the returns from the Eastern Jumna Canal, which give a clear profit of nearly 120 lakhs. On the Upper Ganges and Agra Canals, the charges for interest are still in excess of the net revenue; but the net revenue of the Lower Ganges Canal has slightly exceeded the interest charges.

3. The following table shews the assessed revenue of the year, including share of land revenue, compared with that of the three previous years:—

	1886-87.	1885-86.	1884-85.	1883-84.

TOTAL	51,40,970	60,33,016	56,56,877	72,50,736

The assessed revenue is considerably below the average of the preceding years, and is the smallest which has been recorded since 1879-80 when it amounted to Rs. 46,92,483. The direct assessment (excluding the portion of the Land Revenue due to irrigation) was Rs. 37,26,528 in that year, against Rs. 41,83,815 now. At that time the capital expenditure on the works was about three-fourths of its present amount, and irrigation was less developed than at present. The abnormally small revenue of the year under review is due to the fact that the irrigated area was largely reduced, both in the kharif and rabi seasons, by the very favourable rainfall of the year.

4. The irrigated area which formed the basis of the above assessments is given in the first column of the following statement :—

	1886-87.	1885-86.	1884-85.	1883-84.
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.

The year 1883-84 was an exceptional one owing to deficient rainfall, but the area irrigated in the year under review is smaller than that of any year since 1876-77, when 1,239,884 acres were watered; at that time the Lower Ganges Canal was not in operation, and the Agra Canal had only been opened one year. The area irrigated on the Upper Ganges Canal, 574,440 acres, is less than that of any year since 1867-68, when 533,456 acres only were irrigated; it is more than thirty-five per cent. below the average of the previous ten years. The percentage of double-cropped area decreased from 18.24 in 1885-86 to 14.31 in 1886-87.

5. Wheat is the most important crop in the North-Western Provinces as it is in the Punjab. The proportion of the irrigated area under wheat is almost the same in both provinces, being rather more than one third of the total. The area irrigated in the North Western Provinces in 1886-87 was 495,370 acres valued at 183 lakhs of rupees; the next most important crop, both in area and in value, is the sugarcane, of which 168,452 acres valued at 111 lakhs were irrigated. The gross value of the irrigated crops of the year was estimated at 444 lakhs of rupees.

6. The duty of the water entering the canals was lower than in previous years, a result which might be anticipated in a year of favourable rainfall. The highest duties were those obtained on the Eastern Jumna Canal, 92 acres per cubic foot in the kharif and 125 acres in the rabi.

7. The working expenses of the year are the largest that have been recorded in the North-Western Provinces; under the head of Major Works they shew an increase over those of the previous year of about three-quarters of a lakh of rupees. This increase is mainly due to the cost of maintaining the Betwa Canal which appears for the first time in any magnitude in the accounts. The following statement compares the working expenses of the year under review with that of the three previous years :—

	1886-87.	1885-86.	1884-85.	1883-84.

Per acre irrigated	1.88	1.45	1.56	0.97

The increase in the working expenses of the Minor Works during the last two years is due to extensions and improvements in connection with the Kicha Weir and River training works of the Rohilkhand canals: it is said that these extensions are completed, and there will be a large decrease of expenditure under this head in future.

8. The navigable canals in the North-Western Provinces consist of portions of the Upper and Lower Ganges Canal and of the Agra Canal: the gross receipts during the year were 31,555 and the working expenses 41,450. Both receipts and expenses are slightly higher than those of the previous year. No explanation is given of the heavy charges under the head of Establishment; it is hoped that one result of the reorganization alluded to in paragraph 95 of the Chief Engineer's review will be a reduction in the cost of special supervising establishment, the necessity for which is not apparent. There is a considerable increase in profits on the Agra Canal due in a great measure to the opening of through traffic with Delhi and the Western Jumna Canal.

9. The revenue realised from water-power on all the canals was R89,361: this is nearly thirty per cent. in excess of the average of the previous three years; the increase is due to enhancement of rates obtained for the use of the water. The assessments had, however, fallen off in the year under review. There was a satisfactory increase in the revenue from plantations.

10. The outstanding balances of uncollected revenue at the end of the year were R14,475 for occupier's rate and R1,104 for owner's rate.

11. The year was, on the whole, an unfavourable one for the Irrigation systems of the North-Western Provinces. The increasing capital expenditure led to increased charges for interest; the Betwa Canal caused a considerable increase in the working expenses, whilst the revenue was reduced by a large falling off in irrigation which was only compensated to a small extent by an increase in the other sub-heads of revenue. It is not surprising that, under these circumstances, the net profits of the year, as gauged on the basis of assessments, were the smallest for the last ten years.

ORDER.—Ordered, that a copy of this Resolution and of the Report and Resolution by the Local Government be forwarded to the Secretary of State and to the Finance and Commerce and Revenue and Agricultural Departments of the Government of India, for information.

Also, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Government of The Governments of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, and the Punjab.

RESOLUTION—By His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, North-Western Provinces, and Chief Commissioner, Oudh.

Read—

Irrigation Revenue Report of the North-Western Provinces for the year ending 31st March 1887, by the Chief Engineer, Irrigation Works, North-Western Provinces and Oudh.

CAPITAL OUTLAY.

RESOLUTION.—The total outlay on the Capital account of Canals in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh for and to the end of 1886-87 is shewn below :—

	CANAL.	OUTLAY ON CONSTRUCTION UNDER ALL HEADS
		During 1886-87.	To end of 1886-87.

	GRAND TOTAL	19,09,628	7,70,59,223

The total Capital expenditure of ₹19,09,628 was ₹3,31,191 more than in 1885-86. Owing to the construction of the new Nadrai Aqueduct, the Lower Ganges Canal shews an increased expenditure of ₹6,99,994; but on the Betwa Canal there was a decrease of ₹4,27,534, due to the completion of works. On the Agra Canal there was an increase of ₹71,930, of which the greater part was incurred in extending and completing the distributary system.

ASSESSMENTS.

2. The gross assessments of the year amounted to ₹51,40,970, and the working expenses were ₹25,64,096. The net revenue was, therefore, ₹25,76,874, or 3.34 per cent. on the total direct and indirect capital of ₹7,70,59,223. Excluding, however, the Betwa Canal, a "Protective work," the return is 3.60 per cent., as against 4.95 per cent. in the previous year.

The interest charge on the capital amounted to ₹27,41,369, deducting which amount from the net revenue, the assessments shew a deficit of ₹1,64,495 against a profit of ₹8,69,419 in the previous year; but excluding the Betwa Canal, the net revenue amounts to ₹26,30,065, the interest charge to ₹25,91,072, and there is a surplus of ₹38,993.

INTEREST CHARGES.

3. The total interest charges on "Productive" and "Protective" works to the end of the year amounted to ₹5,03,53,465, and the total net revenue realized to ₹5,70,70,896; thus leaving a clear surplus of ₹67,17,431, or ₹72,87,978 if the interest charges on the Betwa Canal be excluded.

REALIZATIONS.

4. The actual income realized from all sources during the year was ₹57,17,108. After paying all expenses, including all interest charges, the net revenue was ₹4,11,643 against ₹2,97,071 in 1885-86. Excluding the Betwa Canal, the gross income was ₹56,96,408, the total charges ₹50,78,820, and the net revenue ₹6,17,588.

WORKING EXPENSES.

5. The working expenses under all heads, direct and indirect, amounted to ₹25,64,096, or ₹75,703 more than in the previous year. The increase is due to the revenue charges on the Betwa Canal, ₹74,212, appearing in the accounts for the first time; also to an increase of ₹60,000 in the amount of the write-back on account of the old Nadrai Aqueduct. Under Establishment there is a decrease of ₹75,238, due partly to the increased capital expenditure of the year and partly to a reduction in the actual number of Engineers and Subordinates employed.

The percentage of working expenses to assessments on the four Productive Works is shewn in the statement below:—

YEAR.	UPPER GANGES CANAL.		LOWER GANGES CANAL.		AGRA CANAL.		EASTERN JUMNA CANAL.
	Assessment.	Percentage.	R		R	Percentage.	Assessment.	Percentage.
	R						R
1882-83.	24,42,835	36.03	15,36,089	43.73	5,82,424	39.38	8,16,577	25.89
1883-84.	28,40,019	32.48	16,81,420	41.42	8,13,712	31.00	8,21,088	25.61
1884-85.	21,04,551	47.11	14,04,856	62.42	4,51,040	62.35	6,02,811	34.33
1885-86.	23,05,116	40.12	12,47,323	70.27	6,63,655	42.11	7,04,507	27.84
1886-87.	18,84,846	48.63	9,81,794	85.66	4,76,057	62.98	6,86,029	32.17

Owing to the falling off in receipts, the percentages naturally shew an increase in every case; and for the same reason the cost of measuring irrigation and preparing demand statements rose during the year from ₹2.06 to ₹2.58 per 100 acres.

The cost incurred by the Civil Department in collecting the water-rate was ₹1,20,915, or 3.00 per cent. on the gross collections, as against 3.13 per cent. in 1885-86.

MILEAGE OF CANALS, &c.

6. The subjoined statement shews that 9,684 miles of channels were maintained :—

CANAL.	Main canal and branches.	Navigation channels.	Escapes and mill channels.	Distributaries.	Drainage cuts.	TOTAL.
	Miles.	Miles.	Miles.	Miles.	Miles.	Miles.

TOTAL	1,428	44	179	6,462	1,571	9,684

There was an increase during the year of 219 miles of distributaries and 13 miles of drainage cuts.

IRRIGATED AREA.

7. The following table gives the area of "kharif" and "rabi" crops for 1886-87 and the previous five years :—

	Kharif.		Rabi.	TOTAL.	PERCENTAGE.
	April to September.	October to March.		Acres.	Kharif.	Rabi.
1881-82	706,025	1,209,924		1,915,949	36.85	63.15
1882-83	740,390	1,233,785		1,974,175	37.50	62.50
1883-84	825,747	1,471,927		2,297,674	35.94	64.06
1884-85	773,603	843,701		1,617,304	47.83	52.16
1885-86	702,259	1,007,417		1,709,676	41.08	58.92
1886-87	541,821	821,994		1,363,815	39.73	60.27

During the "kharif" season the rainfall was again above the average, and was most favourable and well-distributed. The area irrigated therefore decreased and was 160,438 acres, less than in the previous "kharif."

The rabi season was also an exceptionally favourable one. General rain in October admitted of the crops being sown without the aid of canal water. A demand sprung up in December, but it ceased entirely with the copious and general rainfall of January, and the result was a decrease in the irrigated area of 185,523 acres.

DOUBLE-CROPPED AREA.

8. The double-cropped area decreased by 116,733 acres, and the percentage has fallen from 18.24 to 14.31. The decrease is due chiefly to the smaller area of indigo that was sown.

9. The statement below compares the acreage of the principal crops during the last six years :—

CROP.		1881-82.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.

Indigo shows a falling off of 133,301 acres, due to the contraction of sowing operations which followed the serious losses incurred during the bad seasons of the previous two years.

The decreases in the other crops are owing to the nature of the season. Wheat, however, forms 60·3 per cent. of the whole rabi area, as against 54·7 per cent. in the previous year.

VILLAGES AND OUTLETS.

10. During the year 7,928 villages received water from 34,241 outlets in the distributaries of the five main canals.

VALUE OF CROPS.

11. The total value of crops raised with canal water was R4,44,17,015, as shewn in table below :—

YEAR.			Area irrigated.	Value of crop.	Occupier's rate.	Value of crop per acre.	Occupier's rate per acre.	Percentage on value of crops.
			Acres.	R	R	R	R

1886-87	.	.	1,363,815	4,44,17,015	35,31,976	32·56	2·58	7·95

RAINFALL.

12. The rainfall, although not so excessive as in the previous year, was considerably above the average and was very evenly distributed. In only four months of the year, viz., April, November, February, and March, was there no general fall recorded.

RIVER SUPPLIES.

13. The supplies in all rivers were more than sufficient to meet requirements.

IRRIGATING DUTY.

14. The irrigating duty and the value of each cubic foot of water are detail ed in the accompanying table :—

CANAL.	AREA IRRIGATED PER CUBIC FOOT OF WATER AT HEAD.					VALUE OF EACH CUBIC FOOT OF WATER AT OCCUPIER'S RATE.
	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.

MAINTENANCE CHARGES PER ACRE.

15. The maintenance charges per acre irrigated are given below :—

CANAL.	RUPEES.
	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.
Upper Ganges	1'03	0'91	1'45	1'25	1'60
Lower Ganges	1'11	1'06	1'64	1'89	2'34
Agra	1'47	1'02	2'20	1'58	2'46
Eastern Jumna	0'83	0'76	1'24	0'91	1'09

The small area irrigated accounts for the apparent increased charge per acre. The actual expenses on the Upper and Lower Ganges Canals were, respectively, ₹8,268 and ₹35,541 less than in the previous year; but on the Agra Canal there was an increase of ₹20,381, and on the Eastern Jumna Canal of ₹24,737.

NAVIGATION OPERATIONS.

16. The results of the year's operations under navigation are shewn below :—

CANAL.	1886-87.			1885-86.			1884-85.

TOTAL	31,555	41,450	9,895	25,700	37,245	11,545	24,481	37,138	12,657

On the Upper and Lower Ganges Canals there was a loss of ₹15,298, against a loss of ₹11,898 in the previous year. No material improvement can be expected until the new Nadrai Aqueduct is completed and constant running introduced on the Cawnpore Branch.

The Agra Canal shews a profit of ₹5,403 against a profit of ₹350 in 1885-86.

MINOR RECEIPTS.

17. The actual receipts realized from minor sources of income are exhibited below :—

	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.
	₹	₹	₹	₹
Plantations	1,47,040	1,49,502	1,60,657	1,75,542
Water-power	72,765	60,668	73,761	89,361
Miscellaneous	54,263	50,917	50,404	48,540

The increase under water-power is chiefly due to higher rates being obtained on account of mill leases.

SPRING-LEVEL OBSERVATIONS.

18. Spring-level observations continue to be carefully recorded. The results shew that, with some few exceptions the spring-level on the Upper and Lower Ganges Canals was, on the whole, lower than in the previous year, and there can be little doubt that a few years of average rainfall will bring it down to the level at which it stood before the exceptionally wet years of 1884 and 1885.

On the Agra Canal the diagrams shew that, on the average, there has been a slight rise. The rainfall along this canal, however, especially in the Agra district, has been very heavy during the last three years, and this in itself is quite sufficient to account for the rise which has taken place.

DRAINAGE WORKS.

19. The drainage works were not so severely strained as in the previous year, and acted well and efficiently.

PROFITS OF PRODUCTIVE WORKS.

20. The following statement summarizes and compares the net profits and the percentage on capital of the four productive works :—

YEAR.	UPPER GANGES.		LOWER GANGES.		AGRA.		EASTERN JUMNA.
	Net profit.	Percentage on capital.	Net profit.	Percentage on capital.	Net profit.	Percentage on capital.	Net profit.	Percentage on capital.

PROTECTIVE WORKS.

21. The year under review was the first in which irrigation was done during both seasons from the Betwa Canal.

The maintenance charges amounted to *R*76,348, whilst the income was *R*23,157, thus showing a deficit of *R*53,191.

The seasons were exceptionally favourable, as the monsoon commenced early and continued late. Good winter rain also fell over the whole country commanded by the canal, and the demand for irrigation was consequently very slack throughout the year.

MINOR WORKS.

22. On the Rohilkhand Canals there was a loss of *R*41,435 as compared with a loss of *R*35,929 in 1885-86.

On the Bijnor Canals the net profits were *R*11,454, against *R*15,478 in the previous year.

On the Dún Canals there was a net profit of *R*41,012, against *R*44,056 in 1885-86.

On the Bundelkhand Lakes there was a loss of *R*4,318, against a loss of *R*6,578 in 1885-86.

23. The net profits and the percentage on the total capital outlay from all the canals in the North-Western Provinces is compared with the results of the ten previous years in the following statement :—

YEAR.	Capital at end of each year.	Net profits.	Percentage on capital.

Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending 8 a.m. on the 28th May, 1888.

The district rainfall return for the present week is much more complete than that issued in the last Gazette, when the return was issued for the first time and the system was not in complete working order.

The table shows first the rainfall for each day of the week under review at the district officer's head-quarters and the total rainfall for the seven days. It also shows the average rainfall of the whole district of which the head-quarters office is the centre. This average is derived from the returns sent in by the subdivisional officers. The normal average of the district is also given approximately. These figures are not absolutely correct, as daily returns from all the districts are not available, and hence the normal average has been estimated by comparing the monthly averages of the various districts with the monthly averages of neighbouring districts, where the daily fall is known, and estimating the weekly fall accordingly. The final columns give the total rainfall in the various districts since the 14th of May up to the date of the return, the normal fall for the same period and the variation of the rainfall of the season under review from that normal.

During the present week the large pressure differences, which were so noticeable last week, have been considerably reduced, though the actual distribution of pressure as regards the relative positions of the areas of high and low pressure has not materially changed. On the 21st the barometer was rising briskly in the North and falling in the South. Pressure was high on the West Coast and over the south of the Bay, and low over Northern India. Within this low pressure area three barometric minima were shown:—one near Jacobabad, a second between Ludhiana and Sialkote, and a third over Chutia Nagpur, Orissa, and Behar. There was a good deal of indraught towards the depression over Chutia Nagpur, strong south-east winds blowing at the head of the Bay. In other parts of Northern India there was much irregular movement. Over Western and Central India strong westerly (north-west and south-west) winds were reported, and at Galle the wind was of average monsoon force. On the 22nd the barometer continued to rise in the North and to fall in the South, and hence gradients were still further diminished, and the winds less strong. The prevailing directions were the same as on the preceding day. On the 23rd the barometric changes were small, and beyond a further diminution in the pressure differences there was no important change. The winds were generally light. A brisk fall of the barometer was reported from Sind on the 24th, but elsewhere the changes were again slight. The wind force remained low, except at the head of the Bay, where the wind had veered and increased. On the 25th there occurred a rapid decrease of pressure all over Northern India, and a slight fall over the greater part of the Peninsula. Consequently pressure differences were increasing, and the force of the wind rising over a large part of the country. By the morning of the 26th gradients were again steep over a large part of India. A gale of wind was blowing at the head of the Bay and very strong winds on the Cutch and Guzerat coasts, while the hot westerly winds of Rajputana and Central India were also rising. On the 27th the distribution of pressure was similar to that prevailing during the preceding week, viz., a large low pressure area over the Indus Valley, and high pressures over the centre and south of the Bay, with steep barometric gradients over the intervening region. The winds continued to blow strongly. *

During the whole week pressure has been considerably below the average over North-Western India, and slightly below the average in Southern India on several occasions. The depression in Northern India has probably been in part due to the excessive temperatures which have prevailed during the past few days.

The maxima have been even higher than during the preceding week. The hottest station was Jacobabad, where the extreme readings on each day of the week were as follows :

On the 21st	116°
" 22nd	118°
" 23rd	117°
" 24th	117°
" 25th	119°
" 26th	120°
" 27th	122°

In the Punjab and North-West Provinces the mean of the maxima of all stations were as follows :

On the 21st	108.5°	with a maximum of	112.4°	at Sirsa.
" 22nd	111.1°	"	"	114.2° at Allahabad.
" 23rd	112.3°	"	"	116.0° at Agra and Sialkote.
" 24th	109.9°	"	"	116.0° at Agra and Jhansi.
" 25th	111.4°	"	"	116.5° at Agra and Jhansi.
" 26th	111.2°	"	"	117.4° at Sirsa.
" 27th	112.4°	"	"	117.6° at Multan.

The deficiency of pressure over Southern India and Ceylon is probably attributable to some other cause. It is important, as it is one of the conditions which usually precede the first large advance of south-west monsoon winds. So far this deficiency of pressure has been the only sign of this advance, the heavy rain in Ceylon which was noticed last week not having been followed up by any important extension of rain into the Indian region.

The district rainfall return shows that on the whole the rainfall of the Indian region has been generally similar to that reported last week. In Burma, Moulmein received 9 inches, Pegu 4½ inches, Pagan 3½ inches, and Tounghoo 2½ inches, and the other districts general but moderate or slight rain. In Assam the largest amounts reported are Sylhet with 12 inches, and Cachar and Kamrup with 4 inches. The heavy falls which produced these large amounts both in Burma and Assam occurred on the last three days of the week, the earlier portion of the week having only slight rain. In East and North Bengal heavy falls also took place between the 26th and 28th, Mymensingh receiving 6½ inches, and the Dinagepore, Bogra and Pubna districts falls of about 5 inches. In other parts of Bengal any rain which fell occurred in local storms and was generally moderate in amount. Behar was also visited by slight local thunderstorms or showers.

In the North-West Provinces and the Punjab there was practically no rain during the week.

The south of the Peninsula, like Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam, came under the influence of what little monsoon current existed, and the rainfall was consequently heavier than elsewhere. Cochin had nearly 6 inches, and the Bombay Coast received small amounts in most districts. The northern portions of the Bombay Presidency had no rain, and this was likewise the case over Sind, the Berars, Rajputana and a large part of the Central Provinces, though in the last region a few districts report slight showers. The greater part of Madras had little or no rain, but in the extreme South the amounts recorded increase, so that in Madura, Coimbatore and the Nilgiris local falls varying between 2½ and 3½ inches are reported.

The final column of the return shows that, except in Amherst (Burma); some districts in Assam; Mymensingh, and a few scattered districts in Bengal and Madras, the amount of rain received up to the present date (May 14th—28th) has been deficient.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 26th May, 1888.—Slight rain in most districts, but more wanted in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Tinnevely, Chingleput, Trichinopoly, Madura, and Coimbatore. Crops generally good; affected by want of rain or blight in a very few places. Pasture generally sufficient, but scanty in parts of Anantapur, Madura, Cuddapah, North Arcot, and Salem, and decreasing in Vizagapatam. Prices rising where not stationary. General prospects favourable.

Bombay.—For week ending 30th May, 1888.—Rain in parts of Shikarpur, Nasik, Ratnagiri, Poona, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Bijapur, Belgaum, Dharwar, and Kanara. Harvesting of late crops continues in Karachi and Hyderabad. Ploughing for next season completed in Colaba, Poona, and Wadhwan, and progressing elsewhere. Fodder scarce in parts of Thana, Ratnagiri, Dharwar, and Kathiawar.

Bengal.—For week ending 29th May, 1888.—Rainfall fairly general over the whole Province,—heavy in North Bengal and at some neighbouring stations of East Bengal, scanty in Chota Nagpur, Orissa and North Behar, where, as also in parts of Western and Central Bengal, more rain is wanted. Ploughing proceeding generally. Autumn crops, and in some places winter rice being sown. Early rice and jute sowings mostly over. Plants coming up well. Sugar-cane, indigo, and cheena promising. Reaping of spring rice nearly completed, and outturn good.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 30th May, 1888.—Weather very hot, with easterly winds. Storms occurred during the week at Benares, Fyzabad, Sitapur, and in Kumaun. Irrigation of sugarcane continues. Ground is being prepared for kharif. Markets are full, and prices are generally steady. The condition of cattle continues fairly good.

Punjab.—For week ending 30th May, 1888.—No rain during the week. Prices are stationary; a fall is reported from Jullundur only. Harvesting and threshing of rabi crops nearly completed. Kharif ploughings and sowings are in progress; sowings suspended for want of canal water at Peshawar. Rain wanted in Hissar. Rabi prospects and outturn are reported good to average. No damage done to crops. Condition of stock-cattle is generally healthy. Fodder generally sufficient. Opium produce very small at Rawalpindi.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 30th May, 1888.—Occasional hot winds. Land being prepared for autumn sowings. Scarcity of water for sugar-cane irrigation beginning to be felt in Sambalpur. Cattle fairly healthy.

Burma.—For week ending 30th May, 1888.—Ploughing for wet weather rice has commenced. Rain fell in all districts, except Akyab in Lower Burma and Pagan in Upper Burma. The price of rice has risen in Prome, Henzada, and Thayetmyo districts of Lower Burma, and in Myingyan and Minbu districts of Upper Burma, and has fallen in Yeu; elsewhere the price of foodgrain is stationary.

Assam.—For week ending 30th May, 1888.—Weather seasonable everywhere, except in Darrang, where it is cold. Prospects of crops good, except at Sibsagar, where more sun is wanted for early rice and tea. Potatoes promise fairly well in the Khasia Hills. No report from Naga Hills.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 30th May, 1888.—Rainfall good in the civil and military station of Bangalore, and slight in other parts of the State. Condition of crops good. Agricultural operations progressing. Out-turn of harvests fair. Stock-cattle in good condition. Prices slightly risen in the Chitaldrug district.

Some rain in Coorg. No standing crops.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 30th May, 1888.—Weather hot. Land is being prepared for ensuing kharif crop. Agricultural stock in good condition. Fodder insufficient in Amraoti and Wun districts. No marked change in prices.

No rain in Hyderabad during the week. Agricultural prospects continue fair. Prices stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 30th May, 1888.—No changes since the last report, except in the Bhopawar Agency, where a slight rise is reported, and in Goona, where prices are high.

Rajputana.—For week ending 30th May, 1888.—Agricultural operations about to commence. No crops standing at present. Harvests and agricultural stock generally good. Pasturage or fodder sufficient. Prices generally steady.

Nepal.—For week ending 24th May, 1888.—Slight rain. Weather cloudy. Prospects fair.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

NOTIFICATION.

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.

No. 2952.

Simla, the 2nd June, 1888.

The Governor-General in Council has determined to borrow three hundred lakhs of Rupees, being the amount required for the public service.

The following Notification is therefore published :

FOUR PER CENT. LOAN.

His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor-General in Council has resolved to borrow three hundred lakhs of Rupees for the public service in the following manner.

2. Promissory Notes will be issued for the said amount in Form A annexed to this Notification, being the form of the notes of The Four Per Cent. Loan of 1st May, 1865, of which Loan the notes to be now issued will form a part. All the conditions which apply to notes of The Four Per Cent. Loan of 1st May, 1865 will apply to the notes to be now issued.

3. Tenders for the whole or any part of the said amount of Rs. 3,00,00,000 will be received by the Comptroller-General from this date to noon of Tuesday, the 3rd of July next. Tenders must be in sums of 500 Rupees or multiples of 500 Rupees.

4. Each tender must be addressed, in the form annexed to this Notification, to the Comptroller-General, Calcutta, and enclosed in a closed cover, superscribed "Tender for the Four Per Cent. Loan." If the tenderer is not resident in India, he must name an agent resident in India to whom a letter of allotment may be issued if any part of the loan is allotted to such tenderer.¹

(a) Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or one of their Branches, or

¹ Tenders made in accordance with these instructions will also be received by the Accountants-General, Madras and Bombay, on account of the Comptroller-General, Calcutta, on the 2nd July, and up to 11-30 or 11 o'clock local time (corresponding with 12 o'clock in Calcutta) on the 3rd July; provided that—

(a) they are delivered personally or by clerk or messenger at his office (where a receipt will be given for them);

(b) they are made on printed Forms, to be obtained at his office or at the local Presidency Bank;

(c) each tender is for not less than Rs. 10,000;

(d) that the deposit is either a promissory note, or a cheque on a local Bank in Madras or Bombay, respectively;

(e) that the amount of the tender is made payable locally (i.e., either in Madras or Bombay) or in Calcutta;

and he will return deposits on non-accepted tenders, and will issue allotment-certificates so far as the tenders are payable in Madras or Bombay.

from an officer in charge of some Public Treasury, or by a cheque drawn in favour of the Comptroller-General on a Bank in Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, or in favour of the Accountant-General, Bombay or Madras, on a Bank in Bombay or Madras respectively in respect of tenders received by him, or by¹ Government promissory notes, standing in the name of or endorsed to the tenderer or the person making the deposit, for not less than one-hundredth, or, if the tender be for less than Five Lakhs of Rupees, then for not less than one-fiftieth part of the tender.

(b) Deposits, not being promissory notes, will, in the case of accepted tenders, be credited proportionally in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender, and will bear interest for the purpose of clause 14 below from the date of the opening of tenders. When a tender is not accepted in full, the deposits, not being promissory notes, will be credited as far as possible proportionately in even tens of rupees in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of it. If any allotment-certificate is not fully taken up, the deposit credited in respect of it will be forfeited:

(c) Promissory notes deposited in respect of any accepted tender will be held until all the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender are paid up, and will, if the allotment-certificates are not fully taken up, be appropriated by the Government and cancelled.

5. The rate at which a tender is made must not contain a fraction of an anna: if a rate containing a fraction of an anna is inserted in any tender, such fraction will be struck out and the tender treated as if the rate did not contain such fraction of an anna.

6. The rate at which each tender is made must be specified in rupees or rupees and annas: a tender in which no rate is thus specified, but a subscription is offered in some other terms, as, for example, at the recorded minimum, or at some specified percentage in addition to the recorded minimum, or at the average of the accepted tenders, will be rejected as null and void.

7. The minimum rate at which tenders will be accepted will be recorded under the signature of the Comptroller-General, and, before the tenders are opened, placed upon the table in a sealed envelope, but will not be declared unless some tender is rejected only because it is below the recorded minimum.

8. Tenders will be opened publicly by the Comptroller-General at the Treasury Buildings, Calcutta, at noon (Calcutta time), on Tuesday, the 3rd July next, and those received under the terms of the footnote under clause 4 will be similarly opened by the Accountant-General, Madras, at 11-30 (Madras time), and by the Accountant-General, Bombay, at 11 o'clock (Bombay time), on the same day; but the contents of the tenders will not be disclosed otherwise than as provided in clause 10.

9. Tenders at the recorded minimum rate, and at rates above the recorded minimum rate, will be accepted in the order of the rates tendered, beginning with the highest rate; the amount allotted at the lowest rate at which tenders are accepted will be divided amongst those who have tendered at this rate in proportion, as nearly as may be found convenient, to the amounts of their tenders: provided that no allotment will be issued if the amount distributable on any tender is less than Rs. 350.

10. To each tenderer (or to his agent) whose tender is accepted in whole or in part, such number of allotment-certificates as may be necessary to make up the aggregate amount allotted to him will be issued by the Comptroller-General² as soon as possible after the 3rd July; and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such allotment-certificates are issued will be posted, for general information, at the Head Offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay.

11. If the allotment made on any tender is less than Rs. 3,000, then the whole of the allotment-certificates (after credit of the deposit under clause 4 (b)) will be made payable upon the 14th August.

Otherwise the whole amount of each allotment will be divided into three instalments, as follows:

Instalment I—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 17th July:

¹ It is particularly requested that such Promissory Notes may NOT be endorsed to the Comptroller-General.

² For tenders received by the Accountant-General, Madras or Bombay, and payable at those places, the Accountant-General will issue the allotment-certificates.

Instalment II—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 14th August:

Instalment III—The balance payable upon the 1st September:
and allotment-certificates will be issued for each instalment separately.

But the whole or any part of any accepted tender may be paid at any time after receipt of the allotment-certificates.

The words "as near as convenient" refer to the necessity for making each instalment an exact multiple of Rs. 500.

12. Any allotment-certificate will, on application to the Comptroller-General, be exchanged for an equivalent amount of allotment-certificates of smaller denominations, provided that if any payment (beyond the deposit) is recorded upon the cancelled certificate, it can be taken against, and recorded upon, only one of the certificates issued in exchange.

13. Payment of any allotment-certificate may be made to the account of the Government in the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or in any Branch of these Banks, or into any Public Treasury or Treasuries in India which may be named in the tender in respect of which it was issued. Receipts for such payments will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, or their Branches, or by the Officers in charge of the Government Treasuries at which payment is made, by encasement upon the relative certificate.

14. (a) When any allotment-certificate is fully paid up, the holder will, on presenting it duly receipted at the place where it was paid, obtain from the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, promissory notes of such values as he may desire (each note being in even hundreds and not less than Rs. 500), bearing interest from 1st November, 1888, and he will also receive interest at 4 per cent. per annum from the dates on which he may have made payment till the last day of October, 1888.

(b) Or he may, at his option, by paying interest at the said rate from 1st May, 1888, to the dates on which he may have made payment, obtain promissory notes as above, bearing interest from 1st May, 1888.

FORM A OF PROMISSORY NOTE—(see Clause 2).

Fort William, the

Promissory Note
No.

Government Rupees

at 4 per cent.
of 1st May, 1865.

The Governor-General of India in Council does hereby acknowledge to have received from the sum of Government Rupees Five Hundred as a loan to the Secretary of State in Council for India, and does hereby promise, for and on behalf of the said Secretary of State in Council, to repay the said loan, by paying the said sum of Government Rupees Five Hundred to the said his Executors, or Administrators, or his or their Order, on demand, at the General Treasury at Fort William, after the expiration of Three Months' Notice of Payment, to be given by the Governor-General of India in Council, in the Government Gazette, and to pay the interest accruing on the said sum of Government Rupees Five Hundred from the at the rate of four per cent. per annum, by half-yearly payments, at the General Treasury at Fort William, to the said his Executors or Administrators, or his or their Order, until the expiration of three months after such notice of payment as aforesaid, when the amount of interest due will be payable with the principal, and (such notice being considered as equivalent to a tender of payment at the period appointed for the discharge of this note) all further interest shall cease.

FORM B OF TENDER—(see Clause 4).

I, A. B., hereby tender for Rupees (X) of The Four Per Cent. Loan, advertised in the Notification published in the Gazette of India, Extraordinary, dated the 2nd June, 1888, and agree to pay for the same, subject to the conditions notified, at the rate of Rupees (1) Annas (Z) for every hundred rupees allotted to me.

I enclose a *deposit receipt for Rupees (XX), and engage, if my offer be accepted, to pay to the account of the Government at the Bank of†

* Or Cheque or Government Promissory Note.

(or at the † Branch of the Bank of† ; or into the Public Treasury at†

, as the case may be)—

The first instalment, not exceeding 35 per cent., on or before 17th July, 1888.

The second instalment, not exceeding 35 per cent., on or before 14th August, 1888.

The balance on or before 11th September, 1888.

Or, if the amount allotted to me be less than Rs. 3,000, then the whole amount on or before 14th August, 1888.

* Here insert C. D.'s address, which must be in India. This paragraph should only be inserted if A. B. does not reside in India, or, if residing in India, he wishes the allotment communicated to an agent.

Any allotment made to me may be communicated to C. D. at *

NOTE (1).—A separate tender must be made at each rate tendered. The rate tendered should be the whole amount per centum, not the premium or discount: thus, "One hundred and two" or "One hundred" or "Ninety-nine"; not "Two per cent. premium" or "Par" or "One per cent. discount."

By order of the Governor-General in Council,

E. J. SINKINSON,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

NOTIFICATION BY THE COMPTROLLER GENERAL.

The Comptroller-General requests the attention of tenderers to the following arrangements:

Filling up Tenders.

(1) They are requested to use only the printed forms of tender, which will be available at his Office and at the Currency Office, on application to the Durwan on duty,—at all the Provincial Account Offices, and at the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay; and will also be supplied to the principal Treasuries.

(2) If the deposit is in the form of Promissory Notes, or of Currency Notes, their number should be quoted in detail in the tender.

Presentation of Tenders.

(3) For all tenders presented to him in his Office upon the last fixed day, or the two days preceding it, he will give the bearer a receipt bearing a number, and initialled by himself or an assistant specially deputed for the purpose. The Accountants-General, Madras and Bombay, will do likewise in respect of tenders presented to them under the note to clause 4 of the Government Notification.

Return of deposit in case of non-acceptance.

(4) The reverse of this receipt is a form in which, in the event of the tender not being accepted, the tenderer may give to the Comptroller-General or Accountant-General, Madras or Bombay, a receipt for the deposit accompanying it. This form should on the third day after the opening of the tenders be filled up, signed with the same signature as the tender, and be presented at the Office of the Comptroller-General or Accountant-General, Bombay or Madras. The deposit will then be returned to the bearer in exchange for the receipt.

(5) Deposit upon tenders presented personally, as described in No. (3) above, will be returned only in this way, and will not be sent by post or otherwise. Deposits upon other unsuccessful tenders will be returned by post or by the hands of a clerk.

Accepted Tenders.

(6) The Comptroller-General, and in a few cases the Accountant-General, Madras or Bombay, will issue allotment-certificates to successful tenderers. These certificates will be for the following amounts:—Rs. 500, Rs. 1,000, Rs. 2,000, Rs. 5,000, Rs. 10,000, Rs. 20,000, Rs. 50,000, Rs. 1,00,000, making up the full value accepted; and the deposit on the tender will be divided among them; they will be, substantially, of the following form:

This is to certify that, in accordance with the terms of Notification No. 2952, dated 2nd June, 1888 (Gazette of India, Extraordinary, dated 2nd June, 1888), the abovenamed tenderer has engaged to take up Rs. 2,000 of the 4 Per Cent. Loan of 1st May, 1865 at the rate above mentioned, on or before , and that on the said payment being completed, he is entitled on endorsing and delivering up this certificate to receive a promissory note or notes of the Government of India for Rs. 2,000, bearing interest from

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

NOTIFICATION.

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.

No. 2952.

Simla, the 2nd June, 1888.

The Governor-General in Council has determined to borrow three hundred lakhs of Rupees, being the amount required for the public service.

The following Notification is therefore published :

FOUR PER CENT. LOAN.

His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor-General in Council has resolved to borrow three hundred lakhs of Rupees for the public service in the following manner.

2. Promissory Notes will be issued for the said amount in Form A annexed to this Notification, being the form of the notes of The Four Per Cent. Loan of 1st May, 1865, of which Loan the notes to be now issued will form a part. All the conditions which apply to notes of The Four Per Cent. Loan of 1st May, 1865 will apply to the notes to be now issued.

3. Tenders for the whole or any part of the said amount of Rs. 3,00,00,000 will be received by the Comptroller-General from this date to noon of Tuesday, the 3rd of July next. Tenders must be in sums of 500 Rupees or multiples of 500 Rupees.

4. Each tender must be addressed, in the form annexed to this Notification, to the Comptroller-General, Calcutta, and enclosed in a closed cover, superscribed "Tender for the Four Per Cent. Loan." If the tenderer is not resident in India, he must name an agent resident in India to whom a letter of allotment may be issued if any part of the loan is allotted to such tenderer.¹

(a) Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or one of their Branches, or

¹ Tenders made in accordance with these instructions will also be received by the Accountants-General, Madras and Bombay, on account of the Comptroller-General, Calcutta, on the 2nd July, and up to 11-30 or 11 o'clock local time (corresponding with 12 o'clock in Calcutta) on the 3rd July; provided that—

- (a) they are delivered personally or by clerk or messenger at his office (where a receipt will be given for them);
- (b) they are made on printed Forms, to be obtained at his office or at the local Presidency Bank;
- (c) each tender is for not less than Rs. 10,000;
- (d) that the deposit is either a promissory note, or a cheque on a local Bank in Madras or Bombay, respectively;
- (e) that the amount of the tender is made payable locally (i.e., either in Madras or Bombay) or in Calcutta;

and he will return deposits on non-accepted tenders, and will issue allotment-certificates so far as the tenders are payable in Madras or Bombay.

from an officer in charge of some Public Treasury, or by a cheque drawn in favour of the Comptroller-General on a Bank in Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, or in favour of the Accountant-General, Bombay or Madras, on a Bank in Bombay or Madras respectively in respect of tenders received by him, or by¹ Government promissory notes, standing in the name of or endorsed to the tenderer or the person making the deposit, for not less than one-hundredth, or, if the tender be for less than Five Lakhs of Rupees, then for not less than one-fiftieth part of the tender.

(b) Deposits, not being promissory notes, will, in the case of accepted tenders, be credited proportionally in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender, and will bear interest for the purpose of clause 14 below from the date of the opening of tenders. When a tender is not accepted in full, the deposits, not being promissory notes, will be credited as far as possible proportionately in even tens of rupees in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of it. If any allotment-certificate is not fully taken up, the deposit credited in respect of it will be forfeited.

(c) Promissory notes deposited in respect of any accepted tender will be held until all the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender are paid up, and will, if the allotment-certificates are not fully taken up, be appropriated by the Government and cancelled.

5. The rate at which a tender is made must not contain a fraction of an anna: if a rate containing a fraction of an anna is inserted in any tender, such fraction will be struck out and the tender treated as if the rate did not contain such fraction of an anna.

6. The rate at which each tender is made must be specified in rupees or rupees and annas: a tender in which no rate is thus specified, but a subscription is offered in some other terms, as, for example, at the recorded minimum, or at some specified percentage in addition to the recorded minimum, or at the average of the accepted tenders, will be rejected as null and void.

7. The minimum rate at which tenders will be accepted will be recorded under the signature of the Comptroller-General, and, before the tenders are opened, placed upon the table in a sealed envelope, but will not be declared unless some tender is rejected only because it is below the recorded minimum.

8. Tenders will be opened publicly by the Comptroller-General at the Treasury Buildings, Calcutta, at noon (Calcutta time), on Tuesday, the 3rd July next, and those received under the terms of the footnote under clause 4 will be similarly opened by the Accountant-General, Madras, at 11-30 (Madras time), and by the Accountant-General, Bombay, at 11 o'clock (Bombay time), on the same day; but the contents of the tenders will not be disclosed otherwise than as provided in clause 10.

9. Tenders at the recorded minimum rate, and at rates above the recorded minimum rate, will be accepted in the order of the rates tendered, beginning with the highest rate; the amount allotted at the lowest rate at which tenders are accepted will be divided amongst those who have tendered at this rate in proportion, as nearly as may be found convenient, to the amounts of their tenders: provided that no allotment will be issued if the amount distributable on any tender is less than ₹350.

10. To each tenderer (or to his agent) whose tender is accepted in whole or in part, such number of allotment-certificates as may be necessary to make up the aggregate amount allotted to him will be issued by the Comptroller-General² as soon as possible after the 3rd July; and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such allotment-certificates are issued will be posted, for general information, at the Head Offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay.

11. If the allotment made on any tender is less than ₹3,000, then the whole of the allotment-certificates (after credit of the deposit under clause 4 (b)) will be made payable upon the 14th August.

Otherwise the whole amount of each allotment will be divided into three instalments, as follows:

Instalment 1—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 17th July:

¹ It is particularly requested that such Promissory Notes may NOT be endorsed to the Comptroller-General.

² For tenders received by the Accountant-General, Madras or Bombay, and payable at those places, the Accountant-General will issue the allotment-certificates.

Instalment II—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 14th August:

Instalment III—The balance payable upon the 11th September:
and allotment-certificates will be issued for each instalment separately.

But the whole or any part of any accepted tender may be paid at any time after receipt of the allotment-certificates.

The words "as near as convenient" refer to the necessity for making each instalment an exact multiple of Rs500.

12. Any allotment-certificate will, on application to the Comptroller-General, be exchanged for an equivalent amount of allotment-certificates of smaller denominations, provided that if any payment (beyond the deposit) is recorded upon the cancelled certificate, it can be taken against, and recorded upon, only one of the certificates issued in exchange.

13. Payment of any allotment-certificate may be made to the account of the Government in the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or in any Branch of these Banks, or into any Public Treasury or Treasuries in India which may be named in the tender in respect of which it was issued. Receipts for such payments will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, or their Branches, or by the Officers in charge of the Government Treasuries at which payment is made, by enfacement upon the relative certificate.

14. (a) When any allotment-certificate is fully paid up, the holder will, on presenting it duly receipted at the place where it was paid, obtain from the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, promissory notes of such values as he may desire (each note being in even hundreds and not less than Rs500), bearing interest from 1st November, 1888, and he will also receive interest at 4 per cent. per annum from the dates on which he may have made payment till the last day of October, 1888.

(b) Or he may, at his option, by paying interest at the said rate from 1st May, 1888, to the dates on which he may have made payment, obtain promissory notes as above, bearing interest from 1st May, 1888.

FORM A OF PROMISSORY NOTE—(see Clause 2).

Fort William, the

Promissory Note	Government Rupees	at 4 per cent.
No.		of 1st May, 1865.

The Governor-General of India in Council does hereby acknowledge to have received from the sum of Government Rupees Five Hundred as a loan to the Secretary of State in Council for India, and does hereby promise, for and on behalf of the said Secretary of State in Council, to repay the said loan, by paying the said sum of Government Rupees Five Hundred to the said his Executors, or Administrators, or his or their Order, on demand, at the General Treasury at Fort William, after the expiration of Three Months' Notice of Payment, to be given by the Governor General of India in Council, in the Government Gazette, and to pay the interest accruing on the said sum of Government Rupees Five Hundred from the at the rate of four per cent. per annum, by half-yearly payments, at the General Treasury at Fort William, to the said his Executors or Administrators, or his or their Order, until the expiration of three months after such notice of payment as aforesaid, when the amount of interest due will be payable with the principal, and (such notice being considered as equivalent to a tender of payment at the period appointed for the discharge of this note) all further interest shall cease.

FORM B OF TENDER—(see Clause 4).

I, A. B., hereby tender for Rupees (X) of The Four Per Cent. Loan, advertised in the Notification published in the Gazette of India, Extraordinary, dated the 2nd June, 1888, and agree to pay for the same, subject to the conditions notified, at the rate of Rupees (Y) Annas (Z) for every hundred rupees allotted to me.

I enclose a *deposit receipt for Rupees (XX), and engage, if my offer be accepted, to pay to the account of the Government at the Bank of†

* Or Cheque or Government Promissory Note.
† Here enter the name of Bank, Branch Bank, or Treasury.
(or at the† Branch of the Bank of† ; or into the Public Treasury at†
, as the case may be) —

The first instalment, not exceeding 35 per cent., on or before 17th July, 1888.

THE GAZETTE OF INDIA, EXTRAORDINARY, JUNE 2, 1888.

The second instalment, not exceeding 35 per cent., on or before 14th August, 1888.

The balance on or before 11th September, 1888.

Or, if the amount allotted to me be less than ₹3,000, then the whole amount on or before 14th August, 1888.

* Here insert C. D.'s address, which must be in India. This paragraph should only be inserted if A. B. does not reside in India, or, if residing in India, he wishes the allotment communicated to an agent.

Any allotment made to me may be communicated to C. D. at*

NOTE (1).—A separate tender must be made at each rate tendered. The rate tendered should be the whole amount per centum, not the premium or discount: thus, "One hundred and two" or "One hundred" or "Ninety-nine;" not "Two per cent. premium" or "Par" or "One per cent. discount."

By order of the Governor-General in Council,

E. J. SINKINSON,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

NOTIFICATION BY THE COMPTROLLER-GENERAL.

The Comptroller-General requests the attention of tenderers to the following arrangements:

Filling up Tenders.

(1) They are requested to use only the printed forms of tender, which will be available at his Office and at the Currency Office, on application to the Durwan on duty,—at all the Provincial Account Offices, and at the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay; and will also be supplied to the principal Treasuries.

(2) If the deposit is in the form of Promissory Notes, or of Currency Notes, their number should be quoted in detail in the tender.

Presentation of Tenders.

(3) For all tenders presented to him in his Office upon the last fixed day, or the two days preceding it, he will give the bearer a receipt bearing a number, and initialled by himself or an assistant specially deputed for the purpose. The Accountants-General, Madras and Bombay, will do likewise in respect of tenders presented to them under the note to clause 4 of the Government Notification.

Return of deposit in case of non-acceptance.

(4) The reverse of this receipt is a form in which, in the event of the tender not being accepted, the tenderer may give to the Comptroller-General or Accountant-General, Madras or Bombay, a receipt for the deposit accompanying it. This form should on the third day after the opening of the tenders be filled up, signed with the same signature as the tender, and be presented at the Office of the Comptroller-General or Accountant-General, Bombay or Madras. The deposit will then be returned to the bearer in exchange for the receipt.

(5) Deposit upon tenders presented personally, as described in No. (3) above, will be returned only in this way, and will not be sent by post or otherwise. Deposits upon other unsuccessful tenders will be returned by post or by the hands of a clerk.

Accepted Tenders.

(6) The Comptroller-General, and in a few cases the Accountant-General, Madras or Bombay, will issue allotment-certificates to successful tenderers. These certificates will be for the following amounts:—₹500, ₹1,000, ₹2,000, ₹5,000, ₹10,000, ₹20,000, ₹50,000, ₹1,00,000, making up the full value accepted; and the deposit on the tender will be divided among them; they will be, substantially, of the following form:

This is to certify that, in accordance with the terms of Notification No. 2952, dated 2nd June, 1888 (Gazette of India, Extraordinary, dated 2nd June, 1888), the abovenamed tenderer has engaged to take up ₹2,000 of the 4 Per Cent. Loan of 1st May, 1865 at the rate above mentioned, on or before _____, and that on the said payment being completed, he is entitled on endorsing and delivering up this certificate to receive a promissory note or notes of the Government of India for ₹2,000, bearing interest from

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st April, 1888, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 8th June, 1888.

No. 10.—The following Statutes are published for general information:—

ARMY (ANNUAL) ACT, 1888.

[51 VICT. CAP. 4.]

An Act to provide, during twelve months, for the Discipline and Regulation of the Army.

[27th April 1888.]

WHEREAS the raising or keeping of a standing army within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in time of peace, unless it be with the consent of Parliament, is against law:

And whereas it is adjudged necessary by Her Majesty and this present Parliament, that a body of forces should be continued for the safety of the United Kingdom and the defence of the possessions of Her Majesty's Crown, and that the whole number of such forces should consist of one hundred and forty-nine thousand six hundred and sixty-seven men, including those to be employed at the depôts in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the training of recruits for service at home and abroad, but exclusive of the numbers actually serving within Her Majesty's Indian possessions:

And whereas it is also judged necessary for the safety of the United Kingdom, and the defence of the possessions of this realm, that a body of Royal Marine forces should be employed in Her Majesty's fleet and naval service, under the direction of the Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom, or the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral aforesaid:

And whereas the said marine forces may frequently be quartered or be on shore, or sent to do duty or be on board transport ships or vessels, merchant ships or vessels, or other ships or vessels, or they may be under other circumstances in which they will not be subject to the laws relating to the government of Her Majesty's forces by sea:

And whereas no man can be forejudged of life or limb, or subjected in time of peace to any kind of punishment within this realm by martial law, or in any other manner than by the judgment of his peers and according to the known and established laws of this realm; yet nevertheless it being requisite, for the retaining all the before-mentioned forces, and other persons subject to military law, in their duty, that an exact discipline be observed, and that persons belonging to the said forces who mutiny or stir up sedition, or desert Her Majesty's service, or are guilty of crimes and offences to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, be brought to a more exemplary and speedy punishment than the usual forms of the law will allow:

Vict. And whereas the Army Act, 1881, will expire in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight on the following days:—

- (a) In the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, on the thirtieth day of April; and
- (b) Elsewhere in Europe, inclusive of Malta, also in the West Indies and America, on the thirty-first day of July; and
- (c) Elsewhere, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions, on the thirty-first day of December:

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited as the Army (Annual) Act, 1888.

2. (1) The Army Act, 1881, shall be and remain in force during the periods hereinafter mentioned, and no longer, unless otherwise provided by Parliament; that is to say,

- (a) Within the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, from the thirtieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight to the thirtieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, both inclusive; and
- (b) Elsewhere in Europe, inclusive of Malta, also in the West Indies and America, from the thirty-first day of July one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight to the thirty-first day of July one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, both inclusive; and
- (c) Elsewhere, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions, from the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight to the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, both inclusive; and the day from which the Army Act, 1881, is continued in any place by this Act is in relation to that place referred to in this Act as the commencement of this Act.

(2) The Army Act, 1881, while in force shall apply to persons subject to military law, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions.

(3) A person subject to military law shall not be exempted from the provisions of the Army Act, 1881, by reason only that the number of the forces for the time being in the service of Her Majesty, exclusive of the marine forces, is either greater or less than the number herein-before mentioned.

3. There shall be paid to the keeper of a vic-tualling house for the accommodation provided by him in pursuance of the Army Act, 1881, the prices specified in the schedule to this Act.

Amendments of Army Act, 1881.

4. Whereas by the third sub-section of section sixty-three of the Army Act, 1881, it is enacted as follows:—

"A military prisoner while in a public prison shall be confined, kept to hard labour, and otherwise dealt with in the like manner as an ordinary prisoner under a like sentence of imprisonment;"

And whereas doubts have arisen as to whether such a prisoner may be detained in and removed to or from a hospital for the prison when the hospital is detached from the prison, and it is expedient to remove such doubts: Be it therefore enacted as follows:—

There shall be added to section sixty-three of the Army Act, 1881, at the end of the third sub-section, the following enactment:—

And where the hospital or place for the reception of sick prisoners in such prison is detached from the prison may be detained in such hospital or place and conveyed to and from the same as circumstances require.

5. Whereas by section ninety-two of the Army Act, 1881, it is provided that there shall be given to every soldier of the regular forces who is discharged a certificate of discharge stating his service, conduct, and character, and the cause of his discharge;

And whereas it is expedient to provide for the variation of the statements in the certificate of discharge: Be it therefore enacted as follows:—

In sub-section two of section ninety-two of the Army Act, 1881, the words "such particulars as may be from time to time required by regulations of a Secretary of State under this Act" shall be substituted for the words "his service, conduct, and character, and the cause of his discharge."

6. Sections one hundred and forty-eight, one hundred and forty-nine, and one hundred and fifty of the Army Act, 1881, which relate to Military Courts of Request in India, are hereby repealed, without prejudice to anything done or suffered in pursuance thereof before such repeal takes effect, and any judgment or order made in pursuance of those sections may be carried into execution as if such repeal had not been enacted.

7. Whereas sub-section one of section one hundred and fifty-one of the Army Act, 1881, is as follows:—

"In India all actions of debt and personal actions against persons subject to military law, other than soldiers of the regular forces, within the jurisdiction of any Court of Small Causes, shall be cognizable by such Court to the extent of its powers;"

And whereas doubts have arisen as to whether the words "within the jurisdiction of any Court" refer to persons resident within the jurisdiction, and it is expedient to remove such doubts: Be it therefore enacted as follows:—

145 Vict. 8. In sub-section one of section one hundred and fifty-one of the Army Act, 1881, the words "where the persons so subject are resident within the local jurisdiction" shall be substituted for the words "within the jurisdiction".

OUDE AND ROHILKUND RAILWAY PURCHASE ACT, 1888.

[51 VICT. CAP 5.]

An Act to empower the Secretary of State in Council of India to raise money in the United Kingdom for the purchase of the Oude and Rohilkund Railway, and for the construction, extension, and equipment of Railways in India, through the agency of Companies, and for other purposes relating thereto.

[27th April 1888.]

WHEREAS the Secretary of State in Council, by virtue of the power vested in him under the contracts between him and the Company, on the second day of January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight, gave to the Oude and Rohilkund Company, Limited, notice of his intention to purchase the undertaking of the Company:

And whereas, in consequence of such notice, the Secretary of State in Council has become liable to pay to the Company in London on the thirty-first day of December, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight, the amount of five million thirty-six thousand and forty-eight pounds sixteen shillings and eight pence for the said purchase, and has also become liable to pay the sum of five million three hundred thousand pounds borrowed by the Company on the debentures and debenture stock specified in the schedule to this Act annexed, as and when the same respectively shall become redeemable:

And whereas it is expedient that the Secretary of State in Council of India should be empowered to raise money in manner in this Act mentioned for the purchase on behalf of Her Majesty for the purposes of the Government of India of the undertaking of the said Company, and for the redemption and discharge of the said debentures and debenture stock as and when the same respectively shall fall due, and become redeemable:

And whereas large sums of money have been from time to time raised on bonds or debentures for the purposes of constructing, extending, and equipping various railways in India by companies under the guarantee, as respects both interest and principal of the Secretary of State in Council of India:

And whereas the Secretary of State in Council is advised that the charge on the revenues of India on account of the moneys from time to time required for the said last-mentioned purposes, through the agency of such companies, might be less if such moneys were raised by the Secretary of State in Council of India in the United Kingdom, on the credit of the revenues of India, than if such moneys were raised through the agency of such companies:

And whereas it is expedient that the Secretary of State in Council of India be empowered to raise such moneys in manner in this Act mentioned: Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited as the Oude and Rohilkund Railway Purchase Act, 1888.

2. In this Act the expression "Secretary of State" means the Secretary of State in Council of India, unless the context otherwise requires.

3. It shall be lawful for the Secretary of State at any time or times after the passing of this Act to raise in the United Kingdom, for the purchase of the railways, works, stations, telegraphs, engines, carriages, stock, plant, and machinery belonging to or forming the undertaking of the Oude and Rohilkund Railway Company, Limited, and as and when necessary for the discharge and redemption of debentures and debenture stock issued by the Company, any sum or sums of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of ten million three hundred and thirty-six thousand and forty-eight pounds sixteen shillings and eight pence.

4. It shall further be lawful for the Secretary of State to raise in the United Kingdom any sum or sums of money not exceeding in the whole ten millions of pounds sterling to be applied, from time to time, in such manner and under such conditions as the Secretary of State may determine for the purposes of constructing, extending, and equipping railways in India through the agency of a company or companies under engagement with the Secretary of State, or in the repayment or discharge of the principal of any bonds or debentures issued by any such company under the guarantee of the Secretary of State.

5. All moneys raised under the authority of this Act shall be raised either by the creation and issue of bonds, debentures, or capital stock bearing interest, or partly by one of such modes and partly by another or others.

6. All bonds and debentures issued under this Act, and the principal moneys and interest thereon, shall be charged on and payable out of the revenues of India, in like manner as other liabilities incurred on account of the Government of India.

7. The whole amount of principal moneys to be charged on the revenues of India under this Act shall not exceed ten millions of pounds sterling, beyond the amount required to be charged for the purchase of the Oude and Rohilkund Railway, and for the discharge of the debentures and debenture stock mentioned in the schedule to this Act annexed.

8. Upon or for the repayment of any principal moneys secured under the authority of this Act, the Secretary of State may at any time borrow or raise, by all or any of the modes aforesaid, all or any part of the amount of principal money repaid or to be repaid, and so from time to time as all or any part of any principal moneys under this Act may require to be repaid, but the whole amount to be charged on the revenues of India shall not in any case exceed the principal moneys required to be repaid.

9. All bonds issued under the authority of this Act may be issued under the hands of two members of the Council of India, and countersigned by the Secretary of State for India or one of his under secretaries, or his assistant under secretary, and shall be for such respective amounts, payable after such notice, and at such rate or rates of interest, as the Secretary of State may think fit.

10. All debentures issued under the authority of this Act may be issued under the hands of two members of the Council of India, and countersigned as aforesaid, for such respective amounts, and at such rate or rates of interest, as the Secretary of State may think fit, and shall be issued at or for such prices and on such terms as may be determined by the Secretary of State.

11. All debentures issued under the authority of this Act shall be paid off at par at a time or times to be mentioned in such debentures respectively; and the interest on all such debentures shall be paid on such days as shall be mentioned therein; and the principal moneys and interest secured by such debentures shall be payable either at the treasury of the Secretary of State in London or at the Bank of England.

12. Debentures issued under the authority of this Act, and all right to and in respect of the principal and interest moneys secured thereby, shall be transferable by the delivery of such debentures, or, at the discretion of the Secretary of State, by deed; provided that the coupons for interest annexed to any debenture issued under the authority of this Act shall pass by delivery.

13. Any capital stock created under the authority of this Act shall bear such rate of interest as the Secretary of State may think fit; and such capital stock may be issued on such terms as may be determined by the Secretary of State; and any such capital stock may bear interest during such period, and be paid off at par at such time, as the Secretary of State may prescribe previously to the issue of such capital stock.

14. In case of the creation and issue of any such capital stock, there shall be kept, either at the office of the Secretary of State in London or at the Bank of England, books wherein entries shall be made of the said capital stock, and wherein all assignments or transfers of the same, or any part thereof, shall be entered and registered, and shall be signed by the parties making such assignments or transfers, or, if such parties be absent, by his, her, or their attorney or attorneys thereunto lawfully authorised by writing under his, her, or their hands and seals, to be attested by two or more credible witnesses; and the person or persons to whom such transfer or transfers shall be made may respectively underwrite his, her, or their acceptance thereof; and no other mode of assigning or transferring the said capital stock or any part thereof, or any interest therein, shall be good and available in law, and no stamp duties whatsoever shall be charged on the said transfers or any of them.

15. The provisions contained in section 4 of the Act of the session 5 & 6 Will. 4. c. 64. s. 4 extended to bonds and debentures under Act. holden in the fifth and sixth years of King William the Fourth, chapter sixty-four, with respect to the composition and agreement for the payment by the East India Company of an annual sum in lieu of stamp duties on their bonds, and the exemption of their bonds from stamp duties, shall be applicable with respect to the bonds and debentures to be issued under the authority of this Act, as if such provisions were here repeated and re-enacted with reference thereto.

16. All provisions now in force in anywise relating to the offence of, forging or altering, or offering, uttering, disposing of, or putting off, knowing the same to be forged or altered, any East India bond, with intent to defraud, shall extend and be applicable to and in respect of any bond or debenture issued under the authority of this Act.

17. This Act shall not prejudice or affect any power of raising or borrowing money vested in the said Secretary of State at the time of passing thereof.

18. Any capital stock created under this Act shall be deemed to be East India stock, within the Act of the twenty-second and twenty-third Victoria, chapter thirty-five, section thirty-two, unless and until Parliament shall otherwise provide; and any capital stock created under this Act shall be deemed to be and shall mean India stock within the Act of the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh Victoria, chapter seventy-three, anything in the said last-mentioned Act to the contrary notwithstanding.

19. The amount of all moneys raised under this Act and the manner in which the same shall have been applied shall be shown in the half-yearly returns of all loans raised in England to be prepared by the Secretary of State and presented to both Houses of Parliament under the provisions of section fifteen of the Act forty-two and forty-three Victoria, chapter sixty.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

NOTIFICATIONS.

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.

No. 2952.

Simla, the 2nd June, 1888.

The Governor-General in Council has determined to borrow three hundred lakhs of Rupees, being the amount required for the public service.

The following Notification is therefore published:

FOUR PER CENT. LOAN.

His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor-General in Council has resolved to borrow three hundred lakhs of Rupees for the public service in the following manner.

2. Promissory Notes will be issued for the said amount in Form A annexed to this Notification, being the form of the notes of The Four Per Cent. Loan of 1st May, 1865, of which Loan the notes to be now issued will form a part. All the conditions which apply to notes of The Four Per Cent. Loan of 1st May, 1865 will apply to the notes to be now issued.

3. Tenders for the whole or any part of the said amount of Rs. 3,00,00,000 will be received by the Comptroller-General from this date to noon of Tuesday, the 3rd of July next. Tenders must be in sums of 500 Rupees or multiples of 500 Rupees.

4. Each tender must be addressed, in the form annexed to this Notification, to the Comptroller-General, Calcutta, and enclosed in a closed cover, superscribed "Tender for the Four Per Cent. Loan." If the tenderer is not resident in India, he must name an agent resident in India to whom a letter of allotment may be issued if any part of the loan is allotted to such tenderer.¹

(a) Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or one of their Branches, or from an officer in charge of some Public Treasury, or by a cheque drawn in favour of the Comptroller-General on a Bank in Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, or in favour of the Accountant-General, Bombay or Madras, on a Bank in Bombay or Madras respectively in respect of tenders received by him, or by² Government promissory notes, standing in the name of or endorsed to the tenderer or the person making the deposit, for not less than one-hundredth, or, if the tender be for less than Five Lakhs of Rupees, then for not less than one-fiftieth part of the tender.

(b) Deposits, not being promissory notes, will, in the case of accepted tenders, be credited proportionally in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender, and will bear interest for the purpose of clause 14 below from the date of the opening of tenders. When a tender is not accepted in full, the deposits, not being promissory notes, will be credited as far as possible proportionately in even tens of rupees in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of it. If any allotment-certificate is not fully taken up, the deposit credited in respect of it will be forfeited.

(c) Promissory notes deposited in respect of any accepted tender will be held until all the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender are paid up, and will, if the allotment-certificates are not fully taken up, be appropriated by the Government and cancelled.

5. The rate at which a tender is made must not contain a fraction of an anna: if a rate containing a fraction of an anna is inserted in any tender, such fraction will be struck out and the tender treated as if the rate did not contain such fraction of an anna.

6. The rate at which each tender is made must be specified in rupees or rupees and annas: a tender in which no rate is thus specified, but a subscription is offered in some other terms, as, for example, at the recorded minimum, or at some specified percentage in addition to the recorded minimum, or at the average of the accepted tenders, will be rejected as null and void.

7. The minimum rate at which tenders will be accepted will be recorded under the signature of the Comptroller-General, and, before the tenders are opened, placed upon the table in a sealed envelope, but will not be declared unless some tender is rejected only because it is below the recorded minimum.

8. Tenders will be opened publicly by the Comptroller-General at the Treasury Buildings, Calcutta, at noon (Calcutta time), on Tuesday, the 3rd July next, and those received under the terms of the footnote under clause 4 will be similarly opened by the Accountant-General, Madras, at 11-30 (Madras time), and by the Accountant-General, Bombay, at 11 o'clock (Bombay time), on the same day; but the contents of the tenders will not be disclosed otherwise than as provided in clause 10.

9. Tenders at the recorded minimum rate, and at rates above the recorded minimum rate, will be accepted in the order of the rates tendered, beginning with the

¹ Tenders made in accordance with these instructions will also be received by the Accountants-General, Madras and Bombay, on account of the Comptroller-General, Calcutta, on the 2nd July, and up to 11-30 or 11 o'clock local time (corresponding with 12 o'clock in Calcutta) on the 3rd July; provided that—

- (a) they are delivered personally or by clerk or messenger at his office (where a receipt will be given for them);
- (b) they are made on printed Forms, to be obtained at his office or at the local Presidency Bank;
- (c) each tender is for not less than Rs. 10,000;
- (d) that the deposit is either a promissory note, or a cheque on a local Bank in Madras or Bombay, respectively;
- (e) that the amount of the tender is made payable locally (i.e., either in Madras or Bombay) or in Calcutta;

and he will return deposits on non-accepted tenders, and will issue allotment-certificates so far as the tenders are payable in Madras or Bombay.

² It is particularly requested that such Promissory Notes may NOT be endorsed to the Comptroller-General.

highest rate; the amount allotted at the lowest rate at which tenders are accepted will be divided amongst those who have tendered at this rate in proportion, as nearly as may be found convenient, to the amounts of their tenders: provided that no allotment will be issued if the amount distributable on any tender is less than Rs. 350.

10. To each tenderer (or to his agent) whose tender is accepted in whole or in part, such number of allotment-certificates as may be necessary to make up the aggregate amount allotted to him will be issued by the Comptroller-General¹ as soon as possible after the 3rd July; and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such allotment-certificates are issued will be posted, for general information, at the Head Offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay.

11. If the allotment made on any tender is less than Rs. 3,000, then the whole of the allotment-certificates (after credit of the deposit under clause 4 (b)) will be made payable upon the 14th August.

Otherwise the whole amount of each allotment will be divided into three instalments, as follows:

Instalment I—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 17th July:

Instalment II—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 14th August:

Instalment III—The balance payable upon the 11th September: .

and allotment-certificates will be issued for each instalment separately.

But the whole or any part of any accepted tender may be paid at any time after receipt of the allotment-certificates.

The words "as near as convenient" refer to the necessity for making each instalment an exact multiple of Rs. 500.

12. Any allotment-certificate will, on application to the Comptroller-General, be exchanged for an equivalent amount of allotment-certificates of smaller denominations, provided that if any payment (beyond the deposit) is recorded upon the cancelled certificate, it can be taken against, and recorded upon, only one of the certificates issued in exchange.

13. Payment of any allotment-certificate may be made to the account of the Government in the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or in any Branch of these Banks, or into any Public Treasury or Treasuries in India which may be named in the tender in respect of which it was issued. Receipts for such payments will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, or their Branches, or by the Officers in charge of the Government Treasuries at which payment is made, by encasement upon the relative certificate.

14. (a) When any allotment-certificate is fully paid up, the holder will, on presenting it duly receipted at the place where it was paid, obtain from the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, promissory notes of such values as he may desire (each note being in even hundreds and not less than Rs. 500), bearing interest from 1st November, 1888, and he will also receive interest at 4 per cent. per annum from the dates on which he may have made payment till the last day of October, 1888.

(b) Or he may, at his option, by paying interest at the said rate from 1st May, 1888, to the dates on which he may have made payment, obtain promissory notes as above, bearing interest from 1st May, 1888.

FORM A OF PROMISSORY NOTE—(see Clause 2).

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

NOTIFICATION BY THE COMPTROLLER GENERAL.

The Comptroller-General requests the attention of tenderers to the following arrangements:

Filling up Tenders.

(1) They are requested to use only the printed forms of tender, which will be available at his Office and at the Currency Office, on application to the Durwan on duty,—at all the Provincial Account Offices, and at the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay; and will also be supplied to the principal Treasuries.

(2) If the deposit is in the form of Promissory Notes, or of Currency Notes, their number should be quoted in detail in the tender.

Presentation of Tenders.

(3) For all tenders presented to him in his Office upon the last fixed day, or the two days preceding it, he will give the bearer a receipt bearing a number, and initialled by himself or an assistant specially deputed for the purpose. The Accountants-General, Madras and Bombay, will do likewise in respect of tenders presented to them under the note to clause 4 of the Government Notification.

Return of deposit in case of non-acceptance.

(4) The reverse of this receipt is a form in which, in the event of the tender not being accepted, the tenderer may give to the Comptroller-General or Accountant-General, Madras or Bombay, a receipt for the deposit accompanying it. This form should on the third day after the opening of the tenders be filled up, signed with the same signature as the tender, and be presented at the Office of the Comptroller-General or Accountant-General, Bombay or Madras. The deposit will then be returned to the bearer in exchange for the receipt.

(5) Deposit upon tenders presented personally, as described in No. (3) above, will be returned only in this way, and will not be sent by post or otherwise. Deposits upon other unsuccessful tenders will be returned by post or by the hands of a clerk.

Accepted Tenders.

(6) The Comptroller-General, and in a few cases the Accountant-General, Madras or Bombay, will issue allotment-certificates to successful tenderers. These certificates will be for the following amounts:—Rs. 500, Rs. 1,000, Rs. 2,000, Rs. 5,000, Rs. 10,000, Rs. 20,000, Rs. 50,000, Rs. 1,00,000, making up the full value accepted; and the deposit on the tender will be divided among them; they will be, substantially, of the following form:

This is to certify that, in accordance with the terms of Notification No. 2952, dated 2nd June, 1888 (Gazette of India, Extraordinary, dated 2nd June, 1888), the abovenamed tenderer has engaged to take up Rs. 2,000 of the 4 Per Cent. Loan of 1st May, 1865 at the rate above mentioned, on or before , and that on the said payment being completed, he is entitled on endorsing and delivering up this certificate to receive a promissory note or notes of the Government of India for Rs. 2,000, bearing interest from

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

REPORT ON THE PILGRIM SEASON OF 1887.

The following Report is published for general information :

Report on the Pilgrim Season of 1887, by Mr. Abdur Razzack, Her Britannic Majesty's Vice-Consul at Jeddah, dated the 15th February, 1888.

No. 3, dated Jeddah, the 24th February, 1888.

From—T. S. JAGO, Esq., Her Britannic Majesty's Consul, Jeddah,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department.

I have the honour to transmit herewith a copy of the Report of Mr. Vice-Consul Abdur Razzack on the pilgrim season of 1887, accompanied by two Appendices.

A and B.

Dated Jeddah, the 15th February, 1888.

From—MR. ABDUR RAZZACK, Her Britannic Majesty's Vice-Consul at Jeddah,

To—T. S. JAGO, Esq., Her Britannic Majesty's Consul, Jeddah.

THE Haj season of 1887 is now over. It virtually came to an end on the 19th November, 1887, when the S.S. Akbar sailed for Bombay, with 800 pilgrims who had returned from visiting Medina after the Haj, but a large number of pilgrims still remained, and 950 of these were carried away by the S.S. Sumatra on the 29th of December, 1887, completing the season with the conclusion of the year.

A considerable number of paupers are still in this place suffering from want, privation, and disease, and it is to be hoped that some good Samaritans will be found who will manage to expedite their departure for their native land.

Regarding the sanitary condition of Mecca and Muna, and the number of pilgrims who were gathered in those places during the pilgrimage, I am not in a position to make exact statements, as I was obliged to stop at Jeddah, being Acting Consul at the time; and although the Government of India was pleased, at my request, to permit Dr. Ata Muhammad, of Hodeidah, to come on the Haj and make the necessary report, my letter asking him to come over unfortunately reached him too late to enable him to come and be present during the four days of the Haj.

From the accounts that I received from various persons the sanitary state of Mecca and Muna during the Haj was as usual, but I cannot say the same as regards Jeddah, as it was in a very unclean condition after the season had commenced, and no steps were taken for sweeping and cleaning the town properly until after the arrival of Ahmed Bey, the Imperial Sanitary Commissioner, and not till I had a talk with him on the subject; but from that time up to the Haj the town was kept pretty clean.

This year the Haj took place on the 28th August, and the heat at Mecca at the time, and for some days subsequently, is said to have been much more than during the previous Haj; and Mr. Kudzi, the Consular Dragoman, who was then in Mecca, reported that a great many deaths from sunstroke had occurred.

Excepting this, and the ordinary forms of diseases, such as diarrhoea, dysentery, and fever, which generally prevail to a more or less extent when large bodies of pilgrims are congregated together, there was no outbreak of any of those diseases which involve the destruction of human life on a large scale.

The last time that an outbreak of cholera occurred in Muna was in 1883, and since then it has not made its appearance there during four successive pilgrimages.

Those who favour the quarantine system will attribute this to its being carried out in all its strictness, but from what I have observed during six Haj seasons, it appears to me to be simply due to two reasons :

(1) Improved sanitary arrangements for cleaning and sweeping the towns of Muna and Mecca, and the prompt burial of the carcasses of slaughtered animals in the former place.

(2) The use of pure water by the pilgrims. The stringent orders given by the late Vali Osman Pasha during the years 1884 and 1885, to empty all the Sahrijas, or water tanks, in the town of Muna before the Haj, compelled all the people to use the water which was brought from the Zobeida aqueduct and sold in the town by large numbers of water-carriers, as mentioned in my report for 1884, while, as stated in my report for 1886, the construction of a branch from the Zobeida aqueduct, and its introduction into the town of Muna in that year, placed a pure water-supply within the reach of the poorest.

If the two preventive measures mentioned above continue to be carried out every year as they ought to be, and no other disturbing agencies interfere, it hardly needs a prophet to foretell that cholera or any other epidemic disease is not likely to show itself in Muna again.

From enquiries which I made personally from Nauri Bey, the officer in medical charge of Mecca and Muna, when he came down to Jeddah some time after the Haj, and from Selim Bey Fehmy, the Egyptian Sanitary Delegate, I learnt that the number of pilgrims who were gathered on the day of the Haj in Arafat was computed by the former to be about 150,000, while the latter considered that 140,000 souls were present.

This large increase in the number of pilgrims in comparison with former years they attributed to an extraordinary influx of Arabs from Nejd, and Bedouins from all parts of the Hedjaz.

The total number of arrivals by sea during the season under review was 46,020, nearly 4,000 more than last year, but considerably less than the number of pilgrims who arrived in 1885; still, as shown in the table below, the annual number of pilgrims who come by the sea seems to be gradually on the increase since 1882 :

Year.	Arrivals.	Remarks.
1882	25,580
1883	27,263
1884	31,157	Haj Akbar.
1885	53,010
1886	42,374
1887	46,020

The number of pilgrims who are classed as Indians amounted to 10,324; among these I may mention are included Afghans, Baluchis, and pilgrims from Kokand, Bokhara, Kashgar, Yarkand, and other places in Central Asia, who find it convenient to pass through India and embark at Indian ports for Jeddah.

The number of arrivals under this head this year is the largest since 1882, as will be seen by the following table :

Year.	Arrivals.	Remarks.
1882	9,630	Haj Akbar.
1884	9,262
1885	8,318
1887	10,324

One hundred and thirty-four steamers and ships arrived with pilgrims this year from all parts. Besides these, 52 native Arab craft, or sambooks and buglows, also brought small batches of pilgrims from various places on the coast of the Red Sea. A list of these vessels is given in Appendix A, showing the nationality of the pilgrims and the vessels, the number brought by each, and the order of their arrival.

This year fifteen vessels brought lists of their pilgrim passengers, but on comparison with the list received from the Jeddah Health-Office (Appendix A), they are still found to be defective, as will be seen from a glance at the following table :

No.	Name of Vessel.	Date of Arrival.	Number in List.	Number actually arrived.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE GAZETTE OF INDIA, JUNE 9, 1888.

According to letter No. 1474-E., dated Simla, the 18th July, 1887, and its inclosure, addressed by the Government of India to this Consulate, it appears that this year officers have been, and will be, appointed at various ports, from which pilgrims embark from India, in order that each pilgrim ship should be supplied with a complete list of passengers, and it is to be hoped that at the end of the Haj season of 1888 the information supplied by these lists will be more accurate.

The following vessels which brought pilgrims from India presented no lists of their passengers at this Consulate :

From the fifteen lists which have been received, and taking into account only the number of pilgrims entered in them, it appears that out of a total of 8,571 pilgrims who arrived from India, 2,086 are aliens, as shown in the table below :

The number of passports collected here from Indian pilgrims this year was only 3,736—about 500 more than what was collected last year, but a small number when compared with the number of arrivals from India.

This is owing to several reasons. In the first place, alien passes are not collected; secondly, all the pilgrims who land on the quarantine wharf do not take the trouble to keep their passports with them; thirdly, the number of hands employed to collect, viz., one cavass and the two clerks of the Consulate, are not enough.

The following table shows the number of passports collected and the places of their issue:

If the number of passports collected be compared with the number of Indians proper who are entered in the fifteen lists which have been received, it will appear that out of 6,485 passports issued at various places in India, 3,736 have been collected, while 3,749 did not come to hand.

The impossibility of collecting these passports on boardship before the pilgrims are landed, and the difficulty experienced in obtaining them from all the pilgrims owing to a good many leaving them with their luggage, was mentioned in my report for the last Haj season; and, as mentioned above, I find the number of persons employed in collecting them to be not enough.

If the Government of India would be pleased to sanction a peon (called here a cavass) for my establishment, he would not only help in the collection of passports during the Haj season, but would also be useful in the dispensary, where a peon is now very much wanted, to keep the patients in order and prevent them from crowding round me, especially during the hot season, which is nine months out of the twelve; and I could also avail myself of his services when necessary in making enquiries regarding the welfare of the pilgrims.

Medical diaries and returns of admissions, discharges, and deaths, were sent to this Consulate by the medical officers of 14 vessels only.

These papers show that out of 9,305 souls brought by the above vessels, 472 were registered as sick and treated for various diseases, out of which only 23 died, as shown below :

List of pilgrims and medical returns are being received by this Consulate since 1884 only; and from consulting the latter it appears that comparatively the mortality, which prevailed among the pilgrims during the voyage from Bombay to Jeddah this year, is much less than that which had occurred during the three previous years, as will be seen from the numbers given below :

Year.	No. of pilgrims brought.	No. of sick.	Deaths.
1884	5,565	186	27
1885	8,066	179	58
1886	9,420	302	36
1887	9,305	472	23

The number of the sick in proportion to the number of arrivals amounts to 4.9 per cent., and the death rate with reference to the number of sick is also 4.9 per cent., but only 0.2 per cent. in comparison with the total number of arrivals according to the returns which have been received.

Regarding the cases treated, diseases of the alimentary canal show the highest number this year; diseases of the chest, general debility, and old age, and wounds and accidents, next follow in succession.

The prevalence of diseases which are classed as general, and eye, ear, and skin diseases, show a low state of health among some of the pilgrims.

Two cases of small-pox occurred among the pilgrims of the S.S. Sumatra on her third voyage, and one on her fourth voyage during the season under report; and out of the three cases treated, one died, but fortunately there seems to have been no tendency to spread among the other pilgrims.

Dysentery and fevers show the highest death rate, and old age and debility, which always stood first, appear third on the list this year. Altogether it is satisfactory to note that the mortality has been very low; and the pilgrims, notwithstanding the roughness of the voyages on account of the monsoons, appear to have enjoyed a fair state of health.

The following is a list of the ships which submitted medical diaries and returns, with my remarks on the condition of these documents :

- (1) S.S. Bangalore, arrived 13th January, 1887. } Diary well kept; admission, discharge, and deaths register complete.
- (2) S.S. Sumatra, arrived 6th March, 1887. } Diary very meagre.
- (3) S.S. Akbar, arrived 6th April, 1887. } Diary not worth the name. Register of admissions badly kept.
- (4) S.S. Sumatra, arrived 5th May, 1887. } Diary pretty well kept.
- (5) S.S. Akbar, arrived 25th May, 1887. } Diary fair; admission and discharge register pretty well kept. Return of deaths not given.
- (6) S.S. Bangalore, arrived 10th June, 1887. } Diary well kept. Returns complete.
- (7) S.S. King Arthur, arrived 30th June, 1887. } Diary wretched.
- (8) S.S. Sumatra, arrived 5th July, 1887. } Diary pretty well kept. Returns incomplete. See remarks of Doctor under head of Medical Report.
- (9) S.S. Akbar, arrived 13th July, 1887. } Diary passable. Returns incomplete.

- (10) S.S. Mobile, arrived 18th August, 1887. { Returns not correct. Though the Captain was told twice while in port to submit the medical diary, it was only received from Aden after the ship's departure from Jeddah, and has been evidently prepared in a hurry.
- (11) S.S. Taif, arrived 6th August, 1887. } Diary fair. Returns complete.
- (12) S.S. Bangalore, arrived 19th August, 1887. { As usual, the Doctor of this ship Mr. Sullivan's diary is very well kept. His concluding remarks deserve the attention of Government. Returns complete.
- (13) S.S. Sumatra, arrived 22nd August, 1887. } Diary pretty well kept. Return of admission and discharges passable.
- (14) S.S. Adowa, arrived 23rd August, 1887. } Diary very meagre. Returns complete.

Sent separately.

These diaries and returns I beg you will transmit to the Government of India, along with this report as usual.

According to the list kindly supplied me by Dr. Stepovitch, the Acting Sanitary Inspector at this place, it appears that 4,955 paupers arrived here from India and Muscat this year in the manner detailed below :

The percentage of paupers in comparison with the total number of arrivals is therefore 47·9.

The following figures also show that the number of paupers who arrived this year from India is by far the largest which has come to this country since 1883 :

Year.	Number of paupers.
1884	1,580
1885	2,586
1887	4,955

In speaking of the lists received from the Protector of Pilgrims by each steamer from Bombay, I have already shown that out of a total of 8,571 pilgrims of all classes entered in these lists, 2,086, or more than one-fourth, were aliens ; and I can state from personal observation that of the pauper pilgrims who collect on the Quarantine Wharf, one-third of the number is composed of these aliens, or people from Afghanistan, Baluchistan, Bokhara, Kokand, Kashgar, and Yarkand, who pass through Bombay en route to Jeddah.

Taking for granted the proportion of aliens as shown by the above lists, only one-fourth of these paupers may be safely set aside as not belonging to the class of Indians proper.

For purposes of comparison I here give a list, also kindly furnished by Dr. Stepovitch, of pauper pilgrims of all classes who arrived by sea this year :

PAUPERS WHO ARRIVED FROM ALL COUNTRIES IN 1887 :

Nationality.	Number.
Javanese	314
Indians	4,062
Persians	323
Arabs	979
Yemenis	590
Soudanese	152
Syrians and Turks	563
Egyptians	2,850
Magrabins	1,084
Total number of paupers of all classes	11,817

Paupers who are Turkish subjects are sent away by the local authorities in small batches by almost every ship bound for the north ; and one steamer, the Sakaria, arrived here expressly from Constantinople for carrying away Turkish pauper pilgrims from this place.

For Indian pauper pilgrims no such arrangement exists, although a considerable number are annually sent away through the charity and philanthropy of the Indian merchants residing at Jeddah and Mecca.

This year a good many pauper Indians are still left in this place ; and it is quite heartrending to behold the miserable condition of these poor creatures, suffering from want and dying from sickness.

I have once before represented that some sort of arrangement for sending back these poor people to India might be made, if the Rajas, Nawabs, and Raikes of India could be induced to found a fund for the purpose ; and I again venture to state that, at a time when all sorts of funds and institutions are being established in India for the benefit of the people of the country, it needs only a slight hint to the well-to-do Muhammadans in Bombay, Calcutta, and other leading cities in India to establish a small charity fund for the benefit of these pauper Indian pilgrims, so that, instead of dying here from destitution and starvation, they may be sent back to their native country.

I need hardly mention that, as a matter of course, it will be the duty of those who are entrusted with the management of the fund, whether this Consulate or any other person, to see that only those who are absolutely helpless should be assisted in this way.

Appendix B is a list of vessels which have left this country with homeward bound pilgrims of all classes.

According to it, the total number of Indian pilgrims who have left this place up to date is 8,329, and therefore, taking the number of arrivals into consideration, 1,995 seem to be still left in this country.

The state of the Jeddah-Mecca road since my arrival in this country in 1882 was never so safe as during the year under review; and the same may be said of the Medina road.

During the last two years, on account of the disturbed condition of the road to Medina, which passes through the country of the Harbi Bedouins, large numbers of pilgrims had adopted the sea route, and visited that city by the way of Yembo.

This is much shorter, safer, and cheaper than the old land route.

The journey from Mecca to Medina by land only generally occupies from 13 to 15 days, while the voyage from here to Yembo by steamer occupies only 24 hours, and from Yembo to Medina by camels five days, the whole journey being accomplished in less than half the time usually occupied in travelling throughout by land.

There is also a considerable difference in the expenses of the two journeys. The camel hire from Mecca to Medina is generally from 28 to 30 dollars, while the steamer fare from Jeddah to Yembo is from 2 to 3 dollars only, and the camel hire from Yembo to Medina is on an average 7 dollars, making a total of 10 dollars, which is one-third of the amount required for the expenses of the journey by land only.

It would therefore be in the interests of the pilgrims if they could be apprised of this before they leave India.

Before concluding this report, I beg to make a short statement regarding the working of the dispensary under my charge.

In the year 1882, when I was ordered to proceed to this place, my instructions enjoined me to report on the feasibility of establishing a hospital in Jeddah for the benefit of the Indian pilgrims.

The late Captain Moncrieff, then Her Majesty's Consul at this place, entered into the project warmly; but owing to the objections raised by the then Vafi, Osman Pasha, the scheme for founding a hospital fell to the ground.

To see how far it would be practicable to work a dispensary here, I commenced, as a preliminary, to dispense medicines to such patients as chose of their own free will to call upon me as a medical man for advice and treatment; and the result was that from a beginning of two or three patients as much as 70 people began to attend daily. I continued this system from the 1st of March to the 10th of April 1883 only; and the result, as entered in the return given below, shows that in one month and ten days 203 new patients and 465 old patients were seen:

No.	Month.	NEW CASES.				Old cases.	Total of new and old cases.	Daily average.
		Male.	Female.	Children.	Total.
1	March	33	28	7	67	144	211	6.8
2	April (ten days only) . . .	46	64	26	136	321	457	45.7
	Total	78	92	33	203	465	668	18.25

Soon after, a report on the subject drawn up by me was forwarded to the Government of India on the 28rd May 1883, and the opening of a dispensary in my house was resolved upon; a compounder being sanctioned, arrived here about the end of April 1884, and I commenced to see the sick regularly.

In the year 1884, during the eight months that the work was carried on commencing from the 10th of May 1884, 1,144 new and 3,706 old cases were seen, showing a daily average of 19·87 throughout.

In 1885, 3,858 new cases and 29,534 old patients were treated, resulting in a daily average of 91·49 all the year round.

In 1886 the number of fresh cases who attended was 3,859, while 23,120 old patients were attended to, showing a daily average of 74·11 patients during the year.

Last year the number of new patients amounted to 4,109, and the number of old cases came up to 23,193, making a daily average of 75.

The result of the last four years is shown in the Returns Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4. The prevailing diseases have been fevers, both intermittent and remittent, enlargements of the spleen, diarrhoea, dysentery, diseases of the chest, eye diseases, and a large proportion of sloughing sores and ulcers, with a few cases of abscesses, and other minor operations.

From the above it will be seen that the number of new cases is yearly on the increase.

The dispensary is attended not only by Indians and Indian pilgrims during the Haj Season, but by people of all races and colour who inhabit or congregate in this town.

The Turks, who at first rather kept back, are now attending for advice and relief. Many Turkish soldiers and Zaptiahs prefer to apply at this dispensary rather than at the Government Hospital for medical aid; and I am glad to report that the fame of the "Ajza Khanai Inglez" (English Dispensary) has spread far and wide, and the Bedouins of the desert may also be now and then seen to attend after marching for days on the camel's back.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
FINANCE AND COMMERCE DEPARTMENT.

Decline of the China Tea Trade.

The Governor-General in Council directs that the subjoined correspondence be published for general information.

E. J. SINKINSON,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

No. 31 (Statistics and Commerce), dated 10th May, 1888.

From—The Secretary of State for India,

To—The Government of India.

Letter from Foreign Office, dated 17th March 1888, and enclosures.

Letter to Foreign Office, dated 14th April 1888.

Letter from Foreign Office, dated 19th April 1888.

I forward herewith, for the information of Your Excellency, a copy of correspondence with the Foreign Office on the subject of the decline of the China tea trade.

No. 375-88 B.S. & C., dated 17th March, 1888.

From—SIR P. H. W. CURRIE, K.C.M.G., Assistant Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs,

To—The Under-Secretary of State for India.

I am directed by the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs to transmit to you, to be laid before Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, a copy of a Despatch, as marked in the margin, from Her Majesty's Consul at Canton on the subject of the China tea trade.

Consul Alabaster, Canton, No. 6, dated 3rd February 1888.

No. 6, dated 3rd February, 1888.

From—CHARLES ALABASTER, Esq., Her Britannic Majesty's Consul at Canton,

To—The Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

I have the honour to enclose copy of a Despatch I have addressed to Her Majesty's Minister at Peking, forwarding Minutes of a Meeting of a Committee appointed by the Merchants interested in the Tea Trade at this Port to consider what steps should be taken to prevent the further decline of the trade in Chinese teas.

No. 3, dated 3rd February, 1888.

From—CHARLES ALABASTER, Esq., Her Britannic Majesty's Consul at Canton,

To—Her Britannic Majesty's Minister at Peking.

I have the honour to enclose, for Your Excellency's information, copy of the Minutes of a Meeting of a Committee appointed by the resident Merchants interested in the Tea Trade at this Port to consider various points in regard to the trade generally raised by the Chamber of Commerce at Foochow in correspondence with the Foreign Consuls at that Port.

Your Excellency will observe that the Committee are of opinion that unless China teas are put on an equal footing with Indian teas by the abolition of all likin and export duties—a consummation which is scarcely to be looked for,—the serious decline, if not utter extinction, of the trade is probable.

I purpose laying a copy of the Minutes before the Viceroy for his consideration, although I do not suppose that His Excellency would be prepared to lighten the present burthens under which the trade suffers, and I could scarcely ask him to go so far as the Committee suggest to remove all taxes altogether, as it may prevent any additional taxes in the shape of likin being imposed; and I am also forwarding copy of this letter and enclosure to the Foreign Office, as I understand the Foochow correspondence and letters from the Chambers of Commerce at other Ports have already been forwarded to it.

Minutes of a Meeting of the Committee appointed to enquire into the state of the Tea Trade at Canton, held at Messrs. Deacon & Co.'s house on 26th January 1888.

PRESENT:—Messrs. E. Deacon (in the Chair), K. D. Adams, E. W. Mitchell, and R. B. Allen (Secretary to the Meeting).

Mr. F. O. Deacon was unavoidably absent.

The Chairman having read the notice convening the Meeting, invited the members of the Committee to give their views on the subject under consideration; a prolonged discussion then ensued, and it was finally decided to put the following on record as being some of the points worthy of the consideration of the Chinese authorities, unless the tea trade at Canton is to be seriously crippled, if not altogether annihilated, by the yearly increasing competition with India:—

SECTION I.—Canton Scented Caper.

This description of tea, of which the bulk of the Canton export consists, competes more keenly with Indian kinds than any other class of China teas, being especially useful for mixing purposes. The competition with India is now however growing so severe, and home prices have reached so low a range, that, unless some steps are shortly taken to relieve the produce of the excessive burdens of likin and export duty, a time must arrive when scented tea will cease to be an article of consumption altogether.

As regards quality, the districts from which the best descriptions of leaf arrive, being the most remote from Canton, suffer most heavily from inland taxation; and this induces Native merchants to admix inferior leaf, grown nearer to Canton, and suffering in consequence lighter dues. One of the greatest complaints, however, that buyers have to make is in respect to the large proportion of dust found in the teas. The dust should, if possible, not be sent to Canton from the districts at all, as the Peking dues have to be paid on it as well as on the whole leaf; and this, of course, increases the ultimate cost of the tea. This complaint is specially to be made about leaf arriving from the Loting and Hoyune districts.

SECTION II.—Canton Scented Orange Pekoe.

It may almost be said that this class (both the long and short leaf descriptions) has already been beaten out of the field by the success of Indian teas: this is amply proved by the significant fact that, during the past ten years, the export from Canton has fallen from 3,870,000 lbs. to 1,100,000 lbs. This decrease in export continues year by year; and it now seems impossible that this class of tea can regain its lost position on the London markets.

SECTION III.—Cougous.

Of this kind, the best teas arrive from the Tayshan districts; and, as a rule there is a steady market for these in London. The only suggestion that might be made is that better quality would be obtained if growers were contented with fewer pickings during the year. Experience has shown that teas plucked in the months of August and September are deficient in every quality except "make," and the picking of the leaf in these months affects the supply as well as the quality of the autumn crop, which is the best produced from the district.

SECTION IV.—Weights.

It is worthy of remark that teas shipped from Canton waters invariably lose in weight on the homeward voyage, whereas those shipped from Foochow and the Northern ports always show a distinct gain. The remedy for this is in the hands of the Imperial Maritime Customs, for Native packers are prepared to allow an extra $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. per box, provided no export duty is charged on it—a concession which the Imperial Maritime Customs will not grant.

SECTION V.—General,

The steady fall in exchange during late years has been of material assistance to the China grower, for it has enabled tea shippers to lay down their purchases in London at lower sterling prices year by year, while paying almost the same tael prices to the Chinese as formerly. The Native grower must be looked to for any improvement in manufacture or production; and as long as he feels no necessity for such improvement, it need not be expected.

The members of the Committee have read with much interest the correspondence which has already been published by the Shanghai and Foochow Chambers of Commerce relating to the decline of the China tea trade, and they heartily concur in the opinions expressed by these bodies, and consider that the only real remedy for preventing the total extinction of the trade is the abolition of all likin and export duties, so that the China article may be on the same footing as the Indian, Ceylon, and Java, all of which are free from tax.

No. 375 R.S. & C., dated 14th April, 1888.

From—J. A. GODLEY, Esq., C.B., Under-Secretary of State for India,

To—The Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

I am directed by the Secretary of State for India in Council to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 17th ultimo, enclosing a copy of papers relative to the decline of the China tea trade at Canton.

I am to request that, if possible, this office may be furnished with a copy of the correspondence published by the Shanghai and Foochow Chambers of Commerce on the same subject, with a view to the whole being communicated to the Government of India for their information.

Dated 19th April, 1888.

From—SIR T. V. LISTER, K.C.M.G., Assistant Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs,

To—The Under-Secretary of State for India.

With reference to your letter marked 375 R.S. & C. of the 14th instant, I am directed by the Marquis of Salisbury to state to you, for the information of Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, that Her Majesty's Minister at Peking has been instructed to communicate to the Indian Government copies of the correspondence published by the Shanghai and Foochow Chambers of Commerce on the subject of the decline of the tea trade.

Sir J. Walsham has also been requested to furnish copies of these papers to the Foreign Office and as soon as they are received they will be communicated to the India Office.

Final Memorandum on the Snowfall of the cold weather, 1887-88, in Northern India,

The snowfall reports that have come to hand since the preparation of the preliminary note on the cold weather snowfall in the Himalayas and abnormal features of the weather in India during the months November 1887 to March 1888 are few in number. No reports have been received during the present season from the Darjeeling District Officer, and hence accounts of the snowfall on the Sikkhim Himalayas are not available for comparison with those of previous years.

The Deputy Commissioner of the Peshawar District states that no snow is reported to have fallen in the hills adjacent to the Yusufzai Subdivision.

The Deputy Commissioner, Kangra, has sent the following statement of the depth of snow in the passes of his district at the end of the month of April. The depth of snow on several of the passes on the same date of last year is given for comparison :

District.	Name of Pass.	Height.	Reported depth of snow, April 30th, 1888.	Reported depth of snow, April 30th, 1887.

The Assistant Commissioner, Kulu, sends the following remarks on the depth of snow in the Kulu passes and the weather. He says :

" The Rotang Pass is not yet passable to laden animals, but sheep and travellers have crossed in large numbers during the month of April. The snow on the Bubu has probably been measured in some sheltered spot, for the pass has been open nearly the whole of the month. In Plach the Jalori and Basleo passes have been open throughout the month, and the foot of snow recorded as lying on them merely represents a sprinkling from a snowstorm which occurred at the end of April.

There were slight falls of snow down to 9,000 feet on the 1st, and again on the 24th, but not more than 2 or 3 inches fell on either occasion. The month, with the exceptions of these two days, was warm and clear. The weather in the first week of May was broken, and several thunderstorms occurred, which reduced temperature considerably; and snow has almost certainly fallen on the higher ranges, although no reports have as yet been received."

The Reverend Mr. Ledslob, writing on the 18th of May from Leh, gives some valuable information of the stormy weather of the first week of that month in Ladakh. He says that Leh was the northern limit of the disturbed weather. Some snow fell in the valley on the 3rd and on the hills to the north. It was followed by very cold weather, and the cold was most intense on the 8th when the grass radiation thermometer fell to 9°. An extraordinary amount of snow fell as far as Purig and 4½ feet fell at Surna. The communication with Kashmir was hence interrupted for about a week.

The amount of snow on the hills in the neighbourhood does not exceed the average, and is probably under it, as Mr. Dalgleish managed to cross the passes with laden ponies between the 20th of March and the 9th of April, and traders are now coming in to Leh regularly from the north.

These additional snowfall reports confirm the conclusions given in the preliminary note. It is hence almost certain:

1st.—That the snowfall over the greater part of the Afghan mountain tract and the North-West Himalayan area has been much smaller than the normal during the past winter and up to the end of April. The same was the case to a less extent during the preceding cold weather of 1886-87. It is hence very probable that the extent and depth of snow on the Himalayas is less at present than it has been at the same date for the past five or six years. This inference is confirmed to some extent by the smaller depth of snow on the higher passes in Plach at the end of April 1888 than at the end of April 1887, and by statements which have recently appeared in the newspapers, e.g., "The Indus and the Sutlej are both low this year, and the Dera Ghazi Khan and Mooltan districts are suffering in consequence." (Pioneer of June 6th.)

2nd.—The snowfall during the past winter in the Eastern Himalayas has been normal or (perhaps) slightly below the average.

The weather in Northern India during the past three months—March to May—has been such as usually accompanies very deficient snowfall in the Himalayas. Temperature has increased more rapidly than usual, and higher temperatures have been registered in the Punjab than for some years past. One important effect of rapidly increasing temperature in Northern India is to give rise to brief periods of general disturbance. The chief features are strong sea winds across the Bengal Coast, thunderstorms in Bengal and near the hills in Northern India, and duststorms in the plains of the Punjab and Central India. These form as it were the local expression of the disturbance. These periods rarely last for more than three or four days, and are again succeeded by fine, clear weather with another burst of rapidly increasing temperature in the interior. These features have been present in an exaggerated form during the past hot weather. The southerly winds in Bengal were unusually strong in April and May, and almost increased to a gale on several occasions. Hot weather thunderstorms and hailstorms have been more numerous and more violent than for many years, and have in several cases developed into tornadoes, comparable in destruction to life and property with the whirlwinds that occur in the summer in the south-western districts of the Mississippi Valley in the United States.

Finally the pressure anomalies or variations from the normal are also such as accompany diminished snowfall in the mountain districts of Northern India. The pressure anomalies of May are identical in character and almost identical in amount with those of the month of April, described in the preliminary note. This shows that they are remarkably persistent, and due to some large and permanent cause. They are thus one expression of the meteorological conditions prevailing in India immediately antecedent to the advance of the south-west monsoon current of the present year, and hence indicate partially, if not entirely, the modifications that current will undergo during its advance into and prevalence over India.

The following are the chief anomalies of the month of May:

1st.—Pressure was slightly below the average over India.

2nd.—Pressure was, relatively to the general state, locally in defect in Burmah, Assam, Bengal, the North-West Provinces, the Punjab, and the greater part of Rajputana and Sind. The deficiency was slight on the Burmese, Bengal, and Sind Coasts, and increased from the coast to East Assam in one direction and to the Punjab in the other. The following gives the anomalies in thousands of an inch :

	Anomaly.
Toung-hoo	— 6
Calcutta	— 6
Dhubri	— 26
Sibsagar	— 38
Saugor Island	— 9
Allahabad	— 18
Agra	— 16
Lahore	— 49
Peshawar	— 81

There is a local area of slightly different pressure relatively to neighbouring districts in North and Central Behar.

3rd.—Pressure is relatively in excess over the greater part of the Peninsula. This excess is greatest and large in the West Deccan and Central Provinces, as is shown by the following :

Belgaum	+ 46
Poona	+ 39
Sholapur	+ 50
Bellary	+ 58
Malegaon	+ 48
Akola	+ 31
Nagpur	+ 40
Jubbulpur	+ 41

The excess is less in the Bombay Coast districts than it was in April, and it is slightly greater in the Deccan.

The variations are thus in many respects similar to those of last year. The chief differences are that the excess pressure in the Deccan extends this year into the Central Provinces, and is somewhat more strongly marked, and that there is this year a largish deficiency of pressure in Assam and probably North Bengal, where last year there was a slight excess.

Hence, in the absence of information respecting the conditions on the sea area whence the current advances, the conclusions given in the preliminary note appear to require little or no modification. They are as follows :

1st.—The low pressure which at present obtains over Northern India from East Bengal to the Punjab and increases in amount westwards, favours the early establishment of the Bengal current over Bengal and the Gangetic Valley, to which it will probably give normal or abundant rain.

2nd.—The distribution of pressure in Southern India (more especially in the West Deccan and Central Provinces) is such as is usually associated with delay in the establishment of the monsoon on the Bombay Coast, and with diminished rainfall in the Bombay Deccan.

3rd.—The unfavourable conditions in Southern India accompany favourable conditions in North-West India as was the case last year. It is hence not probable that the monsoon rainfall in the Deccan and Central Provinces will be largely reduced below its normal amount.

It will thus be seen that, with the exception of the high pressure conditions in the West Deccan, indications are favourable for a strong and early monsoon.

It may be added that the presence of the high pressure area in the Central Provinces will probably cause the cyclonic storms of the rains to advance along a westerly track further to the north than usual.

Weather Review of India for the week ending 8 a.m. on Monday, June 4th, 1888.

During the past week the weather in Southern India and in Burmah, that is the regions which last week were within the influence of the feeble monsoon currents which were affecting the southern parts of the Indian region, has remained almost unchanged, damp, warm weather, with occasional showers having been reported; but over Northern India there has taken place a slow and gradual, but very important change. The week opened with an excessively high temperature over the whole of North-Western and Central India, but after the 28th the amount of water vapour in the atmosphere steadily rose, and as it did so the heat was mitigated and the day temperatures quickly fell. At the close of the week the weather had a very unsettled appearance. A small cyclonic storm was forming over the centre of the Bay, and as the rains of Upper India are usually ushered in through the medium of one of these disturbances, the general appearance of the weather on the morning of the 3rd favoured the idea of a strong rush of monsoon winds at least in Bengal and that part of India.

On the morning of the 28th there existed, as was the case at the close of the previous week, large pressure differences between Southern and Northern India. The barometer was lowest in the Punjab and highest in Tenasserim, but an arm of relatively low pressure extended south-eastward across Bundelkhand to Chutia Nagpur. This distribution was accompanied with westerly and north-westerly winds in Western and Central India, southerly winds on the West Coast of the Bay, and easterly winds in Bengal and along the foot of the hills. With this extension of easterly winds over Northern India the humidity rose and temperature fell. The previous day had been the hottest experienced for some years in Upper India, the maximum temperature rising to 123° at Jacobabad, to 118° at Sirsa, and to 117.5° at Jhansi and Dera Ismail Khan. In Southern India, Burmah, Lower Bengal, and Assam slight rain had fallen, and the temperature in those regions was not excessive. On the 29th conditions were similar to, but more developed than those on the 28th. There was a larger barometric difference between Southern and Northern India, and the accompanying winds were in many cases stronger. At Galle and Colombo the wind was blowing with almost full monsoon strength, and the easterly current over Northern India was more developed than on the preceding day. Humidity had still further increased at several stations, and the rainfall area had extended. Rain was reported from almost every station in Southern India and in Burmah, as well as from Assam, Bengal, the east of the North-West Provinces, and the hill stations in the North-Western Himalayas. In Upper India the rainfall accompanied dust and thunderstorms. Temperature had fallen, except over the Central parts of India and of the Peninsula, and the sky was exceedingly cloudy in Bengal and the south of the Peninsula. On the 30th the distribution of pressure, the circulation of the winds, and the rainfall were generally similar to those reported on the 29th, except that the wind had shifted to North in Lower Bengal and precipitation had ceased in the east of the North-West Provinces. Temperature changes were somewhat irregular, though there had been a fall on the West Coast, in the Deccan, Bengal, and Behar. The maxima were still high in North-Western India, the highest recorded being 121.5° at Jacobabad, 117.4° at Sirsa, 115° at Jhansi, and 114° at Nagpur. The Chart on the morning of the 31st showed that a small shallow area of depression had been formed over the North-West Provinces, and that gradients were less steep over North-Western India. The winds were less regular in Upper India than for some days previously, but the rainfall in the Punjab had increased somewhat. In Southern India, on the contrary, the area of rainfall had decreased, and was almost confined to the West Coast. In Burmah, Assam, and Bengal slight rain continued to fall generally. Temperature had decreased very quickly in the Punjab. On June 1st the difference of pressure between the South and North had again increased. Pressure was lowest in the Punjab, relatively low within a tongue of low readings running south-eastward from Jeypore to Raipur, and high over the south of the Bay. The winds were strong on the Ceylon and West Coasts, but were even weaker and more irregular in Northern India than on the previous day. Rain had still further decreased. It had ceased in Arakan and Bengal, and almost ceased in Southern India. The only regions from which falls were reported were a few stations in Travancore and Ceylon, from the shores of the Gulf of Martaban, from Assam, and from the North-West Provinces. The amounts were almost everywhere small. Temperature had very generally fallen, except in Southern India and parts of Bengal, where the cessation of rainfall had resulted in a rise. The maxima were very generally lower than for some days past, the highest being 117° at Jacobabad and 112° at Raipur. The Chart of the following day (June 2nd) showed large and important changes in barometric pressure; perhaps the most important being the tendency to the formation of a barometric depression over the centre of the Bay. Very strong winds were blowing at Colombo, and the winds on the Pegu Coast had shifted round to East. Rain in small or moderate amounts had fallen round the upper part of the Bay, in parts of Bengal and Assam, and in the Punjab and the North-West and Central Provinces. On the Malabar Coast a fall of $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches was reported. The humidity of the air was high, more especially in Northern India, where the weather was about as damp as during the rains. Temperature had fallen over Northern and Central India. On the 3rd the Chart showed that a small cyclonic storm had been formed to the north-west of the Andamans. Gradients were steep to the southward of this storm, but pressure was very uniform throughout Northern India. The wind was rather strong and cyclonic on the Burmah Coast, and the weather was probably squally and stormy over the centre and south of the Bay. Temperature was nowhere excessive, and in the Punjab and North-West Provinces was very cool for the time of year. Rain was falling in Burmah, Lower Bengal, Assam, in the south of the Peninsula, and in parts of the Punjab.

The rainfall return of the past week shows that the rainfall area is extending. In the North-West Provinces and the Punjab—indeed over nearly the whole of North-Western and a large part of Central India—there was no rain last week, while the present return shows very fair rain over the whole of that region. In Lower Burmah the amounts are generally lighter than they were last week, but the rainfall has extended well into Upper Burmah, where copious showers have fallen. Of the districts in Lower Burmah, Amherst received the largest rainfall, $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches, followed by Moulmein with $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches, and Rangoon and Pegu with about 4 inches. In the Upper Provinces, Shwegyin reports 8 inches as the total for the head-quarters station, and an average of $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches for the district. The districts of Yamethin, Kyaukse, and Yeu also had an average rainfall varying between $2\frac{1}{2}$ and 3 inches, so that the rainfall of Burmah may be considered to be progressing favourably. In Assam there was heavy and continuous rain throughout the week. In the Cachar district the average fall exceeded 1 inch a day. At Cherrapungi the week's fall amounted to nearly 13 inches. In Bengal rain apparently fell in almost all districts, and in some of them, more particularly in North and East Bengal, the week's fall was large. In Tipperah one station had a fall of 11 inches, and the average of the district was $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches; in Myensingh one station received 13 inches, and the average of the district was $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches. In North Bengal the falls were rather lighter, but Dinagore received 9 inches and Bogra 5 inches. In Behar the rainfall was heavy, largely exceeding the normal average. In the North-West Provinces, as mentioned above, rather heavy and fairly constant showers characterised the weather. In consequence nearly every district reports rainfall, and the average of the week, as well as the average up to date, generally exceeds the normal. The heaviest falls of rain were in the more eastern districts.

In the Punjab the rain was not so heavy as in the North-West Provinces. It fell very generally throughout the eastern districts, and light showers were also reported from many districts in the north and west.

Malabar had constant rain. The average of the district was 1 inch per diem, but Tellicherry had nearly 2 inches per diem. In Bombay the rainfall was deficient. Some places on the West Coast and in the Deccan had fairly heavy rain, but on the whole the rainfall, both for the week and for the season, is short of the average. In the northern parts of the Presidency there was no rain.

The Berars appear to have had no rain, and the Central Provinces only slight local showers. In Madras the rainfall was general and well distributed, but except in the south there were no heavy falls of rain, and even in the south little that calls for remark. In the Salem, Trichinopoly, Madura, Coimbatore, and Nilgiris districts maximum falls exceeding 4 inches are reported, but the district averages are small, and as a whole the seasonal totals are deficient.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 2nd June, 1888.—Slight rain in most districts, but more wanted in Vizagapatam, Trichinopoly, Madura, Tinnevely, Coimbatore, and Salem. Crops generally good; affected by want of rain in Vizagapatam and by insects in Coimbatore. Pasture scanty in Anantapur, North Arcot, Madura, and Salem, and decreasing in Vizagapatam and Cuddapah. Agricultural operations progressing. Prices generally rising where not stationary. General prospects favourable.

Bombay.—For week ending 6th June, 1888.—Rain in parts of Shikarpur, Ahmedabad, Kaira, Nasik, Colaba, Ratnagiri, Poona, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Bijapur, Belgaum, Dharwar, Kanara, and Kathiawar. Harvesting of late crops still incomplete in parts of Hyderabad. Ploughing for next season completed in Ratnagiri, and progressing elsewhere. Sowing of early crops in progress in Kurrachee, Shikarpur, Hyderabad, Colaba, Bijapur, Belgaum, Dharwar, and Kanara. Fodder scarce in parts of Thana, Ratnagiri, and Kathiawar.

Bengal.—For week ending 5th June, 1888.—Pretty general rain all over the Province during the week. In some of the Northern and Eastern Bengal districts the falls have been rather excessive, but more rain is wanted in places in South-West Bengal and in Hazaribagh and South Bhagalpur. Cultivation is everywhere well forward, and sowings are progressing rapidly. In many places early rice and jute are already up and thriving well. Prospects of sugarcane, indigo, and other crops on the ground are generally very favourable. Spring rice harvest is still going on in some districts, with satisfactory outturn. Price of rice generally remains almost stationary.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 6th June, 1888.—The weather is cloudy, and storms and rain have occurred in nearly all districts. Extra crops are in good condition, and the ground is being prepared for the kharif. Sugarcane is doing well. Supplies are sufficient, and prices generally continue steady. The condition of cattle continues satisfactory.

Punjab.—For week ending 6th June, 1888.—Rain has fallen in all districts, except Mooltan. A rise in prices is reported from two districts; in others the prices are stationary or falling. Kharif ploughings and sowings are in progress; harvesting and threshing of rabi crops nearly completed. Kharif crops, where sown, are in good condition. Rabi prospects and outturn are reported average. Rabi and fruits slightly damaged by storm at Amritsar. Stock cattle are reported healthy. Pasturage or fodder in three districts scarce; in remaining sufficient. Opium produce very small at Rawalpindi.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 6th June, 1888.—Weather cloudy and warm. Land being prepared for autumn sowings. Sugarcane crops in Sambalpur damaged by scarcity of water. Cattle in fair condition.

Burma.—For week ending 2nd June, 1888.—Ploughing for wet weather rice progresses. Rain fell in all districts, but in Thayetmyo in Lower Burma and in Mandalay, Sagaing, Pagan, and Lower Chindwin districts of Upper Burma the rainfall was insignificant. The price of rice has risen in Thayetmyo and Tounghoo in Lower Burma and at Yeu and Meiktela in Upper Burma; it has fallen in Prome in Lower Burma and in Kyaukse and Myingyan in Upper Burma; elsewhere the price of foodgrain is stationary.

Assam.—For week ending 6th June, 1888.—Weather seasonable everywhere, except in Sibsagar, where more heat is wanted for tea. Prospects of crops generally good, except in Sylhet, where much injury has been done by excessive rainfall.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 6th June, 1888.—Rainfall slight in civil and military station and Bangalore district, and good in other parts. Standing crops in good condition. Sowing operations nearly completed. Outturn of harvests fair. Condition of cattle good.

Slight rainfall in Coorg during the week.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 6th June, 1888.—Weather warm and sometimes cloudy. Land is under preparation for the ensuing kharif crop. Agricultural stock generally in good condition. Scarcity of fodder in Amraoti, Akola, and Wun districts, and also in Pusad taluk in Bassein district. No marked change in prices of foodgrains.

Slight rain in Hyderabad during the week. Agricultural prospects fair. Prices stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 6th June, 1888.—Slight rainfall in Indore and Bundelkhand. Agricultural operations have been started in Bhopal and Western Malwa, and completed in other Agencies. Probable outturn of harvest fair, except in Bhopal, where below average, owing to crops being damaged by hail. Agricultural stock and pasturage fairly good in Agencies, except in Bhopal and Western Malwa, where they are indifferent. Prices reported high in Bhopal this week. No change in other Agencies. Weather cloudy and close in Indore, and every prospect of monsoon approaching.

Rajputana.—For week ending 6th June, 1888.—Fair amount of rain throughout the State. Agricultural operations about to commence. No crops standing over at present. Harvests and agricultural stock good generally. Pasturage or fodder sufficient. Prices steady; slightly rising in some places.

Nepal.—For week ending 31st May, 1888.—Slight rain. Weather cloudy. Condition of crops good.

NOTIFICATION.

RULES REGARDING PURCHASES MADE BY AGENTS OF THE COMMISSARIAT DEPARTMENT.

1. Agents of the Commissariat Department have, by virtue of their office, the care and the responsibility for the safe and proper storing and keeping, in the places appointed for the custody thereof, of all goods in their charge. They are also at times required to make purchases on behalf of Government, for which they are provided with public funds.

2. If agents, instead of receiving advances from Commissariat Officers, obtain goods from vendors on credit, and pay for them after receipt of payment of their bills for the said goods, it should be understood that such procedure is unauthorized and beyond the scope of their authority, and the outside public and dealers in general are hereby informed that the Commissariat Department does not hold itself responsible for any debts or liabilities which are incurred by its agents, unless they are specially authorized by the Commissariat Officer to purchase on credit.

3. The transactions of Commissariat agents are entirely between themselves and the vendors; the Commissariat Officer pays the vendors and not the vendor's bills; and the circumstance of the purchaser being an agent of the State will not render the State liable for purchases made on credit given to the agent.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series.—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series. The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively. In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st April, 1888, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

Irrigation.

REVENUE REPORT OF IRRIGATION WORKS IN SIND FOR 1886-87.

No. 961, dated Simla, the 22nd May, 1888.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Public Works Department.

Read—

Letter from the Government of Bombay, No. 48 W.-I.—622, dated 27th March 1888, submitting the Revenue Report of the Irrigation Department in Sind for 1886-87, and the Resolution of the Government of Bombay thereon.

OBSERVATIONS.—The Irrigation Systems in Sind consist, altogether, of 5,824 miles of canals and 602 miles of embankments. Capital Accounts are kept for only eleven systems which comprise 2,549 miles of canals and 229 miles of embankments. The capital expenditure on these works has been as follows :—

				Number of Works.	Expenditure during 1886-87.	Expenditure to end of 1886-87.
					R	R
Productive Public Works	Direct	:	:	4	2,34,844	78,47,391
	Indirect	:	:		5,793	2,69,846
TOTAL				4	2,40,637	81,17,237
Minor Works (of which Capital and Revenue Ac- counts are kept).	Direct	:	:	7	...	30,75,900
	Indirect	:	:		...	1,35,284
TOTAL				7	...	32,11,184
GRAND TOTAL				11	2,40,637	1,13,28,421

The Productive Public Works consist of 622 miles of canals and 228 miles of embankments, the Minor Works of 1,927 miles of canals and one mile of embankment. The works for which capital accounts are not kept are more extensive and bring in a larger revenue than those for which Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept.

2. The actual financial results of the year 1886-87, as shewn in the Revenue Accounts, were as follows :—

				Gross Revenue.	Working expenses.	Net Revenue.	Percentage of Net Revenue on Total Capital outlay to end of the year.
				R	R	R
Productive Public Works	Direct	:	:	1,00,540	2,29,016
	Indirect	:	:	5,81,343	6,760
TOTAL				6,81,883	2,35,776	4,46,107	5'49
Minor Works (of which Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept).	Direct	:	:	38,893	4,29,118
	Indirect	:	:	8,59,417	11,385
TOTAL				8,98,310	4,40,503	4,57,807	14'25
GRAND TOTAL				15,80,193	6,76,279	9,03,914	7'97

while the minor irrigation works, of which no capital accounts are kept, gave these results :—

				Gross Revenue.	Working Expenses.	Net Revenue.
Indirect				17,56,210
TOTAL				18,05,069	8,47,630	9,57,439

The agricultural works gave a revenue of *R*9,846, and *R*1,73,744 was expended upon them.

These results must be considered to be very satisfactory. The works of which capital accounts are kept are paying a considerably higher percentage than that at which the money for their construction or improvement has or would have been borrowed. The total net revenue of the year on all the irrigation works combined is considerably in excess of the average of the last three years, and is nearly equal to the most favourable of those years, 1884-85, when the revenue was exceptionally good.

3. The above statement, moreover, does not fully express the revenue which is attributable to these works. The jaghir lands in Sind, which are irrigated from the canals, do not pay to the credit of the works the revenue which, from a commercial point of view, is due to them. Were such revenues credited, the net revenue of the Productive Public Works would be increased by ₹77,615, that of the minor works (of which capital accounts are kept) by ₹1,40,563, and the remaining minor works by ₹1,32,036 during the year 1886-87. These amounts must be regarded as a contribution made by the canals to the jaghirdars.

4. The major irrigation works in Sind, that is, the four Productive Public Works, shew, collectively, a net profit to the State up to the end of the year of ₹5,35,967. The total net revenue up to the end of the year has exceeded the interest charges by that amount. Three of the four systems show a total net revenue in excess of interest charges; but one, the Eastern Nara Canals, has not yet done so.

5. The foregoing paragraphs refer to the actual revenue realised and brought to book in the accounts. The following statement shows the assessed revenue of 1886-87 as compared with that of the three previous years:—

	1886-87.			ASSESSMENT DUE TO CANALS.
	Gross assessment.	Deduct "average before improvements."	Assessment due to Canals, 1886-87.	1885-86.	1884-85.	1883-84.
Productive Public Works . . .	7,17,370	28,300	6,89,070	6,59,917	6,25,777	4,95,023
Minor Works (of which Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept) . . .	12,61,222	3,74,707	8,86,515	7,77,374	9,86,657	8,94,510
Minor Works (of which Capital and Revenue Accounts are not kept) . .	17,89,547	...	17,89,547	17,25,954	17,49,484	14,72,848
Agricultural Works	9,846	...	9,846	11,089	8,241	4,344
TOTAL	37,77,985	4,03,007	33,74,978	31,74,334	33,70,159	28,66,725

The "average before improvements," which is shewn in the above statement, represents the average assessment which was due to the old works before they were taken over and improved by the British Government; the actual receipts on this account are not shewn as Canal Revenue in the Administrative or Finance Accounts; so that the "assessment due to Canals" is the assessment truly comparable with the revenue which is actually credited to the works as stated in paragraph 2 above.

The above statement of the assessments is exclusive of the "difference of assessment on jaghir lands," but includes the "Hakaba" which is an actual receipt.

6. The areas irrigated in 1886-87 by the different classes of works are shewn in the following statement as compared with those of the three previous years. The areas given below are those on which the "gross assessments" of the foregoing table are based :—

	1886-87.			1885-86.	1884-85.	1883-84.
	Government Lands.	Jaghir Lands.	TOTAL.
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
Productive Public Works	332,145	77,026	409,171	402,004	392,386	323,795
Minor Works (of which Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept)	509,733	72,388	582,121	541,070	592,448	539,810
Minor Works (of which Capital and Revenue Accounts are not kept)	746,519	71,570	818,089	790,973	794,355	675,104
Agricultural Works	5,269	...	5,269	5,872	3,984	2,122
TOTAL	1,593,666	220,984	1,814,650	1,739,919	1,783,173	1,540,831

The area of cultivation under the canals is the largest on record since 1878-79, when 2,016,089 acres were irrigated. The areas show an increase in all districts as compared with those of the previous year, except in the case of the Begari Canals, where there was a falling off on both the Desert and the Begari Canal due in the former case chiefly to the unfavourable set of the Indus at the mouth of the Canal, and, in the latter case, to the formation of a sand-bank at the mouth of the creek, which supplies the Begari Canal.

7. The working expenses of the year under review, including indirect charges, are shewn in the following statement :—

	1886-87.	1885-86.	1884-85.	1883-84.
	R	R	R	R
Productive Public Works	2,35,776	2,18,952	2,16,713	1,83,594
Minor Works (of which Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept)	4,40,503	4,81,187	4,91,846	3,91,602
Minor Works (of which Capital Accounts are not kept)	8,47,630	8,13,623	8,37,165	8,83,032
Agricultural Works	1,73,744	63,238	55,935	91,493
TOTAL	16,97,653	15,77,000	16,01,659	15,49,721
AVERAGE PER ACRE IRRIGATED	0.93	0.90	0.89	1.00

The increase in working expenses may be partly ascribed to the increase in the mileage of canals and embankments which have increased by 123 and 78 miles, respectively, since 1883-84, but mainly to the expenditure of Rs 1,26,298 on a new loop to the Kashmor Bund, which was rendered necessary by the rapid and dangerous erosion of the river in the neighbourhood of Kashmor. The charges for the maintenance of this and other embankments in Sind are treated in the above statement, and are spoken of in the Revenue report, as though they were charges properly debitable against the revenue of the canals in Sind: a portion of these charges only should, strictly speaking, be so debited, as the bunds serve important interests which are unconnected with irrigation.

8. The remissions of revenue on Government lands were ₹1,36,419 or nearly ₹20,000 less than in the previous year. They were still, however, considerably above the average on account of a heavy remission of ₹90,240 which was granted in the Ghar Canals district on account of deficient supply to lands on certain parts of the canals.

9. The unrealised balances, both on account of revenue due to the canals on Government land and on jaghir land, were considerably decreased during the year, the amounts outstanding were ₹92,055 and ₹90,289, respectively. The outstanding on jaghir lands are mainly in Khelat Territory, where several matters connected with irrigation revenue and remissions are not in a satisfactory condition.

The year, on the whole, was a most satisfactory one for the Irrigation Systems in Sind; the inundation was very good; the gross assessed revenue was the largest on record, and the area irrigated has rarely been exceeded; the working expenses, though larger than those of past years, must still, under the circumstances detailed, be considered moderate.

The Revenue Report of irrigation works in Sind has been received by the Government of India on the following dates:—

" 1884-85	on the 20th of February 1886.
" 1885-86	on the 22nd of February 1887.
" 1886-87	on the 31st of March 1888.

In reviewing the report of 1884-85, the Government of Bombay noticed that that report "had been submitted with increased punctuality, and it is confidently expected that this improvement will progress." The Governor-General in Council notices with regret that the improvement has not progressed. The Superintending Engineer's report for the year 1886-87 is dated the 23rd December 1887; the letter from the Government of Bombay forwarding the report to the Government of India is dated the 27th March 1888, or more than three months later. It is explained that "the delay in issuing the Report is principally due to the delay in printing it and its accompaniments." It is considered that this cause of delay might be easily obviated.

ORDER.—Ordered, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Government of Bombay, in the Public Works Department, for information.

Also, that a copy of this Resolution, of the Report, and of the Resolution by Madras, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and the Punjab. the Government of Bombay, be forwarded for information to the Governments noted in the margin, in the Public Works Department.

Also, that a copy of this Resolution, of the Report, and of the Resolution by the Government of Bombay, be forwarded to the Department of Finance and Commerce and to the Revenue and Agricultural Department, for information.

Also, that a copy of this Resolution, the Resolution by the Local Government, and the Memorandum by the Commissioner in Sind, together with the general abstract of financial results, be forwarded to the Publisher of the Gazette of India for publication in the Gazette Supplement.

Also, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to Her Majesty's Secretary of State.

R. HOME, Colonel, R.E.,
Deputy Secretary to the Government of India.

Enclosure to P. W. D. Resolution No. 96 I. of 1888.

No. 48 W. I.—622 of 27th March 1888.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of Bombay, Public Works Department.

Read—

Letter from the Superintending Engineer for Irrigation in Sind, No. 2670, dated 23rd December 1887—Submits the Revenue Report of Irrigation Works in Sind for 1886-87, with the usual tables, charts and index map of Sind, and explains the cause of delay in submitting it.

RESOLUTION.—The Irrigation Works in Sind, to which this report refers, comprise in all 5,824 miles of canal and 602 miles of river embankments. During the year 1886-87, the area of cultivation on the canals was 1,814,650 acres, including 220,984 acres of jaghir, and the irrigation or water share of the net consolidated assessment was ₹35,89,499. The total canal revenue amounted to ₹37,77,985.

The expenditure on maintenance and repairs was ₹10,99,852, and including outlay on extension and improvements and collection charges, the total charges against Revenue amounted to ₹16,79,508.

2. These figures, as compared with those of the previous year, show an increase of 74,731 acres in area of cultivation, and an increase in the irrigation share of net consolidated assessment of ₹1,56,309. The total canal revenue shows an improvement of ₹2,00,644.

3. The expenditure of the year (total charges against Revenue) shows an increase of ₹1,20,380, comprised as follows:—

	1885-86.	1886-87.
Extension and Improvements	1,28,984	2,00,615	71,631
Maintenance and Repairs	8,31,148	8,27,922	—3,226
Establishment—
Public Works	2,82,781	3,21,577	38,796
Revenue (collection charges)	3,16,215	3,29,394	13,179
	15,59,128	16,79,508	1,20,380

4. The net canal revenue during the year was ₹20,98,477, as compared with ₹20,18,213 in 1885-86, showing an improvement of ₹80,264.

5. The loss to canals on account of the difference between assessments of water-rates on jaghir lands and the assessments at the ordinary rates in force for Government lands amounted to ₹3,50,214, as compared with ₹3,79,115 in the previous year.

6. The inundation of 1886 is described as very good, a rise occurred early in May, and between the 15th May and 15th June there were several fluctuations: on the latter date the steady permanent rise for the season commenced. The subsequent level compared very favourably with the average of the previous 10 years, and on 22nd July the level was higher than has ever before been recorded except in 1882.

7. The Superintending Engineer draws attention to the effect of the river embankments (which are described as having now reached an almost perfect state) on the supply in the lower reaches of the river as exhibited by the gauge at Kotri. The steady rise in the river at Kotri, it is stated, continued for quite a month after the initial supply had commenced to fail at Bukkur, and the resulting unusually lengthened supply in the lower reaches of the river adds to the duration of the water in the canals, besides having a very considerable effect in raising the head of supply in them.

8. The subject is both interesting and important, and should be further studied and investigated. The effects ascribed to the embankments which prevent the escape of floods from the river will, of course, be felt less in a year of low inundation, but, otherwise, must have an important bearing on the working of the canals. Mere clearances cannot do more than maintain revenue, when the population is limited. By large outlay for such work, cultivation may be increased on a canal, but the labour available for agriculture being limited, there must be a corresponding falling off elsewhere. These views are those held by a distinguished officer of large experience in Sind,* to whose energy and grasp of the requirements the success of the Eastern Nara Works is a permanent memorial.

That Officer further remarks :—

“When there has been a large and permanent improvement in the revenue, it has been effected by raising the water level of the canals and giving them a supply for a longer period during the year.”

* * * * *

“The effect of setting a large number of people and cattle free, whose labour was formerly employed upon raising water and laborious annual digging out of small but deep field channels, is [was] to at once enormously increase the area of cultivation.”

9. The facilities for improvements in the case of the large majority of the old inundation canals are few, and Government are aware that any radical revision of the existing system of canals will require a large outlay of capital, and any such proposals are barred by present financial exigencies. Operations must, for the present, accordingly be restricted to minor improvements to existing canals, having for their object, as far as may be possible, the improvement in the supply both as regards level and permanency, and to this end the present report goes to show that the effect of the construction and maintenance of the river embankments generally tends.

10. Paragraph 4 of the Superintending Engineer's report refers to variations in the course and set of the river which are the cause of great anxiety and endanger the safety of the revenue and of property over large tracts and often necessitate heavy outlay on additions to the embankments. During the year the revenue on the Ghar was so affected : a large outlay on a loop bund behind the Kashmor bund had to be undertaken and also on loops near Madaji behind the Jhaji bund and behind the Bukrani bund in the southern part of the Karachi Collectorate. The encroachment at the mouth of the Fuleli was, it is understood, not of importance, and is attributable to local causes.

	Kharif.	Rabi.	TOTAL.	Kharif.	Rabi.	TOTAL.
	R	R	R	R	R	R
Consolidated Revenue	33,71,718	5,99,353	39,71,071	36,43,486	4,81,262	41,24,748
Deduct—Remissions	1,45,221	11,195	1,56,416	1,31,062	5,357	1,36,419
Net Consolidated Revenue	32,26,497	5,88,158	38,14,655	35,12,424	4,75,905	39,88,329
Land share 10 per cent.	3,22,649	5,88,165	3,81,465	3,51,240	47,590	3,98,830
Water share 90 per cent.	29,03,848	29,342	34,33,190	31,61,184	4,28,315	35,89,499

The remissions show a decrease, as compared with the previous year, of ₹19,997. Of the total remitted 66 per cent. was on the Ghar Canal, due partly to the state of the river mouth which affected the supply to upper branches. The Superintending Engineer remarks that the great reduction in cultivation on the average, on this canal is not entirely due to a short supply of water, and can only be accounted for by the cultivators dreading a recurrence of last year's failure of supply and therefore not cultivating their lands, and in some cases to their want of capital, due to the failure of their crops last year.

12. Table E shows the balance outstanding for collection on account of the consolidated revenue due to canals as ₹92,055, as compared with ₹1,24,362 in the previous year, showing a decrease of ₹32,307. The figures are, however, not quite understood, the total for collection should apparently be—

Outstandings, as per Table E of report for 1885-86	1,24,362
Net Assessments of year	39,88,329

instead of ₹41,02,756. Explanation of this discrepancy should be furnished.

13. The collections of Hakaba levied on jaghir lands in British territory and in Khelat (Table D) show outstandings to the extent of ₹90,289, as compared with ₹1,31,324 at the end of the previous year. Of the balance, ₹63,774 is due from lands in Khelat. The only other noticeable outstandings are in the Hyderabad Districts, and this is explained by the Commissioner in paragraph 5 of his forwarding memorandum. The question as it affects Khelat lands will be referred to further on.

14. Four of the canal systems in Sind are classed as Major (Productive) Works, namely, the Desert Canal, Unarwah, Begari Canal and Eastern Nara Works. Taken collectively the financial results during and to the end of the year were as follows :—

	DURING YEAR.			TO END OF YEAR.
	Direct.	Indirect.	TOTAL.	Direct.	Indirect.	TOTAL.
	₹	₹	₹	₹	₹	₹
Capital Outlay	2,34,844	5,793	2 40,637	78,47,391	2,69,846	81,17,237
Gross Revenue	1,00,540	5,81,343	6,81,883	8,73,256	86,13,415	94,86,671
Working Expenses	2,29,016	6,760	2,35,776	43,63,375	1,59,752	45,23,127
Net Revenue		4,46,107			49,63,544
Simple Interest		3,09,199			44,27,577
Net Profit after paying off Interest		1,36,908			5,35,967

These results would have been even more satisfactory, but for accidental causes affecting the supply of the Desert and Begari Canals.

15. The revenue from these two works is to some extent dependent on the arrangements for the recovery of revenue from lands irrigated in Khelat Territory. The attention of the Government of India should be drawn to the remarks in paragraph 9 of the Superintending Engineer's report and paragraph 4 of the Commissioner's forwarding memorandum, in view to some action being taken in the Foreign Department to ensure full returns from the water supplied by Government Canals to lands in the territory of His Highness the Khan of Khelat. It might be pointed out that, unless this can be by some means ensured, it will prejudice proposals for the construction or extension of any fresh canals from the Indus for the supply of lands beyond the Frontier.

16. The outlay charged to revenue on works of this class was as follows, as compared with the previous year :—

	1885-86. ₹	1886-87. ₹
Revenue management—
Public Works Establishment .	14,081	13,664
Civil Establishment (collection charges)	61,913	59,664
	75,994	73,328
Maintenance of Works—
Public Works Establishment .	28,173	34,626
Works
Repairs	1,07,963	1,19,574
Tools and Plant	907	884
Plantation	599
	1,37,043	1,55,683
Refund of Revenue	5
	2,13,037	2,29,016
Indirect Charges	5,915	6,760
	2,18,952	2,35,776

These figures show a considerable increase in the charge for Public Works Establishment and in the outlay on repairs.

17. Capital as well as Revenue accounts are kept of 7 other works in Sind, which belong to the class Minor Works. They are, with the exception of the Sukkur Canal (which as originally designed was an entirely new work), canals which have been enlarged and extended within a comparatively recent period at the cost of Government, and their financial results are largely dependent on the deduction made for the former net revenue, due or dependent on the works as they originally stood. Taken together, the financial results of the year after making such deduction show a net revenue of ₹9,03,914, after paying working expenses on a total Capital outlay to the end of the year of ₹1,13,28,421. •

18. As regards the Sukkur Canal it is stated that the revenue is below the working power of the canal, and a defect in the system of assessing lands cultivated in the rabi as well as the kharif season is referred to as affecting the revenue. On this point a separate and special report is promised. It is observed that the head regulator on the main river at Sukkur was opened on 23rd September. Continued attention should be given to this canal with a view to its being made to fulfil its original purpose of affording a large rabi as well as a kharif supply to the lands it commands.

19. The control of the waters of the Fuleli to prevent the canals in the Badin Taluka being surcharged is now under consideration, and a project for a head regulator on the Fuleli has been called for. The proposal to expend three lakhs above the amount yearly expended contemplates, it is understood, the thorough clearance of the canals down to the bed stones set many years ago. In the opinion of the late Superintending Engineer (General LeMesurier) so large an expenditure is absolutely out of the question: it could not be done in one season, and, even if it could and money were available, it would not be advisable as the rise which has taken place in the high water-level of all the canals quite compensates the loss in depth of clearance. While there is some diversity of opinion as to the remedies possible as a whole, there is none as to the necessity for opening out the tail branches of the Lower Fuleli (Guni) and their extension, if possible, into Dhoras or Channels for the escape of surplus water, and this measure should be given effect to as funds become available.

20. The following statement gives particulars in detail of the outlay, charged to Revenue on Minor Works, as compared with that in the previous year :—

GRAND TOTAL		...	13,46,091		14,50,492

21. The total expenditure on repairs was ₹7,07,774, as compared with ₹7,23,185 in 1885-86, showing a decrease of ₹15,441. On the canals the decrease was ₹61,699, and on the bunds there was an increase of ₹46,258. The increase in outlay in the latter case was on the Sukkur-Begari (₹10,076) and the bunds in the Karachi District (₹50,712): the outlay on repairs to the Kashmor bund shows a decrease.

22. In the current year the total grant for repairs to Minor Works has been increased by special grants to ₹9,24,298, and for 1888-89 it has been fixed at ₹7,69,000. These grants, besides fully providing for the river embankments or bunds, should, to some extent, test the limit to which revenue can be increased by their clearance outlay.

23. The information given in Table VIII as regards the duty of water shows in most instances in the case of the more important canals an improvement in the results as compared with the previous year. The Sukkur Canal shows a slight decrease which is perhaps accounted for by the further increase in rice cultivation. On the Mithrau Canal, the duty is shown as 31.78 acres, as compared with 51.55 acres in the previous year: the area of rice here, too, shows a large increase. The matter is not commented upon in the Superintending Engineer's report.

24. It would be convenient if, in future reports, it was made quite clear in the headings of the several tables whether the figures in each case show the assessments or realisations, and whether they include jaghir areas, and Hakaba and Miscellaneous receipts, or not. Also throughout the report further information should be furnished as to the areas of cultivation by flow and lift respectively.

25. During the inundation of 1886, to which the report refers, Major-General LeMesurier held the post of Superintending Engineer. Government concur with the Commissioner in Sind in considering that the results of the year's operations are thoroughly creditable to the Superintending Engineer and the officers of the Department serving under his orders.

26. Copies of the report and of this review should be forwarded to the Government of India and the Secretary of State for India, as usual.

No. 162 OF 1888.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT,

Commissioner's Office,Camp Backorah, 16th January 1888.

No. 2670, dated 23rd December 1887, from the Superintending Engineer for Irrigation in Sind, forwarding Annual Revenue Report of the Irrigation Department in Sind for 1886-87.

Submitted to Government.

2. The report shows the results of the inundation for 1886, the last for which the arrangements were in the hands of Major-General LeMesurier.

3. The results in all divisions were satisfactory so far as they could be controlled by the Department. The net canal revenue results, as given in paragraph 8, are more favourable than in any previous year and are obtained by a general increase in all canal divisions except the Begari, while the results are in all cases considerably above the average of the previous 5 years except in the Ghar Division. The revenue in this division shows a small increase on the previous year, but it is, owing to the continued erosion of the river at the mouth of the Ghar, some two-and-a-half lakhs below what it should be and has been in previous years. Apparently there was some improvement in the supply last year, but the losses the people had recently suffered prevented this improvement being fully utilized. But for the condition of the Ghar the revenue in the year under report would have been considerably the highest ever realized from irrigation in Sind.

4. The remarks of the Superintending Engineer in his ninth paragraph regarding the state of things in Khelat refer to a matter with which the Commissioner cannot deal. The Superintending Engineer very naturally desires to see a full return allowed on large productive works such as the Desert and Begari canals, but Khelat being independent territory, the arrangements are not altogether in the hands of British officials, and the proposal of the Superintending Engineer that a measuring establishment under the Executive Engineer should be employed on these lands is quite impracticable.

5. The explanation as to the outstandings in the Hyderabad District, referred to in the same paragraph, is that the Superintending Engineer's report is for the financial year ending March 31st, on which date one kharif and all the rabi instalments are still to be received. On 31st July 1887, the hakaba outstanding in the Hyderabad District was Rs 2,64-6 only.

6. It is not necessary to follow the Superintending Engineer through the details given in the report. The Commissioner would only draw attention to the evidence afforded by paragraph 37 of the necessity of special expenditure on the Fuleli Canal. The matter is already before Government. The necessity for exceptionally heavy expenditure on Abkalani establishment during the actual inundation is also noticeable as in part explaining the smallness of the balance of the clearance grant which remained for the cold weather work which forms a matter for comment in paragraph 1 of Government Resolution No. 147 W.I.—2044, dated 21st December 1887.

7. For the rest the report requires no further comment, and the results obtained are, in the Commissioner's opinion, thoroughly creditable to the Superintending Engineer and the officers under him.

No. 2362-I.—In modification of the Notification of the Government of India in the Foreign Department, No. 126-G.P., dated 28th April, 1881, it is hereby declared that in clause (2) thereof, for the words "under Act XI of 1865," the words "in all suits of a Civil nature when the amount of value of the subject-matter does not exceed Rs. 500" shall be read.

No. 2364-I.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 4 and 5 of Act XXI of 1879 (The Foreign Jurisdiction and Extradition Act, 1879) and of all other powers enabling him in this behalf, and in supersession of so much of the Foreign Department Notification No. 2252-I., dated 7th August, 1883, as declares that Act XI of 1865 (An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Courts of Small Causes beyond the local limits of the ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction of the High Courts of Judicature) is in force in the civil and military station of Bangalore, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to issue the following Notification with effect from the first day of July, 1888:

Application of Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, to Courts invested with jurisdiction of Court of Small Causes.

I. (1) The provisions of Chapter III and IV of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, relating to—

- the nature of the suits cognizable by Courts of Small Causes;
- the exclusion of the jurisdiction of other Courts in these suits;
- the practice and procedure of Courts of Small Causes;
- appeal from certain orders of those Courts and revision of cases decided by them; and

- (e) the finality of their decrees and orders subject to such appeal and revision as are provided by that Act, apply to Courts in the civil and military station of Bangalore invested with the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes, so far as regards the exercise of that jurisdiction by those Courts:

Provided that in applying the said provisions—

- (i) "the Local Government" and "a Local Government" shall mean "the Resident in Mysore";
- (ii) "High Court" shall mean "Court of the Resident in Mysore";
- (iii) "Value" shall mean the amount or value of the subject-matter of a suit; and
- (iv) to section 24 the following shall be added, namely—"or where the presiding Judge is the Judge of the District Court, to the Court of the Resident in Mysore."

(a) Nothing in sub-section (1) with respect to Courts invested with the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes applies to suits instituted or proceedings commenced in those Courts before the date on which they were invested with that jurisdiction.

II. A Court invested with the jurisdiction of a

Application of Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, and the Code of Civil Procedure to Court so invested as to two Courts.

which are not cognizable by a Court of Small Causes, shall, for the purposes of this Notification and the Code of Civil Procedure, be deemed to be different Courts.

Court of Small Causes with respect to the exercise of that jurisdiction, and the same Court with respect to the exercise of its jurisdiction in suits of a Civil nature

Modification of Code as so applied.

III. Notwithstanding anything in the last two foregoing sections,—

- (a) when, in exercise of the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes, a Court invested with that jurisdiction sends a decree for execution to itself as a Court having jurisdiction in suits of a Civil nature which are not cognizable by a Court of Small Causes, or
- (b) when a Court, in the exercise of its jurisdiction in suits of a Civil nature which are not cognizable by a Court of Small Causes, sends a decree for execution to itself as a Court invested with the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes, the documents mentioned in section 224 of the Code of Civil Procedure shall not be sent with the decree unless in any case the Court, by order in writing, requires them to be sent.

IV. (1) Where a Court invested with the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Continuance of proceedings of Courts which have ceased to have jurisdiction.

Causes has from any cause ceased to have jurisdiction with respect to any case, any proceeding in relation to the case, whether before or after decree, which, if the Court had not ceased to have jurisdiction, might have been had therein, may be had in the Court which, if the suit out of which the proceeding has arisen were about to be instituted, would have jurisdiction to try the suit.

(2) Nothing in this section applies to cases for which special provision is made in the Code of Civil Procedure as extended to Courts of Small Causes, or in any other enactment for the time being in force.

V. In the third division of the second schedule Amendment of Indian Limitation Act, 1877,—

(a) after No. 160 the following shall be inserted, namely:—

WEATHER SUMMARY FOR MAY, 1882.

The relatively dry weather which prevailed during April continued into May, during which month the rainfall over by far the greater part of the country was more or less short of the average. In consequence of this absence of rain very high temperatures prevailed at times, the maxima towards the close of the month, in North-Western India, having been higher than those reported for some years past. The weather during the past May is divisible into three distinct periods. At first the large barometric differences between Northern and Southern India, which were so noticeable during the previous month, were maintained, and strong winds with much local disturbance prevailed. This condition lasted only five days, when pressure rose briskly in the North, and readings became very uniform throughout India. This condition lasted until about the 13th, when pressure again fell over Northern India and rose in the South. After this date pressure gradually recovered its former distribution, a large area of high readings overlying Southern India; while over the Punjab and the Gangetic plain pressure was much below the normal average. During the second period, vis., that of uniform pressures, a small storm was formed in the south-west of the Bay, giving rather rough and unsettled weather to the south of the Peninsula.

On the 1st pressure was highest over the south of the Bay, very low in the Punjab, and relatively low over Chutia Nagpur. The winds over India had a general cyclonic movement—feeding into the low pressure areas—and both at the head of the Bay and in Western India were blowing strongly. Rain had fallen in the neighbourhoods of both low pressure areas, vis., in Bengal and in the North-West Provinces and the Punjab. In both cases the rainfall accompanied dust and thunderstorms. In the west of the North-West Provinces and the east of the Punjab the storms were exceptionally severe, and the hail extraordinarily large and heavy. On the 2nd and 3rd there was very little change. The low pressure over Northern India remained very strongly marked, and the thunder and duststorms severe, though the rainfall accompanying them was generally slight. On the 4th pressure showed signs of increasing in uniformity. The number of storms consequently decreased, the rainfall became lighter, and the winds fell off in strength. On the 5th this tendency towards pressure uniformity had still further increased, and the only rainfall in Northern India was reported from Sibsagar. In the south of the Peninsula some showers were received. On the 6th pressure was very uniform, and the winds light and variable. One or two slight and unimportant thundershowers were reported from Bengal. On the 7th, 8th and 9th barometric readings remained very uniform throughout India, and the winds very light. Thundershowers were not, however, infrequent in Bengal. On the 10th rain fell generally but lightly over Burmah and the south of the Peninsula, and on the 11th a small but well marked cyclonic storm was shown off the Coromandel Coast. Very heavy rain fell at Colombo, and light or moderate rain in the south of the Peninsula and in Burmah. On the 12th the cyclonic storm had advanced westward to the Coast, and the rainfall of the Carnatic had become much heavier. The Chart of the 13th showed that moderate to heavy rain was still falling over the Peninsula, but that the storm had broken up. By the next morning pressure was rising over the Peninsula and falling quickly over Northern India, so that, instead of uniform pressures, the distribution was rapidly assuming the form which it had at the commencement of the month, large differences existing between the North and South. The Chart of the 15th showed a difference of 0.4" between the barometric readings in Ceylon and the Punjab, and strong winds with general cyclonic movements were blowing throughout the greater part of India. Slight rain had fallen in different parts of the Peninsula, but the chief rainfall was in Burmah and Assam. From this date until the close of the month the main features of the pressure distribution remained unchanged, though local modifications occurred from day to day. During the whole period pressure was lowest over North-Western India, relatively low over the Gangetic plain and Chutia Nagpur, and high over the south of the Indian region. Westerly winds were consequently the prevailing current over Western India and the Peninsula; southerly winds over the Bay of Bengal and North-Eastern India; while calms and variable airs were reported from Upper India. On the 16th, 17th and 18th small centres of depression were formed within the low pressure area in Upper India, and thundershowers consequently occurred at several stations. These conditions recurred on the 26th, 29th, 30th, and 31st, and, as on the first occasions, were accompanied by sharp thundershowers. Over Bengal, Burmah, and Assam more or less rain was of almost daily occurrence during the latter half of the month, the strong current from the Bay bringing up much moisture.

Temperature has, perhaps, formed the chief feature of the weather during the past month, and this element has undergone large and important oscillations. On the 2nd of May it was reported that a heavy snowstorm had occurred in the Quetta District. This fall of snow was followed by a brisk decrease of temperature in the Punjab on the 4th, and in the North-Western Provinces on the 5th. On these two days the temperature of Upper India was largely below the average of the time of year. The maxima recorded in the Punjab on May the 4th and 5th were from 20° to 30° lower than the maxima on the same day last year, and over Rajputana and the greater part of Central India from 10° to 20° lower. After this cool period temperature rose almost continuously until the 16th, when it again fell and remained relatively low for three days. On the 20th it rose again generally and remained very high until the 28th, when it fell over a large part of the country. A further fall occurred on the 31st. The following table shows fairly clearly the large oscillations temperature has undergone during the month:

Stations.	MAXIMUM TEMPERATURES RECORDED ON
	4th.	5th.	16th.	17th.	27th.	31st.
	°	°	°	°	°	°
Peshawar ...	82	88	103	94	111	108

Agra ...	95	98	113	110	115	108
Roorkee ...	91	93	112	106	110	101

As mentioned above, the rainfall during the past month has been largely defective over the greater part of India. Rather heavy rainfall in Ceylon and Southern India accompanied the small cyclonic storm which was formed over the south-west of the Bay between the 10th and 11th, but with this exception any rain which has fallen has generally been in the form of slight showers. In the Cis-Gangetic portions of the North-West Provinces, in the Central Provinces the Berars, Khandeish, Rajputana, Central India, Sind and Guzerat there has been little or no rain, and in Behar and the Punjab the total fall is largely in defect of the average. In Assam and Cachar, in the Peninsula (except the Konkan) and in Ceylon there has been a slight excess of rain, and in the remaining districts, though the total fall of the month does not come up to the normal average, the deficiency is, in most cases, not large.

The following table shows the amount of rain and the difference from the average during the month of May 1888, according to districts, as far as is indicated by the telegraphic reports:

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending 8 a.m. on Monday, June 11th, 1888.

There has been no important change in the weather over the Indian region during the past week. The monsoon current on the western side of India has apparently run up that Coast as far North as Bombay, and some moderately heavy falls of rain have occurred, but the current seems to have been feeble and did not carry rain beyond the Coast districts. In the Bay of Bengal the weather has been characterised by a tendency towards the repeated formation of small cyclonic whirls. Into these whirls the monsoon current has apparently fed, and the result has been that the weather in Northern India has been generally fair, and that any incursions of moist air have been feeble and intermittent.

On the 3rd, the last day of the previous week, a small storm lay off the Arakan Coast. This storm apparently travelled north-westward during that day, and at 8 A.M. on the 4th was approaching the Orissa Coast. It was of very slight intensity, and exercised but little effect on the weather even in its immediate neighbourhood. The wind had "backed" to the southward on the Bombay Coast and rain had extended northward as far as Poona and Rajkot, but had missed Bombay. Showers were reported from the majority of the Peninsula stations and from Burmah, and a few scattered showers had fallen in different parts of Central and Northern India. Very variable breezes prevailed in Upper India, and the wind over Rajputana and the Central parts of the country was more northerly than usual, but otherwise the general circulation was fairly normal. The Chart of the 5th showed that the Bay depression had passed away, and that a weak monsoon current was blowing over the Bay and Eastern India. Five inches of rain had fallen at Rangoon, but elsewhere the amounts were very small. On the West Coast the monsoon was blowing somewhat more strongly than of late. Rain was falling at Bombay; and Rajkot had received over 2 inches. Rather steep gradients prevailed over North-Western India, and rain bearing currents penetrated well into Upper India; Sirsa received over 1 inch, and the hill stations, Ludhiana, and Sialkot smaller amounts. On the 6th the distribution of pressure was such as normally accompanies a strong influx of monsoon winds. Readings were very low in the Punjab, and relatively low down the Gangetic plain and across Bengal, while gradients were steep generally. There was an undue amount of westing in the winds over Rajputana and the North-Western Provinces, but in other parts of the country the wind directions were fairly normal and the wind force high. Notwithstanding these favourable conditions, the rainfall was neither very heavy nor extensive. Moderate amounts were reported from the West Coast (from Rajkot to Cochin), from the Central Provinces, from the east of the Punjab and west of the North-Western Provinces, and from Burmah, Assam, and Lower Bengal. The Chart of the 7th showed very little change in the general distribution, but the rainfall area was extending, and the rain amounts were much heavier on the West Coast. Karwar received $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches, Ratnagiri $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches, Goa 2 inches, and Mangalore and Cochin over 1 inch. The current from the Bombay Coast passed well into the Central Provinces, and Amraoti, Hoshangabad and Nowgong reported moderately heavy rain. On the eastern side of India there was little change; the Bay of Bengal monsoon current giving only light or moderate rain to Burmah, Assam, and Lower Bengal. Westerly winds still prevailed in the North-Western Provinces, and there was no rain there, but in the east of the Punjab and at the hill stations in the North-West Himalayas showers had fallen. On the morning of the 8th both branches of the monsoon were blowing feebly, but conditions in Upper India were more favourable to rainfall, easterly winds having appeared at several places. The rainfall on the West Coast was less heavy than it was on the previous day, but Mangalore reported $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches; Bombay about 3 inches; and Goa and Karwar nearly 2 inches. The falls were lighter in the Central Provinces, but in Upper India the rainfall area had extended, though the amounts were not large. In Assam, Bengal, and Burmah there was little change. On the 9th there was a falling off of the rainfall both in extent and amount. On the West Coast there were no heavy falls, and in the Central Provinces only slight showers. At Diamond Island 4 inches of rain had fallen, but in other parts of Eastern India the amounts were very small while in Upper India hardly any rain was reported. A dry northerly current of air was apparently blowing from the hills into the plains of Northern India. On the 10th these northerly winds had to a large extent disappeared, but still the monsoon currents did not penetrate into Upper India, and the weather was generally dry and fair. The Bay of Bengal current apparently fed into a small storm which was forming quite at the head of the Bay, and any rain due to this current was confined to Burmah, Assam, and Lower Bengal. At Bassein the rainfall was over 3 inches. On the West Coast the monsoon was very feeble, and the rainfall due to it confined to the Coast districts. The winds all over the Central parts of the country were more northerly than the normal, and in Lower Bengal there was a due northerly wind blowing into the small storm over the head of the Bay.

Temperature has oscillated a good deal during the week, but on the whole has decreased, more especially the maximum day temperatures. Sind and the Western Punjab have been hot throughout, Jacobabad on the 5th, 6th, and 7th recording temperatures exceeding 115° . Some stations in the North-Western and Central Provinces also experienced high temperatures at the beginning of the week, but on the 6th the weather became unusually cool over nearly the whole of Central and Northern India.

The rainfall return for the present week has been much reduced in size. Instead of publishing the whole of the information received, an abstract has been made, and several districts are now combined so as to form the average of a division. The whole of the information previously published is, however, still received in the Meteorological Department, and is at all times available for reference.

The return shows that on the whole the rainfall of the past week has been below the average. This is probably attributable to the feeble monsoon currents which, as is shown above, have prevailed during the week. In Tenasserim there has been a considerable excess, and several heavy falls of rain are reported from the Burmese Peninsula. One station in the Moulmein district had 12 inches of rain during the week, and parts of Pegu, Shwegyin, and Tounghoo received over 5 inches. In Upper Burmah, Pagan received $3\frac{1}{2}$ and Mandalay $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches of rain during the week. In East Bengal, though the average of the division was below the normal, several heavy falls are reported, the largest ($4\frac{1}{2}$ inches) occurring in the Backergunge district. Assam, like East Bengal, had less than its normal amount during the week. Cherrapungi had only 6 inches. The rainfall in Deltaic Bengal was about the average and in Central Bengal, and Behar slightly above. North Bengal, Orissa and Chota Nagpur had less than the average. In the first named division the rainfall at some stations was heavy, Jalpaiguri and Kurseong having both received about 10 inches. Parts of Behar also received heavy local falls. In the North-Western Provinces and the Punjab the rainfall was much lighter. The normal average for the week in all divisions of these provinces is very small, and even this small amount has not been reached except in the submontane tracks where there has been some excess. The Bombay Coast districts have received somewhat more than the usual amount during the past week, but the inland divisions to the east of the Ghâts have had less than the normal. The amounts at some places in Western India were very large; Tellicherry received 18.5 inches; Coondapur (South Kanara) 15.7 inches; and Honawar (North Kanara) 13.4 inches. The Berars and the west of the Central Provinces have had considerably more than their average rainfall, but in all the other Central Divisions there has been greater or less deficiency. Parts of the East Coast have had a slight excess of rain.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 9th June, 1888.—Good rain on the West Coast and Nilgiris, and slight in other districts. More rain is wanted in Vizagapatam, Chingleput, North Arcot, Trichinopoly, Madura, Tinnevely, and Salem. Crops are generally good, but affected by want of rain in Vizagapatam and North Arcot, and by insects in Coimbatore. Pasture scanty in Anantapur, North Arcot, Madura, and Salem. Agricultural operations progressing. No material fluctuation in prices. General prospects favourable.

Bombay.—For week ending 13th June, 1888.—Rain throughout Presidency proper. Harvesting of late crops still continues in parts of Hyderabad. Ploughing operations progressing in parts of Kaira, Surat, Khandesh, Sholapur, Satara, and Bijapur; sowing of early crops in progress in Poona, Belgaum, Dharwar, Kanara, Kathiawar, Baroda, Sind, and Konkan, and nearly complete in Kanara. Fodder scarce in parts of Broach, Thana, and Ratnagiri.

Bengal.—For week ending 12th June, 1888.—Weather extremely hot and sultry for the past few days. Rain fell generally at the beginning of the week and later showers also reported in places. Cultivation is generally proceeding satisfactorily, but in parts of South Behar and Chota Nagpur more rain is wanted. Most of the early rice and jute sowings are over in Behar. Bhadoi sowings are in full progress; sowing of late rice has also begun. Sugarcane, indigo, and other crops on the ground are everywhere in good condition. Spring rice harvest is almost over with good outturn. Price of rice remains almost stationary throughout the Province.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 13th June, 1888.—Rain fell in most districts during the week. The weather is generally cloudy and unsettled. Ploughing is in progress, and sugarcane and indigo are being irrigated. Supplies are ample, and prices on the whole are steady. The condition of cattle remains good.

Punjab.—For week ending 13th June, 1888.—Rain has fallen in several districts during the last week. Prices are generally stationary. Kharif ploughings and sowings are in progress. Reaping of rabi crops nearly completed. Prospects and outturn of rabi crops average. Extra rabi in Amritsar is in good condition. No damage done to crops. Stock-cattle are reported healthy. Fodder generally sufficient though scarce in two districts.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 13th June, 1888.—Weather warm and cloudy. Preparations for kharif sowings completed in some districts. Cattle in fair condition. Prices steady.

Burma.—For week ending 9th June, 1888.—Ploughing operations are progressing, and transplanting of paddy has commenced. There has been heavy rain in most districts. Prome is the only district in Lower Burma where the rainfall was under 2'0. In Upper Burma the smallest rainfall reported is 1'40. Except in six districts of Lower Burma, cattle are in good condition. The price of paddy has risen in Sandoway and in Kyaukse districts, and has fallen in Bassein and Pynmana districts. Elsewhere the price of foodgrain is stationary.

Assam.—For week ending 13th June, 1888.—Weather seasonable. Sowing of late rice begun. Water subsiding in Sylhet. Tea reported backward in Cachar. Prospects of crops in general good.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 13th June, 1888.—Rainfall general and light. Standing crops in good condition, except in parts of the Mysore district, where more rain is needed. Outturn of harvests favourable. Condition of cattle generally good. Prices slightly risen in the Mysore district.

Rainfall and prospects good in Coorg, but want of plough cattle seriously felt. Monsoon set in on 7th instant.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 13th June, 1888.—Weather warm and cloudy. Slight rain during the week. Land still under preparation for the ensuing kharij crop. Sowing of cotton commenced in the Amraoti, Akola, and Dun districts, and also in the Pusad Taluq of the Bassein district. No remarkable change in the price of foodgrains.

Slight rain in Hyderabad during the week. Agricultural prospects fair. Prices stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 13th June, 1888.—Rain has fallen in Indore, Bundelkhand, Goona, and Neemuch. In Bhopawar it was heavy, and slight elsewhere. No other changes since last report.

Rajputana.—For week ending 13th June, 1888.—Rainfall general but very slight. Agricultural operations commencing; prospects generally satisfactory. No crops standing at present; harvests over. Agricultural stock good generally. Pasturage or fodder sufficient. Prices steady and slightly rising at some places.

Nepal.—For week ending 7th June, 1888.—Good rain. Weather warm. Transplanting of rice will shortly begin.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF AJMERE-MERWARA.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Abu, the 28th May, 1888.

No. 534-586.—This Office Notification No. 1317-586, dated the 27th October, 1887, is hereby cancelled.

The 7th June, 1888.

UNDER SECTION 9 OF THE SUITS VALUATION ACT, 1887.

No. 563-719.—Whereas the subject-matter of the following classes of suits does not admit of being satisfactorily valued, the Chief Commissioner of Ajmere-Merwara is pleased to direct, in supersession of Notification No. 1111-719, dated the 10th September, 1887, published at page 539 of the Gazette of India, Part II, of 17th idem, that they shall be treated for the purposes of the Court-fees Act, 1870, and of the Suits Valuation Act, 1887, and the Ajmere Courts Regulation, 1877, as if their subject-matter were of the value hereinafter stated.

(1) Suits in which the plaintiff in the plaint asks for a decree against the other party to the alleged marriage either alone, or with other defendants, for restitution of conjugal rights, or for a decree for the recovery of a wife.

(3) Suits in which the plaintiff in the plaint asks for a decree establishing a right to the custody or guardianship of a minor, including guardianship for the purpose of marriage.

(4) Suits in which the plaintiff in the plaint asks for a decree establishing, or annulling an adoption, including under the expression "adoption," the customary appointment of an heir.

VALUE.—The value of suits of these four classes shall be deemed to be as follows:—

(a) For the purpose of the Court Fees Act—

Suits of class 1, ₹100.

Suits of classes 2, 3, and 4, ₹200.

(b) For the purpose of the Suits Valuation

Act, 1887, and the Ajmere Courts Regulation, 1877, such sum exceeding ₹500, and not exceeding ₹1,000, as the plaintiff shall specify in the plaint.

(5) Suits by a plaintiff during the lifetime of a person alleged to have a restricted power of alienation in respect of immoveable property, in which the plaintiff in the plaint seeks to have an alienation of immoveable property made by such person declared to be void except for the life of such person or for some other determinate period.

VALUE.—When the alienation is by a written instrument which declares the value of the interest purporting to be created, or the amount of the consideration for which the alienation is made, such value or amount. In other cases the value, at the date of institution of the suit, of the property alienated.

EXPLANATION.—When the property alienated is a right of occupancy in land, the value shall be deemed to be half the value of the land discharged from such right of occupancy.

(6) Suits in which the plaintiff in the plaint asks for accounts only, not being suits for the amount which will be found due to the plaintiff on taking unsettled accounts between him and the defendant, or suits of either of the kinds described in Section 213, Civil Procedure Code.

(7) Suits in which the plaintiff in the plaint seeks to establish or to negative any right hereinafter mentioned, with or without any injunction, and with or without damages, viz., a right of way; a right to open, or maintain, or close a door or a window, or a drain or a water shoot (parnala); a right to or in a watercourse or to use of water; a right to build, or raise, or alter, or demolish a wall, or to use an alleged party wall or joint staircase.

VALUE:—

(1) If damages are not claimed, such amount exceeding ₹100, and not exceeding ₹500, as the plaintiff may state in the plaint.

(2) If damages are claimed, the amount of such damages increased by ₹100.

Explanation to the foregoing rules:—

(2) Classes 1 and 2 do not include petitions under any special Act relating to the dissolution of marriage.

(3) Class 3 does not include proceedings under Act XIII of 1874.

(4) A suit falling within any of the above descriptions shall not be deemed to be excluded therefrom merely because the plaint also seeks additional relief, which is capable of valuation.

The 8th June, 1888.

No. 572-374.—In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by Sections 4 and 5 of Act XIV of 1879 (The Hackney Carriages Act, 1879) the Chief Commissioner of Ajmere-Merwara is pleased, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to make the following rules for the regulation and control of hackney carriages in the Military Cantonment of Nusseerabad. The rules shall be published within the cantonment limits, in such manner as the Cantonment Committee may direct, for a period of not less than one month, at the expiration of which they shall have the force of law.

Rules.

1. No hackney carriage of any of the classes determined by these rules shall be let to hire or taken to ply or offered for hire except under a license granted in that behalf by the Cantonment Committee.

2. Such license shall be issued from the Cantonment Magistrate's Office after the carriages have been approved of by the Cantonment Committee or such person as they shall appoint to determine the class to which the carriages shall belong.

3. There shall be four classes of hackney carriages according to the quality of horses and vehicles, and licenses shall be granted to them subject to all the provisions contained in these rules and to the following conditions, viz.:—

(b) That it is provided with two serviceable lamps, with the exception of carriages of the 4th class, which shall be required to carry one lamp only.

(c) That the horse is not or the horses are not less than 12½ hands high for carriages driven with a pair, and 13 hands for carriages driven with a single horse, and not less than 3 years of age.

4. Licenses shall continue in force for the official year during which they are granted. But they shall be liable to revocation within that time by order of the Cantonment Committee or such person appointed on their behalf, on proof before them or him that the proprietor or his agent has been guilty of an infringement of any of these rules, or that the conditions on which the license was granted are not fully maintained.

5. An application to renew the license shall be made one month before the expiry of the year of license and the renewed license shall be granted in the same way and by the same officers as provided in rules 2 and 3, on payment of the same fee as for the original license.

6. When a licensed hackney carriage is transferred to a new proprietor during the time of license, the name of such proprietor shall be duly reported both by the transferor and transferee to the Cantonment Magistrate's Office and shall be substituted in the license for the name of the transferor without further payment.

7. Each license shall bear a serial number and this number shall be printed in English, Hindi, and Urdu, in a conspicuous place on the licensed hackney carriage.

8. All hackney carriage licenses and carriages shall be produced for inspection whenever ordered by the Cantonment Committee or such person as they may empower to do so on their behalf.

9. No person shall be allowed to act as the driver of a licensed vehicle except under a driver's license granted to him on that behalf by the officers mentioned in rule 2. A driver's license is not transferable and shall be granted for the official year. A driver's license shall not be granted to any person under 18 years of age.

10. Every driver so licensed shall wear, while driving a licensed carriage or plying for hire, a badge on his arm, bearing the number of his license.

11. The licenses for hackney carriages and drivers shall be in the form attached to these rules and shall be printed on strong paper. The fee for each carriage license of the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd class shall be ₹1, and for each driver's license and badge annas 8. The fee for carriages of the 4th class shall be annas 8 only, and drivers of such carriages shall not be required to take out a license.

12. Any proprietor or agent of the proprietor or driver of any licensed vehicle, who knowingly permits it to be drawn by a less number of horses than is provided in the license, or knowingly permits more passengers to be carried in such carriage than is permitted by these rules, or who shall do any act in contravention of rules 1, 7, 8, 9, 10, 13, 15, 16, 18, 22, 23, and 25, shall, in addition to the forfeiture of his license, be liable to a fine which may extend to ₹5.

13. Any driver who cruelly beats, illtreats, overdrives or otherwise misuses any horse driven in a licensed vehicle, shall be liable to forfeiture of his license to drive, in addition to any other punishment to which he may be liable under any law in force for the time being.

14. It shall be lawful for any person named in rule 2 to enter premises on which licensed vehicles, horses, harness, &c., are kept, in order to carry out the provisions of these rules.

15. The Cantonment Committee shall from time to time appoint places as stands for licensed carriages, which shall use these places and none other.

The regulation of the order in which hackney carriages shall rank on the stand shall be under the control of the police.

16. The driver of a licensed carriage waiting on a public stand or plying for hire, shall, at any time of day or night, be bound to give such carriage on hire to any person demanding the same, unless for a good or sufficient reason, the burden of proving which shall lie on the driver so refusing, but shall be entitled to claim his discharge after a continuous hire of a day of nine hours.

17. The maximum number of persons which may be carried by each description of hackney carriage is as follows:—

1. By a Buggy.—Two persons excluding the syce.
2. By a Dog-cart.—Four persons including syce and driver.
3. By a Waggonette, Phaeton, or Palkey-garry.—With one horse,—five persons including syce and driver. With two horses,—seven persons including syce and driver.
4. By a Tonga.—Four persons including syce and driver.

Two children under 10 years of age shall be reckoned as one adult.

18. Every licensed carriage shall have affixed in it a list of the fares prescribed in the following rule. Such rule shall be printed in English, Urdu, and Hindi. One copy shall be provided yearly at the time of licensing by the Cantonment Committee, but the renewal of a list which has become lost, destroyed, or defaced, shall rest with the proprietor who shall renew it at once.

19. In the absence of any private agreement between the proprietor, agent or driver of a licensed carriage and the hirer, the following rates shall be paid:—

Description of Carriage.	1st hour.	2nd hour.	3rd hour.	Half day of 5 hours.	Wholiday of 9 hours.
1st class	R a. p. 1 0 0	R a. p. 1 12 0	R a. p. 3 0 0	R a. p. 3 8 0	R a. p. 5 0 0
2nd class	0 12 0	1 4 0	1 8 0	2 0 0	3 0 0
3rd class	0 8 0	0 12 0	1 4 0	1 8 0	2 0 0
4th class	0 4 0	0 6 0	0 8 0	0 12 0	0 12 0

A drive from any part of the Cantonment to the Railway Station, or vice versa to be charged for, as for an hour's drive.

The fare for drives beyond Cantonment limits shall be settled between the proprietor of the licensed vehicle or his agent and the hirer. Cantonment limits shall, for the purpose of these rules, mean a distance of six miles from the Post Office.

20. The minimum speed at which a carriage hired by time shall be driven is six miles per hour.

21. Every licensed vehicle shall, while plying for hire between sunset and sunrise on dark nights, have the lamps burning.

22. Property found in licensed vehicles shall be deposited at the nearest Police Station by the proprietor or his agent or driver of such carriages. A list of such property shall be posted at the Head Quarters Cantonment Police Station, and at such other places as the District Superintendent of Police may direct.

23. Ekkas will be required to take out licenses and shall be classed as 4th class. They shall not carry more than four adult persons inclusive of the driver.

24. In the case of any dispute arising between the proprietor or driver of a hackney carriage and the hirer, the persons may apply to the officer in charge of the Police Station for a settlement of the dispute, and such officer shall be competent to dispose of the case having due regard to the rules. The parties may, however, appeal to the Cantonment Magistrate, should they feel aggrieved by the decision arrived at by the officer in charge of the Police Station, and the Magistrate's decision in the matter shall be final.

25. No carriage shall be let for hire to any soldier, except upon the production of a pass signed by a Commissioned Officer entitling such soldier to the use of a conveyance.

Letter from the Mint Master, Calcutta, No. 187, dated the 13th February 1888, and enclosure.

RESOLUTION.—In a letter to the Finance Committee the Bombay Chamber of Commerce suggested that substantial economy might be effected by closing the Calcutta Mint and confining coinage to the Bombay Mint. The Committee, not being able to complete inquiry into the proposal, submitted the results of their inquiry, so far as it had gone, recommending the subject to the further consideration of the Government of India. The views of the banking and mercantile community of Calcutta, who were chiefly affected by the proposal, were accordingly invited regarding the necessity for maintaining at Calcutta, as well as at Bombay, the existing facilities for the coinage of imported silver.

2. The Governor-General in Council, after fully considering the views of the commercial public of Bombay and Calcutta, and the bearing of the proposal upon the maintenance of the coinage both for Treasury purposes and in connexion with the Currency reserve, has come to the conclusion that the saving arising from the proposal is not such as to warrant the Government incurring the risks from which it is at present secured by the presence of a second Mint at Calcutta. The proposal, therefore, will be dropped.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

Ordered also, that it be communicated to the Comptroller and Auditor General and the Mint Masters, Calcutta and Bombay, for information.

September 1886, and with reference to your letter No. * , dated , I am directed to forward the accompanying extract of a letter, † with enclosure, from the Secretary to the Trustees of the Gilchrist Educational Trust, addressed to Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, conveying the decision of the Trustees to continue the Gilchrist Indian Scholarship for another year.

2. I am to request that due publicity may be given to this decision of the Trustees.

Extract of a letter No. J. & P. 679-88, dated the 20th April 1888, with enclosure, from the Secretary to the Trustees of the Gilchrist Educational Trust.

The time for the withdrawal of the Scholarship has now expired, but the Gilchrist Trustees not desiring to sever their connection with the Educational advancement of India, as expressed in the communication referred to, have just decided (pending further possible consideration and also the possible receipt of important information from India which might guide them to such alteration in the terms of the Scholarship as might increase its popularity and usefulness) to continue the same for the present and until further notice on the same conditions as heretofore (copies of which conditions I forward herewith). The Scholarship will therefore be offered again on the result of the Matriculation Examination of the University of London, which, I presume, will be held as usual in India in January next 1889, and I have to request that you will cause this information to be forwarded to the Government of India with the least possible delay that candidates for the Scholarship may have time to prepare for that examination.

A

Conditions for Scholarships instituted by the Gilchrist Educational Trust for the benefit of Natives of India and Ceylon.

[These Scholarships, like the Degrees and other Academical Rewards of the University of London, are open to Women upon exactly the same conditions as to Men.]

A Scholarship of the value of £150 per annum, and tenable for four years, will be annually awarded to a Candidate born in India or Ceylon, who shall become eligible by Competitive Examination, and shall be desirous of prosecuting a Course of Academical Study in Great Britain, with a view to Graduation in one of the Faculties of Arts, Science, Law, or Medicine, in the University of London; under the following conditions:

1. Of the Parents of each Candidate, one, at least, shall not be of pure European descent.

2. Every Candidate must furnish proof satisfactory to the Local Authorities, that he has completed his sixteenth year, and that his age does not exceed twenty-two years.

3. Every Candidate must furnish proof satisfactory to the Local Authorities, that in regard to personal character and social position he is qualified to be admitted to competition for a Scholarship.

4. Candidates approved by the Local Authorities shall present themselves at the January Matriculation Examination of the University of London, which will be held simultaneously, under the direction of Government Sub-Examiners, at the three Presidential Capitals of India, and at the Royal College, Colombo, commencing on the second Monday in January.

5. The answers of the Candidates, approved as aforesaid, will be forwarded, through the Governments of India and Ceylon respectively, to the Registrar of the University; who will cause them to be reviewed by the Examiners, and who will forward their Report to those Governments, to be by them announced to the Candidates.

6. The Scholarship shall be awarded to the Candidate whose aggregate of marks stands highest; provided that he passes either in the Honours or in the First Division. Such Candidate shall have his choice whether he will pursue his curriculum of study in the University of Edinburgh, or in University College, London.

7. The successful Candidate will be expected to arrive in London, and to present himself to the Secretary of the Gilchrist Trust, not later than the first week in the October following his appointment. If a Native of India, he will be provided by the Government of India with a free Passage to England.

8. The Scholarship shall be considered as commencing from the 1st of July following the award of the Examiners; and shall be payable in quarterly instalments on the first days of October, January, April and July.

9. Each Scholar shall attend in every Session at least Three Courses of Lectures at the Institution in which he studies; and shall transmit to the Secretary of the Gilchrist Trust, at the conclusion of each Session, a Certificate from each of the Professors whose Lectures he has attended, stating that his diligence and conduct have been satisfactory.—Should he not be able to produce such a Certificate, or should he be proved guilty of discreditable conduct elsewhere, he shall be considered to have forfeited his claim to the remaining instalments of his Scholarship.

10. Each Scholar shall be expected to present himself at the Intermediate Examination in one of the Faculties of Arts, Science, or Law, or at the Preliminary Scientific M.B. Examination, in the University of London, before the termination of the Second (Academical) Year* from the commencement of his Scholarship, unless excused from doing so by the Trustees; and if he do not so present himself (unless by permission of the Trustees), or if he fail to pass, he shall be considered as forfeiting his claim to the remaining instalments of his Scholarship. After having passed this first Examination, he will be expected to pursue his studies with the view of presenting himself at the next Examination within Two (Academical) Years.

11. The Trustees will provide for the Return-passage of every Indian Scholar who shall succeed in obtaining his Degree in the University of London. For every Indian Scholar who may fail to obtain his Degree, a Return-passage will be provided by the Government of India.

12. The foregoing Scheme shall be subject to revision from time to time; the Trustees reserving to themselves the power of altering the conditions of the Scholarships, or of altogether withdrawing them, if they deem it expedient to do either. But no change will be made in such a manner as to affect the interests of Candidates already appointed to Scholarships.

* Thus a Candidate whose Scholarship commences on the 1st of July 1884 would be considered as having fulfilled this condition if he pass the Intermediate LL.B. Examination in January 1886; or the Intermediate B.A., the Intermediate B.Sc., or the Preliminary Scientific M.B. Examination in the following July.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending 8 a.m. on Monday, June 18th, 1888.

It was noticed last week that the monsoon currents on both sides of India were abnormally weak, and the rainfall attributable to both branches was below the average and confined practically to the fringes of the country. The tendency to the development of small cyclonic whirls at or about the centre of the Bay has been as strongly marked during the present as during the previous week, and into these whirls the monsoon currents of the Bay have apparently fed and probably occasioned heavy rain over the Bay to the detriment of the rainfall over the land. On the West Coast and around the Gulf of Martaban conditions have been more satisfactory, the rainfall in those districts having been moderately heavy and well distributed, but inland in the Deccan and the Central Provinces on the one hand, and Central and Upper Burmah on the other, the rainfall has been scattered and generally slight. These conditions are similar in many respects to the conditions which prevailed at the same period last year, when feeble rains prevailed throughout the whole of June and July. So far as can be judged, the whole of the disturbing influence is the tendency in the Bay towards the formation of cyclonic whirls, which, while without developing into storms, are yet sufficient to attract the whole of the Bay monsoon current, so that heavy rain and much ascensional movement is taking place over the head of the Bay and none over the land. In addition to this the cyclonic whirls over the head of the Bay drawn the wind into west and north-west over Orissa, Bengal, &c., and this air, derived from the heated plains of Upper India, has given excessively hot weather to Bengal. Perhaps the most striking proof of the completeness of the failure of the Bay monsoon is the smallness of the rainfall at Cherrapunji, where less than 3 inches was received during the week instead of about 27 inches, which is about the average of the past week.

The Chart of the 11th showed steep barometric gradients between Southern and Northern India, the pressure difference between Peshawar and Galle being as much as 0.54 inch. Fairly strong monsoon winds were blowing over Western India, more particularly in Sind and Cutch, and a fairly strong current was reported from the Central parts of the country and the Deccan. At Colombo and the Burmah stations the winds were also strong, but in Bengal and over the head of the Bay, there was much feeble cyclonic circulation. Temperature had risen and was high. Fairly heavy rain had fallen around the Gulf of Martaban and showers in East Bengal, Assam, and Orissa. The West Coast current had given moderate rain to the greater part of the Peninsula and slight showers to the Central Provinces. Comparatively little change in the distribution of pressure was reported on the 12th. Gradients remained steep; the highest readings were reported from Ceylon; the lowest from Sind. Monsoon winds of normal force were blowing across the Bengal and Orissa Coasts; but directly the coast was passed the force decreased and much irregular movement was reported. On the Bombay and Sind Coasts and also in the central parts of the country the winds were of about the average force and steadiness, but the direction was abnormally westerly. Temperature had risen over Upper and Central India and the air was drier. Lower Burmah and Arakan had received heavy rain and Assam moderate showers. Moderately heavy rain had fallen on the West Coast. Showers were reported from a few places in the Central Provinces and one or two places in the Punjab, but with these exceptions the weather over Northern and Central India was abnormally dry and hot. The Chart of the 13th showed that the distribution of pressure had altered in a direction very antagonistic to extensive rainfall. Readings were about equally low in the Punjab and West Bengal, while a shoulder of high pressure extended northward across the west of the North-West Provinces. The winds were but little changed. Further showers were reported from a few places in Upper India, but as a rule the weather was dry and hot, and rainfall was confined to Burmah, Assam, and East Bengal on the one hand and to the West Coast of the Peninsula on the other. On the 14th there was no important change in the pressure distribution, and the weather and winds were generally unchanged. Dust and thundershowers were still reported from several stations in Upper India, and fairly general, though light, rain had fallen on the West Coast and in the Central Provinces. In Bengal there was no rain and in Burmah only moderate showers. The Chart of the 15th exhibited much the same general conditions as that of the preceding day. Light or moderate rain had fallen on the West Coast and in the Central Provinces; moderate rain in Burmah (very heavy at Bassein locally) and Assam; none in Bengal proper and hardly any in Upper India. The weather was hot all over Northern and Central India, but the relative excess of temperature was greatest in Bengal, where the maxima were higher than they have been for many years past. The following day (16th) the weather still showed no sign of change. Abnormal westerly winds continued over the Gangetic plain, and there was no advance of monsoon winds into Upper India. Rain in moderate to large amounts had fallen on the West Coast, round the shores of the Bay of Bengal and in Burmah and Assam, and showers had occurred at some central stations, but all over Northern India the weather remained dry and hot. On the 17th the rainfall on the West Coast and in Lower Burmah was heavier, but there was no extension of the rainfall area, and the same unfavourable conditions existed over Northern India, while the appearance of a well defined whirl off the West Pegu Coast showed that the abnormal features over the Bay, which have interfered so largely with the proper advance of the monsoon current into Northern India, continued undiminished.

The rainfall table which appears at the close of this Summary exhibits a very unsatisfactory state of affairs. The only divisions exhibiting any important excess of rain are the West Coast districts, Tenasserim and the south of Madras. Elsewhere there is general and in several places serious deficiency. In Burmah, even in Tenasserim, there were no very heavy falls during the week, and the total was generally deficient. In East Bengal the largest total was less than 4 inches and the average fall of the division was less than one-third of the normal. In Assam the rainfall was heavier, but was less than the previous week and much less than usual. Bengal, including Chota Nagpur and Behar, had hardly any rain, and the deficiency in these divisions was very large. The North-West Provinces and the Punjab (except the hill and submontane districts) had practically no rain, but the deficiency in those Provinces is less important, as the rainfall there, up to the middle of June, is usually but slight. The West Coast had a considerable excess, but the monsoon current carried but little rainfall inland, and the whole of the Central parts of India and of the Peninsula have so far had deficient rain. In Sind and Rajputana there was practically no rain.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 16th June, 1888.—Heavy rains on West Coast and slight in other districts. More rain is wanted in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Cuddapah, Bellary, Chingleput, North Arcot, Trichinopoly, Madura, Tinnevely, and Salem. Crops generally good, but affected by want of rain in Vizagapatam, North Arcot, and Madura and by insects in Coimbatore. Pasture scanty in Bellary, North Arcot, and Madura; decreasing in Vizagapatam. Agricultural operations progressing. Prices rising, where not stationary. General prospects favourable.

Bombay.—For week ending 20th June, 1888.—Rainfall generally insufficient, except in Kanara and Ratnagiri. Ploughing operations progressing in Shikarpur, Broach, Surat, Khandesh, Satara, and Kathiawar. Sowing of early crops complete in Kanara, continues in parts of Karachi, Hyderabad, Kaira, Khandesh, Nasik, Thana, Ratnagiri, Poona, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Bijapur, Belgaum, Dharwar, and Kathiawar, but retarded by want of rain. Fodder scarce in parts of Surat, Thana, and Kathiawar.

Bengal.—For week ending 19th June, 1888.—Weather abnormally hot with absence of rain in greater part of the Province during the week. The only rainfall of importance was in East and North Bengal, while a few local showers also occurred in Central Bengal and Orissa. Except in East and North Bengal, early rain is generally wanted for the early rice and jute plants, and also for the late rice and bhadoi crops. Sugarcane is still doing well, and indigo prospects are favourable. In some districts the manufacture of indigo has begun. Spring rice harvest is almost over with good outturn generally.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 20th June, 1888.—Weather very hot with clouds, but no rain, except slight falls in Banda and Jhansi. Hot west winds prevailing. Ploughing and manuring going on in places. Sugarcane and indigo being irrigated. Markets are well supplied, and prices are nearly stationary. The condition of cattle continues good.

Punjab.—For week ending 20th June, 1888.—Rain has fallen in several districts. Prices are stationary, except at Lahore, where they are falling. Kharif ploughings and sowings are in progress. Rain wanted for sowings in Hissar, Delhi, and Umballa. Reaping of rabi crops almost completed. Prospects and outturn of rabi crops average. Kharif crops in good condition in several districts. Wheat, fodder, and cotton crops at Ferozepore have slightly suffered from storms. Stockcattle are reported healthy. Fodder generally sufficient, but scarce in three districts. Opium produce small at Rawalpindi.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 20th June, 1888.—Good rain has fallen in Nagpur and Hoshangabad, but elsewhere the fall has been scanty. Land being ploughed, and sowings commenced in a few places. Sugarcane thriving.

Burma.—For week ending 16th June, 1888.—Ploughing for wet weather crops is progressing. Rain fell in all districts, but in Upper Burma the fall was considerably less than in the previous week. The price of paddy has risen in the Shwegyin and Tavoy districts of Lower Burma and in Meiktela district of Upper Burma; it has fallen in Rangoon and Prome districts of Lower Burma and in Shwebo in Upper Burma; elsewhere the price of paddy is stationary.

Assam.—For week ending 20th June, 1888.—Weather hot. Rainfall below the average. Cold weather rice being sown. Prospects generally good, except of early rice in Sibsagar. Tea reported still backward in Cachar. A very slight shock of earthquake felt in Kamrup on the 12th. No report from the Naga Hills.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 20th June, 1888.—Rainfall good in Shimoga and Kadur districts, and slight in other parts. Crops in parts of the Mysore and Tumkur districts are reported to be suffering for want of more rain, elsewhere they are in good condition. Outturn of harvests favourable. Condition of cattle generally good. Prices slightly risen in the civil and military station of Bangalore.

Good rainfall in Coorg during the week. Ploughing and sowing very backward and partial owing to want of plough cattle.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 20th June, 1888.—Weather warm. Some rain during the week. Sowing of cotton commenced. Agricultural stock generally in good condition. Scarcity of fodder in Amraoti, Akola, and Wun districts, and also in Pusad taluk of Basim district. No change in prices of foodgrains.

Some rain in Hyderabad during the week. Agricultural prospects fair. Prices stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 20th June, 1888.—Good rain in Indore and slight in other parts of Agency. Agricultural operations started, where there has been rain. Prices have risen slightly in Bhopawar. No other changes since the last report.

Rajputana.—For week ending 20th June, 1888.—Rainfall partial. Agricultural operations commencing. Agricultural stock generally good. Pasture or fodder sufficient. Prices steady generally.

Nepal.—For week ending 14th June, 1888.—Slight rain. Weather hot. Crops drying. Rain wanted.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT

Weather Review of India for the week ending 8 a.m. on Monday, June 25th, 1888.

The unfavourable conditions which have prevailed over India during the past two weeks have not been materially changed during the week under review. They have remained generally unfavourable to any extensive inrush of monsoon winds. In ordinary years a large area of low pressure (29.50 inches and below) normally exists over the Punjab, and extends an arm of equally low pressure south-eastward down the Gangetic plain as far as Allahabad and at times Behar. This distribution is accompanied by an indraught of winds from both the Bombay and Bengal sides of India. During the past week, though pressure has been quite as low as the normal over Northern India, the distribution has not been regular. The slightly higher pressures, which usually exist between the arm noticed above and the line of the hills, have been absent and an area of uniformly low pressure—lying much further to the northward than usual—has extended over the Gangetic plain and up to the foot of the hills. In consequence there has been no indraught from the Bay into Upper India, and westerly winds, derived largely from Western and North-Western India and consequently dry, have prevailed over Northern and Central India. In addition to this there has been observable over the east of the Bay the same tendency towards the formation of small cyclonic whirls as was the case last week, and consequently not only has much of the Bay branch of the monsoon been diverted towards Burma, but there has also apparently been much ascensional movement over the Bay itself. The effect of these conditions has been that there has been a continuance of the break in the rains which was noticed last week, and the monsoon rainfall has, as was then the case, been almost entirely confined to the fringes of the country. There is, however, one difference between the rainfall of the present and that of the past week which may perhaps foreshadow a change. This difference is the much heavier rainfall which has been experienced in Burma and Assam. Last week, it will be remembered, the total fall of the week at Cherrapunji was less than 3 inches, while in the present week the total is nearly 40 inches, and at several other places in Assam as well as at several in Burmah the week's fall has been large. This increase in the amount of rainfall may indicate that the main body of the monsoon current is increasing in volume, even though the surface winds have not occasioned much extra rainfall. On the South-West Coast of India the monsoon rainfall has been steady and up to the average, but further to the northward it has been lighter and more intermittent.

On the morning of the 18th pressure was rising, except in parts of the Punjab. It was low in the Punjab and in Bengal, and a shoulder of high reading extended northward across Rajputana into the south of the Punjab and the west of the North-Western Provinces. This distribution was accompanied with dry north-westerly winds over the greater part of North-Western and Central India and down the Gangetic plain into Bengal. Over the Peninsula the wind was variable, with a general westerly tendency, and over the Bay and Burmah it was southerly (south-west—south-east). Temperature had risen fast in Bengal, and high maxima were recorded both in Orissa and West Bengal. The rainfall was slight. Moderate amounts were reported from Burmah and the West Coast, but elsewhere there was either no rain or only slight showers. On the 19th there was very little change in the general conditions, the distribution of pressure was unaltered, and the most marked feature in the weather was the hot dry winds and high temperatures which prevailed over Northern and Central India. The area of greatest heat was apparently working north-westward into Upper India, the maximum temperatures being reported from Gya and Patna. Rain fell in the same districts as on the previous day, but the amounts were less. The Chart of the 20th exhibited no improvement. There was no change of importance in the pressure distribution, and the monsoon currents were weaker than on the preceding day. Temperature continued excessive all over Northern India, but more particularly so in the Gangetic plain. Sind and the Western Punjab now represented the region of highest temperature. The Bombay monsoon had ceased to give more than local showers; and though the rainfall of the Bengal current was heavier than on the preceding day, the precipitation was entirely confined to Assam and Burmah. The remainder of Northern India was rainless. During the 21st and 22nd there was practically no change in the weather. Rain, generally moderate, fell on the West Coast and in Assam and Burmah, and slight showers in the Central Provinces. Elsewhere the weather was dry, except for slight and very local dust or thunder storms. Temperature was very high over Northern India. During the 23rd and 24th conditions looked more promising, though the improvement was very slight. Very heavy rain fell in parts of Assam; the rainfall area had extended to parts of Bengal, and the monsoon current from the Bay gave evidence of being stronger and more extensive. A few local showers were reported during these two days at some places in Northern and Central India, but their influence on the weather was very slight, and excessively high maximum temperatures were recorded within the Gangetic plain.

The table of rainfall at the close of this report exhibits much the same features as that of last week. There has been an excess of rain, generally slight in amount, in Western India, with the exception of the Konkan and the Bombay Deccan, a slight excess in Lower and Central Burmah, and a large excess in Assam. In all other places the rainfall has been deficient, and in a large number of divisions there has been no rainfall at all during the week. This has been the case in Chota Nagpur, Behar (South), and generally throughout the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, and Rajputana. In several other divisions, such as Lower Bengal, Behar (North), the Central Provinces, &c., the total rainfall of the week has been quite insignificant and far below the normal average. In the great majority of the divisions into which India has been divided, the seasonal rainfall, as shown by the concluding column of the table, is very far indeed behind the average. Tenasserim, Assam (Surma), Malabar, Madras (S. Central), and Hyderabad (South), all show a greater or less excess, but elsewhere deficiency prevails, and in very many instances the want of rain is becoming very serious. In the great majority of cases the deficiency is between 50 and 70 per cent., and in some places as for example, the Punjab (North Western), Mysore, Central India, and Rajputana, considerably exceeds this amount. The only divisions reporting heavy falls of rain are Burmah, Assam, and Malabar. Cherrapunji reports nearly 40 inches, Kyaukpku 17 inches, South Kanara 15 inches, Shwegyin and Goalpara 14 inches, and Calicut and North Kanara 10 inches, as the totals of the weekly falls.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 23rd June, 1888.—Heavy rains in West Coast and slight in other districts. More rain wanted in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Godavery, Bellary, North Arcot, Madura, and Salem. Crops generally good; affected by want of rain in Vizagapatam, Godavery, North Arcot, Madura, and Salem, and by insects in Coimbatore. Pasture scanty in Bellary, North Arcot, and Madura. Agricultural operations progressing. Prices, chiefly of dry grains, generally rising where not stationary. General prospects favourable.

Bombay.—For week ending 27th June, 1888.—River low in Sind. Rainfall generally insufficient, except in Dharwar, Bijapur, and Kanara. Agricultural operations progressing in parts of Karachi, Ahmedabad, Surat, Kaira, Thana, Poona, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Satara, Bijapur, Belgaum, Dharwar, Kathiawar, and Baroda, but retarded generally by want of rain. Fodder scarce in parts of Kaira, Broach, Surat, Panch Mahals, Poona, and Kathiawar.

Bengal.—For week ending 26th June, 1888.—Weather intensely hot and close. Slight rain reported in almost all districts of Bengal Proper and Orissa and in Darbhanga and Champaran. More rain is much needed throughout the Province. Agricultural prospects are anything but satisfactory in many places. The early rice and jute seedlings have begun to wither, and the cultivation and sowing of late rice and bhadoi crops are stopped. Sugarcane and indigo too are suffering. Scarcity of fodder reported in parts of Chota Nagpur. Price of rice continues almost stationary.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 27th June, 1888.—Except slight falls in Banda and Saharanpur, there was no rain during the week. The weather is intensely hot with strong west winds. Indigo and sugarcane are being irrigated and weeded. Markets are well supplied, but prices of foodgrains begin to show a slight rise. The condition of cattle continues satisfactory.

Punjab.—For week ending 27th June, 1888.—Slight rain has fallen at Hissar, Ferozepur, and Rawalpindi. Prices are generally stationary. Kharif ploughings and sowings are in progress. Rain wanted at Hissar, Delhi, Umballa, and Rawalpindi. Reaping of rabi crops completed. Prospects and output of rabi crops average. Kharif crops in good condition. No damage done to crops. Stock cattle are generally healthy. Fodder generally sufficient.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 27th June, 1888.—Light showers only have fallen, and more rain is required before sowings can be satisfactorily carried on. Sugarcane is also suffering from lack of moisture, as well as early rice sowings in Sambalpur. Forage scarce in Raipur and water in Sambalpur. Prices rising in places.

Burma.—For week ending 23rd June, 1888.—Ploughing for wet weather crops is progressing. In Upper Burma the rainfall was insufficient in Shwebo, Yeu, Mandalay, Kyaukse, Myingyan, Minbu, Yamethen, and Lower Chindwin districts. The price of paddy has risen in Rangoon, Prome, Mergui, Shwebo, Kyaukse, and Myingyan districts, and has fallen in Henzada, Minbu, and Meiktila districts; elsewhere the price of paddy is stationary.

Assam.—For week ending 27th June, 1888.—Rainfall has been general and beneficial. Ploughing for and sowing of cold weather rice in progress. Tea suffering from red spider in South Sylhet, and some damage done locally to rice by floods in Cachar. Prospects elsewhere good.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 27th June, 1888.—Slight rain in civil and military station and good in Shimoga, Kadur, and Hassan districts. Standing crops in good condition, except in parts of the Chitaldroog district. Agricultural operations progressing, outturn of crops fair. Condition of cattle good.

Good rainfall in Coorg during the week. Planting of autumn rice crop in progress.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 27th June, 1888.—Weather still warm and cloudy. Slight rain during the week. Sowing of cotton commenced. Agricultural stock generally in good condition. Scarcity of fodder in Amraoti and Wun districts, and also in Pusad taluk of Basim district. Prices stationary.

Some rain during the week in Hyderabad. Agricultural prospects fair. Prices stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 27th June, 1888.—Rainfall slight and insufficient in Agar district. Crops fair, and probable outturn good, except in Goona and Western Malwa. Prices of foodgrains steady and high.

Rajputana.—For week ending 27th June, 1888.—Rainfall partial. Agricultural operations commenced. Agricultural stock good generally. Pasturage or fodder sufficient. Prices steady, slightly rising at some places.

Nepal.—For week ending 21st June, 1888.—No rain. Rain extremely needed, as it has not fallen since 10th June. Prospects bad.
